. it's been good to know Salem High School

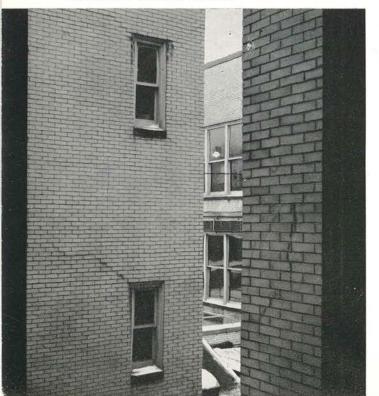

This is Salem High School. By day it pulsates with noisy teenagers having fun and learning at the same time. As dusk falls, the clamor subsides and shadows sketch the memories of bygone classes. Next year we will be in a new building, but we'll fondly remember this old school. It grows on us.

FROM THE OUTSIDE Salem High is just another school. But for those who have been part of it, it is a symbol of work, fun, and maturing.

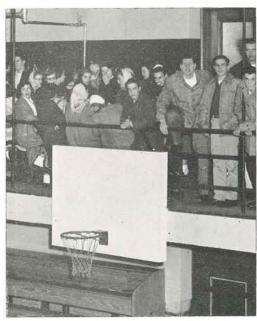

BLUE SKY PEEPS between wings of the school's little-noticed back side at students who glance through the stairway window.

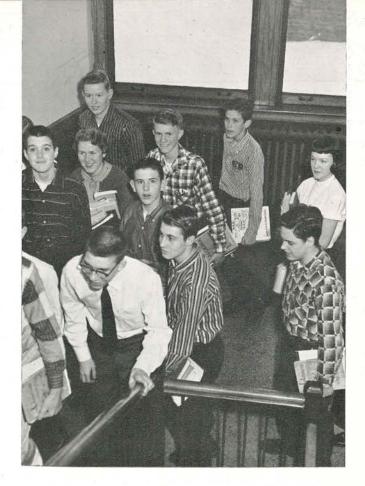

Familiar surroundings

Take a good look at this place — with all the chinks and cracks that give it character. Forty-one classes have scuffed the halls, leaving the building a little worse for the wear, but venerable in its own wrinkled will change but Quaker spirit abides with us . . .

IN THE MORNING after the night before, sleepy SHSers (top) pack the track in the gym to compare assignments and escapades, and to keep warm or dry before the first bell. FREE FROM THE confines of the schoolroom for three short minutes, students (right) exercise their lungs and stampede up the stairs en route to a third floor class.

way. It's filled with reminders of incidents that made high school years a wonderful time for many Salemites.

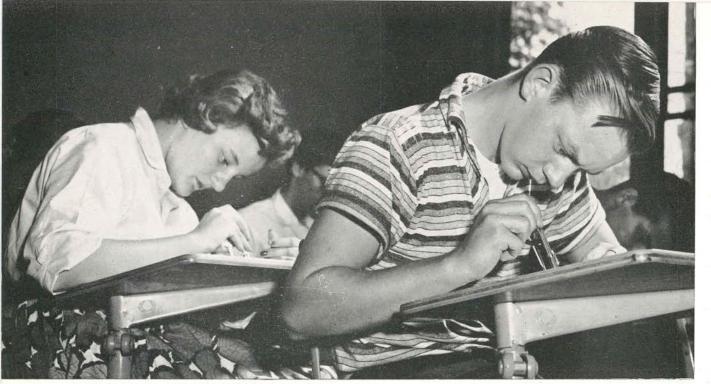

We'll be leaving this school next year, but the really significant things about SHS are intangible — perhaps tradition, spirit, loyalty — which we'll keep for a lifetime.

So, having made our own marks, we bid this place "So long," for a building's just a building and we're going to move along.

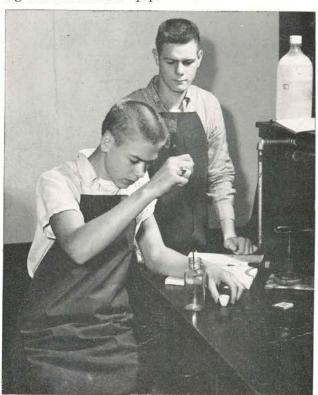

ANGLES, ARCS, AND PARALLEL lines will haunt Janet Thomas and Charles Tepsic after they finish their grade-determining geometry test. Semester tests were given for the first time this year.

CHEMISTRY STUDENTS Jim Dunn and Ralph Ehrhart test a bottle of unidentified gas for hydrogen by dropping a lighted candle into it and awaiting the characteristic "pop."

as we garner useful

Every day Salem High is full of sights, scents, and sounds of students learning by doing.

The aroma of spaghetti from the foods room drifts down the hall to the reeking lab, where biologists are dissecting pickled frogs. The monotone of a Latin class drilling on declensions is broken by the staccato tattoo of typewriters or the whine of a power saw in wood shop.

SHS stresses thorough academic training. All students complete three or more years of English, at least two units in social studies, one in math, and one in natural science, plus electives to make sixteen and one-half credits. Seventy per cent of the pupils take science and 53 per cent are studying mathematics. Through courses like these we learn skills applicable to our future years in college, business, or homemaking.

Having completed at least 16 units of work from the school board's curriculum, graduates are prepared for well-rounded lives and the responsibilities of citizenship in a free nation.

BONING UP FOR EXAMS are these students (upper right) in study hall, who were introduced to semester tests this year. WELL EQUIPPED WITH useful and interesting information, the library is a pleasant room for studying or relaxing. So Long

. . to time-worn classrooms where we grew up

On our arrival at Salem High we gazed about the H-shaped halls, thrilled by the prospect of growing up. Each day when we met in these classrooms, we learned from books and our own experience a little more about life. Now we leave to gain our knowledge in more modern surroundings.

We served as guinea pigs in experiments for the new school. Testing desks in various classes, we voted for the ones we preferred. We got a little confused trying out the one-hour periods, but we agreed that the fifteen minutes added to each class enabled us to accomplish more. Many of us helped, here and there, in choosing equipment also. Although we will not actually attend the new building, we can be proud to say we helped make it.

Many of us got together after school hours to have fun at social affairs and to give service through various organizations. The Association dance, class parties, Spanish Fiesta, Prom, and Elks' dances kept us swingin' and swayin'. For less formal fun, pizza get-togethers, slumberless parties, and the Youth Center provided outlets for our need to be gregarious. Through Girl Scouts, church fellowships, Job's Daughters, and Demolay, we acquired spiritual values.

To replace the annual junior and senior class plays two assemblies were presented for the high school and junior high. King of Whistlers Fred Lowry, who appeared in the first program, had us pucker up and join him in a few numbers. George Eiferman, at one time Mr. America, entertained us at the second assembly with a demonstration of body building. Henry Maxim went head over heels when Mr. Eiferman scooped him off the ground, and George Church got hoisted up from the stage by Mr. Eiferman's choppers.

With the practically overnight increase in rockets and satellites, several SHS students delved into the missile field. Among these future scientists were Lynn Bates and Fred Ashead. In their three years of work these boys have made over 10 rockets, one of which traveled 201 mph to a height of 1323 feet. Charles Erath combined his knowledge with that of the other two in more recent experiments. Fred and Lynn entered a six-foot display entitled "Amateur Rocketry" in the Tri-County Science Fair, where it was awarded second prize.

