TEACHERS CONVENE IN CLEVELAND AUDITORIUM

Attend Departmental Meetings

On October 30-31 about 15,000 teachers assembled at Cleveland for the annual teachers' convention.

On Friday morning, about 9 o'clock, a general assembly was held in the Cleveland Public Auditorium. A very interesting program was held, the main feature of which was an address on Mussolini by Tom Skeyhill. The music was furnished by the Cleveland Heights High School Band. Another interesting address was by Dr. Rollo Walter Brown.

On Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock an excellent musical program was offered by the Cleveland Orchestra conducted by Nikolai Sakoloff.

After these general gatherings the various teachers went to the different departmental meetings. Among the teachers and the classes they visited are: Miss Hart went to the Vocational Guidance department; Mr. Henning attended the lecture on "Lists and Measurements;" Mr. Jones went to a department of physics and chemistry; Miss Hollett visited the modern language exhibition while Miss Horwell was impressed by the Latin department's new method of teaching.

Miss Lanpher was interested in the dramatic meeting and Miss Workman showed herself to be partial to journalism and attended that gathering.

Miss Bickel went to the commercial department and enjoyed the lecture on how business should be run; Mrs. Englehart, on the other hand, was enthusiastic over an address by Carlotta Greer, author of a home economics text book.

The general opinion was that the meetings were very good, although one teacher expressed his thought that the loud speaker arrangement in the Auditorium was deplorable.

HI-Y PLANS FUN NITE

The members of the Hi-Y are planning their 4th annual fun nite. It is to be on November 14th. They have engaged "11 rogues of rhythm," an orchestra from East Liverpool. It is to be a strictly informal affair. It's a fun nite for the whole high school. Everyone who can possibly be there should do so, for it comes only once a year.

Further announcements will follow.

HI-TRI COLLECTS PENNIES WHILE GIRLS DANCE

Judging by the size of the crowd, and the horde of bright shiny pennies that found their way into the Hi-Tri coffers, the Penny-Dance for girls only in the gym Thursday night "went over big."

For a week the girls had been eagerly awaiting this "all-girl event." Each Hi-Tri girl was given a room to canvass and a good many prospective orators were discovered. The dancing was from four till six and the music was furnished by a well-known orchestra — "Savage" Holloway and his Cannibals.

The gym was roped off and the true park plan was carried out. Each dance cost a penny. How the pennies rolled in!

The girls of the school should feel sure that the Hi-Tri girls appreciated the turn out. Each girl tried to see that the other had a good time, and in doing so, had one herself.

A few of the freshmen had to be dragged down from the track, but otherwise the students were willing to enjoy themselves.

Congratulations, Hi-Tri girls! Let us have another one soon.

ASSOCIATION OFFERS PRIZE FOR POSTERS

Students, here is a chance to show your artistic ability, make some money and advertise a football game. Read over the following rules, then get busy on posters for the Lisbon-Salem football game on Nov. 13.

Rules For Contest

I. A student may submit one or more posters. Poster size cardboard, 14x22 may be secured in Room 300. No student is entitled to more than two cards free. Others must be paid for at cost price.

II. All art work and lettering must be student's own work.

III. The poster must advertise the Lisbon game. On the poster must be the names of the schools, (Lisbon vs Salem), the date, (Fri. night, Nov. 13), Place (Reilly Stadium), Admission, (50c), Time, (8 P. M.). The location of these on the poster and other artistic designs or drawings will be left to the student.

IV. Student's name must not be on front of the poster. Winning posters will be exhibited on bulletin boards.

V. Posters must be completed and turned into Room 300 by 4 P. M. Tuesday, November 10.

VI. Judges will consist of three

BRAIN CONQUERS BRAWN AS SALEM DOWNS TIGERS

DRAMATISTS INITIATE NEW MEMBERS

The first meeting of the Salemasquers at which the new members were present, was held in the auditorium, Wednesday, October 28.

Since the return of the president, Clarence Patton is indefinite, nominations were made for the election for a new president. Mary Louise Scullion and John French were the nominees,—the latter winning by several votes.

Selma Liebschner, secretary, read the constitution.

