Staff Members At Convention In Capital City

Six Salem High school journalists are attending the annual High School Journalism Convention in Columbus, today and Saturday. Those attending are four official delegates: Harold Hoprich, editor-in-chief; John Evans, Quaker Annual editor; William Jones, business manager; and Don Beattie, sports reporter; also, Betty Neal, feature editor; and Henry Pauline, sports editor. The faculty advisors, Mr. Lehman and Mr. Hilgendorf, are also attending.

Along with the last edition of the Quaker, which will receive critical service, were entered two sports articles, one column (Keyhole's Kaleidoscopic Column) and one feature article which will also be judged.

While in Columbus the journalists will attend lectures, a fellowship banquet and dance, be instructed in how to improve their respective papers and, as a finale, will witness the football clash between Ohio State and Indiana. Various other features will be arranged to entertain the delegation while they are in the capital city. The convention will be attended by high school journalists from all parts of the state.

Aquarium Completed Announces Mrs. Cox

Mrs. Cox announced last Monday that the aquarium, which is in the laboratory, has been completed.

Among the plants there are: Elodea, tape grass; Cabamba, water lily; poppy; sazzitaria, and ludeviga.

Mrs. Cox has many animals, two newts, and a fresh water mussel which burrows into the sand covering the bottom of the aquarium. There are two large tadpoles, one stone roller, 14 snails, several goldfish and also several small silverfishes.

Mrs. Cope and Mrs. Cox invite all those interested in seeing the aquarium to come in and inspect it.

Trouble-Makers At Work

Last week Lisbon High school was the victim of an onslaught which was unworthy of any school participating in such an action.

Someone painted the walk in front of the Lisbon High school with red paint. Proof has not been provided yet as to who was responsible for this act.

If any student in Salem High had any part in this deed the school presents to Lisbon its deepest apology.

Every possible effort is being made to find out the facts about the painting in order that the school spirit and fellowship that exists between Salem and Lisbon will not be destroyed.

Board of Education Voices Appreciation

The Board of Education and the teachers of the Salem schools wish to thank the voters of Salem City school district for renewing the Board's three-mill tax levy. To the Quaker and to the many organizations and individuals who worked hard for this continued support, a deep appreciation is expressed.

Dover to Bring 90-Piece Band Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon at Reilly Stadium fans will witness not only a battle between two high school football teams but also a "battle of music". According to Mr. Brautigam, Salem High band director, Dover is planning to bring along with their varsity squad a ninety piece marching band.

This will be one of the largest bands ever to march on Reilly field. Dover's band will be even larger than the Lisbon band that visited here last week.

The Lisbon band executed many formations including HELLO, SHS, LHS and various other formations.

The Salem High band of fifty pieces will do some new maneuvers, forming a letter D for the visiting team.

Drum Major, Don Beattie, will return from Columbus in time to lead his red-coats across the field.

Fred Roth, '35, Qualifies For O. S. U. Glee Club

Mr. Fred Roth, graduate of the class of '35, who is in his Freshman year at Ohio State University, has been selected as one of the three to qualify for the Senior Ohio State Glee Club from the 50 pupils who tried out for the club. He will travel with the club when they tour the United States on their concert trips.

Mr. Roth is taking a course in forestry at the university. In connection with his course he has joined the Buckeye Forestry Club.

He has been elected president of the Pledge Chapter of Sigma Pi and is also a member of the Strollers, a dramatic society.

While attending S. H. S. he was an active member of the music class.

Committee Chooses Sr. Picture Folders

A committee of six, the class officers and three other members of the Senior class, met in the Quaker office and picked the folders for the senior pictures two weeks ago yesterday.

The committee was composed of Charles Wentz, Harold Hoprich, and Stella Fidoe, the class officers; and Margaret Simon, Mary Helen Brudery and Ward Eckstein.

Out of ten folders the committee picked two which will be subjected to the choice of the students.

Each student will select from the two folders the one in which he wishes to have his picture placed and specify his choice when the pictures are ordered.

Salemasquers Hold Tryouts; Choose Emblem

Trying out before the Salemasquers club last Monday, seventeen prospective members were required to give a sketch. If the members of the club thought their acting ability outstanding, they were accepted as an associate member.

Charter membership follows the acceptance and then they are bestowed with a Salemasquers Club emblem.

