

RESERVES SET PACE FOR OPPONENTS IN OVERTIME PERIOD

Rallying in the over-time quarter, the Quaker Reserves downed Niles Reserves 13-10, Friday night. So stubborn were the defenses presented by both teams that the game ended 7 to 7. The first quarter was very slow. Keyes made one field goal for Salem. Niles made 2 points. Koercher went in for Ed Lesch. The half ended 5 to 2 with Niles ahead.

The next quarter Kaercher dropped in two fouls after someone pushed him. At the start of the fourth quarter the score stood 5 to 4 against Salem. Niles made a field goal. Salem tied the score with a field goal and a foul. The game ended 7 to 7.

In the over-time period the Salemites broke down for about two minutes the defense presented by Niles. During that time Kaercher started the fireworks by dropping one in for a goal. Pukalski dribbled down to the corner and put one in. Keyes followed with a neat one-handed shot. The Quakers now played defensive. Niles was able to roll up three points before the game ended. The final score was 13 to 10 with Salem above sea-level.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB WILL SPONSOR BENEFIT CONCERT

The Senior Music Study Club of Salem will sponsor a benefit concert to be given Tuesday evening, February 23, in the Methodist Church.

By special request, practically the entire program will be presented by musicians from both the Junior and Senior Music Clubs. All services and supplies are being donated.

The benefits of this concert will be turned over to the Dental and Optical Service department of the Salem Red Cross. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

FROSH WIN TOURNAMENT

Well, folks, the big tournament is all over. The freshmen came out with the palm of victory in their chubby hands.

The first night of this gigantic tilt, the seniors defeated the juniors by the score of 24 to 4. It was a great game with Spiker starring for the seniors and no one in particular scoring for the juniors.

In the next game on the same night, the freshmen defeated the sophomores by the score of 11 to 9.

SPRING IS COME! SIGNIFIED BY RETURN OF THE ROBINS

On the way home from Niles, the squad was in very high spirits. Now when one feels happy, what is the natural thing to do? The human thing to do is to sing. Now, these boys are human so they formed a glee club.

Because of his sweet soprano voice, "Fat" Paxson was unanimously elected leader. Next, a quartet was organized consisting of Gordy Scullion, Wayne Sidinger, Ed Lesch, and Mike Fromm. As compared to the Mount Union Quartet, ten points, multiplied by two, divided by four, less five, plus two, and less twelve is the worth of Salem High's foursome at present. There is much room for improvement.

To look at Ed Wilms one would never think he is a singer, but he is. He has been named the soloist of the club because he is either three measures behind or six ahead of the rest.

DRAMATISTS PRESENT PLAY AT ASSEMBLY

A play entitled "The Fan and the Two Candlesticks" was presented at the Valentine day assembly last Friday.

The plot concerned a beautiful young maiden who promised to give her heart and the last dance to the youth who should find her fan. The story ended as most stories do—the heroine in the arms of the hero.

The characters were portrayed by Mary Koenreigh, Duane Dilworth, and Clarence Hartsough.

LIBRARY CLUB HAS VALENTINE PARTY

In honor St. Valentine, the Library Club held a party at the home of Mary Bunn, Thursday evening, February 11.

Everything truly pertained to the spirit of the day, and hearts were "trump". The house was decorated with red lights which warned and daring intruder to beware.

The evening was devoted to Valentine games and contests, Ruth Ruggy and Melessa Votaw carrying away the prizes.

It was also a rule of the evening that only middle names could be used. As a result, everyone became quite well acquainted.

Refreshments were served in the form of heartshaped ice cream and cookies.

QUAKERS NOSE OUT NILES BASKETEERS IN CLOSE CONTEST

Stopping a last period rally by Niles cagers, Salem High School basketekers won a close game last Saturday night. The game ended with the Quakers ahead by one point, the score being 15-14.

The first quarter was very slow. The Niles quintet scored one foul, and the Salem five tallied two fouls and one field goal.

The game speeded up a little in the second period. The Quakers tallied 4 points and the opponents chalked up 3. The score was 8 to 4 at the end of the half.

The second half was packed with thrills. Both teams rallied in the third quarter. Salem cagers scored 7 points in this period, and Niles players tallied 6. The score at the end of the third quarter stood 15 to 10 in favor of the Quakers.

Niles players started a desperate rally early in the fourth period.

