

COMMITTEES APPOINTED FOR CLUB PARTY

Party On Thanksgiving Eve

At a recent meeting of the Association officers, committees were appointed for the first Association party, to be held in the gym next Wednesday, Nov. 28.

The committees are as follows:

Decoration: Don Hammell and Ed Pukalski, chairmen; Mary Bunn, Hazel Anderson, Glenn Detrow, Paul Cleland, Gwendolyn Potts, Joyce Chatfield, Dick Harris, Gail Heron, Kenneth Shears, Art Bahmiller, Reba Dilworth, Betty Fifer, Leroy Green, Ralph Hixenbaugh, Betty Lewis, Charles Trotter, Priscilla Mullins and Lois Pidgeon.

Entertainment: Thirl Eckstein, chairman; Mary Finnigan, Charlotte King, E. Jane Lewis and Charles Palmer.

Eats: Lois Dilworth and Vance Stewart, chairmen; Naomi Ludwig, Christina Robinson, Arthur Brian, Ella J. Smith, Charles Freed and Margaret Alesi.

This party, which is on the eve of Thanksgiving, gives all evidences of being a real one.

Debators, Tutor Hear Broadcast Debate In Office

A non-decisive debate on the question; "Resolved, that the federal government should adopt the policy of qualifying educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the elementary and secondary schools," was heard over NBS a week ago last Wednesday in Mr. Kerr's office at 3 p. m. by Mr. Guiler and his debate team for this year.

The team consists of: Affirmative, Zoa Slutz, Elsie Hunter, Mildred Woods and Ray Simmonds. Negative, Helen Thompson, Kenneth Leipper, Mary Finnigan and Lionel Differ.

There were two elephants who became intoxicated and walked down to the library to hire themselves out as book ends.

NOTICE

Several weeks ago we published the fact that 2,000 students rebelled against Mr. Littler's coaching methods at East High School, Youngstown, Ohio.

We now acknowledge this statement as a gross error. There were not more than 50 students protesting against aforementioned faculty member, and their school reputations cannot be placed upon a pedestal which the average student strives to reach.

In essaying to right a serious wrong, we take opportunity to say that the students respect and are loyal to their coach, who, we feel sure, is doing his best under prevailing circumstances.

PUPILS NEED 2 YRS. OF GYM, SAYS NEW LAW

That every high school pupil must have at least two years of active gym work, two periods a week, is the requirement of a new state law.

This law also states that if the student, because of some physical defect, cannot attend active gym work he must take hygiene or physical education two periods a week. In this way the students are relieved of strenuous work, but get the same amount of credit as they would otherwise receive.

"In many high schools in other states, it is a requirement that every pupil must have two periods of active gym work and one other period of hygiene or physical education," it was stated in a school paper.

Football Squad Theater Guests

The football squad were the guests of the Walken brothers a week ago yesterday when they attended the picture, "Death on the Diamond," which was shown at the State Theatre. The picture started promptly at 7:00 p. m. Mr. Cope identified the members of the squad at the door. The picture was enjoyed by everyone because it was a mystery concerning the ever popular sport, baseball.

Wooster Names Visitors' Day

Wooster College announces its Fifth Annual High School Visitors' Day, to be held Saturday, November 24, 1934, to which all high school students are cordially invited.

A football game between Wooster and Heidelberg at 2:15 will be the main attraction of the afternoon. After the game a lunch will be served by the Women's Athletic Association of the Y. M. C. A. at Douglas Hall.

Complimentary tickets can be secured at the principal's office. The State and Federal tax of two cents is required to be paid at the gate.

JUNIORS HOLD PARTY TONIGHT

College raiment was in order when the Juniors congregated in the gym last night for their annual class party.

There was a short entertainment in the auditorium, after which students went to the gym.

After the grand march, during which dance programs were passed out, dancing was the diversion the remainder of the evening.

Artistic decorations gave the gym a collegiate atmosphere.

Second Program Of Group Given

Marking the second of a series of entertainments being sponsored by the Rotary club, Zellner, actor and impersonator, appeared before the entire student body in High school auditorium last Friday.

He portrayed both humorous and historical figures and personalities taken from life.