The Ohio General Scholarship Test results revealed that twenty Salem seniors placed in the top five per cent in Columbiana County. They were (in order) Steve Wald, Diana Crowgey, Bob Bennett, Richard Rogers, James Ivan, Darryl Adams, Kurt Ludwig, Lynn Bates, Bill Stark, Lynne Clewell, Fred Ashead, Jeanne Hayes, Sue Henning, Dick Corso, Bob Sabo, Nancy Couchie, Joyce McElroy, Jerald Kyle, Charles Erath, and George Faini. Diana and Steve also placed in the top five per cent of the state. This test was given to students in the top forty per cent of their class to discover those who would most likely do well in college.

Diana Crowgey was the only SHSer, who qualified in the Merit Scholarship Test.

Many seniors also struggled over the college boards, which are required for admission to most colleges.

Fads made our lives more fun, as we dressed and danced in the latest styles. Gumdrop shoes, which were tongueless and usually of suede, and rock 'n' roll shoes, a re-model of the standard saddle, became the two most popular choices in footwear. Bulky crewneck sweaters, worn with peter pan collars and ivy-league skirts, made us look more collegiate. The ivy-league look with the belt in the back became prominent also on purses, shoes, socks, blouses, coats, and trousers. Much to the disgust of the males, the girls sported knee socks, adapted from the "Roaring Twenties." American Bandstand was the password for many teen-agers, as they hurried home to watch Dick Clark's TV show. The Stroll, Walk, Bop, and Chalypso became favorite dances at the Youth Center after we saw them on Bandstand.

Harry Izenour was awarded four gold keys in the Regional Scholastic Art Award Contests, winning three of them this year. Two of Harry's paintings were sent to the National Scholastic Art Show in New York City. Margaret Evans and Beverly Yates have also placed high in this contest.

Martha Dougherty, Lynn Bates, Bob Taylor, and Tom Althouse won superior ratings at the District Solo and Ensemble Contest for their performances on the clarinet, piano, cello, and euphonium, respectively. Bob Taylor and oboist Diana Crowgey received first-chair at Regional Orchestra, and Bob copped first-chair in the All-Ohio Orchestra.

As we look back on our not-so-long lives, we realize how far we have progressed. In our grade school years we gathered the fundamentals of reading, writing, and arithmetic, and, as sixth graders, we knew it all (until, of course, we reached seventh grade). We entered Junior High with much fear of getting lost when changing classes, of doing homework, and of meeting those kids from Reilly, Buckeye, Prospect, McKinley, and Fourth Street. Many a sleepless night was spent over the expectation of going to high school. Initiations, directions for finding the legendary elevators or soda bar, and new academic subjects made us dubious of success in SHS. Now we are again at a time of fear, anxiety, and expectation as we enter college, go to serve Uncle Sam, or obtain jobs.

Honors on Noted Classmates

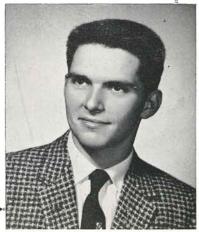

These students were selected by their senior classmates for being outstanding in each of the respective Who's Who categories. The Most Friendly pair are noted for being thoughtful and kind and for having pleasing personalities. Being active in school activities and doing well in them are characteristics of the Most Versatile couple. Typical of the Most Attractive duo are their neatness of dress and physical attrativeness, as well as possession of friendly personalities. The Student Most Likely to Succeed is chosen for excellence in all he undertakes. Selected by the Troup and Pluto Co., the Most Photogenic two are picked for photographing most naturally and for radiating their personalities through their pictures.

So Lon

... to echoes of love, life, laughter at old SHS

Life began at 3:30 when we slammed our locker doors and left our classroom worries behind us. We hustled around to games and parties, consumed quantities of food, burned lots of gasoline, and coped with Cupid. Time may change school buildings, but a teenager's love for fun remains through the years.

So Long to

Fresh from a summer of swimming, vacations, picnics, and numerous workshops, we bade our leisure hours goodbye and returned to school equipped with sun-burnt faces and blank minds.

At first, readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic didn't register in our gray matter, but with time we began to brighten up and remember a few odd facts.

Along with book-learning came so many outside activities we were completely snowed under with places to go and things to do.

The Youth Center occupied many free nights, church fellowships broadened our minds, and after-hour jobs in stores and as office aides and electricians in SHS put many on the run.

SENIOR DICK REICHERT faces the new silk American flag presented by the class of '56, as he leads an assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance. A companion flag depicting Sam, the Quaker man, was also given to the school.

WATERMELON, ANYONE? Sophs Ed Yates and Sandy Stevens ignore table manners and slurp the last juicy bites of that delish stuff at one of last summer's many picnics at Centennial Park.

Summer, Back to the Old Grind

Dances a-plenty kept our toes tapping and assemblies kept our hands clapping. Ringing doorbells and tramping all over town, we helped in various fund-raising drives. We played teacher-for-a-day, served on committees, counted tax stamps, and introduced Vocations Day speakers.

But, whether jitterbugging or searching our minds for facts, our last year at the old SHS was one of fun and excitement.

WITH A CLANG of that ominous gong SHSers drop studies for a fire drill. Grim-faced frosh determinedly keep the chatter to a minimum and stare at the more nonchalant upperclassmen.

SUMMER FOUND SHSers at the "old swimmin" hole" at Centennial Park sizzling in the sun. Braving the perils of the high dive is Gordon Scullion, while Reed Harvey waits.

ONE DOWN AND two to go! Paulette Severs and Pat Lisi suck thermometers, while Mrs. Clara Riddle, chief bug battler of SHS, tests Carolyn Gordon. Over 250 students were absent when Asian flu and World Series bugs struck simultaneously.

KENT MALLOY SEEMS dead to the world, even though the rest of the Salem cheering section is going wild after the Quakers' basketball victory over the neighboring East Palestine Bulldogs.

School Brings Plenty of Work,

"PLEASE — IT'S for new uniforms!" wail Karen Klein and Dixie Alesi, as Larry Muntz and Galen Pearson finally give in and shell out to the cause on Band Tag Day. Band members raised $1200.

"PUT THE QUARTERS in the slots, Starving kids will love you lots!" chant Y-Teens Beverly Erath and Mary Ann Petras, as Mrs. Roy Yeager contributes to UNICEF.

INSIDE THEIR balcony sanctuary, auditorium electricians Alfred Kropat and Jim Bonfert forget the outside world while fiddling with projectors, lighting equipment, and similar electrical gadgets.

With the magical music of the Crew Cuts still ringing in their ears, this year's Quaker King and Queen candidates went to be interviewed.

The friendly quartet, after tearing themselves away from autograph hounds, joked, laughed, and just plain chatted, first with the girls and then with the boys. They spent about fifteen minutes with each group, asking them all about themselves and their plans and giving them advice about their future.

Then, after much deliberation, the allimportant decision was made. The 1957-58 Quaker Annual had a king and queen.

They were chosen on the basis of their personality, friendliness, and appeal to the Crew Cuts.

So — Quaker King and Queen of 1958-59, your reign has begun!

Worryin', Lovin'

Christmas season at SHS — and what a season! It sent us whirling in a mad circle of activities, and the smell of holiday cooking from everywhere kept our noses anywhere but on the grindstone.

