Hylan's Band Featured For Varsity Dance

Gym Theme School Colors

The Varsity S club presents its "Varsity Dance" in the high school gym tonight to the music of Harry Hylan and his Ambassadors.

The gym is decorated in Salem High's school colors, red and black. A large red and black "S" will provide a centerpiece for the dance floor.

Dancing starts at 8:30 and continues until 11:30.

This dance is one of the projects outlined by the club supervisor, Mr. Brown, at the beginning of the year.

Proceeds from the party will be deposited in the club treasury for future use by the club.

Varsity alumni of 1936 and '37 are invited and many are expected to attend.

Today's Headlines

Phantom Corsair' Super-Motor-Car Designed by Heinz

The "Phantom Corsair" is a super-motor-car designed by Rust Heinz, 23 year old scion of the Heinz pickle family. This car has a front seat on which four may sit and a back seat capacity of two. The car is a "revolutionary" car and develops a speed of 122 m. p. h. with a small engine. It has front whirled drive, electric gear shaft, and independently-sprung wheels. Its design is one of the most modernistic on the market.

Rubber Roads In Store for Future

Roads of rubber may be used extensively in the near future. Bruce Petrie, owner of a 35,000 acre rubber plantation, created the idea and it has been tested by the British government at its experimental station in Singapore. These rubber roads would be made of a mixture of cement and liquid rubber. It is the belief of the British government that these highways would be "bump-proof, nonporous and everlasting."

Princeton Prof. Starts New Laws of Heredity

Starting new laws of heredity, cells of sea urchins have been made to reproduce without having a nucleus. Dr. Ethel Harvey of Princeton University has been making experiments along this line and has made cells reproduce, without nuclei, to the blastula stage. Since the more fundamental and general characteristics are contained in the cytoplasm it may be possible to develop an animal embryo with non-nucleate cells. Previously the nucleus was believed to be the seat of all inheritable features.

Ralph Hawley, Former SHS Hardwood Star, Recalls 'Good Old Days' of 1904

"There was not much interest in basketball then," said Mr. Ralph Hawley speaking of the year 1904 when he held the position of forward on one of Salem High school's first basketball teams. "The newspapers didn't give us much publicity."

Mr. Hawley said that some of the teams Salem played in that year were Lisbon, Alliance, E. Liverpool, Rochester, Monaca, and Beaver Falls, and that there was very little rivalry between the opposing teams.

Style Changed

"The style has been changed somewhat," Mr. Hawley continued. "We were taught to take long shots from the middle of the floor whenever possible, whereas now-a-days the lads are told to work as close as possible to the basket, then shoot."

No Coach

There was no coach at first, Mr. Hawley stated, and there was no room for spectators in the rooms in which they played. The team sometimes used the old G. A. R. Hall and the skating rink. The lads practiced mostly on Saturdays and they had no systematic practice as they have now. When they couldn't get a hall in which to practice they practiced in the open fields.

"We had no regular suits in the beginning. When we did get them they were very similar to the ones used now," declared Mr. Hawley.

According to Mr. Hawley, East Liverpool was the first city in this district of the country to take up the sport and theirs was considered the best team. Other than that, there weren't many teams in Ohio; they were mostly in Pennsylvania.

Old Timers

Mr. Hawley recalled some of the men who played on the first teams. They are as follows: John and Paul Meadd, Robert Anderson, Lindsay Teegarden, Norman Kyle, R. S. Schiller, Bill Sterling, Carl Cook, Kenelm Bonsall, and Frederick Mullins.

James Naismith, now a professor at the University of Kansas, originated the game of basketball in the year of 1891. The game has changed considerably but it is fundamentally the same today as when he created it.

Smith, Ciotti Elected Officers Of Trade Class

Ella Jane Smith was elected president and Jeanette Ciotti was named secretary-treasurer at the social meeting of the Girl Trade Preparatory class at the home of Mr. Holland Cameron, a week ago Monday.

This was the first social meeting of the club which is to meet once a month. Plans were made for the coming year and the amount of dues was settled. Dues will be fifteen cents a meeting.

Members of the club will entertain alphabetically and Mary Bohr will entertain next meeting with a Christmas party at her home on Monday, December 6.

Hi-Y Organizer Speaks At Local Club Meeting

Mr. Bayner, district organizer of the Hi Y Club, came to Salem last Tuesday and met with the new members of the Hi-Y. He came from his office in Canton.