Zellner's interpretation of Mark Twain, Huck Finn, little old German lady, and Abe Martin provided the humorous side of the program and kept the audience in an uproar.

The more serious side of the program was provided by excellent portrayals of world war veteran, Frenchman talking to a robin, and Robert E. Lee.

A second performance was given before a large audience in the evening. Besides those in the afternoon he portrayed such characters as: Benedict Arnold, John Brown, General U. S. Grant, Abraham Lincoln, Socrates, Moses, Simon Peter, Judas Iscariot and Saul before his conversion.

Algebra Students Invited Into Club

Some of the students of the trigonometry class have formed a slide rule club, to be supervised and instructed by Miss McCready. They have invited the Algebra II students who received an average of C or higher in their course to join the club also. This new organization will hold its meetings in the future on Wednesday night of each week in room 304.

CLASS ADVISOR CALLS MEETING OF JUNIOR BOYS

A junior boys' meeting was called by Miss Horwell, Junior class advisor, in the auditorium. Miss Horwell pointed out that this was the first party the juniors have had alone, as both parties the freshmen and sophomore years were held as double parties. She also stated that to make this party a success it will take the attendance of all the boys, and that the boys should have dates. Miss Horwell announced the new date of the party as Nov. 22.

Seniors Defeat Underclassmen In 6 to 0 Struggle

The Senior members of the football squad defeated the underclassmen 6-0, in a regulation game last Monday. The field was covered with mud which made play slow, but the fourth year men pushed over a score early in the last period. The extra point attempt was stopped.

All through the fray the superiority of the Seniors was evident. They were always on the offensive. The underclassmen completed a longer pass on the Senior 35 yard line late in the fourth quarter but it went for naught when they were forced to kick four plays later.

Only a handful of spectators witnessed them, but it was judged to be one of the best fought games played here this year.

2 Juniors Making Radio Experiments

Harry Bischel and Arnold Nye, two Juniors, are making experiments concerning 5 meter amateur radio transmissions. These young scientists have radio transmitters and receivers located in their respective homes and talk to one another in the same manner as you would talk over a telephone. Five meter transmissions are very rare, but these boys seem to be having success with them. They hope to discover new and better means with which to promote these transmissions.

CAST SELECTED FOR SENIOR PLAY 'SKIDDING'

Comedy Mixed With Truth

"Skidding," a highly entertaining comedy in three acts, is the play selected by Miss Lampher to be given by the seniors on December 6 and 7.

After much discussion and hard work the following cast of ten has been chosen to represent the class: Fred Roth and Janet Walker are castas Judge Mr. and Mrs. James Hardy, the parents of this true American family; Mary Bunn as Myra and Clara Mae Rich as Estelle take the parts of the pretty young daughters, who choose to marry before they finish their education and want to "come home to Mother" at the first trouble; young Andy Hardy in the person of Harry McCarthy is the adorable adolescent lad with his first "case"; Joyce Cratfield is shown as Marion Hardy, a college girl, who falls in love with Robert Schaeffer as Wayne Trenton just as a career is opening up to her; Robert Woner is Grandpa Hardy, who touches the heart with his absent-mindedness and his reminiscences about Grandma; Cora Mae Reich and Horace Schwartz are cast as Aunt Milly and Stubbins, respectively.

Although this play which recently had a long run on Broadway, is hilariously amusing, it tells many an underlying truth, which audiences are bound to relish. Humor is blended with pathos, and a deliciously garnished philosophy makes "Skidding" more significant than the average comedy.

Read Short Stories

Having finished the text book, the Spanish II classes are starting to read the stories in "Turrel's Spanish-American Short Stories." It is made up of stories written in Spanish which are very interesting.

Glory Isn't Everything

It is a great thing to knock a pitched ball out of the park for the winning run, negotiate a golf course in 66 strokes, play championship tennis, fell a man with a blow, throw forward passes and run for touchdowns, drive speedcraft at harrowing rates, fly, swim, shoot—all these run into the nation's headlines.

It is also pleasant, I imagine, to be the man who tells these heroes what to do and just when, and how to do it.

Very few people know of the name of Leo Kieran, better known as Jack Kearns, yet he provided the inspiration and opportunity and driving force that made Jack Dempsey a great pugilist.