Then came the Christmas assembly, filled with cheer and food to make the season happier for others. Singing carols lustily, we dreamed of the vacation and dances ahead, last-minute gift-buying, and presents that would be under the tree on that joyful morn.

There were parties galore, all decked out in red and green and featuring everything from hay-wagon caroling to sledding and ice-skating to just plain party doings.

Church-going was more important than ever, and stirring Christmas Eve services deepened the faith of many.

Finally that day came, snowless, but happy. With families together, we stuffed ourselves to the limit, and decided that this had been the best Christmas season ever! LITTLE DOES Carol Luce's dancing partner for tonight know that from this mess of hair clips will emerge a frilly, Christmasy date.

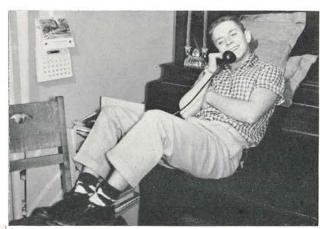

"WHAT? ME FALL?" queries John Bartholow, as he discovers that it isn't an easy matter to string wires for stage decorations and still stay aloft on a rickety SHS ladder.

Scents of sandwiches drifted down the halls, since classrooms were the most likely places to hold noon club meetings. Between bites we agreed to peddle gadgets, pour tea, or decorate the gym for a dance. Loving every busy moment, we made some of our lasting friendships over rolls of crepe paper.

Umpteen Practices Beat

"Quit sagging in the middle!" barked Director Richard Howenstine, as the Quaker bandsmen tramped down Reilly Field for the umpteenth time, perfecting their formations during perpetual practice sessions.

Whipped into shape on sultry August days, drilling in September showers, and slogging through snow storms, the red-clad ranks and files gave football spectators what they wanted at half time. Majorettes flaunted their stuff and played with fire on their batons, while drum major Tom Lease wowed Quaker fans with his strut.

After marching season closed, Director Howard Pardee refined the football band into a disciplined concert aggregation through hours of practice during seventh period and on Wednesday nights.

Determined to attain a high rating in their last year as a large organization, (freshmen will not be included in the big move to the new school), sleepy-eyed, nervous bandsmen piled on buses early on the morning of March 29 and treked to Canton to be judged in the district contest.

Displaying their best musicianship, they did themselves proud and again copped top honors, making them eligible to compete in the state contest in April.

At the annual concert in May the band displayed their snappy new red and gray uniforms financed by the profits from Tag Day and the unflagging efforts of the Band Mothers Club.

Frosh Learn Choral Techniques

Bright and early every morning underclass chorus girls, with a few outnumbered boys, went to work in the music room trying to improve their pear-shaped tones.

Boys and girls of the Mixed Beginning Chorus aimed at gaining enough skill to eventually join the Robed Choir.

Spirituals, novelties, and religious songs occupied the Advanced Girls' Chorus, comprised of 67 sophomores and juniors.

ACCOMPANISTS — Seated: Dixie Wilde. Standing: Louise Oswald, Karen Greenisen, Karen Trombitas, Ruth Ann Bennett.

Fragments of tunes hit the breeze when the gang of happy choristers burst out of the music room after third period. Constantly making joyful noise, these vocalists were usually heard around SHS whenever there was anything to sing about.

At pre-concert evening rehearsals they showed up in sweat shirts, old slacks, and pin curls, but when the curtain went up, the choir was prim and polished in wine-colored robes.

The All-County, Tri-City, and Mount Union Festivals were red-letter days on the music calendar, as well as the annual Christmas Vespers and the Spring Concert, which drew capacity audiences. During the year the music-makers took time off from books to sing for East Palestine and Leetonia

Barrier When Choir Sings

High Schools and the Salem Kiwanis Club.

Adding to their prestige, the Robed Chorus was selected demonstration choir for the Eastern Central District meeting of music directors, where Director F. E. Miller showed his teaching techniques. Then conductors from other schools used the Salemites to demonstrate their own methods.

When they weren't singing, the choir members pushed doorbells and coaxed housewives to buy lots of magazines to benefit the music department. Topping their goal by 500 dollars, the musicians brought in nearly 2500 dollars worth of subscriptions and bought a complete recording outfit.

Midnight Oil Keeps Debaters Hot

Debate

Two nights a week SHS's four debaters and Coach John Guiler ambled down the school's dusky halls toward room 305 to air the pros and cons of foreign aid.

After scrounging material and burning the midnight oil to prepare their briefs, Pinckney Hall and Tony Everett defended the subject, while Pam Chentow and Ben Barrett held up the negative end.

The kids then hit the road for out-oftown arguments with squads from area high schools and took second-place honors in a practice tournament at Kent.

Nearly four hours of grueling controversy brought the debaters one win and three losses at the regional semi-finals.

YFC Puts Religion to Practice

Youth For Christ

Discussions of conduct of teenagers and sermons by local ministers highlighted the regular weekly meetings of the Youth for Christ Club.

Among guest speakers who devoted time and thought to inspire the young people were the Rev. Mr. Phelps, the Rev. Mrs. Harry Gough, the Rev. Mr. Hunter of the Baptist Church, the Rev. Mr. Watson, and the Rev. Mr. Marvin.

"Singspirations" were enjoyed by the members, led by pianist Culley Livingston.

The aim of this club is to fill the youth of today with Christian thoughts and principles and to establish greater religious ideals for everyday living.

Elected to lead them for the year were officers Bob England, president; Nancy Dean, vice-president; and Sandy Ewing, secretary-treasurer.

Symphonists Merit Honors

Orchestra

Harmony reigned as the orchestra, directed by Richard Howenstine, swung into Prelude and Fugue or Old King Cole Fantasy during fifth period rehearsals.

Outstanding symphonist was cellist Bob Taylor, who, for the fourth straight year, was selected to play in the All-State Orchestra at Columbus, where he earned first chair. Bob also played first chair cello at Ohio Wesleyan University's String Festival, where Linda Whinery was assigned third-chair violin.

Tuba player Pinckney Hall, oboist Diana Crowgey, and Bob all won first chairs in the Regional Orchestra at Ashland.

Walter Klein was president; Linda Whinery, vice-president; Nancy Needham, secretary-treasurer, and Kathy Hrovatic, librarian.

Varsity S Sells 'Quaker Sam'

OFFICERS — Jim Meissner, President; Bill Holzwarth, Vice-president; Bob Howard, Secretary-treasurer.

Sounds of jokes and deep rumbling laughter led to room 112 where the Varsity S boys congregated weekly. The purpose of this exclusive club was to promote good sportsmanship, but at their meetings they aimed to have fun.

Displaying their big red letters — from football, basketball, or track — SHS's virile athletes planned money-making schemes, donated sports books to the library, and some coached grade-school basketball teams with spectacular results.

As usual they bought the Mickey Mc-Guire baseball trophies for little Quakers. To finance their projects they vended flashy Sam badges at the basketball games.

HI-TRI—Bottom Row: Ewing, Luce, Coy, Buta, Corso, Hayes, Lodge, Turner. Second Row: Miss Bickel, Livingston, Callahan, Evans, Hilliard, Duke, Hutcheson, Deutsch, Davis, Barton, Karp, Ehrhart, Mrs. Tarr. Hi-Tri Plays Santa, Doles Food

Candlelight, solemnity, and refreshments set the stage as new members with honor grades were formally welcomed into Hi-Tri. Advised by Miss Claribel Bickel and Mrs. Frank Tarr, the girls learned to value the high standards of the club.

