Girls Co-operative" Says Miss Hart

The work of the Dean of Girls is both varied and interesting.

The first important piece of work, at the opening of the school year, is to see each senior girl, individually, and check with her, her four-year course, to see if she has the proper number of credits, as well as the necessary majors and minors to enable her to graduate in June.

Next come the freshmen, because they are new to the school and need help in getting adjusted, deciding on their chosen vocations and planning their courses for the four years to come.

Enjoys Teaching

I chose teaching for my profession because I enjoy working with individuals. Each one is so entirely different from all of the others, and each day is a new adventure.

There are 461 girls in Salem High school, and I can honestly say that I thoroughly enjoy working with them. I have always found them ready to concentrate when there is serious work in hand to be done, and, on the other hand, ready to enjoy themselves thoroughly when there is real fun to be had. They have been kind, courteous and helpful to new arrivals and honest in turning the lost property of others.

Judging from my own personal contact with the girls of Salem High school, I am happy to say that I have found them, as a whole, keen and alert, and quick to cooperate whenever the matter in hand is for the best interests of the school.

Rector Scholarship Awards Open to Boys

Greencastle, Indiana, January 3, 1938—The twentieth class of Rector Scholars will enroll at DePauw University in September, 1938. Mr. Edward Rector of Chicago created the Rector Foundation in 1919 for the purpose of recognizing and stimulating an interest in high scholastic attainment among high school boys. Since that time more than two thousand young men have received awards each amounting to one thousand dollars ($1,000) in tuition at DePauw University.

Salem High's office has just received announcements of 100 new scholarships for 1938, to be granted to young men who excel in scholarship and who have taken places of leadership in High School. Any young man who is interested should confer with Mr. Williams at once as applications must be sent in during February. No candidate may apply after March 15, 1938.

Band Dance Profits Larger Than Usual

Profits from the fifth annual Band Dance which was held on Dec. 29, during Christmas vacation, totaled $33.71, Mr. Brautigam stated recently. The profits from the dance, which was attended by 105 couples, will be added to a fund which is being built up for the purpose of buying additional uniforms.

In "time currency" minutes are the precious pennies that, saved or lost, make the millionaire or bankrupt.—Selected.

Alice West Takes Place of S. Fidoe As Hi-Tri Head

Due to the withdrawal from school of Stella Fidoe the Senior class is without a secretary-treasurer, and the girls Hi-Tri without a president.

The Senior class will in all probability vote for a student to fill the position vacated by Stella, in the near future.

The vacancy of the presidential office of the Hi-Tri will be filled by the Vice President, Alice West. It has been a custom in former years for the offices to be occupied by Senior members, but this year a new system has been introduced which will be submitted to the members for their approval at the regular meeting in the near future.

The proposal has been made that a Junior member be elected as Vice President who will automatically become president next year. This method will help the girl to learn the "ropes" this year and somewhat experienced in the year to come.

Library Subscribes New Magazines

The High School library is subscribing to a new monthly magazine, "Consumer's Digest." It presents in popular readable fashion information of especial interest to consumers. "Consumer's Digest" lists articles by brand name, but presents only recommended listings. One of the articles called "Gullibles Travels," is written by an imaginary person who makes fun of the advertising and sales technique that he meets during his travels. This book discusses everything from bath towels to fountain pens.

Sophs to Present Assembly Feb. 10

The Sophomore class is sponsoring the Assembly of February 10. Dr. Roemmert will talk about and illustrate microscopic life, his title being "Life and Death In a Drop of Water." The microvivarium as it is called was demonstrated at the Chicago World's Fair, where 4,000 persons an hour crowded to watch the fighting and feeding of infinitesimal creatures living in drops of water.

Dr. Roemmert spent over fifteen years solving technical problems before he was able to present this microscopic drama. This Assembly will be especially interesting. Admission will be 10 cents.

Wanted: More Seniors

The Senior Stand made a profit of $12.75 during the game last Saturday evening between Salem and Youngstown Chaney.

Miss Beardmore has asked for more seniors to help at the stand. Last Saturday Charles Wentz, Betty Neal, Bill Stevens, Marjorie Kniseley, and George Kleon were the pupils working at the stand.

The money taken in is for the scholarship fund and for the Senior Farewell Party and with more students working at the stand more money will be taken in.