The point system which is being used again this year, was explained by Mary Louise Scullion. By this method, each member must acquire 50 points during a semester, through directing plays, making scrap-books, giving readings in public, acting the public performances, etc. Failure to do this results in being automatically dropped from the club.

In order to start this year off right for the new members, and to show their power of expression,

STUDENTS APPEAR IN FANTASTIC COSTUMES

Speaking of grease and paint, the Salem High freshmen made Flo Zeigfield and his show troupe look like the meanest kind of amateurs.

"Bang-Bang" and "Mac" certainly looked stunning in their bride and groom outfits. Mac, bye the bye, was the bride.

Andy Lipp took the cake, and in a big way, as the timid old-fashioned girl. The big bow of baby-pink ribbon contrasted beautifully with his long black tresses.

Alma Dick, convict No. I, 29, looked plenty guilty, as though she had just been let out.

This is one on Bill Corso. Don't breath it to a soul. He told a friend of his, confidentially, of course, who told his friend, who told my friend, who told me, and I'll tell you if you promise never to tell any one. There he was, apart from the crowd, robed in his lavender ballet dancer's costume, attracting no attention. Imagine what we missed.

Karl Reed looked gracefully stunning in his filmy fairy costume accompanied by Jack Sheehan, who was dressed as an angel.

Well, here's for bigger and better spooks on spook day in spite of all this.

Double Pass Play Wins County Championship

Salem High has again won the Columbiana county football championship, making it the sixth consecutive championship. Fighting against a heavier team, the Quakers came through to a 6 to 0 victory over Wellsville last Friday night. It was a case of brain before brawn.

The victory was well earned as the Quakers were forced to the limit several times to keep the Tigers from scoring. A fighting Quaker line braced at exactly the right moments and stopped all the Tiger's dangerous onslaughts.

Salem received as the game started. The Quakers failed to gain, and Beck punted to the Wellsville 46-yard line. Weekly made an end run of 22 yards, but the Tigers failed to gain any more. Weekly then punted to Carpenter who raced to the Salem 21-yard line.

WELLSVILLE THREATENS

The Quakers then advanced the ball to the 46-yard line where Beck was forced to kick. The Tigers smashed their way to the Salem 11-yard line. However, the brilliant Salem line braced and held the Tigers in their tracks. The period ended with the ball in Salem's possession on its own 11-yard line.

Beck was able to boot the ball out of danger. On a series of end runs the Tigers advanced the ball to the Quakers 8-yard line, but again the Salem line braced.

Beck punted again to relieve the situation. Wellsville failed to gain this time and Salem took the ball when French intercepted a Wellsville pass. Runs by Carpenter, Beck, and French took the ball close to the Wellsville goal. Wellsville then took the ball on downs.

After an exchange of punts the Quakers launched a drive for victory. Carpenter dashed 20 yards; Keyes gained several; and then French passed to Beck who ran 20 yards to place the ball on the 14-yard line. Only a little time was left before the half would end.

SALEM SCORES

A pass was incomplete, and then the Quakers worked their new trick play to perfection. French passed to Carpenter and Carpenter hurled the ball to Beck who crossed the goal line for the score. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful.

The Tigers were unable to score in the remaining half of the game as the Quakers kept them at a safe distance from the goal.

HALLOWE'EN GIVES IMPRESSIONS

Is it just an old Spanish custom that brings sophomores and freshmen together on the eve of Hallowe'en? There must be some explanation.

To most of us the day is one when spooks and witches rule the world. It may be a drama with sophomores taking the spooky part and freshmen becoming the world; but do spooks need paddles?

Although often out numbered the sophomores usually come out on top. At least one comes to that conclusion after looking at the freshmen.

The tug of war is not so easily decided -- freshmen have been known to win.

Every thing goes together to make Hallowe'en a day looked forward to and remembered by both classes.

ARMISTICE DAY

Let us open the Book of the Centuries and find there a day which is to live throughout the ages, a day when the fountain of joy filled the bitter cup of sorrow, a day when the pen proved mightier than the sword.

