

SMITHMEN TO MEET POTTERS THERE TONIGHT

Rivals Are Rated Edge Over Quakers

Ceramists Lead County

Tonight Lew Smith's Quakers are faced with the toughest game yet to appear on this season's schedule for they will trek to East Liverpool to do battle with Coach Tom Slusser's Ceramists, one of the most powerful gridiron machines in this part of the state. This game also marks the Quakers' first encounter with a county rival.

Coach Slusser has 14 lettermen back this season from which to build his team and he has produced a powerful team that has won three of their four games played this season. Slusser's veteran backfield composed of Steffen, at the quarterback position, Spencer and Booth halfbacks, and Vocial at the full-back post, has shown plenty of offensive power as proven by the large scores compiled by the Potters.

The Ceramists met East Palestine in the lid lifter which was also a county battle and defeated the Brown and White squad 33-0. Lisbon, the next victim, was trampled 27 to 0 in another county game. New Philly upset the dope by defeating the River city team 7-6 on a rain-soaked slippery field. Just last week the Potters overwhelmed Toronto 33-0.

The Quakers will go out on the field the decided underdog but if they can put up the fight and determination they showed in the Struthers game they will have an even chance against the veteran Liverpool team but if they play the brand of ball they displayed in the recent Salem-East tussle will just prove themselves another easy victim of the powerful Ceramist grid machine.

Here are the standings in the county league:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
East Liverpool	2	0	1.000
Wellsville	1	0	1.000
Salem	0	0	.000
Lisbon	0	1	.000
East Palestine	0	2	.000

Season's Record

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pct
Wellsville	2	0	1	1.000
East Liverpool	3	1	0	.750
Salem	1	1	1	.500
Lisbon	1	2	0	.333
East Palestine	1	3	0	.250

9 Salem Students To Benefit From Government Plan

Salem High school has been given a quota of nine students who may receive Federal money for work designated by the principal. In order to qualify, the family of any student applying must be on relief.

This project is under the "National Youth Administration."

At the time of this writing Miss Martha Krauss is in a very critical condition at the Cleveland Clinic. Miss Krauss underwent three operations, all of them extremely delicate and serious.

The faculty and students join in hoping for her complete recovery.

Magicians Give Exhibition Here

Mystics Present Well-Known "Floating Lady" Illusion

Baffles Many Studes

On Wednesday, October 2, the student body of Salem High school were guests of the Salem High Association at a magician's performance given as an assembly, featuring King and Thomas and their traveling company. In their performance King and Thomas presented a wide variety of tricks and illusions, the most popular of which was the justly famous "floating lady" illusion. The audience, although frankly bewildered, was greatly pleased by the trick.

At different times during the performance, students volunteered their services to Thomas, who was conducting a hypnotic experiment. Before attempting to hypnotize the students who had offered their services, Thomas stated that he doubted the successful completion of his trick as only 80 per cent of all people can be hypnotized. After trying two people and meeting with little success, Thomas concluded the experiment. Several students also aided in the magician's 100 card and other types of tricks.

King and Thomas, who have just completed their eighth annual tour together, left for the South immediately after their performance at the High school, and will fill engagements throughout the South, Southwest, and Mexico during the winter, before they return North again next summer with a complete new show.

The Salem High School orchestra rendered several selections during the course of the program.

Salem Harriers Beat Barberton

The Salem High harriers, coached by R. B. Clarke, defeated the Barberton High runners, 20-39 in a dual meet held here last Saturday morning.

It was ideal running weather and the winning time was 9:46 but the course was a little short of the usual two miles.

Roelen flashed into first place a little ahead of Palfy, who—by the way—is a younger brother of the Barberton star who graduated last spring. Kamasky, Culler and Catlos—all of Salem, finished in third, fourth and fifth places respectively.

Tomorrow morning the Akron East runners will come to Salem to hold a dual meet with Clarke's harriers. The meet will get under way at 10 o'clock.

