

TWO STUDENTS GO TO ARIZONA

Gladys Swinbank, junior, and Ada Swinbank, sophomore, left this week for Tucson, Arizona, where they will spend the winter. Next spring they will make their home in Pittsburgh.

Gladys, an active member of her class, was a member of the Hi-Tri, Quaker Editorial Staff, Monitors club, Junior Music club, and was an honor student.

Ada was also an honor student and member of the Junior Music club.

PLAY BY SENIORS PROFITS $204.98

The amount of $204.98 was cleared by the senior class on the play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

The sale of 590 tickets at thirty-five cents each brought in $206.50. The association tickets payment was ninety dollars. Advertisements for the programs amounted to fifteen dollars. With fifteen cents unaccounted for and seventy cents outstanding these amounts make a total of $312.35.

The sum of $107.37 was paid out, leaving a total profit of $204.98.

SALEM MEETS OLD RIVALS HERE TONITE AS FAVORED WINNER

Salem plays its only game of the week here Friday night with Alliance High. Everything points to a victory for the Red and Black as Alliance has won but two games out of ten and is reputed to be very weak. The Aviators lost all their last year's "first ten" through graduation. Salem is undefeated in six starts and is strong in all departments of the game though it hasn't a veteran team.

However, considering the intense rivalry that exists between the two schools, anything can happen and nobody will be surprised if it does.

TIME OF DEATH

Miss Mary McFadden of New York City was asked to study the death records in that city for one year and find out at what hour a sick person is likely to die.

Miss McFadden discovered that more people die in the early morning hours than at any other time during the day.

Fewer deaths occur at the hours of noon, midnight, and morning because it is meal time.

There is only one thing that keeps a person who is about to die, alive, and that is interest. When interest is gone then is death's opportunity. The dying do not stay alive from hour to hour but from event to event.

TROPHY CASE HAS 51 PRIZE AWARDS

The Trophy Case, the gift of the class of '31, is one of the most interesting things in Salem High. The majority of the students, however, probably know less about the trophies than they do of most of the other things in the school.

There are fifty-one trophies. The oldest one is a cup which is thirty years old. It was won at the county meet in 1904. The next to the oldest trophy was won in 1916 at a state meet. This trophy is a plaque. At one time it was misplaced and could not be located. It was not located until several years later when it was found in one of the high school teacher's desks.

SALEM, ALLIANCE VIE FOR CUP

All the trophies but four have been won since 1925. There are several trophies that were received only after winning them for three consecutive years. At one time there were five schools that each had two years on one of these trophies. Among these five were Salem and Alliance. Mr. Springer had coached in Alliance when they had won their two years but the third year was the first year he coached in Salem. That year Salem won the meet and consequently the trophy.

Many of the other trophies have interesting stories connected with them.

The hope has been expressed that the state trophy will be resting in the case at the end of the basketball season.

SALEM HIGH WINS OVER E. LIVERPOOL IN EXCITING GAME

Playing their most brilliant game of the season Salem High's Cage Squad won its sixth consecutive game of the season by defeating a strong five from E. Liverpool 28-22 last Friday night in the Quaker gym.

The teams fought on even terms until the fourth quarter when the Quakers flashed a brilliant offensive and clinched the victory.

The Salem players were all stars, with Wayne Sidinger, who played a brilliant game, leading the scoring with eleven points. Laughlin, Liverpool's center, considered a very good ball-player, was held to two points by Sidinger until the last few minutes of play.

Mackey, who was the only man ejected from the game for personal fouls, led the Liverpool attack with nine markers.

CWA SPONSORS SPECIAL CLASS

A new CWA class sponsored by the government started a week ago last Monday on a ten week course of Mathematics, Physics, Mechanical Drawing, Radio, Chemistry and Slide Rule.

Classes will meet every night of the week except Saturday and Sunday. Each class has a certain number of hours per week.

Ten high school boys reported for the Slide Rule course and the Advanced Mathematics course.

Mr. Lautenbaugh will be assisted by Mr. Krauss.

QUAKER ATHLETES PLACE IN HISTORY

History! No, not European, not American, but something more agreeable. The history that's to be presented refers to past basketball teams of our Alma Mater. It may be interesting to know who the tallest and shortest members of past and present varsity squads are. First we venture way back to '17. This year Nathan Hunt, 6 feet 8 inches in height, was a varsity man. The tallest lad since Hunt's time is Norman Early, '30-31, who measured 6 feet 4 inches. Now for the dwarfs of the past. Lowell Allen (Little Rib), a member of the squad of '24, weighed 95 pounds and measured 5 feet. The next smallest is Gordon Scullion, '29-32, 5 feet 4 inches. The tallest and shortest tossers, respectively, this year are Charles Palmer and Delmar Shaffer.