He gave a short message on Hi-Y Clubs as a whole throughout the nation. He also voiced suggestions for the Y in this school, telling of the functions and purposes to be performed by a Hi-Y Club.

Officers were elected the week before last Tuesday in 302. They are President, Bill Brooks; Vice President, Julius Nestor; Secretary and Treasurer, Bob Kaminsky.

The club has 18 members now and this is about all that will be allowed to join. The members are getting different plans together to help the High School in all ways. In their meeting Tuesday they made a few rules about membership.

Students Asked to Submit Snapshots

If any student wishes to submit snapshots—formal or informal—of the clubs, students, or any activities of the school for publication in the yearbook, please bring prints to John Evans, "Annual" editor.

Here is your chance to make your yearbook an interesting one.

Officers Elected In Sportsmen Club

The second meeting of the Outdoor Sportman's Club of the year was held in room 103 Thursday, November 18.

The meeting was called to order at 3:45 by Harold Culler. The committee that was elected at the last meeting decided upon the dues as 25 cents per month for the club.

Harold Culler was elected president; and Ollie Olexa, vice-president; Jim Steffel, secretary; Milan Miluesnic, assistant secretary; Julius Nestor, treasurer; and Arden Crumbaker, assistant treasurer. The club was divided into two teams. The captains of the teams are Milan Miluesnic and Bob Greenawalt.

Jazz On Trial

Six students from the third period music class under the direction of Miss Sa' erthwaite presented a debate to other members of the class last Thursday morning.

The question debated was: Resolved, That jazz shall not have a permanent place in music.

Those on the negative side were Barbara Lesley, Genevieve Fisher, and Ruth Bowker.

Those on the affirmative side were Dorothy Krauss, Alice Ruth Stoudt and Florence Hildebrand.

Senior Play to be Given Thursday, Friday, Dec. 9-10

Seniors Selling Tickets

Under the direction of Mr. James M. MacDonald, the Senior play, "The Yellow Jacket," will be presented in the High School Auditorium at 8:15 next Thursday and Friday nights. The action of the play centers around a Chinese boy, the character being played by Don Beattie. It shows his life from childhood to the age when he has grown to manhood.

Last Monday the tickets for the Senior play were distributed to all the members of the Senior class. Each student is expected to sell ten tickets to do his part in putting over the production of the play.

The price of these tickets are thirty five cents each. All the students in Salem High are asked to cooperate with the seniors in selling these tickets.

Freshman Given Critical Operation

Earl McDevitt, a freshman, was rushed to the hospital last week for an emergency operation.

While going home at noon he was tripped and he fell. Feeling only a slight pain at the time he returned to school for the afternoon session.

In the afternoon while taking gym he collapsed and friends took him to a nearby doctor. He was immediately rushed to the city hospital where he underwent a delicate operation.

Earl will not be able to continue his schooling any further this year.

Profits Drop

It was reported early Monday by Miss Beardmore, Senior Class advisor, that the class stand took in approximately twenty dollars at the Thanksgiving game, a third of this amount being profit.

Miss Beardmore explained the lack of sales with this statement: "I believe the people were afraid they would lose their seats if they left them long enough to run down to the stand."

Miss Beardmore also stated that the class will have a stand in the gym for the coming basketball games.

Western Reserve Students Poisoned

After a recent Western Reserve football game in Cleveland, several of its members entered a restaurant, ordered a lunch and proceeded to eat it. Several hours later all ten boys were treated at the clinic for arsenic poisoning.

Among those affected by this poisoning was Wayne Sidinger. While recounting the incident he stated that the arsenic had been mixed in a relish by another student to get revenge on the proprietor.

Sidinger remained at the clinic for 12 days. As the boys had gotten an overdose, not much harm resulted. The boys are all back in college again.

The cast of characters in order of their appearance are:

Grad Gets Varsity Letter at Geneva

Robert "Plug" Chappell, graduate of Salem High in 1935, was one of the four Geneva college freshmen recognized to receive football letters and sweaters.

This will take place at the school observance day next June.

Chappell played in the backfield when in Salem High and also plays in the Geneva backfield, seeing action in all the Geneva games.

Room for Improvement

When report cards came out last six weeks, most of the students had their excuses ready. One could simply say that he wasn't settled down yet or the teacher hadn't had time to recognize his good qualities.

Now we have worked to the end of our second six weeks and we have faced a different situation. The thing we should have done is to have gotten to work and earned some marks of which we could be proud.

