

Students To Visit Kent State U.

Students of Salem High have been invited to attend the annual "Kent State High School Day," which is to be held February 7, at Kent, Ohio.

This is the biggest single day event ever offered high school students of this district.

The events will begin directly after lunch with a swimming exhibition in the pool. For those who do not care for water sports, a debate will be held. Viola Bodo an alumna of Salem High, is on the affirmative team.

Shortly after this, the college theater, well-known for its splendid performances, will present some scenes from one of its major productions.

After dinner, Kent State's wrestling team, one of the strongest teams in this section of the country, will meet the boys of the Mechanics Institute of Rochester, N. Y. After the wrestling exhibition a basketball game between Bowling Green and Kent will be played.

All high school students are to be the guests of the college at a regular university dance, which is the last event of the day.

Invitations to seniors were issued by means of the "Kent State," a paper published by the students of the college.

Hi-Tri "Ball" Nets Ten Dollars

A result of the President's ball which was held in the gym a week ago Thursday, the Hi-Tri contributed $10 towards the treatment of infantile paralysis victims. The receipts amounted to more than $18.00. Joe Pales' orchestra played for dancing from 3:45 until 6:00. During this time ice cream and candy bars were sold at the stand.

Seventy per cent of the $10.00 has been given to the local community for use in aiding crippled children, while the remaining thirty per cent has been sent the Georgia Warm Spring Foundation to finance research work for infantile paralysis.

Financially, the dance was a success and the Hi-Tri is planning to sponsor a Valentine's Day dance.

Aud. Doors Closed During Cold

During the cold spell it is extremely difficult to heat the auditorium particularly when the front doors are left open. On the coldest day the temperature of the auditorium was only 60 degrees while pupils from an overflow study hall attempted to do their work. On these coldest days the engineers of the two boilers which provide the heat for this large building estimated that it required a ton of coal each hour.

Hereafter in the cold weather pupils will find the doors locked from the outside but may reach the auditorium by way of the side entrances and front stairways. Pupils may help greatly by seeing that all outside doors are kept shut.

From a Philadelphia paper comes this: "After Italy's war on Ethiopia, we expect to hear that Carnera has been signed to fight Shirley Temple."

Juniors Select Ring No. 1

The ring which the junior class will wear for the remainder of their high school career was decided upon last Tuesday, ring No. 1 getting the decision. Voting was conducted in the home rooms.

The ring chosen bears the Quaker head, selected by the class of '36 as the official school crest for rings.

Students will order the rings through the local jewelers and the rings will arrive in about six weeks. The price of these rings are: $8.00 for boys and $7.40 for girls. This does not include the tax, which is extra.

Seniors Prepare Orations

Seniors received the announcement that the subjects for the customary senior speeches are to be handed to James Campbell, class president, as soon as possible.

The class in which the speech is to be given and the time that it is to be given, are facts to be reported in addition to the subject. The speeches, as usual, are to be given in the class in which they fit. There are now 167 students in the senior class and since subject matter is limited, this means that the first persons deciding on their speeches will have their choice of subjects.

Senior class has two new members, Ralph Walker, now in 209, and Thomas Hilton, in 206, who has entered Salem High from a Pennsylvania high school.

Since the last semester for seniors has begun, an announcement is to be made soon concerning class ranking.

Plans are being made for the final orders for senior jewelry. The orders are to be placed with the local jewelers. Advance plans for this will first be made by school authorities.

Lecturer Recovers From Illness

Dr. A. M. Harding, who is to talk to the student body in the near future, has just recovered from a severe illness which made it necessary for him to cancel all his engagements to lecture during the months of January and February. However, despite this, Dr. Harding is expected to speak at the assembly March 16. His subject will be "Glimpses of Other Worlds."

Dr. Harding has recently written a book entitled "Astronomy—The Splendor of the Heavens Brought to Earth." Every one of the first 5,000 copies were sold within three weeks and the second edition is now being published.

This assembly is one of the programs sponsored by the association. Junior High association members will also attend the lecture.

Visitors at the gigantic goodwill feast recently held for Arabian chiefs at Amman were regaled with one of Arabia's most highly prized dishes, boiled camel. Each camel is stuffed with three sheep, which have been stuffed with eight chickens, stuffed with eggs and nuts. The meat is served with boiled rice.