Today's Headlines

'Make Lisle the Style'

The American Student Union staged a protest against the buying of Japanese goods several weeks ago when they held a huge assembly at Vassar college in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Girl delegates took off their stockings, boys, their neckties, and threw them into a bonfire. When everything silk had been burned, they returned to the dormitory, collected all their silk clothing, returned and tossed them upon the fire. Their slogan is "Make lisle the style, wear lisle for a while. If you wear cotton, Japan gets nottin'." Having finished their demonstration, they marched away singing "Solidarity Forever".

Mrs. Roosevelt Ranks Ninth As Candidate

In a recent poll, taken by Fortune magazine, it was discovered that, excluding Roosevelt, 11.9 per cent would prefer Senator William Borah as presidential candidate while 4.8 per cent would choose Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, this making her ninth on the list. Henry Ford ranked fifth. This poll was taken "without serious intention of finding" a candidate who would have the favor of the public. The list presented to the people contained names of persons of national fame. Mrs. Roosevelt was voted for by the poorer class of people, Borah, by the prosperous, and Ford, by the laborers and the Southerners.

Far East Use Radios For Propaganda

In Saudi Arabia, in Palestine, Syria, Egypt and other lands of North Africa many homes were supplied with radios which were set up by "suave efficient young men" who also tuned and locked them. These radios were not merely gifts to the people but were intended to earn their way by being the means by which the broadcasting of the anti-British propagandists reached the multitudes. Since Great Britain joined the League against Italy, Italian shortwave stations at Bari have spread propaganda which is to teach the "Moslem nations that the British Empire is falling to pieces, that Benito Mussolini was a proper protector for Islam".

Salem Debaters Victorious Over East Palestine

The Salem High Affirmative team, composed of Elsie Hunter and Constance Clark, were victorious in their first debate of the current season, last Tuesday night in the local auditorium.

The topic for discussion, Resolved: "That the several States should adopt the Unicameral system of legislature," is being debated by teams throughout the States.

The local Affirmative stressed four major evils of the bicameral system throughout the debate.

These evils, namely; passing the buck, shifting of responsibility, the Conference committee, and undemocratic representation, were combatted with nine major objections by the East Palestine Negative team, composed of Jack Cohen and Ralph Henry.

The Negative maintained that every issue the Affirmative brought up could be carried out under the present system without changing to Unicameralism.

After the regular debate routine, Dr. Don M. Wolf of Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa. rendered his decision in favor of the Affirmative.

The next debate will be held at East Palestine where Salem will uphold the Negative side. Constance Clark and Lionel Difford will be the Salem speakers.

Magic Slates Being Sold By Latin Club

Magic Slates are being sold by members of the Latin Club, under the direction of Mrs. Koontz. The club started this project last Wednesday and so far have been very successful in their efforts. The slates are in two sizes, the smaller size costing 10 cents, the portfolio size being 15 cents.

Proceeds realized will be used in making Roman costumes for a Roman style show which the club intends to present sometime before the end of the year.

Cope Brothers Star At Mount

Former Salem High cagers, Bill and Ben Cope are varsity members of Mount Union College's 1937-38 basketball squad.

Bill is a Senior and Ben a junior. They are the brothers of Jane Cope, a member of the Senior Class this year.

Last year was really Bill's first year of competition and the same goes for Ben. As a Sophomore last year, Ben started nearly every game and saw lots of action.

Salem High students are proud to have had the Cope brothers graduate from Salem High.

Music Contest To Be Held At Mount Union In April

Preparations for the Solo and Ensemble Contest to be held at Mount Union College in April have begun.

Members of Salem High will enter twenty-two of the events.

These are: Oboe, clarinet, bassoon, alto sax, tenor or baritone sax, cornet, French horn, trombone, baritone, bass, violin, piano, drum major, and flute.

The entries for the ensembles will be the woodwind trio, clarinet quartet, woodwind quintet, saxophone quartet, trombone quartet, brass quartet, brass sextet, trumpet trio.

The selections to be used in the contest must be chosen from a list selected by a committee.

The persons who receive the highest marks in the contest at Mount Union will enter a contest at Oberlin in May.

Tuberculin Tests To Be Given by Health Dept.

As an aid in the prevention of tuberculosis, the Public Health Department of Salem will give a tuberculin test to each Senior who desires to have the test.

"This test," said Miss Frances Markovich, school nurse, "aids in the early diagnosis of tuberculosis in children, and warns parents that if their child has a positive reaction, they should pay attention to his health."

