

CAST CHOSEN FOR "THE THIRTEENTH CHAIR"

ATTY SPEAKS AT ARMISTICE DAY ASSEMBLY

Band Plays Selections Popular During War Time Period

Eleventh Hour Observed

Celebrating the 17th anniversary of the signing of the armistice, Salem High School students held a fitting service in memory of the boys who lost their lives in the great world conflict.

At 10:45 the students filed into the auditorium and listened to a selection played by the High School Band. When, at 10:59, the band abruptly ceased playing, the students arose and faced the East, bowing their heads for a minute in silent reverence.

At 11:00 the band struck up a medley, "Over There," which included many of the songs which were popular with Americans during the World war.

Attorney Charles G. McCorkhill, representing the American Legion, spoke on "The Significance of Armistice Day." He told graphically of the gravity of our position when we entered the war and of the celebrating and joy at the signing of the armistice. A response of gratitude was made by Mr. Springer on behalf of the student body and the faculty of Salem High School. As the students were dismissed and the band struck up the ever-popular "National Emblem March."

Parents Visit High School On Thursday

Salem High's annual Parent's Visiting Day was held yesterday with a large number of parents in attendance.

After visiting the various classes, parents and friends of Salem High School students joined in an assembly at 2:30 p. m. to hear Dr. C. V. Thomas, president of Penn College, in Cleveland. Dr. Thomas spoke on cooperative education which has made rapid strides during the past five years.

A number of former Salem High students are now actively engaged in several of these cooperative colleges, which enable them to work for six or nine weeks and then to attend school for a like period before repeating the process. In this way the boys are able to earn, for the most part, their own way through college and are also able to secure better balance between theory and practice.

Students Benefit By Helpful NYA Project

The National Youth Administration is getting under way in various High schools of the county. About ten Salem High school students are benefitting by this latest attempt to keep deserving boys and girls in High school.

Hi-Tri Arranges For Penny Dance

There have been various rumors concerning the plans, date, etc., for the first Hi-Tri Penny Dance. The date for this dance was to have been last Monday, Armistice Day, but because of the reconditioning of the gym floor, this made impossible. However, arrangements have all been made, and on the first available date after the work on the floor has been completed, the dance will be given.

Students See Film Of Clash Between Salem and Lisbon

Pep Rally Held In Auditorium; Mr. Springer Reviews Old Salem-Lisbon Feud

On last Friday morning a pep assembly for the Lisbon game was held in the auditorium. In an early part of the assembly Mr. Springer reviewed ancient rivalry of Salem and Lisbon High Schools dating back to 1904 and 1905 when track rivalry caused such antagonism that there was a split in the county athletic association. At that time, in order to keep the trophy which they believed was justly theirs, students of the school hid the county track trophy in a bank vault downtown. After its removal years later it was cleaned and polished and is now on display in our trophy case.

Movies of a Salem-Lisbon game of 15 years ago were shown in the latter part of the assembly.

STUDENTS VISIT STATE THEATRE LAST THURSDAY

Triple Bill Includes Byrd Expedition, Humor Pathos

Many Salem High students witnessed three exceptionally interesting features at the State theater a week ago last Thursday.

A six reel film "Little America," which described Admiral Byrd's second flight into the Antarctic was the first attraction. The activities and accomplishments of the men while on the expedition were shown in an exciting manner. The story of Byrd's lonely vigil and of his narrow escape from death was also portrayed. Many interesting pictures of the dogs and other animals as well as unique scenes of the Antarctic, were included in the entertainment.

The second film was "The Perfect Tribute," in which "Chic" Sale re-enacted the role of Abraham Lincoln. This picture recorded the Gettysburg address and its affect upon the people. The play was adapted from "The Perfect Tribute" by Andrews.

"This is the Life" completed the triple bill. In this story of a child actress who longed to lead the everyday life of other children, Jane Withers starred.

Through the courtesy of the State theater it was possible for many Salem students to see these educational films.