Football Schedule Announced

Mr. Frederick Cope, athletic manager, made an important announcement, concerning the football schedule for 1936-37 term, last Thursday, January 29.

Three of the ten games are out of town and the other seven will be on the home field, while six of these seven are night games. Salem meets Lisbon, November 7 in the only day game here but this may be changed later to Wednesday, November 11, Armistice Day—Saturday, November 21, is open permanently.

Plans Made To Organize Club For S.H.S. Enthusiasts

A meeting of all students interested in cheerleading was held in the auditorium a week ago last Thursday.

A short talk was given by Mr. Springer, who pointed out the reason for forming such a club. "It is to enable the cheerleaders to acquire a knowledge of what is expected of them and make them feel at home on the field or floor," stated Mr. Springer. Mrs. Gregg, a former cheer leader while attending Salem High, was present at the meeting. She gave a short talk

A battling band of Quakers upset the dope to defeat the highly touted Warren High Presidents 26 to 19 in a thrilling overtime fray played in the high school gym last Friday night.

When the teams lined up for the opening tip-off last Friday, very few would have conceded the Quakers an even chance against their taller and more experienced foe. The Presidents, victorious in eight out of nine previous games, considered Salem little more than a "breather" but they had a higher regard for their smaller opponents when they walked off the floor at the close of the hectic struggle.

Haynes, Slagle Outstanding

Clay Raynes and Don Slagle covered themselves with glory as they teamed up to snatch a certain victory from the Presidents. It was Slagle who tied up the contest when he tossed in a fielder from mid-floor and it was Raynes who assured the Quakers of a victory when he scored a fielder and a free throw in the overtime period. To do justice to the entire Salem squad it must be said that they all played a great brand of ball.

The Quakers outscored the Hillmen from the field making seven baskets against five for Warren. The Presidents, however, sank nine out of 17 foul shots while the locals were awarded only twelve free throws and made six of them.

Quakers Lead at Half
True to their custom the Quakers started out fast and took an early 4 to 1 lead but the astonished Hillmen rallied to come within a point of tying the score at the end of the quarter.

Holding a 6 to 5 lead at the opening of the second quarter the Quakers saw Suitt tie the score as he sank a gift shot. Suitt scored another point via the foul line but Pukalski dribbled in and sank his only basket of the contest. The Quakers led 8 to 7 at the half.

The Presidents outscored the Quakers 6 to 4 to take a 13 to 12 lead as the third period came to a close. They increased their lead to 3 points as Cotterdale and Perica sank gift shots. Raynes made good a gift shot but Cotterdale duplicated the feat.

Don Slagle sank a fielder from long range but the persistent Cotterdale sank another gift shot.

With the Quakers trailing by 2 points and with just a few seconds (Continued on Page 4)

Cast Selected For Play "Copy"

Another play was added to the repertoire of the Salemasquers when Mrs. Mary Lampher Harris announced the cast for "Copy" a play concerning the publication of a large New York paper. Charles Freed will take the leading role of Lay, the editor. Other actors are Bob Schwartz, as Thomas, and Bill Crouch as Adams. Jean McCarthy has been cast for the part Pratt, Bob Battin as Baldwin and Jane Metzger as Wilson. James Campbell will take the part of Jimmy, copy boy in the office of the paper.

"Copy" is a one act play and will be presented to the Salemasquers in one of their future bi-weekly meetings.

Victory Ends Season For Negatives

Closing the season for the Salem High negative debaters, Helen Thompson and Jean McCarthy defeated a Struther's High affirmative team last Monday evening in the auditorium. This victory makes a total of two wins and one defeat with which to conclude their half of the schedule.

Dr. K. R. Pringle, professor of speech at Kent State college, was the judge of the debate. James Campbell presided as chairman.

The affirmative team, however, still has two more debates, one of which will be held next Monday night with a Warren negative team.

SENIOR BOYS GIVE PLAY AT CHURCH

Four Salem High School boys presented a play for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church a week ago Wednesday evening.

Instead of giving the play on the stage it was presented through a radio amplifying system which was set up by John Grinnan, a dealer in radios.