Miss Markovich explained that the tuberculin test is a simple, harmless skin test which shows whether or not a person has a tendency to react favorably to tubercle bacilli in case they are in the body in large numbers.

"Tuberculosis is of two types," the school nurse explained, "the childhood and the adult, the latter being the more serious. When children reach the ages of 13 or 20, the adult type will manifest itself.

"Seniors leaving school and beginning their life's work may soon find that they have been entertaining a dormant form of tuberculosis, and with the added burdens of harder work, will develop active tuberculosis."

Miss Markovich declared that a case of early tuberculosis treated promptly by rest, good food, and fresh air, has an excellent chance of being cured. For this reason some high schools and colleges test all students with tuberculin and make an X-ray of those whose positive reaction indicates infection. The purpose of the X-ray is to determine whether or not the disease is active.

Wasting Time

"Gee, I have a lot to do this period." This was heard as two girls were entering study hall together. After watching these girls for ten minutes it was decided that an editorial on "Wasting Time" was in order. Not only these girls, but over half of the study hall, was fussing around when the period was nearly one-third over. The reason for all the confusion was not that the students did not have anything to do. The ones that hadn't started to work were the ones that had the most to do.

"All right, settle down and get to work." This from the study hall teacher.

We have all heard these same words ever since we started to school. After a certain length of time they become meaningless. We all get tired of hearing the same thing every single day. The solution?

"Settle down and get to work!"

Students Can and Will Co-operate

Weren't you ashamed of yourself when Mr. Williams got up on the stage last week in an assembly and reprimanded you for your conduct at the Christmas assembly? You know you could feel the blush creeping over your face. Well, how about showing him you really can act better, and also that you can cooperate with him, the faculty, and the person or persons presenting the assembly?

In the next assembly let's be very attentive, catch every word, and show Mr. Williams our students can act as refined as the audience at the opening night of Verdi's "Rigoletto." Then he'll be proud of our school.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

This letter is addressed to perhaps one or two people, but still I think it is justified. If a person stoops so low as to be-little his own class in the eyes of the Salem public, I think it's about time that someone kicked about it. And I'm kicking! During the last few months a disgusting horse-laugh has been heard at various times during assemblies, parties, and the latest time it was heard was at the Senior play. A Senior did that! I was sitting behind the person. Isn't there something the student body can do to stop this act which is degrading our high school in an astonishingly short space of time? S. F. E.

A co-ed's idea of an ideal boy:

- Hair—Bob Sanders. Eyes—Charles Trotter. Nose—Phil Stevens. Mouth—Stu Wise. Complexion—Ward Eckstein. Physique—Charles Wentz. Brains—Harold Hoprich. Dancing Ability—Bill Malloy. Personality—Max Lutsch. —Jane Tinsley.

"Give me a glass of milk and a muttered buffin." "You mean a buffered muttin." "No, I mean a muffered buttin." "Why not take doughnuts and milk?" —London Opinion.

Keyhole's Kaleidoscopic Column

Now that vacation is over, everyone is coming back to get rested up. You probably have already noticed how many 'kids' use school for their resting place anyhow.

By the way, more power to the vacation marriages, engagements, etc.—also to the future lovers of S. H. S.

Joke: Mrs. A.—My husband is 42. You wouldn't think it, but there is actually ten years difference in our ages.

Mrs. B.—Impossible! You look as young as he does!

Stop! Look! Listen!— R. J. TAYLOR was seen with LUCIA SHARP last Sunday p. m.—A slip made by either R. JOHN or JANIE.

Latest fad of S. H. S. lassies— Glass necklaces worn with the one and only Romeo's picture placed in it.

Top-notch songs of week as played by Guy Lombardo "YOU'RE A SWEETHEART" and "IN THE STILL OF THE NIGHT."

Another joke: Senior — Then playing around with us boys is the reason you failed in philosophy?

Co-ed—Yes, you made me late for a date with the professor.

Say( youse gals, did you know the latest and most chic formal you could buy is one made of wool. Yeh, really, the movie stars all wear them.

What! Another joke? Oh well, it might strike you funny.

The barefoot man stood before the grizzled mountaineer. "Mistuh Burbridge," he stammered, "I've come hyar to ask yer fer yer daughter's hand."

The mountaineer knocked the ashes out of his pipe. "Cain't allow no sech thing," he drawled. "Ither yer takes the whol gal or nothin'."