S. H. S. BAND TO SPONSOR BIG CARNIVAL SOON

Colorful Affair To Include Puppet Circus

Jr. Class Prints Programs

Gala Fun Festival To Begin In Gym Nov. 1

Franc Still's Marionette circus, a program sponsored by Robert Garrison, a Salem High graduate now in Cleveland, will be here on Nov. 1 for the benefit of the band. This Marionette circus of 14 numbers includes 70 different characters.

Performances will be given at 7 and 9 o'clock for adults, and a special performance for grade school pupils, to which they will be admitted for a small fee, will be presented during the day.

A Fun Festival, at which side-shows and concessions will prevail, is to be held in the gym as an added attraction to the circus. The tickets for the circus can also be used as admittance to the Fun Festival.

The programs for the show will be sponsored by the Junior class.

It is hoped that members of the student body and their families will attend the show and support the festival.

NEW BOOK LIST COMPLETED BY S. H. S. LIBRARIAN

The library has received many new books, fiction and non-fiction, to be at the disposal of students next week.

Due to the change in the History 4 classes, several new history books have come in.

The biology department is the recipient of three new books, two of which concern ferns and mosses; the other is "Men Against Death" by Paul DeKruif.

Of interest to the feminine half of the student body will be "Skin Deep", an account of all popular cosmetics, whether they are beneficial or definitely harmful.

Boys will enjoy "Radio Amateur's Handbook" and "Omnibus of Sport", the latter a book of true short stories of baseball, football, etc.

Adventure stories which will be of interest to both boys and girls are: "Down the World's Most Dangerous River", an account of a thrilling trip down the Colorado River; "Siberian Gold" will appeal to everyone who has ever heard the call to go adventuring as did the young engineer who is the hero of this story.

In addition to all these there are several sea adventure stories, two of which are "Half Deck" and "Blowing Weather"; a new mystery, "The Innocence of Father Brown"; "Heroes and Hazards" are short stories of men whose jobs provide plenty of thrills and danger.

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN MERCER HITS RECKLESS DRIVERS IN STUDENT ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

DEBATE TEAM CHOSEN FOR COMING YEAR

Eight Students Picked To Represent S. H. S. In Oratory

Few Veterans Return

Their's not to question why, their's but to do or die. That is the fate of eight of our students who have successfully competed in the debate tryouts held last Thursday and Friday.

They are Zoa Slutz, Helen Thompson, Constance Clark, Katherine Zimmer, Verna Carpenter, Mary Fisher, Charlotte Morey and Aquila Solomon.

These students will represent Salem High School on two sides of the question, which is: "Resolved: That the several states should adopt legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

This year two speakers will compose a team instead of the three required last year. By Thursday, Mr. Guiler will have two negative and two affirmative teams. As in previous years, Salem High Debate squad will be a member of the State Debating League.

Members of the team will begin work on their necessary twelve minute speeches Monday, in preparation for their first debate which will take place immediately after the Christmas vacation.

MONITOR SYSTEM IS REVIEWED BY SALEM PRINCIPAL

"Cooperate With Monitors Is Watchword," Says Mr. Springer

For quite some time the Monitor System has been used in Salem High school. All students leaving a classroom or study hall are to sign their name, destination, time going and time returning at the monitor's desk.

A word to the Freshmen and newcomers. There are two monitors on each floor, one on the north side and one on the south side of the hall. If you are in doubt as to where a room is, do not be afraid to ask the monitor. It is a part of the monitor's duty to help you become better acquainted with the school.

Do not visit with the monitor! It is somewhat embarrassing for one, while you talk endlessly on, not to answer you and thus be seemingly rude. Another thing please know what time you leave your class. It will avoid much confusion at the monitor's desk and the monitors will appreciate your willingness to cooperate with them.