Do every assignment to the best of your ability and get it in on time. Then most likely one will not find "F"s on his report.

Thanks

When the gun sounded at the conclusion of the game last Thursday, it meant more than just the end of the Alliance-Salem game. Somewhat sorrowfully students and teachers of Salem High realized that our football season was over for the year.

We have cheered our dear Red and Black until our voices were hoarse. We've demanded at the top of our voices that "we wanted a touchdown." We've sung our "Drive-On" song so loudly on Friday nights that we've awakened Saturday mornings, not being able to speak.

We've won. We've lost. But we've had fun! Thanks are due to many persons.

Thanks to Mr. Schroeder. Thanks to Mr. Jones. Thanks to Mr. Brautigam and the band. Thanks to the students for their support. Thanks to the team, together with a word of farewell to the Senior members who won't be back next year. Thanks to everyone who helped to make our 1937 football season a success!

Le Circle Francais

Le Circle Francais, newly organized French club, under the supervision of Miss Roth, held a meeting last Monday in 201 for the purpose of electing officers. The result of the election was as follows:

President, John Evans; Vice President, Bob Vickers; Secretary-Treasurer, Frances Simone.

The club will meet on the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

G. A. A.

The G. A. A. is scheduled to meet this afternoon after school, but the meeting will probably be postponed because of the lack of important discussion material. The G. A. A. members expect to finish the volleyball tournament either this week or next.

Los Castellanos

At a meeting of the Spanish club, "Los Castellanos", the members decided on the design for their club pin. For the past few years, they have used the "standard" pin but some believe a more suitable one can be found. During the meeting they sang Spanish songs and played Spanish games. Plans were made for their Christmas party, which will be held at their next meeting.

E. W. Ernst will give a talk on "Painting of Screens and Scenery" at a meeting of the Salemasquers organization in room 200 on December 6th.

Statistics show American women spend $76,000,000 yearly on cosmetics to increase their face value.

Keyhole's Kaleidoscopic Column

Now that football is over and that fateful Alliance game—basketball is scheduled to start. Maybe we can take a shot at the championship again this year. Maybe!

Have you heard the "Dipsy Doodles" as played by Tommy Dorsey? Quite a song! T. D. also swings out softly with "Once In Awhile."

Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind" has finally been chosen, Paulette Goddard being the much envied person. Personally, Joan Crawford is much better suited for the role and Clark Gable would make an ideal Rhett Butler.

The choosing of the cast is up to the producers, though, and some of them are so "dilly" they're liable to cast Mickey Rooney or "Spanky" McFarland as Rhett Butler.

Don Beattie got a snazzy pair of socks. By the way, he's been in seventh heaven since Lois came back.

Many of the Seniors and ex-Seniors are getting a Freshman complex again. Ask anyone who was at a certain party last Saturday p. m. 'Tis told they had a smooth one.

Mr. MacDonald can "sure" swing a mean foot when he's feelin' good. For example—the Senior party.

If you haven't bought your Senior play ticket yet—be sure to. It's going to be a good play. Really!!

Ruthie Wright will be elated for some weeks—now that she's seen Joey.

Bill J.—"I am going to some great undeveloped territory where no one will know me."

Fran W.—"My dear young man, the greatest undeveloped territory is under your hat."

Slide Rule

Ruth O'Hara won the prize for the best manipulation of the slide rule at a meeting of the Slide Rule club in 304 last Tuesday after school. Plans were made for the club's Christmas party to be held at its next meeting. They also discussed the selection of pins for the club.

With real "Yerbra Mate" donated by Anna Simion, members of Miss Hollets' Spanish II class held a Spanish tea party in 305 yesterday.

The "Mate" was made in the Domestic Science room the second period by Anna Simion, Anna May Slaby, John Hanslick and Dick Jaeger and was served to the students the third period. Besides the "Mate" the students also nibbled on cookies.

Another new song, "Doin' the Meadowbrook." Frank Daley played it the other afternoon. Neat tune.

'Tis said that the college girls are losing out on the campaign they started. You know, about boys paying for goodnight kisses.

Bill Jones has invented an invention. Want to know what it is? Well, he says, "Instead of putting ink on the paper and after you've written a page—stop and blow it, so it won't blot—why not let the ink dry on the pen before you write? Thus saving time." Everyone thought Edison was crazy. Everyone knows Bill is . . . or is he?