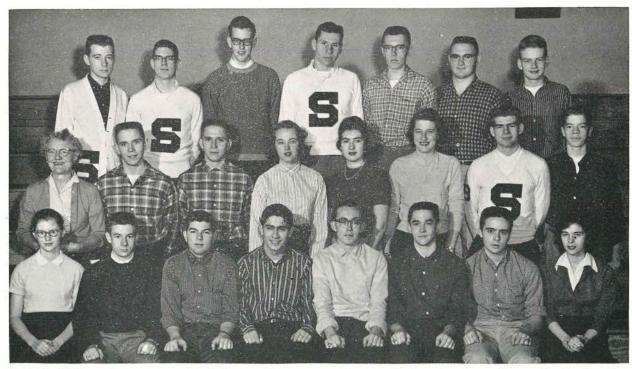

Answering S.O.S. signals, Hi-Tri kept true to course and supplied food for the Red Cross at Thanksgiving. Playing Santa, the club purchased clothing for a needy local family and distributed candy at the County Home.

Hi-Tri and Student Council co-sponsored Vocations Day and co-purchased a second silver tea set for SHS.

To keep their treasurer busy the girls vended stationery inscribed with Sam the Quaker Man.

Installation of new officers was held at the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet, as another year of service came to a close. OFFICERS — Gerry Pastorelli, Vice-president; Nancy Couchie, Treasurer; Diana Papaspiros, Secretary; Margaret Hanna, President.

Germans Create Sound Effects

Wrinkled brows revealed the puzzlement of members of Die Lustige Gruppe, the Happy Gang, as they tried to conduct their bi-weekly business meetings and understand the minutes in German.

Practicing their Deutsch lingo every two weeks they usually were found playing in Scrabble tournaments, using the tape recorder to attain clearer enunciation, or singing German lyrics of favorite songs. At their Christmas meeting they read the Nativity story, said the Lord's Prayer, and sang appropriate songs in German.

Miss Irene Weeks advises the club.

All German students are eligible for membership.

OFFICERS — Gordon Dunn, President; Doris Martin, Vice-president; Dorothea Slanker, Secretary-treasurer.

Novices Use Heads at Guillotine

OFFICERS — Jeanne Hayes, Secretary; Janice Todd, President; Mary Ann Howells, Vice-president; Elizabeth Works, Treasurer.

The only problem in Le Cercle Français seemed to be the language itself, when members tried to nasalize vowels between bites at their monthly lunch meetings.

Since real Frenchmen pronounce only half the letters, SHS's amateurs made up for the other half with French bingo, guillotine, records, and English chatter after the business meetings.

Money-minded, they brought in the loot from football and basketball stands and vended mamma's favorite recipes at a downtown bake sale.

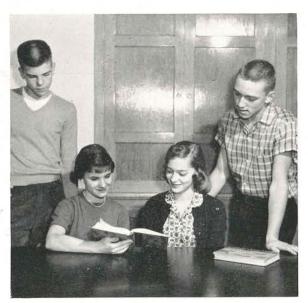

Next year when the treasury is full, the displaced Parisians promise to splurge on a big Mardi Gras.

Miss Irene Weeks, French teacher, advises the club.

OFFICERS — Seated: Sally Fester, Treasurer; Karen Elliott, Secretary. Standing: Ed Enemark, President; Carl Spier, Vice-president.

Sodalitas Latina, alias Latin Associates, swung into their year's activities with reports about Roman historical figures. The members dug up information about the planets, divulged the escapades of gods and goddesses, and told what Orpheus did in the underworld.

Passwords of Roman proverbs in Latin disguises admitted second-year students to the meetings.

The treasury was strengthened by money from a basketball stand, but profits quickly bit the dust as the club and their adviser, Miss Helen Redinger, ended the year with a picnic.

Spaniards Live It Up at Fiesta

A rap of the gavel and a hearty cry, "buenos dias," brought the Spanish Club meetings to order, as English jabber turned to a steady babble of Spanish.

Guest speaker William Scheely related his experiences in Latin American countries, and at a Spanish tea party the kids managed to down cups of bitter yerba mate, then quelled the taste with lots of cookies.

Profits from a basketball stand were spent to transform the gym into "A Night in Spain" for the annual Fiesta, the club's gala project.

First-year students with a B semester average and all other Spanish speakers are eligible to join the club, sponsored by Miss Mildred Hollett, Spanish teacher.

OFFICERS — Seated: Jerry Hilliard, Vice-president; Martha Dougherty, Secretary; Lynn Bates, President. Standing: Joyce Jensen, Treasurer.

Chemistry Aides

Acting as safety directors to SHS's would-be Lavoisiers, chemistry aides distribute lab materials, help puzzled students translate technological terms, and prepare demonstration experiments.

Receiving no scholastic credit, these top students offer up two periods a week for the promotion of science.

Biology Aides

Fighting fumes of formaldehyde is one of the occupational hazards of the biology aides, as they assist sophomore biologists to remove the brain of a fish or the hearts of an earthworm intact.

Chosen from previous biology students, they assist in grading papers, help with dissections, and keep the lab in shape.

OFFICERS — Seated: Ginny Stirling, Secretary. Standing: Lynn Bates, Treasurer; Tom Althouse, President; Gordon Dunn, Vice-president.

The Formaldeaides, famous for their spring trips, answered the call of the open road to Pittsburgh for their annual sight-seeing excursion. The itinerary included stops at the Buhl Planetarium, the Heinz soup factory, and the Carnegie Art Museum.

Back home in Salem the biologists fostered a genuine interest in science through a series of evening meetings with guest speakers. Slides of the Canadian Northwest, narrated by Fred Puttkammer, and a trip to the rooftop for star-gazing kept them busy.

To finance their activities, the students peddled candy at basketball games and potato chips in the lunch room.

All biology and chemistry aides are eligible for membership in the club sponsored by John P. Ollman, biology teacher.

JRC Packs Food For Needy

Service — that's the keynote of Junior Red Cross.

Each homeroom elects a boy and a girl in the fall to join with other homeroom representatives in carrying out the JRC program.

After campaigning for the usual 100 per cent enrollment in SHS, JRC swung into its main project of the year, the annual Christmas collection of food, which was donated to the Salvation Army.

Many hours of after-school service were chalked up by members who worked for the Senior Red Cross at the Memorial Building.

Two representatives will attend the Annual JRC Convention at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, next summer.

Mrs. Helen Mulbach advises the organization.

OFFICERS — Linda Heston, President; Carl Spier, Vice-president; Sandra Green, Secretary.

OFFICERS — Seated: Bonnie Reese, Secretary; Mark Weber, President. Standing: Bob Howard, Parliamentarian; Bill Holzwarth, Treasurer; Darryl Adams, Vice-president.

At the first bang of the gavel Student Council swung into high gear by welcoming freshmen and distributing handbooks to make them full-fledged citizens of SHS.

Later, with the council to supervise, students taught their classmates, while faculty members took the back seat on Student Teacher's Day.

Setting sail in the pirate race for tax stamps, the homerooms traded bundles of stamps for ice cream bars, then watched their progress on the council's big chart. Inhabitants of 210 captured first-place honors, while the council netted $1300.