Each player seemed Ed Wilms at the beginning of the quarter. The Quakers were forced to play a defensive game. Niles started by making one foul and a field goal. The score stood 15 to 13 until the last 25 seconds of play when W. Sidinger fouled Antonucci of Niles. Antonucci made this charity toss, and the score was 15 to 14 in favor of Salem.

Fifteen points is the lowest score that the Quakers have made so far this season. The game was slow because of defensive playing by the two teams. Wayne Sidinger, with 10 points, was high point man of the evening.

GRADUATE OF SALEM HIGH TO ENTER INDOOR MEET

Freddie Cope, former Salem High student and at present a coach at Syracuse University, is training for track season in Salem High's gym. He is in training for the indoor track meet at Cleveland.

If Cope makes good at Cleveland, he will be allowed to run at Madison Square Gardens when the national track meet is held. Winners in this meet will be given try-outs for the Olympic track team.

Cope has eaten neither pie nor cake since graduation. He has made wonderful sacrifices to become the athlete that he is. While in high school, Cope was not able to run the mile in less than six minutes. Last Saturday he ran the mile in 4:42. This is fast time for the gym track. Cope has been training ever since January.

OUR EXTRA CREDIT SYSTEM

Our extra credit system was installed so that the student who understood his class work and wished to go further into the study might be rewarded with a higher grade. In many cases, instead of reaching this end, the system has become a mechanical means of securing A's.

Anyone having a B average is eligible to do extra credit. It sometimes happens that the best student in a class gets only a B because he did no extra credit while others who do not understand or prepare their classwork nearly so well get a higher grade for doing a little outside work.

We all know that C stands for average; B above average; etc. If the higher rankings are given for extra time spent on study and not for extra good derived from it will they not lose their attraction? Students will say, "Oh! anyone can get A's. You just have to do so many hours of extra work."

It seems that if one student knows more about a subject than another he should get the higher grade whether he does extra work or not.

An A should stand for highly superior work and not for so many hours doing extra credit.

LOITERING IN THE HALLS

There is a great deal of loitering and confusion in the halls between class bells. Everybody seems to have an intense interest in the bulletin boards, and the "locker groups" have reached immense proportions.

Routine should be carried out as carefully as possible in a school as large as ours. Can this be accomplished if everybody congregates in the halls, thus adding to the confusion caused by students at their lockers? The answer is necessarily no. No school could expect to have a well-organized, balanced routine if bedlam occurred between class bells.

When one enters the building, it is his duty to go to his locker, take off his wraps, collect his books and implements, report to his home room, and begin to prepare his class work.

But one cannot do this, if one must first see the bulletin board.

SOME CLASS NOTES

SENIOR NEWS

Mr. Seaman, the registrar of Oberlin College, was scheduled to speak to the senior class last Thursday morning. Unfortunately, Mr. Seaman was detained by auto trouble and arrived too late for the assembly, but he spoke privately with several pupils who are especially interested in Oberlin.

Miss Beardmore wishes to announce that this week brings the last chance to order 1932 class jewelry. The last order will be sent very soon. Pupils wishing to order pieces should see Miss Beardmore at once.

JUNIOR NEWS

Tryouts for the junior play will be held early next week. Miss Lanpher believes that there is much talent in the class and that the prospects of a good playcast are high.

The play will be given April 7 and 8, and rumors state the drama will be a mystery.

Ticket sales cannot be started too soon, and the class should get the backing of the whole school, because all the juniors want their first play to go over big.

FRESHMAN NEWS

Hurrah for the freshmen!

Have you heard the news? The freshman girls Intramural Basketball team defeated the sophomores 11 to 8, and then to double their victory defeated the senior girls 30 to 14. The girls who upheld the freshman victory were: Hermina Linder, Virginia Koenreigh, Margaret Stewart, Marie (Tuffy) Lesch, Stella Kuniewicz, Dorothy Erickson and Martha Schmid. Three cheers for our freshman girls!

HOW ABOUT A JOINT DANCE

There has been some talk in the halls and about the school of having a joint Hi-Y and Hi-Tri afternoon dance in the high school gym. It would be a penny dance as the Hi-Tri dances have been in the past. The Hi-Tri dances see mto have been beneficial. How about a joint afternoon dance?