Rally In Third Quarter Concedes Smithmen 12-7 Win Over Lisbon

The Salem High Quakers defeated a scrappy Lisbon High football team 12 to 7, in a game played at the fair grounds in Lisbon last Saturday. This was the last Columbiana County fray for both teams this season.

Salem Scores On Pass

The Quakers scored in the first quarter on a lateral and forward pass play when Pukalski, after receiving a lateral pass from a team mate, heaved a forward to "Tunney" Snyder who galloped over the goal line unmolested.

But from then on it was all Lisbon. The small county seat team outplayed Salem the remainder of the first half. The Quakers seemed powerless to stop the drivers of the Lisbon backs. The Bickleman gained almost at will and late in the second quarter they scored.

Lisbon also scored on a pass. Vanaman, Lisbon's triple threat star, passed to Marshall for the tally. Rubino place-kicked the extra point.

Quakers Rally

The Quakers came back for blood in the third quarter and after the rejuvenated Salem team had piled up three successive first downs Paul Williamson went over for a touchdown on a wide end sweep.

Snyder's plunge for extra point was unsuccessful.

There was little more of interest as the game dragged through its final stages. One thing that should be mentioned is West's spectacular kick. West, who had taken over the punting duties after Pukalski was injured, got away a kick that must have traveled at least 70 yards. It was also West who got away that 63 yard punt in the Wellsville game.

Salem Outgains Opponents

Statistics show that the Quakers piled up a total of 9 first downs, gained 144 yards from scrimmage and completed two out of seven pass attempts, for a total gain of 148 yards from passes.

On the other hand Lisbon made 7 first downs, gained 104 yards from scrimmage and 70 yards from passes. The Blue and White grid-ders literally filled the air with passes—they attempted 22. Seven of these were completed.

Lineups

Salem	Pos.	Lisbon

Business Manager Of Local Newspaper Speaks To Scribes

Mr. R. W. Hawley, business manager of the Salem News, gave an address to the Journalism class last Tuesday morning. Throughout his speech he stressed the importance of gaining the confidence of one's employers in newspaper work.

"No true reporter has ever violated a confidence in his profession," stated the speaker.

Mr. Hawley told the class that when one starts out in newspaper work the small city daily offers as much, if not more, opportunity than the newspapers of a metropolis.

In the forty-five minutes in which he spoke, Mr. Hawley answered many other questions which arise in the mind of the young journalist.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Lehman, journalism class instructor.

Salem Trades Class Progressing Rapidly

The Salem Trades Class, which is held in the High School from 8 a. m. to 12 m. on Saturday and from 7 to 8:30 p. m. on Tuesday, is rapidly making progress since its beginning in 1929.

The class has an enrollment of 140, 12 of whom are high school boys.

This is the largest Trades Class of its kind in the state. The work carried on prepares the students for work in machine shops, pattern works, and other types of shop work.

The class has taken four trips to Cleveland this year. The first, to visit the Chase Brass and Copper Company, and the second, to visit the Machine Tool Show.

After a three-year course is completed, a state diploma is given.

The class also has extra activities, such as basketball and softball.

Looked upon throughout the state industrial education as a model school, the Salem Trades Class is expected to do much for its students.

Final Cast Is Picked Following Many Tryouts

Practice Held Nightly

The cast for the Senior Play, "The Thirteenth Chair", was chosen by Mrs. Mary Lanpher Harris, the play director, last Friday. After numerous tryouts were held last week, the final cast was picked.

Practices began instantly and will continue until the performance of the play on December 4 and 5.

The following is the list of the players who will participate in the production:

- Lois Dilworth .. Elizabeth Erskine

English Scholars Inaugurate Study Of Famous Classic

Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" Being Produced By MGM, To Be Released

Mr. Brautingam's English classes have started the "Tale of Two Cities," by Charles Dickens. It is an opportune time as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is making the picture of the same name, which is to be released soon. This will help make the book more interesting and in addition Mr. Brautingam has requested the students to bring in any articles on Charles Dickens or anything concerning the "Tale of Two Cities." Later they will be hung on 208's bulletin board.