Did you know that a little ex-rubber man from a New York reducing parlor, by the name of Bill O'Brien, who probably can't beat your grandmother at tennis, tells Tilden and Vines what to do, or did you know that an ex-newspaperman by the name of Christy Walsh was the man who was behind Babe Ruth and the late Knute Rockne?

No one is great enough to do his stuff without the aid of one of these little unsung fellows who stand behind our nation's champions.

And even in our school we often find that many leaders, although they direct the policies and receive the glory, that there is some quiet fellow back of them who helps, pushes, advises and suggests to them.

Even if you can't make the headlines, you can be the guy behind.

Forsake Gum—Improve Appearance

"Who would take from a working girl her only wad of gum?" is a refrain that has been floating about for many years, states the Ohio Northern Review college newspaper of Ala. College.

There has been a popular idea that only clerks are the constant offenders along this line; but the truth is, and anyone is hereby challenged to deny it after a two day observation, that the addicts of the unseemingly habit of gum chewing are to be found in great numbers on the college campus or high school field, the article maintained.

It seems impossible that college and high school girls fail to notice how completely they nullify the effect of their new garment by the addition of one penny's worth of gum.

"One's private life is his own but no one need think that he or she improves his public appearance by wagging his jaws like a happy heifer or like a monkey munching peanuts", concluded the clipping.

Return What You Borrow, Safely

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto yours"—

You Juniors and Seniors who are appointed to be on committees for numerous activities and are in the habit of borrowing for entertainments and such—remember your promises you made when you borrowed—"I will be careful—I will return it in jjust as good shape as I found it,"—and keep them.

There are two responsibilities to be recognized—a personal one and a scholastic one. Students are more apt to think of the personal responsibility, but it is very necessary we maintain a reliable name for our school.

So, in the future, when you are borrowing—make good promises and hold them true.

HEARD IN OUR HALLS

"Some have meat and cannot eat, And some would eat that want it, But we hae meat and we can eat, And sae the Lord be thankit."

—Burns

Marjorie Eckstein doesn't mind if her name appears in this column, but she would like me to word it nicely. Dear! Dear! Marjorie! And since when have you been dictating to your Hearer?

Wade McGee was seen about town with a little red-headed member of the Lisbon band after the game. Wade says she's pretty nice.

We wonder how Joyce Chatfield enjoyed her little trip to Columbus. Quite well, I trust!

But then why doesn't Bill Crouch like to be reminded of a certain wiener roast which took place last summer?

I saw (I see as well as hear) that Helen Goble has an unknown admirer. Someone wrote on her desk in 206: Dear Helen,

You are beautiful!

I guess I was all wrong about Ecky. You don't have a southern accent, do you, Katey Jo?

Les Turner is lying low for the Hearer; His name, he states, has been in this column too much. But it's my business to write what I hear—and didn't I hear something about you and a blonde from Goshen?

It's rumored that Bob Chappell and Marcella have a terrific crush.

The two Holroyd sisters were dating the Jones boys. But something happened and Billy says he's "off women." What'd you do, Lucille?

By the way, what's this I hear about Walter Holmes catching his sleeve on the spark? Tsk! Tsk! Walter.

Our English classes are becoming quite childish, with nursery rhymes and fairy tales constituting our tests. Ruth Kinney, however, is quite good at this! Tsk! Tsk! Ruth! So that's what you do in your spare time.

We hear that Clay Raynes has discovered a new way to play "Spin the Milk Bottle." How 'bout it, Clay?

Things I'd like to know:

Why Jane Hoperich has Leland written all over her locker.

Why Irene Andrei likes to wash her face with a brush. What are the effects, Irene?

Why Charlie McCloskey likes to go to Alliance after the football games.

Why Paul Williamson didn't ask that certain Junior girl to go to the class party with him.

Who the Freshman lassie is who thinks Bob Schaeffer's so nice.

What sophomore from 106 is that way about Walter Hanzlick.

If the reason for Nedra Williamson's appearance on the third floor is due to the attraction of Ralph Moffet.

Now if anyone can set me straight, please do so. 'Bye now, and happy vacation. The Hearer.

The Quaker Says:

Let's have a big attendance at the Alliance game on Thanksgiving.