Salem District Scene of State's Worst Accidents

Campaign Launched

Patrolman A. E. Mercer of the Salem sub-station of the state highway patrol spoke on "Safety" to the students and faculty of Salem High last Friday. Mercer, who is from Newcomerstown, is a recent graduate of the state school at Columbus, where prospective patrolmen are given rigorous tests on knowledge of highways and routes, as well as vehicle regulations of Ohio.

At an early point in his talk Mercer pointed out the responsibility held by drivers of school busses. While speaking of school busses, he also pointed out the folly displayed by some children in putting their arms out of windows, and of the serious consequences.

"The drunken driver is the greatest menace on the highway today," continued Mercer, and in comparison with a wild lion or tiger showed that, "although a wild animal generally kills only one person at a time, a drunken driver may kill as many as six at once." Mercer told of the vast steps being taken by the highway patrol in trying to rid the roads of this menace.

He mentioned the apparent lack of knowledge displayed by erring motorists in regard to driving and traffic regulations, and stated "The State of Ohio does not believe in excessive fines, but more in an educational program by which it is attempting to enlighten its motorists." He went on to explain that drivers who are stopped for minor offenses are later sent rules, highway regulations, and instructive literature by mail.

One of the most interesting points brought out was that Salem and the Columbiana county district are the scenes of a greater number of accidents than any other district in Ohio. He stated that there was no apparent reason for this condition, but in hope of clearing it up it is expected that two more men may be added to the Salem force.

At the conclusion of this interesting talk a short pep rally was held for the Salem-East game.

Signs Placed In Halls To Remedy Bad Congestion

To avoid congestion in the halls Mr. Springer recently placed signs at all of the stairways in the building, which are being used for up-traffic, while the back stairs are being used for down traffic.

When the building was first built, the wide halls and stairways were in question, but now they are of great advantage.

Already the confusion has been averted to some extent. Students are asked to cooperate.

A Message to the Football Team!

Since the sad outcome of the East game, many of the Salem fans have been not a little baffled. The Struthers game gave promise to a great football season; every loyal fan and student was enthused. The team showed marvelous cooperation and spirit. Last Friday night the outcome—well, it was just a little different. Below is a letter which is written directly to the Football squad.

Dear Fellows:

I am sure that I express the wholehearted sentiment of all the local fans and the High School student body when I say that your efforts did not go unappreciated.

I know that it's a plenty hard proposition when the old odds are stacked against you to keep on fighting with that same determination with which you entered the game. You've got a bigger job than to merely win the game; you are trying to fulfill the confidence versed in you first of all by our coach, and also by the school and town that you are fighting for.

Speaking of your coach. The least I can say concerning him is that he is nothing short of a prince! You may think that just because he doesn't hop all over you and bawl you out as most coaches do, when you muddle a play, that he is taking a negative attitude towards your shortcomings. But, that's not the reason. That's just his way of showing you that a coach can also be a gentleman and still retain discipline. A truly fine quality. Remember that he is the fellow who gives every bit of the credit to you when you come through and win the old ball game and he's also the one that must take the unjust criticism when you end up on the short end of a score. You could never realize some of the sacrifices that he makes in order to see you come through. That's his onl compensation—when you play the game like he knows you CAN play it.

How hurt he must have been when you seemed to lose that which he had tried so hard to instill in you before the East game—ENTHUSIASM!

No, I'm not trying to censure you for something you failed to do. After all, fellows, you are only human too, and isn't it so easy for all of us to make a costly mistake at times? We all saw what you did to Struthers and your coach saw it too. That is why we have so much confidence in you. Above all, fellows, don't let a downtown coach tell you that your mentors are doing the wrong thing. You've all worked with them long enough to know that their judgment is so much better than of those individuals who are prone to criticize!