Together with Hi-Tri, Student Council sponsored Vocations Day and bought a second silver tea service for the school.

Under the supervision of Dean John Callahan the council paid the salary of a teacher in a Korean orphanage and entertained SHSers at noon movies and the annual talent assembly.

Librarians, Monitors, Clothing

CLOTHING AIDES — Seated: Carol Hawkins, Judy Sartick. Standing: Nancy Schaefer, Nancy Bartholow, Mary Ann Howells, Sally Karp.

Clothing Aides

Proficient in the art of dressmaking, clothing aides offer sound advice to "greenies" on snipping, stitching, and fitting to mold them into apt seamstresses.

The significant project of the year is the spring style show, at which the students unveil the progress of their year's toil.

After electing a mistress of ceremonies, the aides and students combine to produce an SHS spectacular, with the students modeling their own creations.

The aides receive no scholastic credit for their work, but the experience does them a world of good.

These volunteers are chosen by clothing instructors Miss Ala Zimmerman and Mrs. Bessie Lewis.

Monitors and Aides

Official errand doers and note deliverers, the monitors and dean's aides burn up shoe leather one period daily carrying out the details of running SHS smoothly.

They wander around the halls flipping light switches, collecting attendance slips, and occasionally stopping to see that the drinking fountains are in working order.

Escorting visitors to offices and forgetful students to their lockers are all in a day's work.

The dean's aides type records and file papers for Dean Ala Zimmerman.

Dependable, courteous students chosen by Prin. Beman Ludwig and Miss Zimmerman get these jobs.

Library

For students who need accurate information quickly, the SHS library proves to be a godsend.

Five complete sets of encyclopedias, as well as dictionaries, readers' guides, and other reference tools are handy material on the shelves "just up the steps." Bibliographies compiled by Miss Lois Lehman, the faculty librarian, make book-finding even easier.

Two well-beaten paths lead to the magazine rack by the door and to the career file in the opposite corner, where college catalogues are stored. Shelves of plastic-jacketed books invite readers to browse for a while.

Behind the scenes in their cubbyhole office, sixteen student librarians with honor grades reinforce magazines, mend books, then emerge to stamp cards and keep the library in efficient working order.

Chosen by Miss Lehman, they gain experience in library science, co-operation with others, and development of accuracy, while serving their school.

Y-Teens Double as Hat-Check

Making friends and improving their appearance were the main objectives of one-hundred five bouncy ninth-grade girls, who make up the Freshman Y-Teens.

The month of December brought the Snow Flake Frolic, a gay affair which was attended by one hundred couples, who danced through a beautiful, snow-flake-decorated gym. They also sponsored a Christmas party for the Senior Citizens of Salem and did their share in the UNICEF drive.

With spring arrived a style show which stressed color co-ordination.

Throughout the year the girls enjoyed films and panel discussions, some of which concerned boy and girl relationships and religion.

Mrs. Doris Cope advises the group.

Girls, Seek Self-Improvement

The girlish enthusiasm of 110 sophomore Y-Teens penetrated SHS as this extraactive club, advised by Mrs. F. E. Cope, kept the school jumping.

Having resolved to do lots and do it well, they sold football programs, backed UNICEF, and mailed 4500 polio letters.

VOICE OF DEMOCRACY WINNERS — Henry Lieder, Carol Luce, Lynne Clewell, Sue Henning, Tom Lease.

Three awards given annually in SHS are the Brooks Awards, the Voice of Democracy Contest prizes, and the Marie Burns Awards.

The Brooks Contest offers cash prizes to those students who are skillful in the use of the simile and metaphor, while the Voice of Democracy Contest, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, encourages young people to think about our free way of life. Both events offer an outlet to those interested in creative writing.

For those who lean more toward the musical field, the Marie Burns Awards offer recognition for outstanding progress and proficiency as instrumentalists during their freshman or junior years, and as vocalists during sophomore or senior years.

"That head doesn't fit the dummy!" Hectic cries like this made outsiders wonder, while within the Quaker Office the 1958 Quaker Annual took shape.

Wrangling with deadlines and snoopy Weekly staff members, editor Nancy Cope and five junior assistants jargoned in terms of crop marks, bleeds, and copy.

Each assistant editor worked on her own section or the division pages trying to meet the standards of last year's All-American book. Hours of re-paneling pictures, rewriting copy, and re-drawing layouts made the girls wish that things would come out right the first time.

Votes for the Quaker King and Queen were tallied, club pictures were taken, and the cover designed, as tension mounted until the last deadline was met.

Then the staff took a pause to refresh and wait for the presentation of the story of SHS.

as Weekly Prints Present

A spot of ketchup on a galley-proof — this could well be the symbol of the Weekly editors, as they wrote reams of copy while consuming dozens of sandwiches during lunch hours.

Friday noon training sessions taught cubs the fine points of writing for a newspaper, and Monday night headline parties helped to beat the Tuesday deadline.

Persuading photographers that they could get an assignment one day and have a print ready the next, pumping information from reluctant interviewees, composing Quaker copy while English themes waited, all became standard practice with editors and reporters.

Cooperation with the administration and the Salem News helped the Quaker get a few scoops, as the staff achieved another All-American rating. FLASHBULB FELLOWS Fred Ashead, Dick Reichert, and Lance Woodruff examine the innards of their cameras before going out on another Quaker assignment.

Admen Trade Blisters for Cash

CALM AND COLLECTED Carol Lehwald manages Quaker financial affairs, along with her many other activities.

Combining a positive sales approach with resolute determination, the Quaker business staff brought home the bacon for the Weekly and Annual writers.

The ad men cleared their throats, then tried to convince Salem merchants that a Quaker ad would be just the thing to boost sales. Once the contracts were signed, the members burned up shoe leather collecting payments, while the fruits of their labor kept the Quakers in print. Folding and distributing Weeklies busied them on Friday afternoons.

Business boss Carol Lehwald headed the staff, tracked down stray advertisements, and worked with Central Treasurer Fred Burchfield to keep the books balanced and Quaker finances written in black ink.

WEEKLY SPORTS EDITOR Jerry Hilliard and news editor Diana Crowgey dish up some news hot off the wire for next week's issue, while Lynne Clewell, feature editor, types it.

WITH MRS. RUTH LOOP to see that things were running smoothly, the staff managed to meet the deadlines. Mr. Burchfield handled that "green stuff" which makes the Annual and Weekly possible.

Editors Write, Worry, Work

PERKY ANNUAL EDITOR Nancy Cope works long hours in the QO to make the annual a success. Deciding where each picture will look best is only one of her many problems.

THE MAN ON THE flying trapeze? Not quite, but the Schmidts really gave Dick Paulini a scare with their acrobatic antics at an Association assembly.

Association Saves Our 'Dough'

A little green ticket meant a big green light to top-notch entertainment at bargain prices this year via the Association. Six dollars bought the Quaker Weekly and Annual, admission to home football and basketball games, track meets, and oodles of fun that would usually cost $14.85.

At the Association assemblies gymnasts Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt wowed 819 members. Pianist Fredric Sjobiarn tinkled the ivories at the second program. Fred Lowery whistled for Salemites, courtesy of the upperclassmen who substituted this show for their class plays.

By night the green tickets entitled their owners to an evening of dancing, flirting, and eating at the yearly class and Association parties.