At the eleventh minute, of the eleventh hour, on the eleventh day, of the eleventh month the war ended. It is in memory of this that we have Armistice Day, November 11, 1931, should mean just as much to us as November 11, 1918, meant to the world. It is we, the coming generation, whose duty it is to play a great part in banishing war from the earth forever.

Those who survived that merciless episode, we honor and respect; of those who volunteered and lost their lives, we stand in reverence and our monument to those heroic dead is a mere sentence, but one which was uttered by the Divine Power: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Yeh, he's one of those guys that puts bath salts in the ocean before he goes in bathing.

Arthur—Papa, vat is science?
Father—My, how could you be so stupid? Science is those things vat says "Keep off the Grass."

Dear Editor: By E. PETERSEN

What are all these rumors we are hearing about the continuation or discontinuation of girls' interscholastic basketball? Are they founded on facts or merely rumors? Let us look at it from various viewpoints and then decide just what side of the issue we should support.

First, let us consider the equality or fairness of an inter-scholastic girls' team to each of us in high school. Does everyone of us who is interested in basketball have an opportunity to further that interest? We do not, because only twenty to twenty-five girls will be chosen to represent the school in basketball. Most of us are eliminated after the first or second practice and how bad we feel, and even resentful, because we didn't make the squad. Naturally, the rest of the basketball season is devoted to the girls who were fortunate to possess enough skill and knowledge of the game. How are we going to get the necessary practice and training to make us skillful players? We have no one to coach us nor the floor upon which to play. What is to become of us? As usual, we must take the spectator's seat and let someone else have the fun of playing the game.

Oh! yes, our health. Is it improved by playing this strenuous game of basketball? The spectator expects to see a good game, and if we do not play our best players in every game, due to some physical reason, he does not understand. We, too, expect the team to put their utmost energy into winning the game. What do we care whether it was a good game, as long as the score declared us the victors. Do our schoolmates who make the squad feel that they can stand to pay the price that each game demands from them in emotional strain, nervous fatigue, and physical energy? We often wonder if they realize all this at the time and if they ever stop to think of what it might mean in later years. We hope they think twice!

Who are the losers, those of us who make the squad or those of us who are the average player? Are we willing to sit back and let things proceed in this manner? Should we further the "few" at the expense of the "many", or should we develop the "many" and include the "few"?

THE INQUIRER.

KEEP YOUR GRADES UP

When the report cards came out last week, most of the students had their excuses ready. One could simply say that he wasn't settled down yet or that the instructor hadn't had time to recognize his good qualities.

Now we are working toward our second six-week's grade and face a different situation. The only thing to do is to get to work and earn some marks of which we can be proud.

Do every assignment to the best of your ability and get it in on time. Then it will be hard to find an "F" on your next report.

CLASS JOTTINGS

SENIOR NEWS

The commencement speakers were chosen by the senior class last week. They are: Lionel Smith, Jack Ballantine, Marye Louise Miller, Mary Louise Scullion, Selma Liebschner, Lorin Battin, Gordon Scullion, and Virginia Grama.

The last three are alternate orators.

Senior speeches begin on November 17. They will be given as usual, either in English class, public speaking class, or in 206.

Here are the schools at which the girls of the senior class will prepare for their various vocations.

Nineteen who expect to engage in stenography will go to the Salem Business College.

Twelve of the nurses will enter the Salem City Hospital, while there will be one girl at each of the following: Children's Hospital at Detroit, Ford Hospital at Detroit, St. Francis at Pittsburgh, and Alliance City Hospital.

Nine girls will enter Kent State College, and one girl will attend each of these schools: Ohio University at Athens, Livingston College, Ohio State, Mount Union, Ohio Wesleyan, Lake Erie College, Cornell, and University of Michigan.

Seventeen of the seventy-five girls expect to enter their fields of work without further preparation.

JUNIOR NEWS

Hear Ye! It is requested that everyone begin to think about our coming out party. Please keep in mind any thing that you think will help in the entertainment or decorations, so that you can give suggestions when the time for reverie draws near. The great date, as all should know, is December 11, so be prepared for a good time.

Another thing. What are molecules? How are a cubic inch of gas and the molecules contained in it connected with New York City and San Francisco? Please explain.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The sophomores felt rather low Monday morning, owing to the fact that they were beaten by the freshmen in the tug-of-war and it just seemed that there weren't many freshmen to paddle on Friday night.