Think of this, men of Salem High School when you're out under those great lights and things just don't seem to be going your way. "There is a coach on the bench who would give everything he's got to see me play that old ball game the way he's taught me to play it." Then think again and say "There are several thousand people in those stands who know as well as I do that I can win this game and they are counting on me, how can I let them down?" Then DON'T GIVE UP THE GAME WHEN THE OTHER TEAM SEEMS TO HOLD THE EDGE AND THE ODDS ARE STACKED AGAINST YOU! I know, you've heard that before but it won't do any harm for you to hear it again. The season is just begun and your hardest fights are yet to come. Tonight you are going to get in there and beat a tough East Liverpool club. We're expecting that and we're with you.

"GABBY" HIXENBAUGH

Hallo, Hallo, Hallo an' how's it Witchoo, pelay-welay? an' now Mi' frans, wouldjoo be so kindly as to lend me you're ears while I'm discouraging. Hoy, I'm leffin-g' because here on de table sitting hin front from me is a picture of my fran' Crouch.

* * *

I see by latest reports from the press that a gentleman (I didn't know that there were any left) has applied for a patent on an automobile which you can drive from the back seat. I don't see anything so outstanding about that because it's been going on in our family since we purchased the Duranty.

* * *

My dear friend and colleague Crouch informs me that he and the Editor have written a song. All reports seem to say that it is a very choice bit; and rumor has it that a certain advertising concern made up of High School boys are thinking seriously of financing the publishing of it. Ask the boys about it and give them your opinion.

* * *

Looking back one year ago from today we reminisce (nice word) over some of the important things which were printed in this sheet. For instance—The Quaker grid-ders were beaten by Warren 36-6 . . . Freed was chosen assistant Editor for Alex . . . a group of thirty-fivers held a wiener roast at the club . . . Hi-Tri held their initiation . . . Herbert was chosen head manager . . . and the Salemasquers put on the play "His First Dress Suit" in the auditorium.

* * *

Some people seem to think that war for America is evident; however, one red-headed person in this High school (not mentioning any name, but his initials are Bill Crouch) has no fear that he will ever need to go to war because there is an enlistment law in this country that says that a man (compliment) can be perfect Physically and Mentally and yet be refused admission to the Army. If his face characterizes extreme "ugliness"???. The other two even disqualify Crouch but that last one surely settles it. (Take that, Crouch!)

Gabby

He: Every time I kiss you I feel like a better man!

She: Well, you must be half way to heaven right now.

Hi-Tri Initiation Ends With a Big Bang

Look at those girls in pigtails coming up the street, and their dresses. Hey, Bill, what is this? Hi-Tri initiation. Well, here's where we have some fun today.

But this wasn't as funny as some thought it was. If you would have had to do this, do you think you would have liked it? These "Insignificant Stooges," as they were called, were required to wear six pigtails in their hair and a dress six inches from the ground, know their A. B. C's backwards, and do everything an older member asked them to do.

The initiation lasted a whole week and at noon one could see any stooge trotting down the street to meet a couple boys and escort them up to the school. Betty Martin and Helen Thompson had the job of escorting our principal, Mr. Springer. At noon last Thursday the girls sang that popular "Nothing Song" and then formed a line and paraded the school halls. Then that night came the big time when there was a meeting of all members, old and new. All new members had to perform a stunt in which some did tricks and other ones poems. But the climax came when Naomi Schmid and Mathilda Fleischer made real stooges out of the present Hi-Tri officers, Dilworth, Crawford and Theiss. Then came the penalties, in which all the girls were penalized for not doing as told in the week. Those receiving them were Miriam Dow, Jane Metzger, Meta McCave, Helen Thompson and Jane Woods. For full particulars, see these girls. The meeting was called to a close by the president with the girls singing the Hi-Tri song, "Follow the Gleam."

All the new members are glad it is over, but are starting to plan for the oncoming Juniors' initiation.

Watch out, Sophomores.

They were standing at the front gate.

Evelyn: Won't you come into the parlor and sit awhile, Harry dear?
Harry: No I guess not.