Wonder how many will get on the honor roll this six weeks?

Why do people insist on handing in articles to be printed in the Quaker, when they don't sign their names?

Library News

Have you seen the recent addition to the S. H. S. library? It is just the thing you have been waiting for! It is a book entitled "Hobbies for Everybody".

The title of this book is admirably exact—for in the variety of hobbies it tells about, anyone interested in a hobby can surely find just the one he wants and all the information and instructions he will need to enjoy it.

In this symposium, more than fifty men and women, ranging from actresses to college presidents, describe their hobbies and tell how and why they have become interested in photography, cooking, dancing, swimming, theaters, etc. Among the contributors are Rudy Vallee, Fannie Hurst, Ely Culbertson, Johnny Farrell, Dr. John H. Finley and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Each tells of his own interest in his own personal way. The results are some good side-lights on personalities, as well as many useful suggestions.

Read it and find a new interest for your leisure!

Dolling Up

Under the direction of Mrs. McCarthy, the girls of the sewing club are dressing dolls for Red Cross Christmas donations. A number of dolls have been given to the club but Mrs. McCarthy requests that any High School girls having dolls they are willing to give, please do so.

Martha Williams was recently appointed secretary of the Dramatics club. A number of Christmas plays are to be prepared for presentation in assemblies.

Audabon Activities

Mr. Baker's Audabon Club ornithologists hiked out to the north west edge of town last Tuesday look for a snowy owl. None was seen but the member did sight a number of mallard ducks.

Instrumental Instruction

An Assembly was held Wednesday. Various instruments were played and demonstrated to audience. There will be a similar assembly Monday under auspices of the eighth grade.

Cagers Practice

Home room basketball practice began last Monday. The Regular League schedule of games does not open until after Christmas. Coach Gordon does not, as yet, know definitely the first teams will play.

After a long delay the class room pictures were distributed last Monday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor: We girls of Salem High want to publish a coed issue of the Quaker. There are plenty of girls with journalistic ambitions who would be willing to do everything in their power to publish a Quaker which would be up to (maybe pass the ones issued by the regular staff. In colleges the girls' ways print a coed issue. Everything would be in the hands of the girls chosen except the business end. It would be impractical to try to have a handle finances for one because it would take a month to learn the routine. How about it? May we? A Girl Journalist

Biology Students Enjoy Dissections

The second period Biology class was being instructed how to dissect an earthworm by Mrs. Cope in great detail and with much explanation, she drew a picture of a dissected worm on the blackboard. After finishing, she erased it at the same time a voice was heard back of her, complaining. Bob said:

"I didn't see the drawing. The back was in the way."

Mrs. Cope very brightly said, "How do you like my back?"

"Oh! It's very pretty," answered Bob, "but you will have to do that worm again."

Mrs. Cope did not draw the worm.

"No fame I crave; before me A simpler goal I keep; I hope just once before I die To get sufficient sleep."

CHIPPER SLIPS

Thoughts between classes Well, Thanksgiving is over and with it goes the football season. Christmas and basketball season are on their way, so I guess there's no need to fret.

Although Alliance beat us, it is a better game than the one last year, to my notion. Guess the cause of the final score.

Did you notice the commotion in front of the Senior stand near the end of the game? Wonder what it was? Heard that a lad from Barberton spotted his jacket in the record-breaking crowd, a jacket that had been stolen when Barberton played Alliance. A nice bit of super sleuthing. Wonder if he finally got it?

Here's a tip to a certain Senior. You really shouldn't flatter yourself by thinking that Virginia Hurray would have your picture in her locket. Just remember this: There is room for TWO pictures in that locket!

Mr. Lehman was speaking of cars the other day. He said: "None of us is afraid in the dark, is he?" Naturally someone spoke up: "No. We're used to it." Never!

Have you noticed how expertly Dean manipulates those catches? Pretty neat, eh what?

Here is a notice to the Senior Play Cast. NOTICE: Try hard to make this play a lulu. Go to the Playhouse in Cleveland, and do just as good or even better, because you all remember Wayne Morris who had the lead in "Kid Galahad." Well, it so happens that he got his start in the same play, "Yellow Jacket." Who knows, a talent scout might be in the audience and make Donald Earl Beattie another Clark Gable or maybe another Donald Duck!

Best Piece this week: "Let Me Day Dream," as played by Guy Lombardo and orchestra. He has predicted it to become one of the leading songs of the nation.