However, there are a few triumphs to balance the scale. Wayne Sidinger played all but nineteen seconds in the Salem-Wellsville game, and Stanley Kamasky took fourth place in the cross country meet at Cleveland on Saturday.

Arthur Fronius is a very busy person lately. He is helping Mr. Henning teach the freshmen some thing about general science.

PEP MEETING HELD

A brief pep meeting in which Clifford Cessna led some new yells was held at assembly last Friday. Mr. Springer announced that the first annual concert of Salem's symphony orchestra directed by John L. Hundertmark would be given tonight at the Methodist church.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM HEADS TOWARD COLUMBUS

Salem High cross country team again popped into the limelight when they won the district meet by an easy margin. Hortsman ran a tough race to the finish and took first. Kamasky, the sophomore flash, pulled in fourth. Theriault knocked off sixth and Shasteen eighth. Beck, after playing a tough game against Wellsville the night before, ran fourteenth against a field of 150. Hortsman, Kamasky, Theriault, and Shasteen received gold medals and Beck a silver one. On to Columbus!

Here are some “Flashlights” from the Kent Roosevelt “Spotlight.”

First farmer’s wife: I’ve got a freak on my farm, a two-legged calf.

Second farmer’s wife: Yes, he came over to call on our Nell last night.

Visitor: Your son has such splendid manners, he opened the gate for me.

Farmer’s wife: Oh, he does that for the cows every evening. — The Spotlight.

WHOOSIM

This junior is Salem High’s own John Gilbert or Clark Gable. His unruly black hair is frequently seen standing on end. He is not very tall. His hobbies are chickens and baseball. His initials are G. G.

Thurl Eckstein was the last Whoosim.

WHOOSER

This girl is also a junior. She has a way of saying in French class, “I know it, but I just forget.” She has light, short, wavy hair. She wears glasses, and is of medium height. Her middle name is Cecelia.

Sara Jane Holroyd was described last week.

ALUMNI CHATTER

Wayne Morron, ’28, a senior at Wooster, is business manager of the glee club, and as such, has charge of scheduling engagements for the club on its tour during Christmas vacation, as well as the financial management. Last year Wayne was business manager for the college annual, and finished with a large balance rather than the usual slight deficit.

Harold Shears ’28, has been elected president of the senior class at Mount Union college.

Tom French ’31, is captain of the freshman football team at Denison. French spent the week-end visiting his parents in Salem.

Howard Trotter ’31, student of the Spencerian college, Cleveland, Ohio, spent the week-end in Salem.

Benson Miller ’31, student of Ohio State, Columbus, spent the week-end with his parents.

Sammy Drakulich ’31, visited in Salem Saturday and Sunday.

Isabelle Jones ’30, has returned from Warren, Pa. where she spent ten days visiting.

Betty Coles, who is training for a nurse at Erie, Pa. spent the week end in Salem.

Henry Reese, Donald Lease, and Dorothy Harroff, all students of Wooster college, spent the week-end in Salem.

Madeline Paumier ’31, spent the week-end at her home.

The new hardware clerk prided himself on always having a snappy comeback.

“Do you keep refrigerators?” the timid woman asked.

“No,” he snapped, “we sell them.”

“Well,” she replied, “you’ll keep the one you were going to sell me. Good morning.”

Office boy—There’s a salesman outside with a mustache.

Boss (half asleep)—Tell him I’ve got one.

Turk—I wonder, is it safe to wear a racoon coat in the rain?

Connie—Well, you never saw a racoon carrying an umbrella did you?

Dick—Do you use “Camels”?

Ray—Lord no! If I have to use anything I call a taxi.

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT THE MYSTERY PARTY

The guests did as they were told on their invitations. Everyone was masked and wore their crudest outfits. A raving maniac met them and guided them through cobwebby passages, amid mooing of cows, squealing of pigs, etc. The disheveled pair were admitted finally to an infamously decorated barn. Cornstalks, pumpkins and even gasoline lanterns furnished their inquisitive glances with surprises.