Evelyn: I wish you would. It's awfully lonesome. Mother has gone out, and father is upstairs groaning with rheumatism in his legs.

Harry: Both legs?

Evelyn: Yes, both legs.

Harry: Then I'll come in for a little while.

State Trooper: Why're you stopping, man? You can't park here.

Geo. G.: I've got a flat tire. I ran over a bottle about a mile back.

State Trooper: Couldn't you see it and drive around it?

Geo. G.: No, the fool had it in his hip pocket.

Join Our Clubs!

Every year the same question rises "Shall we have a French Club, a General Science Club, or a Biology Club?" and every year the same thing is decided.

So the clubs start off with a bang! large enrollment! good attendance, etc. But by the end of the first semester, interests are lacking—members never attend—dues are not paid—and why, why?

Simply because there are always a certain number of persons in every club who join for one of two poor reasons. Either to have their picture in the Quaker Annual or to add an extra activity under their name when they graduate.

If that's all a club means, don't even join and least of all don't be the one to start the organization every year through a pretense of interest and enthusiasm.

You must know that, to have a successful club every member—every single person in that club should do his utmost to benefit the society. He should know and understand the club's purpose, he should boast the records by regular attendance and give helpful suggestions to the advisors.

Now—it is up to you to "make a go" of clubs in Salem High School and NOT to make them a thing of the past. Teachers are not expected to force pupils to join the clubs. It is entirely up to the student, and for his benefit and for his interests (So why not join?)

Student Opinion

The seats in the auditorium are comfortable enough for a person to get settled in them, and stay settled for a long while, but it seems that some pupils insist in squirming around in them and causing a great disturbance by the squeaking the seats make.

In the temperance assembly, and also in the first assembly, the noise was terrible. Those that wanted to hear what was being said could not do so because of the noise, so they also started to fuss, causing more disturbance.

If you can't sit still and listen, at least sit still so that the seats will not make any noise. If nothing else, go to sleep; you would be far more peaceful sleeping than squirming.

The deportment was much better in the King Thomas Magician assembly and you should keep up the good work. Learn to be a good listener.

VERSATILE MAIDS
CRASHES THRU

"Where is she now?" comes the questioning voice of a Salem High student.

"I dunno," lazily replies a fellow student, "I suppose dusting the shelves off in the library."

No she isn't, she's helping Jane Metzger proof-read some stuff for "The Quaker," comes a second voice. She's not either, she's writing a column for Journalism class, comes a third, and so on—but who is this son that's part poet, part proof-reader, and a mighty good shelf-tender also?

Well, in the first place, she's a mature Junior. Second place, she's like most of us would like to be but aren't—small. Hair, well, dark brown and kinda' tan, sorta' diocre in other words. Her eyes are brown and she wears very little make-up which comes in handy when Hi-Tri invitation time comes around. She's got a subtle way of making the corners of her mouth curl up when something pleases her. She's the type that's here and there all at once. Swimming is her favorite sport. Keeping Ted away from Jane is her past-time. And the way, she's got a blond blue-eyed brother who was graduated last year and who probably still holds the record for breaking hearts at Salem High.

Aside from being a member of the library and editorial staffs, a member of the Hi-Tri and the use of many an extra heart-beat to the opposite sex, you just can't keep a conversation down when she's around.

Her name? Oh! That's a mere trifle, what's in a name? But if you really must know, her initials are M.

Club News

The French club, under the supervision of Miss Lawn, held its first meeting last Tuesday. The purpose of this meeting was to decide upon plans for the year.

Miss Lawn gave a brief talk about her hopes for the outcome of the club this year.

It was decided that the first year student will be permitted to enter the club at the close of the first semester.

The Hi-Tri held its second meeting a week ago Thursday to initiate the new members, of which there were forty-three.

After the initiation a brief ceremony was held, using candles and producing a very solemn effect.

Plans were made for the steak fry given by the senior members to the juniors last Thursday.