A new amendment has been added to the club's constitution allowing only 10 percent of the members to be underclassmen.

Paul Meiers is chairman of the emblem committee; Betty Rogers, chairman of "membership" committee; Elizabeth Elder, Virginia Hurray and Verna Carpenter, chairmen of the club's entertainment programs during the school year.

Trades Class Offers Plumbing Instruction

The Salem Trades Class has started a class for apprentice plumbers who meet every Tuesday from 12:30 to 4:30 in the office of the J. R. Stratton Plumbing Co., and are instructed by J. N. Knoll, who is itinerant plumbing instructor for Northeastern Ohio.

The six members from Salem, Columbiana and Fairfield, are taught science, mathematics, and drawing, as related to the business of plumbing.

Only those actively engaged in the plumbing trade are eligible for this class.

The Trades Class is also putting out a mimeographed bulletin which is to appear periodically. This bulletin is sponsored by the Junior Engineers' Club. The club chooses an editor for each issue.

Kenneth McClaskey, of the Electric Furnace Company, is the editor for the issue which came out last Monday and which covered the highlights of the various activities of the Trades Class.

Chinese Play 'Yellow Jacket' To be Presented by Seniors

Most Unusual Play to be Produced By Salem High Dramatists

As their second theatrical attempt the class of '38 under the direction of James MacDonald, will present "The Yellow Jacket" on Thursday and Friday, December 9 and 10.

"The Yellow Jacket" is entirely different from any type of play ever given by a junior or senior class of Salem High. It is Chinese and every detail, except the language, will be like a Chinese presentation.

Western Reserve, U. of Pitt. Debaters Present Assembly

At an assembly in the auditorium a week ago last Thursday, debaters from Western University and the University of Pittsburgh presented the negative and affirmative sides of the subject. Resolved: "That, the several states should adopt a unicameral system of legislation."

C. W. Lomas, director of debate at the University of Pittsburgh, introduced the speakers and explained the system of debating they would use.

Mr. Walker of Reserve presented the affirmative side of the argument. and Mr. Springer of Pittsburgh argued against the unicameral system.

After these two talks, Mr. MacKenna of Pittsburgh cross-examined Mr. Walker, and then Mr. Sugarman of Reserve cross-examined Mr. Springer. Following this, Mr. MacKenna and Mr. Sugarman were each given two minutes for rebuttal.

This was the first of a series of six debates which were given within the three days following this assembly in this district.

The Oregon plan of debate was used. In this system each team has one speech, and one cross-examination, followed by several minutes of rebuttal.

Cheerleaders Attend Alliance-Canton Game

Four of the five Salem High school cheerleaders attended the Alliance-Canton McKinley football contest which was waged at Mt. Union Stadium last Saturday.

The cheerleaders with Faculty Manager, Fred Cope attended the game as guests of Alliance High school. The cheerleaders were to have made the trip to Delaware with the Cross-country team last Saturday, but because of other arrangements they could not attend.

The game which they witnessed proved to be a thrilling one, with Canton-McKinley barely nosing out Alliance by the score of 8-0.

Those who attended were Eugene McCready, Al J. Freed, Bob Lyons, and Bob Neale.

Another trip is planned for the near future.

During the play all properties remain on stage and are moved to the center of the stage by the property man and his assistants (these are characters of the play) when they are required for a scene. The chorus, another feature of the play, explains the location of each scene. The plot of "The Yellow Jacket" concerns a Chinese lord who has two wives and wishes to destroy the "first" one.

Class News

SENIOR: Leaving the building at 15 minute intervals, the Seniors had their class pictures taken this week at the Seeman Studio. A down payment of $1.00 was required for the sitting. An additional sum of $3.00 will be the price per dozen to be paid when the pictures are ordered.

Committees for the Senior Class Party which will be held November 19, are to be chosen the first of next week.

SOPHOMORE: "We have sold 250 of the pins" said Mrs. Cope, class advisor, "and they are still going fast". To replenish their class treasury, the Sophomore class is selling black pins, shaped like a megaphone with a red letter S in the center.

FRESHMEN: Having sold 1,000 football schedule pencils, the Freshmen are awaiting the arrival of 1,500 basketball schedule pencils, which are to arrive November 15.