Friday, Nov. 15—Pep Assembly for Warren game.

Saturday, Nov. 16.—Football: Salem at Warren (day).

Monday, Nov. 18—Quaker Editorial meeting; Quaker Business meeting.

Tuesday, Nov. 19—French Club.

Thursday, Nov. 21—Hi-Tri.

Friday, Nov. 22.—Senior Class party.

"The Alibi Club"

Oh, teacher, I forgot; I didn't bring any paper; I didn't get to study.

Do you recognize these greetings? They come from many of our students all the time. Day in and day out, these familiar lines fall in our ears. Everywhere we meet people who confess themselves to be careless, through these and other familiar devices.

The Boy Scouts have the right idea. Their's is the motto: "Be prepared." After all, it is he who goes prepared that goes the farthest in this world of ours.

At the Lisbon-Salem football game, poor sportsmanship reared its ugly head to mar an almost perfect day. So far this season, Salem's conduct has been far above reproach. The fact that Salem outnumbered Lisbon was no reason to drown out their cheers and boo the vain efforts of their team. The Lisbon team was trying every bit as hard as Salem to win the traditional game. The Lisbon fans behaved much better than Salem and Salem followers should be ashamed of this, inasmuch as Lisbon is the first school this year to outshine Salem High in the matter of sportsmanship. What has happened is over and nothing can be done about it, except to see that it doesn't happen again. If each student will do his part in promoting better sportsmanship at the remaining games, Salem will once more command the respect of the other schools for its good behavior and sportsmanship.

Be Cautious!

According to the report of the National Safety Council, one person in every one hundred in the United States was injured in an automobile accident last year. Because of this alarming number of persons injured, added to the number slaughtered each year, for the most part by careless drivers, a course in safety education has been added to the curriculum in a number of the larger high schools in this country.

In view of the fact that in a school the size of Salem High such a course would perhaps be impracticable, a few pointers for student drivers would seem to be in order:

1. The other driver may not be the only "fool."
2. To be right is not so important as to be alive.
3. Not every minute gained is a minute saved.
4. The first mistake is often the last one.
5. Sir Malcolm Campbell didn't break the world speed record the first time he was behind the wheel.
6. The "boy" hero who boasts of twenty car wrecks is likely a zero.
7. In case of a wreck that "sweet thing" beside you may become a dead weight on your hands.

Some Egg!

A fete of the ancients was again performed when Ed Pukalski caused a great commotion in a neighboring hen yard.

The other night at the Reilly Stadium, Ed was practicing punting. A tremendous kick sent the football high in the air and over the wall, where it landed next to a rooster in a neighboring hen yard.

A look of amazement came over the bird's countenance as he surveyed the ball. Then he pushed it into the hen house and called the hens around him.

"I'm not grumbling, you understand," he said seriously, "but I just want you all to see for yourselves what is being done in other poultry yards."

GABBY'S GAB

"GABBY" HIXENBAUGH

My mind is so full
Of a number of thoughts,
I cannot distinguish
The "oughtn't" from "oughts."

AT LAST I have found not only the meanest man, but also the tightest man on earth, all rolled into one. This distinguished gentleman I discovered in Youngstown a short time ago while I was in that huge metropolis attending a show. While walking down Federal Street, I saw this weasel, dressed in a new blue overcoat and derby and wearing horn-rimmed glasses, reading the front page articles of the daily paper sold by a blind man.

Poor little Dick,
What has he done now!
Poor little Dick,
Oh! So the neighbors howled.

IT SEEMS that the new neighbors of Dick Gidley, well-known Salem High alumnus and barber, gave him a royal welcome the other night to his new home next to the city hall. It happened that Dick made a U-turn on the city's main drag and the neighbors, the city police, fined him on a reckless driving charge.