The Slide Rule club and the Samasquers have not as yet been organized but will be later on.

The Biology club and General Science club will not be organized this year because of the students' evident lack of interest.

Diary, Wed., Oct. 2nd to Wed.,
Oct. 9th.

Was offered position as War Correspondent to Ethiopia-Italian clash, but, being a man of action, decided to stick around and write gossip for the Quaker. Here my position is really precarious. Despite recent attempts to assassinate me, I still carry on with latest bits of news and scandal.

FLASH—Wed., Oct. 2nd. S. H. S. visited by traveling magicians, King and Thomas. Thomas proves hypnotism practical by experimenting on self-styled columnist, "Gabby" Q. Hixenbaugh. (This disproves old theory—you must have brains to be hypnotised. Curses, Gabby, we thought he was going to do the disappearing act.)

FLASH — FLASH — Friday, Oct. 4th — Met old pal and former columnist, last year's HEARER, M. F. Juergens. According to Francie, "Lil Marjie" Knisely has a terrible crush on some Senior lad. (Incidentally, that "lil Marjie" stuff sounds familiar). It seems that this Senior was President of the Boys' Athletic Club for a short time last year. Francie refused to divulge further information as Marge has a T. T. (terrible temper).

*SPARKLE — SPARKLE — (Synonym for Flash!) Several of these Junior and Senior lads have been following the advice of some famous philosopher by going West, Yowsah, "Go West, Young Man". The exact part of the West is not known, but it is either Sebring or Beloit. The gentlemen are none other than Nusbaum, Mellinger, Thomas and Englehart. Don't know much about the High School Gals in Beloit, boys, but can vouch for the ones in Sebring.

SCANTIES—This Ethiopian-Italian War is supposed to be rough, did you see the first quarter of the Youngstown East-Salem game last Friday nite? . . . This Marcella Judge has been seen running around quite some time with Willie Smith. . . . Have you noticed Jane Metzger's new coiffure . . . Katy-Jo Simmer was supposed to interview our distinguished Editor, C. S. Freed, didja Katy? * * *

And now for the two "famous" Alumni who are honored in this column this week. "Baron" K. Schwartz, '35, freshman at Ohio State, and Katherine Ladd, '34, clerk in one of Salem's Dept. Stores.

The "Baron", one of last year's "Zuper feature story" writers for the Quaker, left for Columbus recently with three intentions. They were: (1) To see some good Football games; (2) To meet some beautiful co-eds; (3) To study. The "Baron" is as fickle as ever, having moved three times since his arrival.

Now a word about that dark-haired Alumni, Katie Ladd. During the day Katie works at a Department Store, but her nights are her own.

Katie writes a wicked diary. One excerpt from page 19 states, "He was so gentle and sweet." So you're still breaking hearts, eh, Miss Ladd? * * *

Note—In closing let me remind readers, to fully appreciate this column, one should first read "GABBY'S GAB."

A tramp paused at a farm house. "Clear out," shouted the woman. "I hain't got no wood to chop. There ain't nothin' you can do around here."

"There is, Madam," reported the wayfarer with dignity. "I could give you a few lessons in grammar."

Birthdays--

As we all like to know on what date our friends' birthdays fall, the following column has been arranged for your benefit (please do not use board nails in it) and pleasure.

On glancing through the list I notice the 13th falls this week but as it is on Sunday I think Henry need have no fear.

- Brantingham, Sherman—Oct. 11.
- Dermotta, Henry—Oct. 11.
- Minamyre, Rosemary—Oct. 11.
- Jones, Fred—Oct. 11.
- Farmer, Martha—Oct. 12.

- Berg, Helen—Oct. 16.
- Rohan, David—Oct. 16.
- Wilson, Billy—Oct. 16.
- Turner, Lester—Oct. 17.

The teacher asked a little boy where he was born.

Not wanting to be called a sissy, he replied "Yankee Stadium," instead of St. Agnes' Hospital.