Think it over and make your sentiment heard.

then visit one's friends, and finally gaze out of the window. This also distracts those students who wish to utilize this period for study.

Much time is wasted by loitering, and this causes confusion. Let us, then, cooperate, and correct this condition.

OUR FIRST PRESIDENT

Most everyone knows that school is closed February 22. Why? Because it is a holiday. Why is it a holiday? Because on this day George Washington, the Father of our Country, was born.

When our forefathers won their much loved independence, they faced a great and difficult task. They had to choose a man to be the first president of these United States. They had to choose a man upon whom they could rely.

In selecting Washington as the first president of the new nation our forefathers made the wisest choice possible.

No other man in the country was better fitted for that great responsibility. He was tolerant, far-seeing, charitable, judicious, patient, and firm.

The English historian Lecky says: "In civil as in military life Washington was preeminent among his contemporaries for the clearness and soundness of his judgment, for his perfect moderation and self-control, and for the quiet dignity and the indomitable firmness with which he pursued every path which he had deliberately chosen."

HEAR YE, CHEMISTS

New element: Women.

Symbol: Wo.

Member of Human Family.

Occurrence: Found wherever man exists.

Physical Property: All sizes, colors and shapes; always appears in disguised condition; surface of face seldom unprotected. (Composition immaterial).

Boils at nothing and may freeze at any moment. However, it melts when properly treated. Very bitter if not used correctly.

Chemical Property: Has great difficulty for gold rings. Violent reaction when left alone by men. Turns green when placed near better appearing sample. Ages rapidly. Fresh variety has great magnetic attractions. Highly explosive and dangerous in inexperienced hands.

STOP ALLIANCE

Tonight, the night of all nights, the Salem High basketball squad journeys to Alliance. Approximately ten people went to Niles last Saturday. Is that the way we should back our team? Let us redeem ourselves tonight by turning out full force. Alliance High is unbeaten to date. It is considered one of the strongest teams in the state. The members of the team are really good players and, when good playing falls them, they have a lot of luck. Let's beat Alliance.

She: If you tell a man anything it goes in one ear and out the other.

He: Yes, and if you tell a woman anything, it goes in both ears and out of her mouth.

The worst thing about wisdom is that it can only be acquired on the installment plan.

Registration Clerk: So you want to join the Army? For how long?

Joe (Bullet) Bush: Duration.

R. C.: But there isn't any war.

Bullet: I know—I mean duration of peace.

Mr. J—: Did you really understand the scientific lecture you heard last night?

Student: No, but that didn't matter. I had a free ticket.

Ed. Beck: I don't enjoy eating.

Early: Why not?

Ed: It spoils my appetite.

ARE YOU A THUNKARD?

Fromm: How do you figure that?

Butch: Well, if you feed her by nine, she is hungry by twelve.

Embarrassing Moments

Albert—"I was told in my early youth that if I didn't quit smoking so many cigarets I'd be feeble-minded when I grew up.

Fannie—"Well, why didn't you quit?"

Force of Habit

"Fill her up," said the absent-minded motorist to the waiter, as he parked himself in the restaurant with his sweetie.

"Dad, gimme a dime."

"Son, don't you think you'r getting pretty big to be asking for dimes continually?"

"Well, I guess you're right, Dad; gimme a dollar!"

Murphy: What's that in your shirt pocket?

Pat (in whisper): Dynamite. I'm waiting for Casey. Every time he meets me he slaps me on the chest and breaks me pipe. Next time he does it, he'll blow his hand off.

Golfers (to members ahead): Pardon, would you mind if I played through? I've just heard that my wife is seriously ill.

Tourist (having looked over historic castle, to butler): We've made a stupid mistake. I tipped his lordship instead of you.

Butler: That's awkward. I'll never get it now.

Willie: Pa, what is the difference between a pedestrian and a centenarian?

Pa: About 75 years.

Doctor, (after examining the patient):

I don't like the looks of your wife at all, Mr. Blunt.

Mr. Blunt: Neither do I, but still she's a good wife, and looks after the children and the house well—so I can't grumble, I suppose.

"Eh bien" means "very well" in French. Miss Lawn wished to say, "Very well, Anna", but instead of that she said, "Eh Bianna". Pronounce it 'Abie Anna."

SCHOOL CONDUCT

Two and sometimes three teachers are stationed on one floor to keep the members of our school firm from being so noisy. This should not be necessary.