'Sa Fact

A student should not occupy more than one important office during one school term.

There are two reasons why this plan should be used.

First: There is not sufficient amount of time for a student to hold two important offices and not neglect one or the other.

Secondly: The more students you have holding offices the more students you will have interested in the class, and to have a successful class you should have the cooperation of all the students. Last year in the Varsity "S" Club the students wanted a member who already held an important office. Mr. Brown, instructor of the club said, "No one who is holding an office can hold an office in this club." So a student who was not holding an office of any kind was elected president, and the club was the most successful of the year.

This shows that one can hold an office and do it as good as another. This would be a very good plan to adopt in Salem High.

Each student should be limited to one important office during a school term.

PAUL MEIERS, Senior.

A Profitable Correction

There is a group of people sometimes given the name "clock watchers". Are you one of them? These people are as undesirable in school as in business. They have a habit of watching the clock to see how many minutes of the period remain. As the clock ticks away to the end of the period, the "clock watchers" leave a sigh of relief, and rush out the door almost before the bells ring. This clock-watching will annoy the teacher for it is extremely discourteous to her.

In a study hall, much time is lost by this bad habit. Time that could be spent profitably in preparing lessons, is wasted. As a result, lessons are left undone as the person gazes at the clock and watches every move of the minute hand.

Clock-watching is a needless and unprofitable habit. Nothing can be gained by it. If you have this habit, why not break yourself of it today.

A Serious Problem

The hurrying and scurrying through the halls while changing classes is evident to everyone. How to solve this is a problem to the students as well as the faculty.

There are only two minutes allowed to change classes, and when a student on the third floor has to go to the first floor for his next class, he must hurry. This is ample time to walk from one floor to another if the corridors are not crowded, but when several hundred students are trying to reach their destination, and each in a different direction, it is difficult to reach the next class on time.

If more time were allowed to change classes, or better traffic regulations were made, it would solve the problem of the rushing in the corridors.

Julius Nestor was explaining of Ollie Olexa why he had a bruise on the side of his face. "—and I was just standing there holding the ball when this guy up and runs right into me." Ollie said in excitement, "Did you get his license number?"

RECIPE FOR A FOOTBALL RALLY

One big bonfire, mixed with six yells, and a dash of brisk autumn breezes. The juice of three speakers, proclaiming the football team of Salem and their merits. Two cups of the Quaker "Drive On" song, mixed with 700 enthusiastic voices—blend well.

Combine above ingredients in a good-sized field, and you have the first football rally of the season.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Give the people what they want." That's the by-law of every newspaper, magazine, or any other public servant.

The Quaker has been printing scandal columns because, supposedly, the students want them. But do they?

The chief use of scandal columns is that they are fun for the students. But for how many students? A few boys and girls discussing the subject recently, came to the conclusion that about 10 per cent of the entire student body takes part in the scandal columns of our Quaker. And 10 per cent, they think, is a liberal estimation. (It hardly need be mentioned that it is just that 10 per cent who will advocate the keeping of scandal columns in our Quaker).

Journalistically, our newspaper has suffered a large degradation because of the scandal columns. It is a popularly accepted opinion that the students of Salem High would not, could not get along without this sort of column. That opinion is certainly erroneous. Scandal columns are cheap! The pupils of Salem High have not cheap tastes!

We have tolerated these columns so long because a few students each year have believed it is impossible to create and keep an interest in the paper without these columns.

That is not at all true. Salem High has an ample amount of writing talent. There are students here, who, if they were given opportunity could originate new columns which would be highly interesting and good Journalism. These columns would be more representative of the student body than these John-dates-Mary columns in which 10 per cent participate.

Students of Salem High, we'll all admit our school paper is a good one. Let's make it a better one.

Other school papers have abolished scandal columns successfully. WE CAN TOO!

Beware!!! DICK JONES has been creeping up on his victims. A loud shout, "Hey," and you're shot." Dick is a candid camera fiend. Don't say I didn't warn you!

All great thinkers need solitude. I'm lucky, the family have gone so there's just me and the dog. At any moment I'm liable to sink into one of my melancholy moods. A lot of people have been naggin' at me lately. Mr. Brautigam, for instance, reproved me before the whole class for splitting an infinitive. He scans my papers for these and dangling participles. I wonder if that's his job! I suppose it is, but what a job!