The play, an Egyptian mystery, was cleverly portrayed by the cast which was made up of Dave Carey, Bill Crouch, Jack Harroff, and Charles Freed with "Toots" Davidson acting as Master of Ceremonies.

It is a tragedy in one act written by H. Stuart Cottman and LeVergne Shaw. The story concerns four men who come to death grips over the possession of a priceless emerald which they take from the hands of an ancient Egyptian monarch buried for centuries in the tomb at the bottom (Continued on Page 3)

Quaker Office Gets New Lights

Because of a deficiency in lighting, the Quaker office has been provided with a new electrical fixture. This, which is the form of a ceiling socket, replaces the old cord which was connected with various lamps. Since this cord was badly insulated and often caused short circuits, which blew fuses and extinguished the lights in the office, it was necessary to provide more satisfactory lighting.

William A. Rance, a local electrician, did the work, which was financed by the Board of Education.

Friday, Feb. 7—Basketball—At Akron St. Vincent's.

Saturday, Feb. 8—High School Day at Kent State college. Basketball—Youngstown Rayen here.

Monday, Feb. 10—Debate—Salem affirmative vs. Warren here. Quaker Editorial and Business Staff meetings.

Tuesday, Feb. 11—French Club.
Thursday, Feb. 13—Hi-Tri.

The Battle Begins

Our next war has started! Bomb shells are exploding everywhere, while the companies are preparing their equipment to withstand the shocks.

The opening shell in the first barrage was burst by the president himself on January 10. Many people even regard his address to Congress as a bid for the "first" shell. Then, in reply, Alfred E. Smith, a former candidate for president, opened up his guns on the New Deal. All these speeches, mind you, were presented over the ether. Next Senator Joseph Robinson came back at Smith and told him "where to get off at." Last but not least, (for he is regarded as our next president by some.) Governor Alf Landon of Kansas laid it off to the present administration, scolding its constituents just as a good mother would scold her naughty children.

Now the big guns have boomed and the infantry needs must go to work with their rifles. The seige is on and every petty politician who desires election or re-election will soon open up.

Indeed, a most interesting battle is on, one which we may watch from our firesides and hear in our homes.

When the armistice is signed next November, may the best man win!

The King Is Dead—

Two weeks ago one of the outstanding men of this generation passed away. He was beloved the world over and had the respect and loyalty of his subjects to the end. He was the symbol of power for the great British empire and although his position was of the highest, at heart he was just a simple, peace loving, kind hearted old gentleman. In his twenty-six years as King of England he followed a little saying that goes like this: "He rules best who serves his subjects most." This is perhaps the greatest reason why he stood out all over the world like a brilliant star. You have probably guessed by now who this fine King was. His Royal Highness, King George V of England. The entire world mourned the loss of one of its most beloved sons. Thousands stood in line hour after hour at Westminster Abbey in order to obtain one last glimpse of the face they all loved so well.

On Tuesday, January twenty-eighth, King George V started on his last journey. The funeral coach moved slowly through the crowded streets of London, drawn by six black horses. Behind it walked kings, princes, and other high officials from every country in the world. The funeral train proceeded in Winchester castle where his Royal Highness King George V of England joined his ancestors.

Thus ended the reign of one of England's most beloved rulers.

We, the students of Salem High school join with the rest of the world in paying tribute to "His Royal Highness, King George V of England."

PATTER

By T. J. Loschinsky

Idea by Thompson:

I looked beneath my History.
I lifted up my French.
Dispelled they not the mystery;
My search they failed to quench.
But then I found it lying there,
How could I be so dumb!
Where I had placed with loving care
My darling, dangling thumb!

Remark by McGhee:

"Thumb Thory!" . . .
Then there's Helen's:
"Boy, tell me the truth," thundered King Arthur. "What made all these nicks in my broadsword?"
"Sire," quoth the tremulous page, "I shouldst not squealeth on a lady, but the queens been sharpening pencils." . . . I luffed 'til I thought I'd split an infinitive. . .
Natty nicknames: . . . Va. Hur-ray's atrocious attachment. "Tree cheers" . . . Mary Hickey's slenderous "slurname" . . . "Do-funny" . . . Frances Delfavero's appalling apellation. "Rosie" . . . Merry Haessly's irrelavent epithet, "Maggie" . . . Marie Englert's growing pains, "Rusty" . . . Stella Fidoe's very special "Puppy" . . . is unknown why Reba is called "Blanche" . . .