My life has been threatened! Guess no one minds, but I DO! I'm just starting spirited life and I don't want to die yet. Maybe I'd better get back to the main point, which is: Kenny

Hutchinson has promised very neatly to wring my neck if his name appeared with Kathleen Cosgrove's. What's the matter, Kenny, you're not ashamed of Kathie, are you? Just let me know when you're through. I know a certain boy who is just dying for a date. You seem to have him shaking in his boots, but you can't scare me!!!!

Personal nomination for abolishment: Mr. Jones razzin' the weaker sex. Not that I care, but as long as he gets some fun out of it I guess it's all right.

People claim animals have no knowledge of time, but it seems to me all evidence points to the fact that they do. For example: Our Scotty "Timmie" at one or two minutes before noon trots to the door and watchfully waits till my Dad comes into the room. Very seldom he misses the mailman. He stands on his hind legs with his forepaws on the sill and patiently waits. He never has to wait more than five minutes at the very most.

The best boner I've heard for a long time was when Theresa Hoff asked Prof. Henning if it wasn't John Paul Jones that they call "Old Innesides."

CUTE NICKNAMES: "Deb" Beattie. If you stop to figure it out, they are his initials. . . . "Willie" Brooks. . . . "Innocence" Sanders. . . . "Bob" McCready. . . . "Sissie" Knepper.

The bell is about to ring and I have to do some cramming for a test next period. 'Bye now!

Three men approaching a bar—
1st man—"Give me a bottle of Coco Cola."
2nd man—"Give me a glass of Ginger Ale."
3rd man—"Better give me a glass of water, I'm driving."

Don't cross your bridge until you've paid the dentist.

Calling All Nuts!

Henry Pauline, B. S. (Bachelor of Science), a graduate of Allnut University, and a member of the Alpha Alpha Nut Fraternity received this invitation from this fraternity the other day:

Dear Fellow Nut:
You are cordially invited to a moonlight afternoon picnic given by the mixed nuts to the Alpha Alpha Nut fraternity. You are requested to bring all of your crazy friends and stay at home. Wear your best shoes and come in your bare feet.

DIRECTIONS: Take the car you just missed and get off where you got on. Cars run both ways so take either one of them or both. In case you get there before you arrive you will find yourself on the way back. Be sure to take along a basket of water and have an airhole in the bottom of it so it won't get stale. In case of fire you will have a hot time.

FEATURES: Music will be furnished by RUBBER BAND. The fish will also render the scales. Joe Louis will talk on: "If I have a divorce suit it will be tailor made."

LUNCHEON: Roast beef with thumb tack soup, hot onions with silver centers, ham and eggs, turtle pies a la mode and lots of etc.

GAMES: All armless men who wish to enter the ball-throwing contest must present their names in their own handwriting. All legless men participating in the broad-jump will be given a pair of socks.

BIG ATTRACTION: A murder will be committed every hour to amuse the children. A package of cigarettes will be given to each baby present. Bald headed men are advised to go bald headed and keep their hats on. Orphans accompanied by their parents will be admitted free of charge.

Yours Foolishly,
Mr. I. M. A. Nut,
Pres. Alpha Alpha Nut Fraternity.

Coach Herb Brown 'Red and Black' Prepares Cagers For Niles Fray

The Quaker Cagers swung into their first practice session last Monday night in preparation for their curtain riser of the '37-'38 season, against Niles, December 10. This leaves Coach Herb Brown but nine days to whip a red and black quintet together.

Mr. Brown faces the loss of five good lettermen through graduation, although two lettermen, Max Lutsch and Gilbert Everhart, will return this year to provide a nucleus for the Quaker machine. Varsity members of last year's squad who will return this year are Ollie Olexa, Bill Schaeffer, and Jim Dickey.

While confronted by no great wealth of experienced material, Coach Brown will very likely, as in former years, come through with a winning team.

The fifteen boys who turned out last Monday after school were Jim Dickey, Ollie Olexa, Bill Schaeffer, Max Lutsch, Cliff Lowry, Gib Everhart, Burton Sutter, Lester Knepp, Bill Rogers, Bob Whitcomb, Jim Kleon, Dick Jaeger, Amos Dunlap, Galen Duncan and Leonard Bonsall.

Gridders Dine As Guests of School

Salem High's Quaker gridders together with Coaches Carl Schroeder, Ted Jones and Frank Gordon were guests at a banquet given by the High School Athletic Association at the Memorial building last Wednesday.

