

Hoprich, Hunter, Difford Are Selected as Senior Speakers

Will Represent Class of '38 At Commencement Exercises

The seniors selected Harold Hoprich, Elsie Hunter, and El Difford to represent the class of '38 at Commencement exercises in June.

These three students will select a speaker to speak in the near future and will be assisted by Miss Ethel Moore, class adviser.

The speakers chosen are active in many ways. Hoprich is editor of The Quaker Weekly; belongs to the SHS Band, Salemasquers; is vice-president of his class and president of the Association; and was first in artistic rating at the end of the semester.

Elsie Hunter belongs to the Hi-Tri, is a student librarian, and was member of the debate team to represent Salem this year.

El Difford is president of Salemasquers, and was also a member of the debate squad.

Salem High Debater Addresses Rotary

El Difford who was entered in the Twenty-Second Annual Extemporaneous Speaking Contest at Western Reserve University April 22, was a guest speaker at the conference of the 138th District of the International. There were young men chosen from those who were entered in the extemporaneous contest to speak before the members of this conference.

In the Extemporaneous Contest, El Difford was one of six finalists but was defeated by a speaker from the High School, Cleveland. The contest was held in two rounds, the first of which was at two o'clock and the second, at four o'clock.

El Difford who competed successfully in both and won a place in the contest used as his topic "How Free is the Air Lanes Be?" In the first round his subject was "Should We Be a Government Network?"

Hoffmaster Is 7th Scholarship Test

Hoffmaster placed seventh in the County Scholarship test which entitles him to a county certificate and a ninth decile in the test. He made exceptionally high marks in mathematics and science and received a place in the upper cent.

A total of 4994 seniors took the High School test at Lisbon in this county. This test was given throughout the State. Other students representing Salem High in the test were Marguerite Vincent, Hurray, Leah Leipper, and West.

A place in this county was won by a senior boy from East Salem.

Seventy-five per cent of the seniors throughout the state made a score in Mathematics and Science higher than Paul.

Mary Helen Bruderly Most Popular Girl

Topping a list of four candidates, Mary Helen Bruderly has been declared the most popular senior girl by a vote taken on April 8, sponsored by The Quaker.

Miss Bruderly was named the most popular senior girl from a contingent of four girls nominated on April 1 in a nominating count, also sponsored by The Quaker.

Mary Helen is very active in high school, being a member of Salemasquers, Hi-Tri, and is class secretary-treasurer as well as secretary of the association.

Balloting was fairly heavy with approximately 147 votes being cast out of the 160 members of the senior class. Mary Helen received an overwhelming majority of these votes with no other candidate coming close to her lead.

The contest to determine the most popular girl was sponsored by The Quaker on April 1 and has reached its climax after a very interesting and competitive race.

Hi-Tri Makes Plans For Social Events

The Hi-Tri held a special meeting yesterday to plan for the mothers' day tea to be held in May. President Alice West appointed the following committees in charge of the event: refreshment, Miss McCready, adviser, Bettie Sharp, chairman, Jane Gilbert, Mary Ruth O'Hara and Ruth Thomas make up the committee. The reception committee has Mrs. Koontz as the adviser, Alice West as chairman and includes Meg Vincent, Polly Silvers, and Frances Webster. The program committee is headed by Barbara Williams and is assisted by Jane Cope, Irene Schmidt and Elizabeth Elder.

Each member has been requested to sign up for herself and her mother if they wish to attend the affair.

Leather which was purchased last year for purses and moccasins was disposed of at the meeting. The members will make belts and bookmarks from this leather.

Former Graduate On College Honor Roll

The office has just received information from Ohio University that Donald Hammell, a graduate of Salem High School in the class of 1935, was rewarded by a place on the honor roll of the college for the past semester. This reward is based on scholastic work with a point average of 2.5 or above one of a possible 3.0.

Association Presents Noted Ornithologist

Cleveland P. Grant

Continuing its series of assemblies, the Salem High Association presents Cleveland P. Grant, noted ornithologist, Tuesday, May 10.

Mr. Grant was formerly associated with the Field Museum of Natural History and is now the director of the Baker-Hunt Foundation. Since 1932, Cleveland P. Grant has talked about bird adventures to more than a million people.