Side-glances (at the games) . . .
Avie Bard masticating mucilagamous Beechees with her celebrated swinging motion . . . Wherein the gum is clasped firmly, (preferably by means of a Hammerlock) . . . and drawn, by a series of gentle tugs, to the middle of the maw . . . Then, by slightly harsher methods, the Impediment to American Speech is shoved back between the descending molars . . . Repeat motion . . . Repeat motion . . .
"Jessie" Bair wildly weilding Velvet bars and egging Eddie on . . . Hossie sampling a vile-looking pipe of doubtful dimensions . . . Schwartz applying a bar to a throbbing head . . . What this country needs is a colder bar . . . for a nickle.

For the moment high-hat:

Cavaliara Rustycanna

Blessings on thee, little man,
In thy trusty, rusty can!
Proud to own that trembling wreck—
A car that's rattling good, by heck!
You will leave us in a trice
Shaking like a pair of dice.
Beat the lights and pass each truck
Race the train to try your luck.
Find out what that can can do,—
He's loose at last!—Poor lad,
Adieu!
Now you've joined the restless horde,
Knights errant of the running board.
One of all the crowds that creep
On the crowded roads like sheep.
Dropping from the skies like manna,
Cavaliara Rustycanna. . .

ODE TO SOLITUDE

By John George Birk

In a Garden of yesterday,
Where ground-fastened trees stood
Shading all, beneath its foliage
I found Solitude, sure and serene.

Hours, spent through the day;
Working hard to earn some
Rest, my cares all vanished,
Silently, voiced as if to say.

So small a thing, there
Never, never could have been
Yet, my hearts desire won,
Become forgetful, and I lost.

Would it be, that that I were there,
In that shaded Garden of yesterday,
To rest, dream carefree dreams,
Forgetting Solitude, sure and serene.

WINGS OVER AFRICA

By DALE ENGEL

The rhythmic beat of an African drum
While above, in the distance—
Motors hum
On and on in hundreds they come
Wings over Africa.

Flying, soaring high in the air,
Searching, seeking on without care.
White-robed people—skriek hor-
r'ble calls
A bomb plunging down shatters all

Burning rays of a torrid sun shining down
A figure lying silent on barren ground

His ears are now deaf to any sound
As vultures, buzzards and white crows gather 'round.

Flying, soaring high in the air
Searching, seeking on without care
Planes and birds, the sign of death they bear

These Wings over Africa.

Groundhog Decrees
"Six More Weeks"

Last Sunday Mr. John Groundhog ventured forth from his long winter nap. According to an old superstition, if Johnny sees his shadow on this day we will have six weeks more cold weather.

Well, Mr. Groundhog (which, by the way, resents being called groundhog when he is officially entitled to the more onomatopoeic name of whistle-pig) saw his shadow. The only thing for you to do now is to keep your coonskin coat and fur-lined cap!

Personality
of the Week

This week's personality spotlight singles out a chap in 307B. He is a popular member of his class and takes part in many school activities.

He is of medium build, has nice broad shoulders, dark hair, brown twinkly eyes, wears glasses and is always cheerful, in spite of a recent let-down by a Junior miss.

He toots a clarinet in the band and his one ambition is to play in Glen Gray's orchestra someday.

Although he plays football, and is a very promising backfield man, basketball is his favorite sport.

He has quite a few likes, among these are dancing (and he's a smooth dancer, girls), swimming, George Arliss' acting and—a demure little Junior, who he seems to be seeing quite frequently of late. He has very few dislikes, but he especially dislikes people who are untrue.

Now, do you know this young person? You do? Well, hoist?

Wiseman: Changing a tire, eh?
Hotstuff: Naw, I just get out every few miles and jack it up and give it a rest.

CLUB NEWS

The French Club met in 201, under the supervision of Grace Guappone, who, in absence of Jean Kingsley, president, took charge.

She announced that an election must be held for a secretary-treasurer to take the place of Art Brian, who has too many activities to hold this office. Mary Elizabeth Sharkey was elected.