ARE WE SPORTS?

Tonight we play Alliance, always the biggest game of the season. We are just a little more enthusiastic about this game than any other. This enthusiasm is fine. It's just what we need to show that splendid team of ours we're back of them 100%.

However, let's remember our sense of sportsmanship amid this enthusiasm. If a decision is made that we don't exactly like, let's remember that we're not refereeing the game. If a play is made contrary to our judgment or expectation, let's remember that neither are we playing this game.

Let's not cheapen a team like ours—fine, fair, and clean by being poor sports. We owe it to the team to be as good sports as they are. The game means as much to players as it does to us. They want to get the breaks as much as we want them to have them. And if they can take any adverse decisions or conditions without forgetting they're good sports, we certainly should be able to.

A DANGEROUS POLICY

Ohio State university has degraded itself by refusing to recognize the moral rights of several of its students who are to be expelled for refusing to take part in a practice which the conscience of each young man refuses to respect.

The university requires every man to take part in military training.

Some of these boys who have been denied continuity of learning in this school have good records and many possibilities of a successful career in the world. They cannot afford to attend an out-of-state school and have put forth great effort to have the privilege of studying in our state university. It is pitiful enough that our higher institutions of learning defy the general craving for peace, let alone forcing the boys to take part in warfare training. It would benefit the world at large if the thousands of students everywhere would be willing to make energetic protests against conditions that seek to replace years of thoughtful tutelage by churches and parents, against practices which tend to throw our universe into confusion, perhaps complete destruction, by another great war.

Being only high school students, we cannot alter a law enforced for years at Ohio State university or the wrongs it has brought about, but we can learn and benefit by those few young men who are perhaps sacrificing life-long ambitions to stand faithfully for what is right with heads held high.

LET'S HEAR THE ORCHESTRA

One of the outstanding groups of the Salem high school is its orchestra. This year the orchestra under the supervision of Mr. Brautigam has done excellent work. New music has been bought, some of the pieces being marches, overtures, folk dances, and many other varieties of delightful music. The membership is large this year, there being about thirty-five members

What Do You Think?

What do you think of the idea of waxing the gym floor and using it for a roller skating rink? Catherine Ladd . . . Well, far be it from me to complain, but my interpretation of your capillary electrolysis is that it is susceptible to concrete elucidation.

Dick Wernet . . . I think that it would not be such a hot idea. The Gym is for athletic purposes and should be used for such.

Harry Bichel . . . The proposal is not a good one unless we are badly in need of a new floor as this would surely ruin it.

Marjorie Hostetler . . . I think that it would ruin the floor for its original purpose. We have enough sports to enjoy without adding another.

Dorothy Bruce . . . I think it would be a lot of fun. It would create more "socialism" among the classes.

Alma Dick . . . It would be a lot of fun and give kids something to do.

I. The honest and correct thing to do is to return all lost articles to the owners or take them to the office so the owners can find them. Most students do this but, as in everything, some have to lower the record by not returning lost articles to the owners. Why not improve the record in the future? No definite subject.

IV. Have you noticed lately that the study hall of 206 during noon hour seems to be quite noisy? Of course we all realize that it's lunch time and one feels like having a good time. Well that's all right, but why have it at the expense of other people's feelings? Why not eat your lunch quietly and let the fun wait until the business of eating is over?

Semester exams? Oh, what a terrible nightmare! You know, it seems a shame that there have to be such things. You come back to school after the holidays in such a pleasant frame of mind; so eager to work, and what's the first thing you hear? —"Exams will begin in two weeks," —etc., etc.

There seem to be some people who like exams; in fact, they look forward to them with eagerness and joy. Yes, hard to believe, but true. Oh, how the teachers must love them!

By this time, of course, the upper classmen are hardened to the terrors of exams and some even disdain cramming. Why it is they seem to enjoy tormenting the poor Freshmen is hard to understand. (At least, so think the Freshies.)

But the present freshman class is so brilliant there isn't the slightest doubt but that they all will come through with flying colors (except in their own minds). Well, courage, Freshmen, don't let the Sophomores scare you. Remember, they were Freshmen not so long ago.

Snow, white flakes falling and circling downward, covering everything with a soft blanket. Snow, the sight of which causes rapturous cries to issue from children's throats and the rapid appearance of sleds. There is not a crevice free of the white crystals.

Rain we have the whole year round, there is no season set aside for sunshine, but snow is the child and sign of winter.