APPARENTLY THERE is no telling how far "Barrel" Moffett will go when it comes to eating or what he will eat. Last year before the Warren-Salem football game "Barrel" ate shrimp which caused violent gastric disturbances. This year, not letting his record fall, he ate two pieces of apple pie and drank a glass of milk before the Lisbon game. This resulted in him spending part of the game on the bench. Apparently, "Barrel" is not a man with a cast iron stomach.

WHILE on the subject of eating, I think that most of you will agree that Ralph "Tunney" Snyder can store away more vittles than any two other Salemites. To show an example of "Tunney's" capacity, I will relate in detail his behavior at a party one night. The host's mother (this happened to be a stag party) came around with the second helping. "Here, Tunney," she said, "have another cup of coffee." "No, thanks," said the modest Tunney, "I've already had five, besides a dozen sandwiches, four pieces of pie and several handfuls of candy." Another boy who is in there, pitching for this honor, is Charles William "Toots" Davidson who, although he stores a lot away, still seems to remain thin.

THE BEST known horn in town is that belonging to drummer man, John George Burke. John's horn, which can wheeze like a man with asthma or shriek like a police siren, is the possession of a blue Chevrolet.

"GABBY" HIXENBAUGH

Jean: What do you usually do when you wear your bathing suit out?

Scrub: Wear it back, if nothing happens.

"Test Your Speech"

Dr. Elizabeth D. McDowell, professor of speech at Teachers' College, says that if you can pronounce the following without difficulty, your speech is normal. Try it.

"Are our oars here?"
"Many a wit is not a white wittier than Whittier."
"The menu is not less important than the men you will meet."
"His suit showed spots of suet and soot."

The Reader's Digest quotes Herbert Spencer as saying, "Marriage: A ceremony in which rings are put on the finger of the lady and through the nose of the gentleman." Truer words were never spoken.

Girls, could you apply for this position advertised in a Los Angeles paper not long ago? "Wanted: Part time stenographer."

"In Crouch's Fan Mail—"

A letter of advice to Bill Q. Crouch:

"Dear fellow scandle peddler: Being an avid "Waggin Tongue" fan, I feel it to be my duty to turn over to you this choice piece of advice which I have accrued through long, long, years of experience.

(Note: These five rules compose my entire list of instructions for taking care of women.)

First: Women are divided into four classes: young girls (freshmen to you), intellectual women, (those like Metzger?); old women, (anything over a Junior) and last but not least, pretty women, (ah me, Marcella).

Second: Young girls are to be impressed with your seriousness.

Third: Frivolously is the way to treat intellectuals.

Fourth: Impudence and sauciness gets you along with old ladies.

Lastly: Pretty women, ah, should be entertained with intellect.

Yours truly,

Isaly's Scene Of Disappointment To Junior Lad

'Tis a cruel world when a fella' doesn't have any money to spend, but 'tis a peculiar world when a fella' can't buy what he wants to when he has the money.

Such was the case of a Junior lad, a football player, last Friday after the game. His palate begged for peanuts and peanuts he was determined to have. He traversed to Isaly's and after pushing and wading thru a throng of band members and students gathered in front of the store, and who, by the way, had been politely but forcibly thrown out, he found himself in the interior of a much changed Isaly store. Not a peanut was in sight; the counters were bare. The manager was standing guard over the bread and cake rack, which had been moved behind the counter. All the tables were cleared of napkins, salt and pepper shakers, and even mustard jugs. So the lad, completely bewildered, turned around and walked out, without the longed-for peanuts. (Peanuts aren't good for football players anyway, Henry).

A man registering in a hotel gave his name as Smith.

"Give us your real name," ordered the clerk.

"Well," said the man, "put me down as "William Shakespeare."

"That's better," said the clerk; "you can't bluff me with that Smith stuff."

Public Speakers Follow Routine In Class Work

Mr. Guiler's public speaking classes have been following, more or less, a routine of study.

On Monday each student must prepare a three minute speech on a subject of his own choosing.

On Tuesday the time is spent in reciting on material taken from the regular text book.