Plans were made for a covered dish supper to be held in the near future, for the purpose of welcoming the first year French students, who will be taken in at this time. It will be held in the Home Economics Room.

The committees are as follows: Decorations: Bernice Matthews, chairman, Jeanne Layden and Mary Elizabeth Sharkey.

Eats: Betty Ruth Lewis, chairman, Rita McNicol, Betty Walker, Bob Shallenberg, and John Hamilton.

Initiation: Ruth Walton, Catherine Finnie, Ethel Lantz, Eileen Wells, and Art Brian.

Program: Grace Guappone, chairman, Frances Mae Vincent, Verna Brown, Fae Andre, and Margaret Mundy.

The Hi-Tri sponsored the President's Ball in place of its usual weekly meeting.

Romance In Song

"Please Believe Me" when I say that "You Hit the Spot" "Without a Word of Warning" and that "I'm Shooting High" to make you "My Lucky Star."

Although "I've Got a Feelin' You're Foolin'" and you are "A Little Bit Independent," "I'm Growing Fonder of You" "Day by Day."

"Why Dream" when we two are "Alone" with the "Lights Out" under the "Moon Over Miami?" Just "Cling to Me."

"I'll Never Forget I Love You" and "If I Should Lose You" there would be no "Wedding of Jack and Jill" on "A Sunday Afternoon." So "Here's to Romance."

"Always,"

"MARGIE."

"P. S.: I Love You."

Tuberculin Test To Be Given

Miss Tracy announced in the Hygiene classes that all senior girls wishing to take a tuberculin test may do so this week. This is given by injecting tubercle bacilli under the surface of the skin and watching the reaction they have on various persons. It is to determine whether the bacilli are present in the body and, if present, in what quantity. The tests will be conducted by Dr. Holzbach and Miss Steer. Permission from parents if necessary before the students may be subjected to the test.

Flash . . . Confessions confirm the rumor that two confirmed bachelors of Salem Hi are close to matrimony. Right. All Gabby Hixenbaugh and Mike "Cupid" Guappone have to do is find a woman with class, charm, and . . . other things. A word to the wise, gentlemen: All men have been trying to find a woman like that for centuries. Like looking for the Holy Grail.

The first association party next month.

From one of the Youngstown newspapers comes an article commenting rather bluntly on the shyness of "wimmen." Mrs. Wilson tells us that girls inherit fear of love-making, but that boys are naturally sentimental. Incidentally, she says if any of the boys' propositions are repelled, it should be firmly but cheerfully.

Frantic questions flow in from frenzied "frosh" asking the meaning of this word-puddle. In brief, children, if the "babe" glims a car minus one light she makes a coup de grace. (A slap in the puss.) If the guy eyes the light first, he gets slapped half the time anyways.

Our little leading lady of last week's personality sketch has the opportunity of being the leading lady in Don Beattie's life for an indefinite time. Uh, huh, Miss McCandless received the proposition via Uncle Sammy's mail. Here, Dorothy, you can't accept. Picture life without Ted, "Peach," and your other romantic friends.

Charles Freed has completed another popular song which should be a huge success in the world of music. The title is "To Make a Long Story Short." People wonder how "Doggie" can write such lovely, sentimental music. Inspiration is the answer. The stars, the moon,

Practical jokers are plentiful in the school these days, but victims for these fun-hunters are scarce.

On Wednesday, last, Wm. Kent Crouch found the answer to his prayers, "the perfect sucker." His poker face led one Marjory Ann Eckstein to believe that the drama which he and his pals put on in a church was to be broadcast over WKBN and transferred to Chicago and then over a national hook-up.

Marj took notes to give the boys a writeup in the Quaker, but somehow she found the fun-seeker out and the good time was over. (Incidentally, the fellows got a free meal for the enjoyable program.)

Reilly Field Gets Face Lifted

School officials will see that Reilly Field is in good condition and ready for the football games. New grass and shrubbery have been planted and many general improvements will be made in the future. The lights were readjusted and painted, this making visibility clearer.

Mr. H. R. Townsend, State High School Athletic Commissioner, set the date September 1, for the beginning of football practice; since our first game is played September 18, the boys will have had over a two weeks "work out" and will be in fit condition to meet Struthers on the opening night.