Mr. Russell Patter of Columbia University comments highly on Mr. Grant's excellent collection of bird pictures.

The speaker is entertaining, coloring his talk with humor and a wide knowledge of the subject.

S. H. S. To Observe Music Week

In observance of National Music Week, which will be observed throughout the country next week, various programs are being prepared.

Mrs. Satterthwaite explained that each grade school in Salem will have a special program with representatives from each class participating. The grade school programs will be held in the afternoons of the various school days next week.

At Salem High the assembly will be held next Thursday morning under the direction of Mr. Brautigam. A number of students who are going to the District Solo Contest will comprise the program.

Also during Music Week will be the second annual concert of the high school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Satterthwaite, to be held next Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. Both the Girls' and the Boys' Glee Clubs will render vocal numbers at the concert.

Association Party A Great Success

The Association party, which was held in the gym Friday, April 22, was a big success. About 500 students attended the party.

At 7:30, Frye, the magician, presented a program in the auditorium.

Students proceeded to the gym for dancing at 8:30.

The gym was artistically decorated with pastel streamers.

SHS Band to Enter District Solo Contest Tomorrow

Largest Delegation of Musicians Ever To Represent Salem

Entering the largest delegation of musicians ever to represent Salem in the District Solo and Ensemble contest at Mount Union tomorrow, Mr. Brautigam, director of the band, has great hopes for his members.

Trotter, Taylor, Smith In Dramatics Contest

Ralph Taylor, Charls Trotter, and Ralston Smith are representing Salem High in the Kent State University One-Act Play contest which is being held there today and Saturday.

Sixteen schools will compete in this contest. Eight of these schools are invited to enter the contest and the other eight must give preliminary performances to earn the right to compete with the other schools.

For the past two years Salem High has been invited to enter the contest. Last year the representative won third place. Mr. McDonald, dramatics coach, expects this year's cast to obtain a better rating than that of last year.

A variety of prizes will be awarded. For the boy and girl, showing the most talent scholarships will be given. The second best boy and girl will receive medals and the winning plays will receive prize awards.

Sportsmen Camp In Pennsylvania Hills

The Sportsman's Club members will enjoy a camping trip in the Pennsylvania hills this weekend.

The camping site was chosen by Mr. Englehart, club sponsor and expert huntsman, on a previous trip.

As hunting is prohibited at this time of the year, the boys will merely glance at the deer. Explaining the fact that the deer are very tame, Mr. Englehart stated that spring has an indolent effect on them, thus rendering them less alert.

Transportation will be furnished by members of the club.

Hi-Y Dance Success; Plan Other Activities

Having held a successful penny dance in the gym last Wednesday, the Hi-Y boys have hopes of giving another dance in the middle of May when there is a decided slump in the school parties. It is their ambition to hold a barn dance where everyone will come as a farmer boy or girl.

At their last meeting, which was held April 26, the possibility of Junior members was discussed. About 13 members are to be chosen this year and the rest are to be chosen during the next school term. New members will be taken into the Hi-Y Club next Tuesday.

Hi Y boys are planning to go swimming at the Alliance Y. M. C. A. sometime in the near future.

This year 17 solo numbers will be entered. They are as follows: Violin, Gusty Couja; Piano, Mary Louise Emery; Drum Major, Don Beattie; Oboe, Aden Riffle; B flat Clarinet, Charles Wentz; Bassoon, Harold Hoprich; Alto Saxophone, Henry Pauline; Baritone Saxophone, Jack Warner; Trumpet, John Evans; French Horn, Bob Vickers; Trombone, Joe Morris; Baritone, Wallace Luce; Tuba, Joe Cooper; Soprano (voice), Dorothy Krauss; Contralto (voice), Marjorie Kniseley.

Accompanists are Harold Hoprich, Bettie Sharp, Geraldine Fickes, and Mary Louise Emery.

Wooster College Issues Invitations to Seniors

Salem High school has been invited to send a delegation of students to the College of Wooster April 30 by Rev. Gayle Lathrop, director of admissions, for the annual "Open House for High School Students."

Featuring the morning program will be scholarships of $440 each to be awarded.