Central Treasurer Fred B. Burchfield is business adviser, and math teacher Frank Hoopes takes charge of the party.

POWELL SCHMAUCH DISCOVERS that Association tickets come in mighty handy when cash gets low and the line for tickets long.

VINCENT TAUS finds another advantage in being a member of the Association, as he reads the latest tidbits of news in the Quaker Weekly.

Seniors Square by Slide Rule

A selected group of senior mathematicians studied the slide rule this year during their Friday lunch periods.

From Miss Martha McCready, math teacher, the students received instructions on how to multiply, divide, square, cube, and extract square and cube roots on the slide rule.

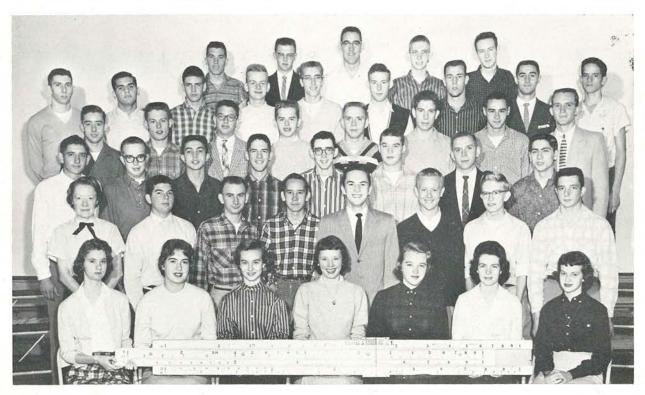

Those who applied themselves to its operation and made its use a practical habit found themselves rewarded in the saving of time and energy — to say nothing of the satisfaction that comes from the mastery of one of man's most useful tools.

Science-minded students with stars in their eyes, seven telescopes, and lots of ambition organized SHS's Astronomy Club last fall.

Advised by E. S. Dawson, former vicepresident of the Deming Co., the members discussed all phases of astronomy and treked to the Mount Union Observatory.

Spending the wee, small hours peering at the heavens, the astronomers sometimes mounted the school's roof top to squint through SHS's own four-inch refractor telescope.

Keeping up with the Sputnik craze, the members formed a supplementary rocket commission financed partly by the main club.

In the spring they launched a rocket and became members of the growing fraternity of missile men.

Pep Club

With the advent of the Pep Club this year, SHSers have been "loving those Quakers" more than ever. Yelling to shake the rafters, the members wore red and black sweaters to the games, sold replicas of Sam the Quaker man, and packed people in at their Friday noon meetings.

Familiar-sounding swamis and masculine cheerleaders with brier patch legs sent Quaker fans into gales of laughter at pep assemblies to spur the team.

Organized this year by the cheerleaders, the club is supervised by Coach Earle Bruce and cheerleader adviser Mrs. Bessie Lewis.

So Lon

. . to our cracker box gym... a new gym beckons

Game night climaxed the week when we supported the boys at home or on the road. Shouting for Salem, we shivered in the football stands, gaped at jersey-clad sprinters in track season, and elbowed through crowds for a glimpse of the basketball team. Then we thought about loving our Quakers in a brand new gym.

Lettermen, JV's Unite to Win

Junior Varsity gridders of 1957 had a good year as they rolled up a record of five wins against only one loss, the lone defeat coming at the hands of the Columbiana Clippers 25-21.

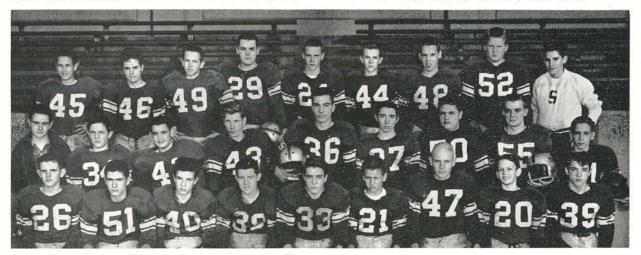

In their first game the Reserves overcame Ravenna 14-0. Lou Slaby and Pat Blount tallied a TD apiece to topple Greenford 13-6 in the second outing.

The little Quakers came back from their third-game defeat, in which freshman full-back Steve Toryak contributed two sixpointers, to edge Louisville 20-13, as Pat Blount toted the pigskin over the goal line three times.

In the finale the JV's, paced by Fred Phillis' trio of touchdowns, flattened Boardman 28-0.

Victorious Gridders

In coach Earle Bruce's second year at SHS the Quakers rolled up a 9-1 record, gaining 10th place in the state Associated Press ratings. Recordbreakers, they smashed long win streaks of Conneaut, E. Palestine, and Brookfield, broke the school scoring record of 271 points, and set a new point-after-touchdown mark.

1957 will be remembered as the year the Asian flu played havoc with football schedules all over the country. Several Salem games were re-scheduled and the game with Wellsville was canceled.

The season opener saw Youngstown Chaney invade Reilly Stadium to get trounced. Next the Quakers lost a heartbreaker to Ravenna on a soggy field. Salem led until the closing minutes when the Ravens capitalized on a fumble to go ahead. The Brucemen then upended an undefeated Canton Timken squad and rolled up 39 points to Conneaut's 6, with Henry Maxim racking up four touchdowns. Conneaut had won 15 games straight before this.

HENRY "NIGHT TRAIN" Maxim plows through the Chaney defense toward a first down. Henry was selected as this year's "Most Valuable Player" and won honorable mention on the All-Ohio team.

CO-CAPTAIN Paul Welch

ONE OF NEXT year's co-captains Ralph Ehrhart makes a last effort to get around the tackler.

Shatter Records

The Quakers squashed the Boardman eleven; the Goshen Gophers, in a game substituted for the Wellsville fray; and the Leetonia Bears. East Liverpool was trampled in a game highlighted by deadeye passing by Meissner.

After several postponements a capacity crowd saw the E. Palestine Bulldogs flattened 41-6, smashing their 22-game win streak.

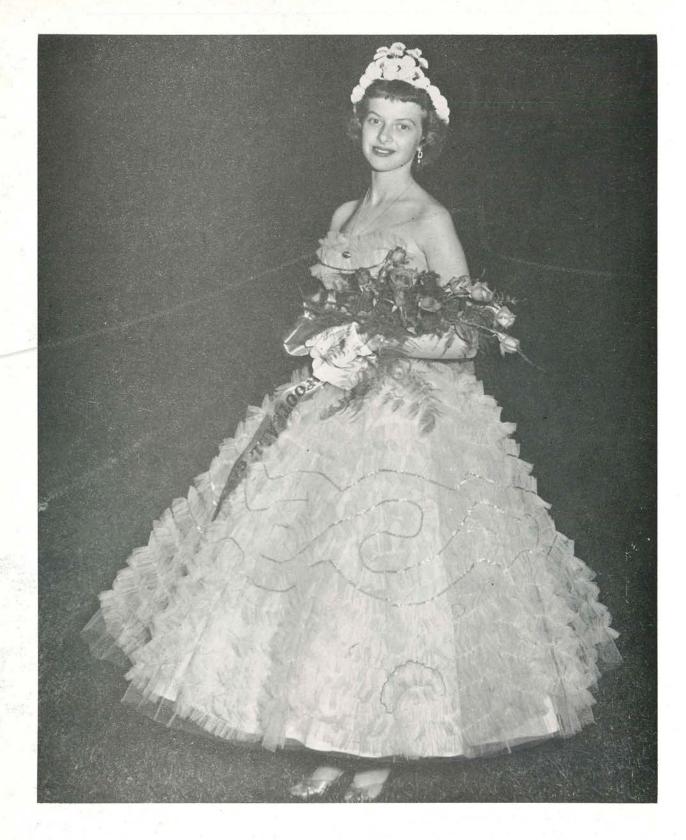

In a post-season fray the Red and Black shattered another win record. This time the Brookfield Warriors, unbeaten in 27 consecutive contests, bit the dust, and a record season total of 312 points was chalked up.