WHO'S WHO

This pretty blonde brown-eyed lassie's home room is 206. Before she came to Salem High she lived in Alliance and went to Alliance High School. She likes parties, dancing and her favorite sports are swimming and tennis. Her hobby is collecting poetry. She is very popular among the student of the senior class, especially the boys. Although she has not been in Salem very long she states that both Salem and Salem High School are O. K.

Helen Goble is described.

CLUB NEWS

Salemasquers held a brief meeting a week ago last Tuesday. Plays for Thanksgiving were discussed and several were ordered. Plans were made for the yearly program.

An invitation card sent to Peggy Hopkins Joyce, "Admit bearer and one husband."

JUNIOR HI NEWS

The Junior High Music Club sponsored a music program which was held in the study hall last week. Several highlights of the program were two piano duets by Dorothy McConner and Meta McCave; a group of songs sung by Joe Pales, Arnold Nye, and Charles Freed, and a violin solo by Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite.

Miss Cameron's home room received a banner as an award for having the largest percentage of Association members.

The Audobon Club, under the supervision of Mr. Baker, is taking a series of hikes to various places of interest. The club hopes in the near future to go to the museum at Mill Creek Park in Youngstown.

Students Celebrate Teacher's Birthday

"—Now remember, the tardy bell is the signal. And try to keep together," were the mysterious instructions given by a member of the homeroom 202 a week ago Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Douglass was momentarily out of the room. When she returned a queer tension was manifest among the students. Then the tardy bell rang. Each student glanced hastily at his fellow conspirators and then sang lustily, "Happy Birthday to You," "Happy Birthday to You!" that familiar song of childhood days.

Yes, dear reader, you guessed it: Miss Douglass had a birthday, even as you and I.

Mr. Tsu, Chinese Y. M. C. A. worker, was lecturing in U. S. One evening a very fashionable young lady said to him. "Mr. Tsu, I hear you Chinese eat rats." Mr. Tsu looked at her a moment then replied, "Madame, I hear you Americans eat hot dogs."

Here's How To Cheer

- 1. Know the words of every song and yell before the game starts. 2. The cheer leader knows everything watch him. 3. To get the best cheering effect, open mouth wide. 4. Private cheering sections should not be organized because they do not manifest cooperation.

"Burglars broke into my house last night." "Yes, get anything?" "They searched everywhere. Then left a five dollar bill on my bureau."

Heavy Sleeper Cause of Great Din In History IV

Let's shift the scene back a week or so to a History IV class, which is reciting on the War of 1812.

"Harry," says the Prof., "what do you think?"

Whatever Harry Saftreed (Popeye to you) thinks, as yet remains to be seen, for there is an ominous silence from his corner of the room.

"HARRY!" repeats the teacher in a threatening tone. Still no answer. By this time the entire class has turned around to gaze at Popeye, who is deep in slumber—his head on his chest and the inevitable toothpick dangling from the corner of his mouth.

The class roars, for five minutes, but no amount of punching, shouting, shinkicking or hair-pulling can arouse this sound sleeper.

Finally the bell rings. Popeye sleeps on! At last, amid the hearty thumps administered by Bill Lowry and the shouts of his classmates, he opens first one eye, then the other, staring fixedly at nothing. Finally he becomes conscious of the roars and stares of the class (including the teacher) and is his face red!

Well, Popeye, we want to take this opportunity to extend our sympathies to your mother—or the alarm clock—whichever the case may be!

Did You Know That

Sugar is used to sweeten mortar used in building bridges . . . It increases the tensile strength.

Pickled tea leaves are a favorite food in Burma.

Blondes are more likely to suffer from heart trouble than brunettes says a London cardiac specialist.

The midget population of the world is about 2,000. About 350 live in the United States.

About 17,000,000 books have been published since the invention of printing but less than 100 of them have reached the sale of 1,000,000 copies.

During time of war more boys are born than girls.

A man in Scotland invented a machine operated by mouse power. This country owes its school teachers more than $125,000,000.

The Pinns, a genius of shell-fish in the Mediterranean Sea, spins silk.

The world's most widely used word is "Amen" an old Hebrew expression meaning "so be it" or "So it is".

A man can be perfect—physically and mentally—yet not pass the examination for enlistment in the United States Army. He can be rejected when his face characterizes "extreme ugliness".