Since this world has called itself civilized it has been the usual custom for the wife to take care of the house and tend to the meals while the husband goes out and earns a living. Nowadays there seems to be a revision in the duties of both man and woman.

The girls in high school are taking honors in debating and public speaking while we find husky De-Rienzo, Paul Williamson and Dick McArtor down in the cooking room with dainty white aprons on, learning the essentials of cooking.

What's the matter boys? Are you going to let the girls run the country while you be the cook?

In the good old days, when a neighbor told you how many quarts and pints she had put up, you knew she meant fruit.

DOPE BUCKET

By DICK WERNET

Displaying a powerful aerial attack the East High gridders of Youngstown defeated the Salem Hi Quakers 25-7 in a game played under the floodlights of Reilly stadium last Friday night.

They were led by White and Colangelo, who teamed up to complete five out of six attempted passes and to score three of their team's touchdowns. These same two players also hit the line for several long gains.

The bewildered and surprised Quakers were kept on the defensive most of the contest, and they were completely lacking in the offensive power they showed in the Struthers game.

In the opening minutes of the game Colangelo let fly a pass that fell directly in the waiting arms of White who raced 45 yards for a touchdown.

East scored again in the first quarter when Colangelo scooped up Tibbs' punt in the Salem 40-yard line and evaded several would-be tacklers to scamper across the goal line for the second touchdown of the contest.

Salem scored their lone touchdown early in the second quarter when West flipped a lateral to Pukalski who heaved a long forward pass to Branntsch who scored standing up. Branntsch place-kicked the extra point.

Late in the same quarter East scored again when Colabine plowed over from the Salem half yard line.

White scored again for the Steel City team in the third quarter as he shook off several Quaker tacklers to gallop 15 yards for the final marker.

Both East and Salem substituted frequently in the final quarter, but the East scrubs held the ball in their possession most of that quarter.

East made 12 first downs, gained 170 yards from scrimmage and 144 yards from passes. Salem accounted for 7 first downs, gained only 91 yards from scrimmage and completed only one out of eight passes attempted for 12 yards.

The lineups:

The English teacher asked his first period class to write sentences illustrating the different cases. On Bill Rice's paper were found the following illustrations:

I saw a beautiful girl walking down the street.

I walk across the street, changing to verbal, and then become dative.

If she is not objective, we become plural, we walk home together.

Her brother is an indefinite article and her mother is accusative and becomes imperative.

I talk about the future and she changes the subject.

Her father becomes present and I become past tense.

The Poets Corner

"Fall"

B Jane Metzger

The scarlet leaves that garland the tree-tops,
 The tangy wind and the stormy squall,
 These, and the glorious moon of the harvest
 Are reminiscent of Fall.

The purple haze of smoke in the distance,
 The resonant note of the quail's hunting call,
 These, and the corn that is stocked on the hillside
 Are reminiscent of Fall.

The faces of friends who were lost for the summer,
 The murmur that runs through a full study-hall
 These, and the teacher who says
 "Test on Friday"
 Are reminiscent of Fall.

"Say waiter, call the manager here; I can't eat this terrible stuff."
 "Sorry, sir, there's no use calling him, he won't eat it either."

"Lament"

By T. J. Loschinsky

I hope that I shall never be
 In need of writing poetry!
 It is the very toughest job
 That e'er provoked a manly sob.
 I grit my teeth and tear my hair.
 I wrack my brain, there's nothing there.

I think and think, I'm at a loss.
 Alas, no good, Freed is the boss,
 And so it turns out in the end
 I've just a line or two to send
 Up to our angry editor.

Mr. Kaye—"Are you sure your wife knows I'm coming home with you for dinner?"

Mr. Key—"She ought to; I argued with her for an hour about it."

"What's the matter, darling?"

"Papa hit his finger with a hammer."

"Don't cry about that; you should laugh."

"I-I did."