Ben Jones' educated toe lofted the ball between the uprights 34 times out of 42 tries, setting a school record.

The season aftermath brought honorable mention on the state grid squad to Meisner, Holzwarth, and Maxim. It also brought good news to Athetic Director Fred Cope, who reported a season profit of $2,955.28.

Martha Dougherty Football Girl 1957-1958

AFTER FASTENING the traditional football necklace around Martha's neck, last year's Football Girl, Joan Frank, places the queenly tiara of white mums atop Martha Dougherty's head.

Queen Martha Ann Dazzles Surprised Fans

In hushed anticipation SHS football fans watched at half-time of the first home game as shiny new convertibles, carrying the 1957-58 Football Girl and her court, circled the stadium. The moment of coronation had finally arrived.

Captivating in her traditional blue gown and bouquet of red roses, Football Girl Martha Ann Dougherty proceeded solemnly to the throne to graciously accept the white floral crown from retiring Football Queen Joan Frank.

Martha Ann was chosen by her junior classmates last spring, but the selection was kept secret until the crowning.

The runners-up in the election became members of her court.

Cabasmen Post Perfect Record

Coach John Cabas' squad became the first team in Salem's long court history to complete an unbeaten season, rolling up a regular-schedule mark of 18-0, which earned them a fifth-place finish in the Ohio Class AA poll.

After squeaking by in a few early frays, the Quakers picked up full steam and plowed through the rest of the campaign. Every member of the team had his own moment of glory.

Moe Meissner's best showing in the scoring department came against Columbiana, when he guided his deadly set shot through the hoops for 26 points. Bill Pauline had two really big nights, tallying 24 in the Ashland tilt and breaking Girard's heart with 23.

Playmaker Butch Platt caged 22 at the expense of both Sebring and Ambridge. Big Lou Slaby's top performances were in the Wellsville game, in which he drilled in 20 markers, and against Girard, when he pulled down 28 rebounds.

Starting his first varsity outing, Clyde Marks was a tower of strength on the boards and tapped 13 chalkers through the nets in the Quaker-South meeting. Darryl Adams' 16 against Columbiana, John Sturgeon's play against Rayen, and Woody Deitch's spark in the tournament were also outstanding feats.

Tournament time again brought the downfall of the locals. They easily bested Girard 68-37, dropped a Youngstown East five 65-57, then fell apart before Youngstown South's crew 54-49.

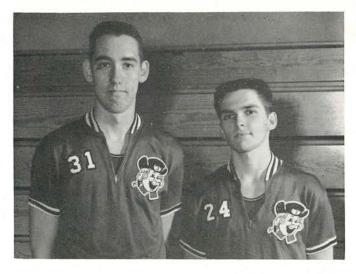

Co-captains Bill Pauline and Moe Meissner, along with Butch Platt, headed the list of scorers for the campaign. Bill collected 331 points, while Butch garnered 274 and Moe, 240.

Jayvees Crumple 17 Foes, Lose Once

Coach Karl Zellers' 1957-58 Jayvees piled up a record of 17-1 over the past season, the only loss being inflicted by the Boardman juniors 54-51 in overtime.

The little Quakers dropped in 1175 markers to their opponents' 823, an average of 65.3 to 45.7.

They reached their point-getting peak in the Ambridge fray, outgunning the Pennsylvanians 95-67. The JV's twice hit the 80 mark, their victims being New Philly and Wellsville. The most outstanding defensive performance came in the 50-18 win over Youngstown South.

Little Dave Hunter led Quaker scorers with 243 tallies. Closest pursuers were Woody Deitch with 236; Jim Lehwald, 154; Dan Krichbaum, 139; and Clyde Marks, 126.

Eighteen members of the well-rounded reserve team wrote their names in the scoring column, all of them chalking up at least a double-figure total. Each player saw action in almost every game, giving him valuable experience for the future.

Frosh mentor Sam Pridon guided his basketballers through the 1957-1958 season with a mark of 7-10. After failing in 10 of their first 13 tries, the greenies picked up know-how and snagged triumphs in each of their final four outings.

Victories came over Struthers, Canfield, Poland, Greenford and Lisbon. The little Quakers reached their scoring peak in the final game, racking Lisbon 65-42.

The Red and Black started out the campaign with little hope for success. Dave SET SHOT ARTIST Jim "Moe" Meissner drives in for a lay up shot in one of Salem's home games.

Butcher, one of their star holdovers from junior high, was forced out of action. Lack of tall men to match opponents on the boards also presented a trouble spot.

Fred Harshman, Joe Zamarelli, Steve Toryak, Dave Schuster and Duane McClaskey came into their own, however, to supply much-needed punch and promise.

Leading the Pridonmen in point-production was Harshman with 174 markers, followed by Toryak with 96, Schuster with 89, and McClaskey with 83.

UP IN THE AIR under the ball, Butch Platt flips it toward the Quaker basket. Butch was second in scoring this year.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS — Sally Fester, Bonnie Reese, Darla Barns, Mary Lou Menichelli, Gayle Parker, Judy DeCrow.

Pepsters Sparkle at Games

The bubbling enthusiasm of six Varsity and five Reserve cheerleaders heightened the Quaker spirit at football and basketball games.

Giving Salem High fans and players a shot in the arm at critical moments, the size-nine pepsters challenged Salemites with a mighty "now let's hear it!"

Twice-weekly practices counteracted post-game calories and kept the girls in tiptop shape. From cheerleader clinics they brought the latest fads to SHS, including the new Pep Club and several ideas for rallies.

In their spare time the yell leaders, helped by Mrs. Bessie Lewis, fashioned their chic black uniforms financed by money from a basketball stand.

New York Beckons GAA Girls

Flashing across the gym floor in close basketball games or jumping high to send that volleyball flying over their opponents' heads, the girls of GAA lived up to their motto: A sport for every girl and a girl in every sport. All girls in SHS are eligible for membership.

In January they were guests of the Lisbon Leaders Club, and in February the roles were reversed as they played hostess to the same group.

Thinclads Win County Title

SEEMING TO CATAPULT clear over the horizon, junior thinclad Jim Dunn soars over the crossbar in a practice session at Reilly Stadium, while onlookers display anxiety over the outcome.

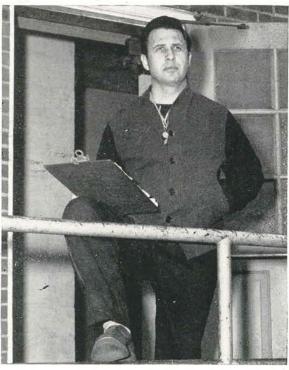

In some of the most miserable springtime weather in decades, the 1957 Salem thinclads posted an undefeated record for their three dual meets and won the Columbiana County title.