The QUAKER finds its way clear across the Mississippi to BOB SCHWARTZ, who's attending college in Missouri—some circulation, eh what?

It was too good to be true when JIM BALLANTINE actually went with one girl about a month and even bought her a Christmas present and everything. Consult M. J. BRITT for further details about the happening.

This month's prize goes to the Scotchman who sent the surgeon's bills to his father-in-law when he learned that his wife's tonsils really should have been taken out when she was a little girl.

MR. GULER seemed to startle most of his students in government the other day, when he said "all-right," you know, the slurry way.

Mr. Hanson: "I like your radio. How many controls has it?"

Mr. Hilgendorf: "Two. My wife and my daughter."

The three R's that are taught now are, Rah, Rah, Rah!

"Peach" Eckstein seems to get more fun in breaking up couples. Maybe we take him wrong, but he's making a good impersonation of it anyhow.

Do you know why "amen" is used at the end of a song instead of "women"?—Because it's a "hymn." Get it?

Most of the facts of the news reel about the bombing of the Panay was propaganda. Don't believe anything you hear and see!

Have you noticed how feminine most of the articles are in this edition. That was done on purpose to make it different from previous Quakers. Each member on the co-ed staff worked very hard. Though the boys are probably criticizing this edition very harshly, the girls feel proud of the fact that without much experience, they were able to put out a paper.

Can you read this:

- YYUR YYUB ICUR YY4ME.

By the way "Do your Christmas shopping early." Only 344 days left—incidentally only 148 days until the seniors are out of here—sigh! —sigh! —sigh!

How about a faculty issue. Then you'd see how tough it is eh, what!

Here's one for you—How do you spell blind pig—Oh me, oh my, a blind pig doesn't have any eyes—blind pg.

Well here's to the boys' issue—so long!

Boys, Take Notice!

- 1. Be polite to her parents! She likes you better for it. 2. If you and a coupla' fellows just drop in at her home, remember not to play football with mother's favorite pillows or smoke dad's Meercham pipe! 3. Don't give her and the neighbors a horn honking serenade when you bring her home! 4. If you don't like her outfit or her new shade of nail polish, don't (for heaven's sake) tell her so!! Just keep still. 5. Don't clean your nails or comb your hair in class!! Get up a little earlier and do it at home. 6. Don't be a snob! Speak or smile to all your friends. 7. If you must tear through the halls and knock people down, at least apologize and help them pick up their books. 8. Don't tell your date all about the gorgeous blond you were with last night. It's just not the thing to do. 9. Remember the girl always goes first when entering buildings of any sort. 10. When walking with a girl, a boy always walks on the side nearer the curb.

Son—"Daddy, why do they call it the mother tongue?"

Daddy—"Well, look who uses it most."

—Lulu Deste, the 20-year-old, 106-pound Viennese star, formerly ran a rug-weaving concern in London.

—Helen Vinson's living room has a built-in popcorn popper that disappears at the touch of an electric button.

How did ya like Simone Simon in "Love and Hisses." Don't ya think her singing got a little boresome? And those clothes she wore!

CAROL MELVA

An extra gift was given MR. AND MRS. BRAUTIGAM Christmas morning when Santa Claus left them a baby girl, Carol Melva. It's not everybody that's so lucky. But we sympathize with poor Carol Melva because she won't get to have birthday gifts and celebrate all that goes with it.

What in the world was Harold Hoprich doing, standing on a stool in the Quaker office, Friday p. m. after school when Mr. Hilgendorf walked in? Anyhow, Harold certainly blushed when he turned around dumbfoundedly and said, "I'm standing on a stool." Naturally Mr. Hilgendorf could see that, but when you're in a pickle-ment like Harold was, you're likely to say most anything.

Since Bing Crosby has so many boys and Eddie Cantor so many girls they oughta kinda get together. Don't cha think?

Hair Styles Widely Varied This Season

This year since almost any new coiffure is suitable for today's style girls are having a better chance to be just as chic as possible. Long smooth, upward curls are quite the go now, as long as each curl is not too artificially made up.

For school, a girl should wear her hair neatly about her neck while for evening wear, the long and more loosely combed, the lovelier her hair will appear.

So now, girls, all you have to do to catch that long awaited boyfriend, is to wash and brush your hair frequently to a sheeny gloss and let it grow to a length where it will not be too bothersome, but pretty.

After all your curls are in place spray a little of your favorite perfume on it. Perfume on your hair is more alluring than when dabbed in back of your ears.