Notice girls! The boys in the Stamp Club, by special request, have asked me to advertise for more girls to join the club. That proves that the masculine mind just can't get along without the inspiration of the weaker sex.

Have you heard about ED ZILAVY? Well, as I hear it he's been rushing Winnie Robertson, cheerleader for Boardman. After seeing her I can't blame him. Maybe one of you ambitious males can help him. You can at least try!

Glances here and there: POLLY giving BUD the well known once over in 206. BUDDY, you should feel flattered. After all it isn't everyone that POLLY turns around to look at!

JACK HICKLING razzin' ANNA MAE about STU being a triple threat. Just try it and you'll get the same result that HICK got.

ALYSE MacDONALD getting a thrill by sitting next to her S. P. in assembly.

KENNY McCONNOR coaxing the slight dent in his hair to become really a wave.

Personal nomination for abolishment: GEORGE KLEON'S "Good morning."

Free lessons in lip reading have been established in the Philadelphia public schools. That's an idea! Then you would know just what other persons say when they get sore.

Best recording of the week: Clyde McCoy's record of "Satan Takes A Holiday."

"Why" is the keyword to the English language.

Isn't it odd; that 13 jinx. And did you notice that the score at the Wellsville game was just double 13. I'm beginning to think we're lucky not having 13 players on the team!

Bright idea: Printing the words to a popular song every week in my column. Well, it's just a thought, so don't get excited.

BELA SIDINGER has been wondering around in a daze. She's been dating a JOHNNY WONNER and from what she told me he must be near perfect!

Hats, Hats, and more hats! Aren't they the silliest things this year. The part that hands me the biggest laugh is the girls who wear these so-called hats with veils on them. Even if the veils don't suit their type they wear them anyway. After all though, I guess it's none of my business if they want to wear them; but I'll bet 2-1 they get in the way on dates!

Did you see BUD DEAN with Coach (Tuffie) GORDEN'S sweater last week. I hear that "Tuffie" and a gang of kids had a wiener roast after the pep rally. To think that I missed it just breaks my heart.

I am bidding ye a fond farewell; but only for a short time. I'll be back.

Ode To a Tin Can

The Ford is my car;
I shall not want another;
It maketh me to lie down beneath it;
It dirtieth my shirt;
It leadeth me in the path of ridicule for its namesake;
Yea, though I ride through the valleys, I am towed up the hills;
Thy road and thy engine discomfort me;
I have blowouts in the presence of mine enemies;
I annointeth its tires with patches;
My radiator bolleth over;
Surely if this thing follows me all the days of my life,
I shall dwell in the bug house forever.

Quaker Thinclads Place Eleventh In Annual Meet

Coach R. B. Clarke's thinclads had a tough time of it last Saturday morning, when they competed against ninety other harriers from all over the state of Ohio, during the annual state cross country meet at Delaware.

The Quakers managed to pull out a high 246 points to take eleventh place in team rating while their rival during the district meet, Akron East, had a low 73 points for first place.

Charlie Huddleston was the first man of the Red and Black team to cross the finish line while Ruben Breault, Harold Culler, and John Carcarellie finished in order behind him.

Edinburg's star pacer, Graham Sheppard, took first individual honors and also broke last year's record for the meet. Sheppard's time for the two mile course was 10 minutes flat.

Leahy, of Cleveland East Tech, and Curtin of Toledo DeVilbiss came in second and third, respectively. Both Leahy and Curtin were on no teams during the meet but were just running for individual honors.

Powerful Dover High Eleven To Face Quakers Saturday

Local Lads Outweigh Dover Crimsons

Playing in the afternoon for the first time this season, the Salem High Quakers will play host to the powerful Dover High eleven at Reilly Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

This is the first year that the Red and Black lads will play the Dover team, and they will find that they have no easy match when they take coach Rearick's boys on.

The opposing team has played seven games so far this season, and has won all of them but two. They easily obtained victories over Orrville, 43-0, Zanesville, 13-7, Wooster, 12-6, Akron Kenmore, 19-7, and Uhrichsville, 53-0. The strong Canton McKinley team and Toronto High are the only ones that can boast victories over the Dover squad this season, by scores of 12-0, and 9-0, respectively.