With co-captains Mark Fenton and Fred Ziegler leading the way through the slim schedule, the Red and Black collected a total of 253 points to their opponents' (Girard, Youngstown Chaney and Steubenville) 98.

In the Columbiana County Meet held on the local oval the Quakers tallied 50½ markers, compared to their closest competition, East Palestine's 42. The Northeastern Ohio AA district meet, also presented at Reilly Field, saw the Zellersmen capturing eighth place, six of their 13 points coming by way of Jim Horn's first place in the pole vault.

Along with Jim, Bill Holzwarth and the 880-yard relay team, consisting of Butch McArtor, Fred McNeal, Darryl Adams and Holzwarth, earned the right to participate in the state meet at Columbus, but were unable to garner a point.

The reserves were successful in both of their tries, winning over Beaver Local and United Local, showing promise of even brighter things to come.

HURDLE-HOPPIN' HOLZWARTH agilely breezes over the standard, as he drills for a coming contest on the cinders. Bill was selected captain of the 1957-58 track squad by his teammates.

. . we'll miss the teachers we're leaving behind

Teachers are versatile. They can work in crowded school rooms for hours, still finding time to share our fun and serve as all-purpose friends. Often their most valuable lessons are taught out of class with a pat on the back and a good-natured grin. They'll be our mainstays after we have left SHS.

E. S. Kerr Superintendent of Salem Schools

Darrell Fadely Business Manager

Administration Keeps Pace

The major project of the Board of Education this year has been the building of the new senior high school. The immediate goal is to have it ready for classes at the opening of school next September. This is a large order in view of the rigors of the past winter and of the thousands of last-minute decisions to be made and items to be looked after.

The Board of Education keeps the Salem schools in the forefront of the schools of this part of the nation, providing a rich curriculum and varied opportunities for the students of Salem.

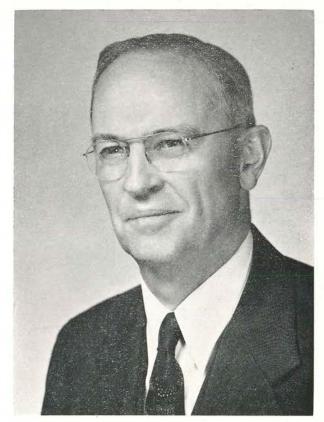

The Board's bringing Business Manager Darrell M. Fadely to the administrative staff has been a life-saver to Supt. Kerr. Mr. Fadely, who helps in planning and executing the many business details incident to the operation of a city school system, has been practically submerged in the problems of getting the new senior high school built.

After a quarter of a century of service, George F. Koontz retired as clerk of the Board of Education. Over the years his service has been outstanding. To succeed Mr. Koontz the Board appointed Harold F. Wykoff, former treasurer of the Mullins Corporation. Supt. E. S. Kerr, who is active in state education circles, recently attended a meeting of the National Council of Teacher Retirement Systems at San Francisco, where he was Ohio's only delegate. He is also on the Executive Committee of the O.E.A.

Always knee-deep in the activities of a regular school year, Prin. Beman G. Ludwig this year has, added to his normal duties, the extra responsibility of arranging for the smooth operation of the new high school. The length of the lunch periods and the amount of time between classes are among the many things still to be determined. With the expansion of such departments as home economics, commercial, and shop, much re-scheduling is necessary.

A normal day for Mr. Ludwig includes many conferences, the solving of teacherstudent problems, and dictation of the next day's bulletin.

Mr. Ludwig is an alumnus of Marietta College, where he also received his master's degree. Further graduate work was done at Ohio State University and the University of Pittsburgh.

These are your lives, teachers of SHS...

Miss Ala Zimmerman . . . Ohio State, Kent . . . Clothing, Dean of Girls.

John Callahan . . . Fairmont State College, West Virginia U. . . . Dean of Boys.

Alton Allen . . . Mount Union, Ohio State, University of Michigan, Western Reserve . . . Health, Lunch Room Supervisor.

Benjamin Barrett . . . Duquesne, Kent, University of Pittsburgh, St. Louis U . . . Consumer Education, Practical Arithmetic.

Miss Claribel Bickel . . . Capital, Bliss Business College, Ohio State, Kent . . . Commercial Typing, Hi-Tri Co-adviser, Shorthand, Stenography.

Mrs. Jean Bissett . . . Mount Union, Cleveland Institute of Art, Moore Institute of Art, University of Pennsylvania . . . Art.

During your grade school, junior high, and high school years, you led ordinary lives, but as time went on this changed.

Upon graduation from high school you entered colleges over the U. S. from Virginia to Wisconsin.

While studying hard to attain good grades, you made the important decision: your vocation for life. Considering all possibilities you decided to enter the field of secondary education.

Having left college days behind,

Having completed four years of study you were graduated from your colleges with majors ranging from art to woodworking.

Leaving college in your past, you looked to the future. For some it was marriage, while others went directly out to earn a living by teaching at schools in various parts of the U. S. Through different twists of fate you all eventually arrived at SHS with the challenge to educate thousands of Salem boys and girls.

In quest of more knowledge eleven of you earned master's degrees, while others have acquired additional credits by attending summer or extension courses at different colleges and universities. This broadened your knowledge on many subjects, which is an advantage to SHS students.

NO BONES ABOUT IT! Senior health students will have to know the parts of the body insideout to pass Mr. Allen's rigorous semester exam.

DETERMINED NOT TO become a statistic, Richard Linger heeds the safe driving advice of instructor Earle Bruce, before setting out on a driver education lab period.

Hunting, watching TV, bowling, and reading occupy spare time for some of you, while others work on hobbies, such as collecting silver dollars, analyzing the stock market, or cooking. Twenty-three of you are kept busy rearing families.

Summer vacations, which are carefree for most students, find you working harder than ever. Many of you spend your summers working at different jobs in Salem or studying at colleges, while others go traveling through New England, fishing in Canada, or relaxing at nearby lakes.

DREAMS OF THE NEW high school came closer to realization when Eus. Mgr. Darrell Fadely, Supt. E. S. Kerr, Pres. of the Board A. L. Fitch, and Prin. B. G. Ludwig laid the cornerstone last fall.

your future years giving students . . .

With the spirit and enthusiasm of an SHS teenager when the school season rolls around again, you thrill to SHS sports events. Most of you favor basketball, followed by football and track.

Devoting many lunch hours and much time after school you help students to organize and conduct their own club meetings and advise many extra-curricular activities. This time, which you occasionally think is wasted, helps to fulfill your challenge of making better citizens for tomorrow. You, who exercise your duties as good citizens by taking part in civic and church affairs, are setting good examples for SHS students, who will in a few years follow in your footsteps.

"STARS AND STRIPES FOREVER!" exclaim faculty members over their ditto machine. A life-saver to some, the "Monster" has Miss Ada Hanna temporarily stymied.

CHEERFUL WIELDERS of the shovels and brooms, Charlie Fineran and Jim Thomas are always on hand to do miscellaneous chores, chase dirt, and give SHS that well-groomed look.

The state of the s

Dear Reader:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who in any way helped make the 1958 Quaker Annual. To list all who aided me would be impossible, but I appreciate the efforts of each and every one of them.

Sincerely, Nancy Cope Editor-in-chief