Again on Wed and Thurs., there are speeches. These speeches are five minutes long and on a subject of the teacher's choosing. Thus far the types of speeches given have been: Plea, explanation, biographies, book reviews and current events.

The classes are also subscribing to the Scholastic magazine, and from this are taken the Friday lessons.

Several Harriers Finish Careers

When the Salem High cross country team competes in the State meet at Columbus tomorrow the following seniors will participate in their last cross country run: Ray Barthallow, Dick Wernet, Eddie Kamasky, Lew Catlos and Bob Whitehill.

Another senior, Joe Yakubec, ran his last race for Salem High in the triangular meet at Cleveland last week.

News Briefs—

Each person in Salesmanship is required to give one speech on one of the articles they have studied for the last five weeks.

The speech is to be three minutes long and may be ten. The speakers are introduced to the class by an appointed chairman, after the speech is given criticisms and comments are made by students.

Later each student will be required to prepare a sales talk and present it to the class.

The G. A. A. Kickball tournament began last Wednesday and will continue until the champion team is determined.

The tournament began with the sophomore team playing the senior team.

Kickball will be followed by volleyball, basketball baseball, and track. To acquire extra points for the G. A. A. the girls must spend a certain number of hours skating, hiking and bicycling.

Reserve Work!

Extra! Notice! Special! The unexpected has happened. Mr. Brown's reserve men have at last conquered a foe. Last Monday in a hard working endless struggle, they cast off a very persistent enemy. One by one they carried the foe off the field, large ones, little ones, and medium sized ones. This continued until at last it was dark and they could no longer see to carry on their battle. With whoops of joy they rushed to the dressing-room, glad that their work was done and that the foe was subdued and laying in a heap on the track.

Who was the enemy? Well, you see, Reilly field was plowed on Monday and the boys were picking up stones that cluttered the landscape.

Katy—"While I was in Europe I saw a bed twenty feet long and ten feet wide."

Toots—"Sounds like a lot of bunk to me."

Society News

Bill Haifley spent the week-end before last in Fort Wayne, Indiana. Joe Bush visited a week ago Sunday in Cleveland and went through Admiral Byrd's ship "The City of New York" which is now anchored on the 9th street pier.

Anna Mary Lease, accompanied by her parents and Bob Shaffer, spent the week-end before last in Cleveland.

Guests enjoyed the surprise party that was given to Bob Hertz a week ago last Wednesday night. A delightful lunch was served which was followed by games and dancing.

The floor of the Salem High school gymnasium has been redecorated for the basketball season.

Jane Metzger attended the Pitt-Army game last Saturday.

A MISLEAD LETTER

Dear Friendless Friend:
You are invited to attend the midnight party given on the afternoon of Easter morning, Nov. 11. Take the train you just missed; if you miss the boat, swim, for we do not charge for walking.

There will be a musical program given by "Motor Cycle Mike." Two men without legs will run a race for a silver cup made of tin. Four murders will be committed for the benefit of the children. Those who eat will dine at home. Orphans with parents will be admitted free. If you haven't any parents bring your mother and father.

Yours,
BAD LUCK.

My phone number is None 1492. If you care to phone me don't call this number.

A change of lipstick now and then is relished by the best of men.

BILL CROUCH

"The truth will ouch."
(Compliments to Readers Digest.)

The "wags" do say that several surprising things happened at the surprise party for Bob Hertz last week. "Postman" Bill Wagner was slightly confused at the frequency with which Bob and Nan Gibbs called each other's numbers in a playful game of post office. Well, at least they were consistent.

One of our Junior lads had a queer experience after the party. In attempting to park the "Jelopie" along the highway, he skidded in the mud and bog caused by recent rains. He parked her "okey," but slightly off the highway. The unique part is the nonchalance with which he and Ruth White accepted the situation.

Flash: The feature of the week.