There is no word in the Japanese language for bread.

JOKES

Little Boy—"Papa, who was Shylock?"

Father—"Do you mean to tell me that you don't know who Shylock was? Why do I send you to Sunday school? Why don't you read your Bible?"

Farmer—"Do you know anything about agriculture?"

Applicant—"Yes, sir!"

Farmer—"From what side do you milk a cow?"

Applicant—"From the outside."

Wrecked Motorist (opening his eyes)—"I had the right of way, didn't I?"

Bystander—"Yeah, but the other fellow had a truck."

One of the two young things in the bus was reading a newspaper.

"I see," she remarked to her companion, "that Mr. Neville, an octogenarian, is dead. Now what on earth is an octogenarian?"

"I'm sure I haven't the faintest idea," replied the other, "but they are a sickly lot; you never hear of one that isn't dying."

Rag Merchant—"Any beer bottles, lady?"

Lady—"Do I look as though I drink beer?"

Rag Merchant—"Any vinegar bottles, lady?"

Seeing a gasoline engine apparently reasonably priced in a catalog, a prospective customer wrote, saying: "Send engine No. 336; if good, will send check."

The firm replied, saying: "Send check; if good, will send engine."

Disgusted Boy Friend—"Would you like to hear something ducky?"

Girl Friend (expecting a date)—"Oh, yes- Please tell me!"

Boy Friend—"Quack, quack!"

"Would you like to hear about the sea?"

"Sure."

"It's too deep for you."

Teacher—"Mr. Shea, will you tell what eventually happened to the merry men?"

Mr. Shea—"Eventually they died!"

To One Who Knows

Immortal One, I speak your name With great respect; indeed, your fame

As sleuth has spread throughout old Salem High,

For naught escapes your eagle eye.

"The Hearer"—how that name strikes dread

Into eight hundred hearts. 'Tis often said

No matter what goes on or where, You and your eager ears are there.

No word is said, no deed is done, No bet is lost, no love is won,

That you don't hear about or see, Yet you remain a mystery.

Yes, Prying One, it seems so queer How much there is that you can hear

About our private lives—yet we Know naught of your identity.

Aye, Mighty Soul, in your one hand You hold our fates at your command.

A line or two, a place, a name, The secret's out—and you're to blame.

But we don't care; it's all in fun We like your col'mn; no harm is done.

And if the truth be told—(I'll hint) We like to see our names in print.

So, Friend or Foe, we think you're swell;

You do your work and do it well; And yet, we must confess it's true —We'd love to get a crack at you!

We dislike lecturers who conceal their manuscript, thus preventing us from knowing how much longer we'll have to keep quiet.

As you all know next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day. Our school ends Wednesday night with the first Association party, while Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, our annual Turkey day game with Alliance is played at the Mount Union field. Friday, although there is no school, there will be an assembly at 2:30 at which the last of the four association programs, a play entitled "Rooms For Tourists" will be given. Monday, December 3, school will be resumed.

SALEM LOSES TO UNDEFEATED NEW PHILLY

The New Philadelphia gridiron machine rolled to triumph over Salem, Saturday, at New Philly. The victors amassed 39 points while they held their opponents scoreless.

The home team held the edge all the way; they flashed a consistent and effective passing attack, which put them in a scoring position count. With this they mixed powerful winning plays that furnished first downs and touchdowns when the opportunities presented themselves.

The Quakers tallied three times in the opening quarter, and once again in each of the remaining periods. The victory boosted New Philly's string to nine straight and they will probably finish the season undefeated after they meet Dover Thanksgiving Day.

Gym Classes Play Kick Baseball Now

The girls gym classes have started playing a new game, kick baseball. It is played in the same manner as baseball the only difference being, that the pitcher rolls the ball and batter kicks it.

Volley ball tournaments will start this week and if there is any time left before basketball practice starts, it will be spent in having a kick baseball tournament.

Cribbing Used To Advantage In University

In a quiz given recently at the University of Texas, "Cribbing" was made compulsory. Students were required to look at their neighbor's paper, compare answers, and "cheat" in any way possible, provided they did not talk. The test was one in a psychology experiment conducted by the class.