Charm is the first road to popularity and since hair is the crowning glory of a girl's making, she should take care of this by putting those extra little moments on her hair.

A little movie gossip: —Fred Astaire dislikes any personal publicity that intrudes on his private life.

'Gleeps', That 'Bag' Is a 'Mallet Brain'

On the campus of many of the colleges today there is much slang spoken. The following is an example of it.

This is the setting of the scene. Two boys are standing in front of their Fraternity house talking, this is what they said.

"I had a drag with a frail last night. She was the beeegeosee of the campus, but, gleeps, was she a droop, drip, goon, and is she a mallet brain!"

"We went to a bull session and we did some orange-peeling and sky-looking. Then we wheeled the sled home. Here she comes now."

"Gleeps, but she's a kee wee nub!"

"Yeh, but gander at the handcuff and hardware she's wearing, that means something."

They walked on down the street and no more could be heard.

This is what they were talking about:

Campus Dictionary

- Drag—date.
- Frail—girl.
- Beegeosee—student leader.
- Gleeps—an exclamation.
- Droop—uninteresting.
- Drip—a tiresome person.
- Goon—a silly or borsome person.
- Mallet brain—particularly stupid.
- Bull session—get-together.
- Orange peeling—necking.
- Skylooking—make love.
- Wheel the sled—drive the car.
- Kee wee—swell, almost anything.
- Nub—an attractive person.
- Gander—to look.
- Handcuff—engagement ring.
- Hardware—jewelry.

Continual progress is being made toward taking the horror out of illness.

Nothing is as tempting as a chocolate cake, covered with creamy, chocolate frosting. Many of these cakes are difficult to make, anyway for the beginners. Here's a recipe for a delicious chocolate cake, and there's really nothing to it. A babe in arms could whisk it together in a minute.

Crazy Chocolate Cake

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup sour milk
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 cup butter
- Dash of salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup boiling water

Put ingredients in mixing bowl in order given, Do not stir until 1/2 cup of boiling water is added. Stir for three minutes. Bake in oven 325 degrees for 25 minutes.

Any icing at all will do. Be sure and try this recipe, it's smooth!

Thoughts between classes: New year's is over once more and at last I can catch up on my sleep! The two most subtle characters who haunt these halls are undoubtedly Aaron Schwartz and the up-and-coming poet, Chuck Kessel mire.

Wonder how it would feel to crack your head as Marge Layton did recently at the Club? —Bet that Ralph Taylor isn't as true to his love as he lets on. —Here it is the second week of school and very little has happened—so far. Maybe better luck next week.

The crush of the week . . . Clyde Kessel mire for Toots Theiss. It's all on Clyde's side, too!

These study halls are getting duller and duller. It's almost over and out of a thing—that is anything interesting—has happened. What's the world coming to, anyway?

I've been wondering if you saw that I saw one day last week? It happened in front of the school at noon in a red Chevie coupe. Can't you guess who's it is?

Charlie says that most women are like the first spring thaw; they're so mushy! Wonder just who that is referred to. Probably a certain junior girl.

Best song of the week: three guesses what it is. Nope. You're wrong. It's Toy Trumpets as played by Horace Heidt and orchestra. To my notion Heidts and Benny Goodman are tops when it comes to hot arrangements.

Many of the students who have started orchestras or play in them tonight someday be as famous as Heidts. He played in the band at South High in Youngstown, and later organized his own band. The result is he now plays in the best hotels in the eastern section of our country.

Speaking of bands, I hear the Band Dance was a huge success. Nice going, kids; you deserve it!

Opinion: I'll never tire of listening to Don Bestor.

It is an undecided question about Vivian Foltz's charms. We wonder if they have captured the well-occupied heart of one Joe Morris?

Did you know Mary Lou Brian is carrying a torch for Charlie Trotter? Well, she is. More power to ya, kid!

The number of ice skaters has been increasing very rapidly this year. Wonder if it's the Sonja Henie influence? Can't tell, it might be. Heard just the other day that Bob Hinton is quite good. Ooops, there goes his ego!

Ad Agency

Listen closely, dear co-eds. Patronize your little ads (pronounced eds). For without those little blocks our paper soon would hit the rocks.

Here's some real first-hand advice concerning things that make you nice. Try using lotion, cream and grease. All these obtained at J. H. Lease.