Dr. Charles F. Wishart, well known Presbyterian church leader and educator, president of Wooster since 1919, will welcome the visitors. The Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Miss Eve Richmond, will sing for Wooster's guests.

In the afternoon, the day's visitors will get to see the Wooster-Denison track meet and the football game which Coach L. C. Boles has planned between two teams from his spring football squad.

The afternoon's program also includes visits to Wooster's science departments and a play to be staged by dramatic students under the direction of Dr. Delbere G. Lean in the college Little Theatre.

Cast Presents Gift To Student Director

Janet Greenisen, the student director of the Junior class play, "That Girl Patsy," was the recipient of two gifts in token of appreciation for her work during the play from the cast of the play.

A Message to Mrs. Cox

Several days ago, we students in Salem High thrilled at our first opportunity to see and read "Exploring Biology."

When Biology students first appeared carrying the large, new, bright blue books, we other students begged them to let us see the books, too.

It was an unusual sort of thrill, reading a book written by one of our own faculty members. It's a thrill to know that while thousands of high school boys and girls throughout the country will be studying "Exploring Biology," we students in Salem High are the most fortunate because we may know the author.

Spring Is No Excuse

Time on my hands! Even if spring is here that is no reason for us to stop working at school. The old disease of spring fever may be avoided if a little effort is put forth.

True, the birds and trees and flowers do turn one's thoughts to other things besides school, but why not let these things go until after working hours?

Some students spend their time thinking about what they would do if they were out of school. A little work will get them out by June.

Criticizing the School Paper

Students of our school, as well as others, have often been charged for criticizing their school paper too severely. These criticisms usually—not always—but usually come from those students who do not in any way aid in the publication of the paper.

They don't like this, and they don't like that. What do they like? An appeal has been made several times for the students to take any material which may be used in the Quaker to the Quaker office. The response has been very slight. By giving the students the privilege of telling the staff and the editor what they want of their school paper is the only means the staff has of giving it to them.

Errors are being detected. If the student would take the number of errors and compare them with errors in other high school papers, he would see how comparatively few errors there really are.

So how about it, students? Let's help with our contributions as well as with our criticisms.

"On the road to success you have to be your own service station."—Herbert A. Schonefeld.

Speak well and loudly of yourself but let your actions do the talking.—Forbes.

The standards of honor, quality, strength and service lead the world of business forward to greater efficiency and sounder development. They make for progress and permanent success.—Elwood Rice.

"The moral of an organization is not built from the bottom up; it filters from the top down."—Peter B. Kyne.

Take care of today and the Beyond will take care of itself.

Keyhole's Kaleidoscopic Column

I like an exam, I think they're fun, I never cram, And I don't flunk one, I'm the prof. —"Jambar."

It's getting harder and harder to write a column anymore since no one seems to be doing anything. Guess I'll have to slug a few innocents.

Ellen Monks is wondering where the Quaker office got all the snapshots of her and Arden in a hugging pose. Don't you know, Ellen?

Cute joke: (special request) Two little boys stood on the corner. A little girl passed by—Said one: "Her neck's dirty!" Said the other: "Her does?"

The Greeks have a word for it; the French have a demonstration for it; but the Americans always have a tax for it.

Ruth Schmidt has fallen for Robert Minamyer. She claims some one tripped her when she wasn't looking. That's not a good excuse, Ruth.

And you never realize what a small world it is until you see a woman trying to park in it.

Fairy Tale: Once upon a time a man completed a sentence while talking to a woman over the telephone.

Vivian Reynolds just loves to hear Winchel say, "I'll be back in a flash with a flash," because she has a Flash all her own.

Whity King and Billie Ruth Sproat are "doin' all right" these days and right along with them are Lester Knepp and Dorothy Young.

A SNAPPY STORY

I bought my girl some garters At the Woolworth five-and-ten, She gave them to her mother— That's the last I'll see of them.

Miss Beardmore: "What do you work at?" Richard Klyne: "At intervals"

Then there was the near-sighted man who wore his glasses to bed so he could recognize the people he dreamed about.

The Hi-Tri club is wondering whether it should collect interest from the Hi-Y for taking their penny dance idea.