BAILY SPEAKS HERE

Elwood T. Bailey, who two years ago gave a series of talks at the high school on college management, gave an interesting and spirited talk on "Cash for the New Deal," this afternoon at the assembly called for 2:30.

The trouble with swell resorts is that they're filled with plain people like yourself who came to see the swells.

Elephants Prove Brain Presence

You've probably heard people comment on the intelligence of elephants. Some say that they are just as dumb as they look. Others say that they learn quickly and understand much. Perhaps a few incidents in Old Mom's life will help you decide about the matter.

Old Mom was in the world's largest circus and she knew a thing or two. For an example, she knew how to drive the pestering and dangerous bugs and fleas away—after all, what are gunny sacks good for?

Old Mom could look very silly—especially when she was "well potted"—but when it came to an emergency, she filled the bill. When the circus show caught on fire she blasted her warning until the workers came to fight it.

And another time, when the train caught fire and the other elephants were mad with fright, she unconcernedly pulled the blazing wagons off the cars into the sand.

She led the herd across a wobbling suspension bridge, high over a swollen river in absolute darkness except for the flashes of lightning. If Old Mom pronounced a bridge safe, but the herd hung back, she would calmly turn and wallop the daylighters out of the worst offenders.

On another occasion, when Fred, Old Mom's keeper, was badly injured, she stood over him and wouldn't let anyone get near to give him medical aid. Finally the keeper was able to weakly whisper to her that he was all right, so she gently carried him to the doctor, where he was attended to, as Old Mom faithfully guarded him all the while.

So—perhaps some do say that elephants are dumb—but are they all?

Contest Given

Through a contest sponsored by the De-Mille-Paramount Pictures, students are given a chance to win a $500 scholarship, relates the East High Echo. The contestants are to write essays on a given side line of the moving picture "Cleopatra."

STUDENTS BELITTLE SELVES IN EXAMS

"Say, who was that man who ate no fat, his wife would eat no lean?" "Oh, lemme see—Jack Spratt, that's who it was—but listen, how do we know the Queen Victoria had mice?" "Oh, don't you remember, Pussey Cat, Pussy Cat, where have you been I've been to London to see the queen, etc."

The kindergarten class is having a test over its nursery rhymes lesson for today. But wait a minute. Do not students appear just a little large for kindergarten? Yes, decidedly so. Well, bless mah soul!—If it isn't the seniors taking a nursery rhyme quiz!

Some bright individual happened to think of the one thing that would stump the lordly seniors, and proceeded to make out long tests of descriptions of characters. The poor seniors had to identify the nursery rhyme people. And, speaking for myself as one of the seniors, it was a tough grind.—Oh, the explanation of this outburst is the celebration of National Book Week.

Go South, Young Man!

According to an article in the Readers Digest there are lots of opportunities in Central America. So the seniors who are looking for a job when they get out of school should go South; that is, if they want lots of thrills, fun, and hard work. There are large salaries waiting for them down there, but it takes more than a college education; you have to be able to endure the physical conditions. So, young man, if you're looking for opportunities, go South, young man, but don't expect to bum; you will just get stranded.

Salem To Meet Alliance Team On Thanksgiving

The Salem High griders bring the season to a climax Thanksgiving afternoon when they travel to Alliance to battle the Aviators on Mount Union field. Last year the two teams battled to a 6-6 tie on the Quakers home field. With the two teams evenly matched, this should be a great game when the two collide.

When the Quakers play Alliance Thanksgiving afternoon the following seniors will play their last game for Salem High. Fred Kaiser, Walter Schell, Bob Chappell, Charles "Kid" Berg, Alfred Rich, John Thombitas, Roland Schaffer, Clifford Beck, Harry McCarthy, Carl Skowran, Dick Wiggers and Alden West.

Several Students To Have Busy Year

After a first workout of the year Salem High's amateur electricians, Ray Hinckley, Lewis Catlos, and Dick Wernet, have begun to prepare for a busy season.

The first job they had was to take care of the lighting effects when the Bessie Andrus Trio appeared before the Association members and the public two weeks ago today. Since that they have been repairing equipment such as extension cords, sockets, switches, spotlights, etc., as well as dipping in colored dye the light bulbs which are used in the footlights and for the color effects.