George Gauthier, head football coach at Ohio Wesleyan university was the speaker. He was accompanied here by Art Lewis, his line coach, who was both all Ohio and all Buckeye tackle several years ago. Mr. Lewis was a member of the New York Giants pro team last year.

What are You Worth?

In 1931 a professor of Lincoln High school of Los Angeles, Calif., stated that the average 140 pound high school boy is worth about $1 according to chemical analysis.

He is composed of about 10 gallons of water, enough fat for seven cakes of soap, carbon for 9,000 lead pencils, phosphorus for 22,000 match tips, one dose of magnesium salts, enough iron to make a medium sized nail, enough lime to whiten a hen coop, and enough sulphur to destroy the fleas of one dog.

'Red and Black' Bows to Aviators

Playing before the largest crowd this season the Salem High Quakers fell before the powerful onslaught of the Alliance Aviators last week, Thanksgiving day, 14 to 0.

An overflow crowd of 10,000 fans witnessed the fray between the two old rivals, many having to stand along the north wall and fence of the stadium.

This victory was Alliance's 20th in the 41 game series with Salem. The Aviators triumphed over the Red and Black lads from a long drawn out power drive and from a punt return.

Early in the second quarter John Gainor received a punt from Malloy on the middle of the field and gave the ball to Palozzi on a reverse, who in turn sprinted down the field, untouched, for the first touchdown of the game. The entire Salem squad was cleverly pulled away from the east side of the field when Palozzi received the pigskin from Gainor.

The second and final touchdown for the Aviators came in the third quarter after a sustained drive from their own 29 yard line. Streblo, the fullback, went over for the 6 points from the Salem four yard stripe after he fumbled momentarily.

On this last play, the Red and Blue lads made 7 yards on 5 first downs, Streblo, Gainor, and Streza making the majority of the gains.

The Salem team played gamely the entire four quarters, but somehow could not seem to click against the invaders. The Quakers forward wall worked nicely throughout the fray and the backfield made several beautiful gains against the Aviators.

This game marked the end of the playing career for many of our Salem High seniors. They are Charlie Wentz, Ollie Olexa, Max Lutsch, Bill Malloy, Gib Everhart, Leonard Bonsall, Bob Kirchgessner, Mike Cerbu, Julius Nestor, Bob Minimyer, and Bob Sanders.

Scientist Invents Motor Using Dust As Fuel

Dr. H. Wahl, a German scientist from Schichau shipyards, is completing experiments using dust as fuel for motors. Dust, powdered grasshoppers, waste and residues will be made into powdered fuel to be used in various kinds of motors. The only obstacle in the path to success is that no metal has been found which will stand up under the wear and tear caused by the grinding ashes. Dr. Wahl believes the Schichau company had discovered the formula for a metal alloy which is harder than any known steel.

'Odd' Rents 'Hangover' From Feudal System

The oddest rent is received by some landlords of England. Some queer ones are a snowball and a rose. These sorts of "quit" rents are charged to families whose ancestors were presented large estates because they were in the favor of the kings of bygone days. It's really a "hangover" from the feudal system.

Artificial 'Glaciers' To Prevent Floods

Summer irrigation will be no trouble in the future because William Waterfall has taken out a patent for the construction of artificial glaciers in Utah mountains. These would prevent floods and would provide means of irrigation in the arid districts.

Girls To Become Eligible For G. A. A.

"At the end of the volleyball tournament, several girls will become eligible for membership in the G. A. A." announced Miss Hanna.

Fifty points were given the girls who played in the kickball tournament, and fifty points will be given to the girls playing volleyball.

A girl wishing to become a member of the G. A. A. must have 100 points for having participated in some sport.

"There are more girls participating in our activities than ever before", stated Miss Hanna. "The initiations will be started soon after Christmas vacation."

Basketball will start about the first of January. There will be more teams for basketball this year than ever before.

Three weeks ago was Salem's "annual donation" day for the benefit of the Home for Aged Ladies.

The citizens of Salem were "asked" to contribute something in the way of food, magazines, etc. A special effort to assist the home was put forth by many of our citizens.

The donations were left at the Salem Wall Paper and Paint store, East State st.

A man was walking along the street smoking one "Camel" cigarette after the other. A crowd followed him and asked why he did this. The man turned and answered, "I'm trying to stop drinking."