Song

Gather kittens while you may, Time brings only sorrow, And the kittens of today Will be old cats tomorrow.

Then there was the senior girl who thought a battering ram was some kind of an animal with horns.

Old Mystery Cleared Up

The boy stood on the burning deck; Relief boats blew their horns, Alas, he could not move, because The heat had popped his corns.

Katey Rich has been entertaining an ex-grad lately. It's Walter Abblet. But who hasn't she entertained?

Bill Knepper says that in his opinion the cutest girl in High school is (hold your breath, girls) his own sister, Helen. We're inclined to agree with you, Bill

Nomination for abolishment: Jack Wright and Bill Wark's "handsome hobo pun" idea.

It's really cute, though. Ask 'em about it.

Sign in a hat cleaning parlor: If your hat isn't becoming to you, you should be coming to us.

Girl's Motto

If at first you don't succeed, Cry, cry again.

Bye now.

1st Verse

One night the moon was mellow Rosita met young Manuello He held her like this This lovely Miss And stole a kiss This fellow.

2nd Verse

He said he was glad he met her And soon he would come and get her But she said no, no! I cannot go Until I know You better.

Chorus:

Student Opinion

Would you like to bring whoever you wish to the Senior Farewell whether he or she be an underclassman or not, rather than stick to the old tradition of Juniors and Seniors only?

I think it's better to stick to the old tradition—Polly Silver.

Emphatically No! The Senior Farewell is for the Seniors and why should they allow underclassmen to come. They'll have their chance when they are Seniors — Don Beattie.

The last event of the year should be reserved for Seniors.—Charles Wentz.

No—Since it's a Senior Farewell and it's the last time they'll be together—only Seniors should be allowed.—Irene Schmidt.

The Senior Class Will

The cake she made looked fine enough to justify her pride, But when we came to eat the stuff We pretty nearly died! She said she could not comprehend What trouble there could be, For she had followed to the end The cook book recipe.

A person can have plenty of fun just walking around town at night to see how many lovers really take advantage of the spring moonlit nights.

Why, just the other night I did this very thing and who should be in front of me but Artie Crumbaker. Well, naturally I knew the girl in his arms was Ellen...at least, I thought I knew; and "lo and behold" the girl wasn't Ellen, but none other than little Lucille Guy. Gee! What a disappointment!

Oh, well, I hope I haven't broken up a swell romance.

G.A.A. to Have Party In Gym Tonight

At a business meeting last Friday after school, the G. A. A. members planned a party which is to be held tonight after school in the gym. Games and the initiation of new members will be the main diversions of the party.

The girls still play in the baseball tournaments after school in the gym.

Salem Debaters Get Two Silver Trophies

One of the trophies is made of gold and dark brown with the words, "Ohio High School Speech League, District Winners of 1938," inscribed on it.

The trophy received for being in the State finals is made of silver and black. Ohio-High School Speech League 1938 State Semi-Finalists — Debate Team—Salem is written on the cup.

Elsie Hunter, Constance Clark, Lionel Difford, and Bill Stevens were the students who composed the debate team and represented Salem th'rough the whole season.

SHS Seniors Attend High School Day

Several Salem High seniors attended the High School day at Mount Union last Saturday. Seniors from Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia attended. The morning was taken up by registration and welcome addresses by the various Deans. A tour of the campus and fraternity houses was made. In the afternoon the students witnessed a chapel program, viewed various departmental exhibits, and attended the all-college dance in Memorial Hall. Movies also attracted a large group of visitors.

Various experiments were set up in the chemistry laboratories. Every department of the college had its individual display.

Personality of the Week

Him!

Six feet tall, brown hair, sky-blue eyes, pleasing personality, and that "certain something" that attracts the girls characterizes this young man who is a senior and parks his books in 206. He is a member of the Hi-Y club and proudly displays its emblem which he wears on his blue sweater. German is one of his favorite subjects and he has many nick names among which are: "Pep and "Wil-ly." His blue ford roadster may be seen at any time during school hours parked opposite the building. His "little" sister is "Her" for this week. Do you know him?

Her!