Pupils wandering about the halls in the morning, at noon, or in the evening give our school a shabby appearance. They seem to have nothing in particular to do. Students should go to their home rooms as soon as possible after they have been to their lockers. Much commotion is caused by those who loiter till a short time before the tardy bell rings.

And then, too, all is not easy for the teachers who stay in the halls. They have work to do which could be done much more easily in a quiet room. If S. H. S'ers would keep their conduct up to a high standard, some of the teachers would not have the tiresome work of watching the halls. It is truly embarrassing to be told in effect that one's conduct is practically the same as that of a small child.

Let everyone be careful of his actions and Salem High will be a brighter, better school.

Here's to the great commander of the years

The man who served his country

As no other man has ever served her

The man who in time of need

Led this country through its darkened hours

And brought order out of chaos.

Here's to that mighty leader of men

Who ever won his foes' respect

By his daring courage and determined ways

Who never drove his men before

But led them safely through perilous ways

And cheered them on to victory.

There never has been another man

Who gave his countrymen so much

And then asked so little in return

He is emblazoned on our memories

As a great man of the years, Washington, the Father of Our Country.

Youngstown Rayen had the largest graduating class ever at the mid-year exercises.—Rayen Record

The faculty of Salem High School of Salem, Oregon, produced a play by the name of "The Thirteenth Chair."

There was a little girl
Who had a little smile.
She sent it to a little boy,
Across the little aisle.
He wrote a little note,
But made a little slip,
And they both went together
On a little office trip.

What College Boys Believe

Professors at Boston University, correcting papers for recent mid-year examinations today were confronted with the following contributions of examined students.

"An optimist is an eye doctor."
"In 1658 the Pilgrims crossed the ocean. This is known as Pilgrim's Progress."

"The death of Socrates was caused by an overdose of wedlock."
Salem High's Abraham Lincoln, Andy Visker, offers the following address on Senior Speeches.

Two months and ten days ago, our teachers brought forth the announcement that Senior Speeches, conceived by each senior and dedicate to the admiring populace will soon begin. Now we are in the midst of great scholarly strife, testing whether that speech or any other speech, so conceived and so dedicated will prove acceptable. We are met in the great arena of that strife, where, as in most things, it is each for himself. But in a broader sense, we will doubtless desecrate, we cannot orate, we cannot deliver that speech. The brave students who came before us, gave us fair warning, but we did not heed. However, we firmly resolve that these orations shall not be in vain, that they, prepared by the students, learned by the students, delivered by the students, will be accepted.

FEBRUARY THOUGHTS

So this is Leap Year. The virgins in Biblical days had an easy time compared to those today. They just forgot to fill their lamps and didn't have to pull some gag about the radio sounding better in the dark * * * Wonder if the weather man has guessed we sent him that mean, old comic valentine * * * A typical New Yorker is a person who thinks that if George Washington were to cross the Delaware today it would be to see the Indians on the other side * * * Abraham Lincoln used to tell the people funny stories in the hour of need. Modern politicians do the same thing but with straight faces.

You're Worth Just $1

Los Angeles, Calif., (ABS)—The Railsplitter of Lincoln High School says the average 140-pound high school boy is worth about $1 according to chemical analysis. He is composed of about ten gallons of water, enough fat for seven cakes of soap, carbon for 9,000 lead pencils, phosphorus for 22,000 match tips, one dose of magnesium salts, enough iron to make a medium-sized nail, enough lime to whitewash a hen coop, and enough sulphur to destroy the fleas of one dog.

In this day and age a girl knows the significance of Leap Year about the same time she stops believing in Santa Claus.

THE ROYAL RAZZBERRY

One day an American officer was reconnoitering in the war zone when he met a pleasant-faced boy in the uniform of a British subaltern. "Who are you?" he challenged.

"The Prince of Wales," the young man replied.

"Sure," replied the American colonel, with an accent of derisive skepticism.

"Who are you, sir?" asked the young man.

"Oh, I'm the King of England," said the officer. "Beat it."

Some nights later the two men met in a Red Cross hut, and the American was visibly embarrassed on learning that the young man really was the Prince of Wales. With a twinkle in his eye, the Prince waved him a friendly greeting and called out cheerfully, "Hello, dad!"—New York Herald Tribune Magazine.