"Peach" made a gallant attempt to date Lois a few nights ago. Dismounting from the Beardmore vehicle, Ward Jr. fearlessly approached the Dilworth mansion and pounded upon the door. Upon being admitted, "Peach" asked for the date. Lois, although apparently alone, had a previous engagement. We can't understand, however, why Don didn't come out of the closet until friend Ecky had departed.

Scanties: Keep your eyes on this boy Earl Taflan . . . he's the latest heartsmasher in the Freshman class. . . "Tunney" Snyder and Yours Truly are heading for the South Seas . . . and if you don't understand, see "Mutiny on the Bounty." . . . Is Hans Birk thrilled about going to Marjorie McGhee's party? . . . It's the woman who pays . . . isn't it Metzger?

Believe it or not, we have an All-American girl here in old Salem High. Yeah, the past is strewn with heartbroken heroes

Earthquakes In Montana Thrill Startled Pupils

In the schools of Montana every precaution is being taken to protect the children from the earthquake while in school.

Word is sent ahead from town to town and the inhabitants know just about what time the quake will reach their vicinity. The children have been drilled and if the warning comes in time, they vacate the building. They clear the buildings in as little time as 45 seconds. If word does not reach them and a quake occurs while they are in the building, they crawl under their desks. Imagine crouching under your desk while the ceiling above you cracks 2 inches. Such is the case in the quake territory and yet most of the pupils think it is a very thrilling experience.

So far, not much damage has been done except in Helena, center of the quake, where buildings have been completely destroyed and lives have been lost.

STUDENTS RECEIVE FUNBOOKS

The remainder of the fun books that were not sold for the Fun Festival, were distributed among the students of the school a week ago Friday. In the beginning there were three thousand books to be sold but they were not obtained in time to sell them all.

Miss Horwell, advisor for the fun book committee, decided it was better to give the remaining ones away than to discard them. The Junior Class reports that there was no loss on the sale of these books.

Workers Busy In Repairing Damaged Gym

Refinishing of the floor of the Salem High School gymnasium was begun last Monday. It was started at that time in order that it might be completed before the opening of the basketball season.

The project included replacing of loose and damaged boards, sanding of the floor and painting of new boundary lines. In addition, the floor was treated with Seal-o-San, a preparation which seals it against moisture and preserves the wearing surface under a top-coat of wax.

The gym floor has not been refinished for many years. It has developed into such a condition that to postpone its repair would have entailed large expense in the near future.

During the time this work was being accomplished, the students had a short vacation from regular gym classes.

The Columbiana County Schoolmaster's club met for its autumn session at the Travelers' hotel in East Liverpool Thursday evening, Nov. 7.

The speaker was Dr. Ernest Work of Muskingum College. Recently Dr. Work spent two years in Ethiopia so he was able to give the schoolmen a first hand interpretation of Ethiopian affairs.

DOPE BUCKET

By DICK WERNET

The Dope Bucket is this week devoted solely to cross country.

FLASH — CLEVELAND, OHIO: SALEM HIGH'S cross country team downed Cleveland Rhodes and Cleveland Lincoln in a three way meet held here last Saturday morning. SALEM snagged seven out of the first eight places. Lincoln stuck in their second team at the last minute and got WALLOPED.

SPARKLE: (By Crouch) CLARKE'S HARRIERS have scored 115 points to their opponents 221—a difference of 106 points. Low score in cross country wins—the same as in golf.

IN THE STATE MEET to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning on the Ohio State University athletic grounds there will be approximately 14 teams from the six districts, and a possible 45 to 50 individual runners. The winners of the district meets are Cleveland Lincoln, Toledo Scott, SALEM, Newark, Dayton Roosevelt, and Cincinnati Hughes.

A COMPARISON: Toledo Scott will be defending a state championship. Scott has four veteran runners back this year, so has SALEM. Toledo Scott has six men who run the two miles under 11 minutes—SALEM has SEVEN runners who can do the same.

SALEM CHANCES at the state meet: SALEM has as good a chance as any other team. The meet will be a close decision between Toledo Scott, Cleveland Lincoln, Akron East, and SALEM.