QUAKER QUINS ROMP OVER CHANEY IN 41-29 VICTORY

Dover Cheats Salem of Victory In Last - Minute Rally

Coming back in the second half to fight off a 20-13 lead held by Chaney on them, the Quakers scored 28 points to win in the second half of a hard, rough battle on the hardwood court at Salem High School's gym last Saturday night after losing a hard game to Dover the night before.

Olexa, Lutsch and Schaeffer led the spectacular second-half rally, making the score at the end of the final period 41-29.

Max Lutsch went out on fouls in the fourth quarter. Terlecki, Chaney's big star; Poschner, and Kollar also went out of the game on fouls.

In the fourth period, the Quakers, tallied 15 points to Chaney's 4.

Olexa and Lutsch shared scoring honors each contributing 11 points and Schaeffer right in there with 10.

Terlecki, one of the finest basketball players to appear on the Salem hardwoods in several years was effectively stopped by Lutsch and Olexa. He made nine baskets, only 3 of which were field goals, making a total of 12 points.

The Salem Reserves fought off Chaney's drive for a victory by defeating them 30-28 in one of the most thrilling Reserve games to be played in several years. Jim Kleon led Salem in scoring with 10 points, while Heltz of Chaney tallied 15 points.

Quakers Defeated

In the last minute of play, Don Groh of the Crimson five sunk a field goal to defeat the Quakers 32 to 30 in a rough, fast-moving contest at the American Legion gym in Dover last Friday night.

Poor ball handling was the result of rough action during the entire game on the part of both teams. Salem displayed poor foul shooting, converting only six out of 15 fouls.

Dover is well-known for its spurts to victory in the last quarter. It was in this manner that they got to the semi-finals at the state tournament last year.

Ollie Olexa was removed from the game for committing too many fouls. Max Lutsch and Bill Schaeffer each had three fouls before the end of the first half, but neither fouled during the remainder of the game despite the rough action and fast playing. Groh, Swinderman, and Maurer of Dover also had three fouls each.

Olexa led the Quakers in scoring with nine points, Groh being high point man for Dover with a total of 13 points.

The Reserves also dropped their game by a score of 30-19.

SPORT SHORTS

Notes on Intramurals:.....The Midgets captained by Jim Shasteen are rightly named likewise the Dipsy Doodles in Class A..... Ask Ed Isenhour how to make a pivot shot..... The Black Demons consider themselves plenty good yet they've been beaten 2 out of 2.....What did Jack Hickling eat before the game with the Dipsy Doodles?.....

Did you notice Bonsall's uneasiness in the Chaney game?..... Jim Dickey and Gib sure can fight when they really get sore..... Did you see the big sigh let go by der Moxie just as he was ready to shoot that foul? It seemed as though he said to himself, "Now or never"..... The girls are getting in some good games if you've watched them in the gym after school.....

Basketball Sketches

Max Lutsch—"Der Moxie" plays at the center position and is responsible for Salem's getting the tip-off in most of their games. On account of his height, Max makes a good defensive as well as offensive player. He has scored 17 points so far this season.

Ollie Olexa—One of this year's best scorers, Ollie has the makings of both a good offensive and defensive player. To date he has scored 29 points in four games.

Bill Schaeffer—Bill has scored 34 points in four games. He always plays hard and deserves every point and every bit of credit he gets. This is his second year on the varsity.

Jim Dickey—Although Jim has scored but five points, he has shown skill in handling the ball—especially dribbling. This is his first actual year with the varsity.

"Gibby" Everhart—Gibby is one of the most consistent players on the team. He has 27 points to his credit.

Amos Dunlap—Amos has shown constant improvement since the first of the season although he has scored but five points. He seems to be a very good defensive player. This is his first year on the varsity.

Leonard Bonsall—He has the size and characteristics of a good player. He has made four points in the four games in which he has seen little action.

Dinny McLaughlin, Burton Sutter, Tip Lowry and Les Knepp have scored one point in three games, none in one game, one in two games, and none in two games, respectively. They have seen very little action in the varsity lineups.

"You know, dad, he always said he'd never marry until the right girl came along."

"Well, how does he know you are the right one?"

"Oh, I told him I was."

A school inspector said to a pret teacher:

"Do you teach observation "

"Yes."

"Then I will test the class. Now children, shut your eyes and still." The inspector made a chirping sort of noise, and followed with: "Now, children, what did do "

One little boy piped out:

"Kissed teacher."