Cage Flashes - -

By BOB WHITEHILL

The Salem High Quakers are faced with another strenuous week end. Tonight they trek to Akron to do battle with the strong St. Vincent cagers.

Although the Saints have not had an overly impressive season, they have shown plenty of power at times and recently held the powerful Canton McKinley Bulldogs to a one point victory. Just last week Massillon was hard pressed to eke out a 26 to 24 victory over the Catholics. The Saints will be favored in the game with Salem.

Tomorrow night the Brownmen will be host to the Youngstown Rayen cagers. The Lansingmen have shown steady improvement in each succeeding game and should be in top form for the game with Salem. The Rayenites have won over such teams as Campbell, Niles, Struthers and Lowellville. Nard, high scoring center, will bear watching by the Quakers.

Midyear graduations have taken a toll of the cage squads in this vicinity. Youngstown Rayen lost the services of Purkhiser, their center, and Foreman and Simone, varsity guards.

Chaney bade farewell to Kozak, their varsity center, while Struthers was stunned by the loss of the high scoring Harkins and Looka-bough. Niles received a setback when their star players, Dean Rees and Neil Ciminero graduated.

Alliance is mourning the loss of Doug Starks, their dusky pivot man, who played his last game against Dover several weeks ago.

Youngstown South is one of the very few undefeated teams in the state. Akron Bucktel was removed from the select list by Akron Garfield. East Palestine suffered their first defeat at the hands of an inspired Struthers quintet. East Liverpool has lost but one game in thirteen starts. Youngstown Chaney was the one who defeated the Potters. Massillon and Barberton have lost one each while Canton McKinley and Dover have lost two games.

Lisbon, on the other hand, has lost thirteen straight games. Knox College, beware!

Don Slagle took only 4 or 5 shots at the basket last Friday and he sank three of them! They were all long range shots.

A highlight of the Warren game was the battle of wits between Kenney Shears and Riffle with Shears coming out on top.

Salem High's own Eddie Pukalski is in sixth place in individual scoring in the Big Six league. Ed has scored 74 points in nine games. Bill Rohr, Massillon's scoring ace, is in first place with 108 points. Harkins, Rees and Starks, who are in second, third and fourth places respectively, have been eliminated from the scoring race as they have been lost by midyear graduation. Those who have scored 70 points or more are:

Quakers Nose Out Warren

Raynes Scores In Overtime

Clay Raynes was given a chance to put Salem in the lead when he was given two foul shots. The crowded gym was hushed as he prepared to shoot the first foul shot. A murmur of disappointment was heard when the ball failed to fall through the hoop but the murmur rose to a roar of approval as the second toss fell through the meshes.

Cotterdale, who had worried the Quakers all evening with his successful foul shots, was awarded a free throw but he failed to sink it. Pukalski was banished from the game when he reached his limit of fouls and was replaced by Delmar Schaffer.

Raynes scored a fielder to give Salem a three point lead. This proved to be the winning basket as Riggle scored a fielder for Warren a second before the gun went off.

It was a hard earned victory for the Quakers but was a tough game for the Presidents to lose. It ended their winning streak of five straight games.

Reserves Lose

The Warren reserves defeated the Salem secondaries 16 to 6 in the preliminary. The tight defense of the visitors limited the Quakers to one field goal which was scored in the third quarter. Mackey led the Presidents while Brian was high scorer for Salem.

Comet Team Beats Skipper Outfit

Staging a desperate fourth-quarter rally, the Comets defeated the Skippers 31 to 29 in a thrilling intramural championship game in the high school gym a week ago last Tuesday.

By virtue of their victory, the Comets are in undisputed possession of the Class B first round championship.

Both teams started out slowly with the Comets leading 4 to 3 at the close of the first quarter. At halftime the score was deadlocked 9-9. In the third period the Skippers drew away from their rivals and led 25 to 10 at the close of the quarter. The scrappy Comets refused to give up and, led by Malloy, they staged a sensational rally to edge the Skippers.

Bill Malloy, who scored nine fielders and one free throw for a total of 10 points, was the outstanding player of the game. Lora and Belan, with 12 and 10 points, respectively, led the Skippers.