The probable lineups are:

CP's	No.	Wt.	Name	Pos.	Name	Wt.	No.	CP's
Jr.	75	170	Schaeffer	LE	Shumacher	160	48	Jr.
Jr.	80	195	Fitzsimmons	LT	Gopp	160	45	Sr.
Sr.	70	160	Wentz	LG	Young	160	53	Sr.
Sr.	72	155	Cerbu	C	Altier	180	66	Jr.
Sr.	81	183	Kirchgessner	RG	Lombardo	145	60	Sr.
Sr.	73	176	Bonsall	RT	Cato	203	67	Sp.
Sr.	64	170	Minamyer	RE	Sacco	145	58	Jr.
Jr.	68	156	Dean	QB	Smith	162	64	Sr.
Sr.	69	150	Malloy	RH	Sweitzer	155	54	Sr.
Sr.	76	165	Olexa	LH	Nichols	167	61	Sr.
Sr.	79	182	Lutsch	FB	Grok	160	65	Jr.

Officials:

Referee—H. C. (Heinie) Wagner, Warren.
 Umpire—J. D. (Pete) Scullion, Cleveland.
 Headlinesman—Fred J. Bell, Warren.

The Dover line averages 164 pounds to Salem's 172 pounds, while their backfield averages 161 pounds to the Quaker's 163. Therefore, the local gridders have somewhat of an edge in weight over Dover. Their heaviest man is Lawrence Cato tipping the scale at 203 and playing right tackle, while the lightest is Ben Sacco, right ender weighing 145 pounds.

SPORT SHORTS

Just a word about that amusing hero of the grid-iron—the manager. The manager is the fellow who's on the bench all of the time; all of the time—that is except when he's rushing to the assistance of an injured player, carrying water to refresh the team for that last stand, or assisting a player who has just left the game, to the bench. To the manager belongs the responsibility of handing out uniforms, and seeing that they are put in the proper place when the game is over. He usually works without the plaudits of the crowd, thus for faithful service cheerfully rendered this article is dedicated to the manager.

And now for a few Bronx cheers for the fellow or fellows who tore down one of the goal posts used by the football squad in their practice sessions at Centennial Park. If the fellows doing that sort of thing for the kick they get out of it would only stop to think how much their fun was costing others, surely such things wouldn't happen.

Congratulations are in order for the team. The steady improvement shown in the last

Blue Devils Bow to Quaker Eleven, 18-0

The hobgoblins of defeat sent Lisbon High School's Blue Devils home on the small end of an 18-0 score, when they met Salem High School's Quakers under the floodlights at Reilly Stadium during the annual Hallowe'en celebration.

The victory over Lisbon gave the Quakers their second win over a county opponent.

The steady improvement shown by the Salem line led to an impressive display of both offensive and defensive power during the Lisbon game. Plunges into the line netted only 76 yards for the Blue Devils.

Ollie Olexa, Salem's triple threat back, turned in this usually stellar performance to score all of Salem's touchdowns. Two fellows two have not seen much action in games so far this season also turned in fine performances in the backfield; couple of games, certainly indicates that there has been a lot of hard work during practices.

"Stu" Wise, who alternates with Bud Dean at quarterback, and Gilbert Everhart who won a place in the starting lineup because of the absence of lanky Max Lutsch, who was suffering from a leg injury.

Olexa dropped back on the line and heaved a 28 yard pass to Schaeffer to pave the way for Salem's first score in the second period. Olexa smashed through his own right tackle for the touchdown on the next play.

Olexa dropped back of the line three yard line for the second touchdown after he had carried the ball in successive plays from the Lisbon 21.

Blond, blue-eyed, Vera Sharp, new Senior lassie from 206 thinks Salem High is a "pretty nice place"

Hailing from Jamestown High School in Jamestown, New York, Vera said:

"Salem High is a smaller school, but the boys and girls here are just as friendly. I admire their school spirit."

At Jamestown High, Vera says, there were six rather than seven periods in each day. Vera, who is musically inclined and who is said to possess a beautiful contralto voice belonged to the Glee Club, the Orchestra and Orpheus. The latter is also a music organization. This year she is taking American History, Government, Dramatics, and Biology.

Vera's favorite hobby is collecting pictures of movie stars. Laughingly, she added, "Of course my favorite movie star is Robert Taylor."