SALEM WILL SEND a team representing the smallest school which has a good chance to cop the State meet from the larger city schools. SALEM is the only small town school to ever win the meet twice (district wins—four times). R. B. Clarke has coached all of these state and district winners.

Salem Harriers Swamp Cleveland Lincoln, Rhodes In Triangular Meet

The Salem High cross country team journeyed to Cleveland last Saturday to hold a triangular meet with Lincoln and Rhodes High of that city.

The Quakers won the meet with 18 points. Rhodes was second with 47 points while Lincoln was third with 77 points.

After the meet was held, the Salem runners learned that Lincoln had entered its second team. The reason for this act was that several members of the first team had caught cold or were working at the time. Nevertheless, several members of that team were spectators at the meet.

Paul Roelen, Quaker flash, was first to break the tape as he ran the mile and three-quarters course in 9.55. Ray "One Lung" Barthelow apparently found his long-lost lung for he finished on Roelen's heels to snag second place.

A Cleveland Rhodes runner finished third, while Wernet, Catlos, Culler, Whitehill and Kamasky took fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth places, respectively.

Although the Salem harriers were disappointed because they didn't get to run against the strong Lincoln team, they all admitted it was a good practice run.

The Quaker harriers have spent a busy week in preparation for the state meet, which will be held at Columbus tomorrow, and are all set for a try at the state championship title.

Coach Clarke, accompanied by seven harriers, will leave Salem about 12:30 this afternoon.

Many students of Salem High have been under the impression that the Salem cross country team will go to Columbus and walk away with the championship. While it is true that our school is represented by a well-balanced team, it is by no means the strongest team in the state. There are other teams just as good, or better. Salem has a fair chance to win the state title, but the team is certainly not the favorite as many students seem to believe.

The whole school can be assured.

Auto Mechanics See Scientific Exhibit Oct. 31

"The art of sweating copper tubing," is the name applied to the demonstration conducted by Mr. Roscoe of the Chase Brass & Copper Co., before the automotives classes, October 31, 1935, in the automotives building.

Mr. Roscoe gave two demonstrations, one at 8:45 a. m. and the other at 10:15 a. m. The demonstration held the boys' interest throughout and at its conclusion they asked many questions. Mr. Roscoe started by giving a brief outline on "The History of Copper," telling its uses, how it is mined and its commercial value. The center of interest was "Capillary Attraction," which is the name given to a law which seems to defy gravity and permits solder to run up hill. It was explained, however, that this was caused by a suction that occurred when heat was applied to the copper.

The automotives classes are very grateful to Mr. Roscoe and the Chase Brass & Copper Co., for this demonstration.

however, that every member of the Salem team will be trying his hardest to bring home the "bacon," i. e. the state championship.

She (to bridge expert): Now if you were I, how would you have played this hand?"
He: (icily) Under an assumed name."

Coy Young Thing: "I hate to think of my twenty-fifth birthday."

Brute: "Why? What happened?"

Familiar Landmark Removed from S. H. S.; Passing Lamented

"Red Death" is with us no more. With a sigh and a tear we behold the empty place where formerly its ungainly but friendly form rested. We listen in vain for its crazy clatter and the gleeful shouts echoing from it. But they all are gone. All that remains is a dent in the curb.

"Red Death's" owner, George Gibson has withdrawn from High School and gone to Virginia, where he will enroll in a prep school. "Red Death" has not accompanied him, however. It will remain in the Gibson garage—or rather, just outside—until it can be disposed of. (This, unfortunately, is the junk man's busy season). Without a doubt, Salem High Students and members of the faculty are deeply grieved by the loss of such a familiar landmark.

So, it is with reverent thoughts that we sadly bid "Adieu" to the memory of this gallant vehicle.

"Red Death" is with us no more.

The editor was dining out. "Would you like some more pudding?" his hostess asked him.

"No, thank you," replied the editor, absent-mindedly. "Owing to tremendous pressure on space, I am reluctantly compelled to decline."