Several games, detective, three deep and a few others were attempted. The crowd at least weren’t bored the slightest.

The part was a huge success. The guests beat the milkman home too. Quite an accomplishment in these modern days eh?

Well, next Hallowe’en may see the 2nd annual celebration of the witches, ghosts, and goblins of Salem Hi-Goodnite.

Club Gossip

GLEE CLUB

The Girl's Glee Club held its first meeting October 27, in the auditorium. Plans for the year's work were discussed. The following officers were elected: president, Mary Baltorinic; vice-president, Harriet McArtor; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Roth; assistant director, Rachel Cope; accompanist, Lillian Mundy; assistant accompanist, Dorothy McConnor.

The following new members were welcomed into the club: Mary Haldeman, Anna Kleon, Florence Kleon, Harriet McArtor, Dorothy McConnor, Lillian Mundy, Sara Starbuck, Anna Ruth Vincent, and Martha Wells.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club gave its newly elected members an effective initiation Wednesday, October 21.

Amusing stunts, recitations, and songs comprised the program. Charles Getz gave a heavy demonstration of walking on a tight rope, while Kate Zeller accepted the proposal of Helen Messenger.

Kathryn Minth was elected pianist. A committee was elected to take charge of the entertainments for the next two meetings.

COMMERCE CLUB

Reorganization of the Commerce Club was the purpose of a short business meeting in the library, Tuesday, October 27.

Six members, the nucleus from last year, met to arrange for the future welfare of the club. The constitution was read in order to make plans for reorganization of the one activity devoted to commercial students.

This club has been quite successful in the past, and hopes to be so again through addition of twenty-five or thirty new members willing to aid in its progress.

The Commerce Club will meet every Tuesday in the library.

LATIN CLUB

Sodalitas Latina held its initiation Wednesday, October 28, in the gym with the old members officiating.

The following program was given: Stunts new Members
Songs in Latin new Members
"Why Flunk Latin?"

..... Albertina Krauss
Latin Solo, "Yes, We Have no Bananas" Anne Sinsley

A formal initiation followed this program, in which the new members gave an oath whereby they promised to uphold the constitution and ideals of Sodalitas Latina. About 50 new Romans were welcomed.

Refreshments were served after the initiation.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Although it was thought doubtful whether the Lamarkians Club would be organized again this year, they had their first meeting in room 107, Wednesday, October 28.

Twenty-two members were present at the first business meeting in which officers were elected as follows: Ray Reich, president; Keith Harris, vice president, and Dorothea Allen, secretary and treasurer.

A limited membership of forty was decided upon. The requirements for new members are: an A or B average, an extensive collection of ferns, and the ability to read temperature and count pulses accurately.

A few plans were made for the future, some of which are of interesting experiments and a probable trip next spring.

The club will meet every two weeks, on odd Wednesdays.

DEBATE CLUB

The visitor's meeting, the first held in the history of the Debate Club, took place in room 207 Monday, November 1.

Paul Smith gave a speech about the Debate Club to the visitors, of whom there were eleven. They were Dorothy Bruce, Fred Barckhoff, Alex Fratila, Dick Harris, Don Hammell, Harry McCarthy, Russell Jones, Art Fronius, Louis Weirick, Don Coppock, Alma Jane Dick, and Junior Courtney.

Mary Burke gave a reading. Don Hammond, Teofil Andrei, and Alma Jane Dick were put on a committee for the entertainment of the next meeting.

HI-Y

The Hi-Y held their regular meeting in 207 last Thursday. Plans for a Hi-Y fun night were made and committees appointed to take charge of this gala occasion. The date is November 14, in the Gym. More will be said about this later.

SALEMASQUERS' REPORT

Miss Lampher announced that a short one-act play would be given. It being impossible to set the stage on such short notice, she asked several juniors to act as the various pieces of furniture. Taken with a generous dose of imagination, Duane Dilworth might have been any kind of piano lamp, Clair King and Clarence Hartsough comprised the piano, while Jean Scott and Jean Harwood were draped into a library table.

After several other pieces of furniture were assembled, Miss Lampher announced that the name of the play was "The Gathering of the Nuts."

The club will continue to meet bi-weekly on Wednesdays.