This little sophomore lassie hails from 109 and is five feet tall, has blue eyes, brown curly hair, and weighs 103 pounds to the "T." Her current heart interest is af freshman, whose name she does not want anyone to know. Her favorite subject is Latin, and therefore she is an ardent member of the Latin Club. Swimming is her favorite sport, red her favorite color. Incidentally, she's a sister of Him in this week's Quaker.

Today He Is a Man

A mere sixteen years ago there entered into this world a pink (may be blue) bundle of flesh. Total assets of bundle: No teeth, blue eyes, and (so he says) three hairs on top of his otherwise bald head, and weighed six and one-fourth pounds.

Its conquests consisted of one baby beauty contest in which he was mistaken for a female, one kitten strangled from over affection for the opposite sex, and loss of two of the three hairs due to the angry exertion of the present senior class secretary-treasurer.

Now this "thing" has actually acquired a few teeth, nice sandy hair (ungreased) long eyelashes, an easy going attitude, and a stride in which he takes all women.

Certain clubs admit his membership but don't brag about it. The groups to which he belongs are the Hi-Y, Salemasquers, Quaker business staff (he does all the talking) and he was the spider in the senior play. Three times a day this person attends the dinner table at the Meir's residence on the Georgetown road.

Ad Agency

Snow White—She keeps that way by patronizing the Spic and Span Dry Cleaners.

Grumpy—After he takes in a Frozen Fudge Sundae at People's he'll feel better.

Dopey—It's not bats in his belfry—in fact it isn't anything because there's just a vacuum and I hear they have Hoover vacuum cleaners at McCullough's.

Sneezy—He got that way by spending a night (when the house was full of relatives) in his "all porcelain" Cold Spot Refrigerator from the Salem Sales Co.

Happy—Since he's been stepping out in a suit from Bloomberg's—10 per cent to 25 per cent discount.

Bashful—If he ever gets up the nerve it'll be the "First Lady" engagement ring from F. C. Troll's for his girl.

For Sleepy and Doc I apply to the "Want Ads" since I can't think of anything for them.

Teacher: William, give me a sentence with the words defense, defeat, and detail, used in it.

William: De cat jumped over defense, with defeat in front of detail.

Wally Davis Relates Training Experiences

"I had a fine time and learned a lot about baseball," exclaimed Wallace Davis, former American Legion Baseball Star who recently returned from a week's stay in the spring training camp of the Johnstown "Johnnies." Johnstown is a farm of the St. Louis Browns.

Davis left for Johnstown the Sunday of Easter vacation and returned on Easter Sunday, a far more experienced baseball player.

Expenses while in camp were paid by the baseball club and transportation to and from Johnstown was provided by the Charles H. Carey Post of the American Legion for whose junior team Davis played last year.

During his stay Davis trained in the Point Stadium in Johnstown among sixty others at the first of the week. By the end of the week approximately 220 players were among the ranks in training. Of these 220, two teams remained after the first week.

Every morning the players ran around the stadium and then practiced on the field. Davis practiced on the mound Tuesday, and pitched several innings in a practice game on Wednesday.

Players attending the camp represented the entire country. Davis' roommates were from Arkansas and Massachusetts.

"All in all I had a swell time and met some fine fellows," said Wally as he strolled out of the Quaker office.

Jane Smith and Mary Bohr are now working at the Salem China Company; Charlotte Morey, Betty Bradley and Evelyn Tullis at Mullins; Mary Helen Bruderly at the Salem Engineering Company; Jeannette Ciotti at the Salem Trades Class office; Arlene Mellinger at the Salem Tool; and Mary Nedelka will remain at the Bliss Company for another six week's period.

The nine girls had their pictures taken last Monday noon for the Trades' Class Bulletin.

At their last meeting, which was held at Arlene Mellinger's, plans were discussed for a picnic to be held at the close of the school year. At this same meeting, Charlotte Morey was elected vice-president.

The next meeting will be held at Miss Morey's home on South Lincoln, May 10.

Auto-Mechanics See Movie On "Welding"

A moving picture on "Welding" was presented to the auto-mechanics class in room 302 last Thursday morning.

The movie illustrated the art of welding as it is done in all the larger factories. Welding is used in practically every industry today. Because of this, Mr. Englehart stated that more pictures would be obtained if the students liked them and were interested in them.
