

Debate Squad Chosen By Mr. Guiler

Debaters Take Part In Practice Debates

After observing his debate squad in a week of practice debates, Mr. Guiler has chosen the following as regular speakers on the debate team for league debates: Louis Raymond, Bill Rogers, and Constance Clarke.

Last Monday (December 5) the debaters of Salem High took part in their first practice debate of the season. Accompanied by Coach J. C. Guiler the two teams, composed of Affirmative Louis Raymond and Harvey Richert and Negative Constance Clark and Winthrop Difford traveled to Youngstown Chaney for the first debate of the season.

On December 6, the teams of Youngstown East came here, with visitors from Leetonia. The same teams debated with the exception of first negative, Winthrop Difford, who acted as Chairman of the debate. Bill Rogers debated in his place. There was no practice debate on Wednesday but on Thursday the two teams traveled to Niles where a practice debate was held. The members debating were the same as the first debate. Friday night the inexperienced debaters met Niles here, debates being in both 309 and 304. All debaters participating in Friday's debate were inexperienced with the exception of Harvey Richert. For the debate on Friday Louis Raymond and Winthrop Difford acted as chairmen.

Although there was no actual judging of the debates, it was the opinion of the two coaches that both negative teams did the better debating.

SHS Again to Give Science Award

Salem High school has again received an invitation from the Bausch & Lomb Science Award Committee to join the group of high schools in the United States which annually recognize outstanding work in science by the presentation of a bronze award to the senior whose progress has been the greatest.

The Bausch & Lomb Science Award, established in 1932, has been approved by high school principals and boards of education in every state. It has achieved national recognition as a scholastic honor by providing high school students throughout the country with an incentive to better work in sciences.

Mr. Williams reported last Friday that about forty students were eligible to compete for the award which will be presented in June to the student who has made the greatest progress in science during his high school career. Both boys and girls are eligible.

A survey of the award committee shows a distinct tendency, Mr.

Salem Journalists Attend Conference At Warren

The newly organized Tri-County Journalism Advisors Association held a meeting last Tuesday evening in Harding High school at Warren.

During a business meeting that took place in the library a constitution was read and amendments made. Various committees were named and the constitution will be formally adopted at the next meeting.

An entertainment was presented to the group by various students of Harding High. This program included the following: Code of Ethics followed by staff members in publishing the weekly student publication. A speech on German papers given by a student who spent three summer months in Germany. The high light of the speech was when the speaker explained that the articles written about United States are mostly propaganda.

A dramatized interview was presented. The complete workings of the mimeoscope and later a demonstration was given. Two more short speeches followed and the topics of Editing a Yearbook and Financing the Yearbook. A novel contest, patented after the Kay Kysner program except the musical terms were replaced by journalistic words and phrases. This contest was between Niles and Warren. Niles was acclaimed the winner.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served. Meetings will be held the second Tuesday of every month from October to May. The next meeting is at Woodrow Wilson High school at Youngstown. The officials were well pleased with the attendance from the three counties, Trumbull, Columbiana, and Mahoning.

Sophomore Class Chooses Colors

The sophomore class has recently picked out groups of three color combinations, one of which will identify their class. Bob Ballantine, chairman of the color-picking committee, announced recently that the three combinations chosen are blue and gold, scarlet and grey, and red and white. The class will vote on these colors some time this week. Much time and thought has been given to choosing these colors and much time and thought should be given to voting on them. These colors will be used by the class members for the rest of their High School lives.

The freshmen are again selling pencils. This time they will have the basketball schedule on them. They will be selling them some time in the near future at four cents a piece. About 1,000 pencils are expected, so let's all buy them.

Oberlin Glee Club To Be At Assembly.

The Oberlin Men's Glee Club will be presented in a special assembly on January 4th. The club, directed by John E. Wirkler, will be ending a ten day tour through the Middle East, including Washington, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh. There are thirty-five members in the club. They will appear at 11:00 a. m.

Hi-Tri In Charge of Xmas Assembly

The Hi Tri will be in charge of the Christmas assembly program which is to be held in the auditorium this afternoon.

The program is in charge of the following committee:

Frances Webster, chairman; Jane Gilbert, Neta Lantz, Ellen Monks, Jane Butler, and Eleanor Eberwein.

The decorating committee includes the following:

Polly Silver, chairman; Faye Lantz, Viola McGaffie, Eleanor Gray, Helen Knepper, Ruth West, and Jean Stone.

The program will consist of a vocal solo by Don Freed; piano solo, Bettie Sharp; and a sextet composed of George Hanson, John Evans, Bob Vickers, Wallace Luce, Al. J. Freed, and Joe Cooper.

Christmas carols, sung by the student body will conclude the assembly.

The stage will be decorated with lighted Christmas trees.

Hi-Y Takes Trip To Canton

Members of the Hi Y club journeyed to Canton last Monday night to attend the meeting of the McKinley High School Hi Y club. The Salem club attended as guests of the Canton club.

The boys highly enjoyed the meeting and were given use of the Y. M. C. A. pool where they delighted in an hour of swimming.

The boys that attended the meeting left Salem at 6:30 p. m. in cars furnished by various members of the club and faculty. They are looking forward to another trip to Canton in the near future.

The first Hi Y penny dance of the year was held last Thursday afternoon in the school gym. The dance was the second of its kind the club has sponsored in the past two years.

A fine, spirited, crowd helped to make this first dance a success. The club will sponsor several more penny dances throughout the remainder of the year. They plan to use the proceeds of these dances to sponsor some type of a contest or to have some kind of a social event later on in the year.

Johnny Jones to Swing It For Band Dance

Well-Known Orchestra To Provide "Sweet and Swing" For Benefit

Johnny Jones and his orchestra from Youngstown have been engaged to play for the 7th Annual Band Dance to be held in the Salem High School Gym on Thursday, December 29, it was disclosed by the Orchestra Committee last week after several conferences had been held in order that a band with a good name might be engaged.

This orchestra is well known in Youngstown and Mahoning county vicinity. They have been featured on the radio in Youngstown, Sharon, Cleveland, Akron, Pittsburgh, and Canton. Theirs is a 10-piece organization. It is made up entirely of colored members, who have appeared at numerous hotels throughout the country, among which are, The Biltmore-Plaza in Canton, the Tod House in Youngstown, the Mayfair Casino and Hotel Cleveland in Cleveland, and The Greenwich Village in Northern Connecticut. The unique group is well known for its classy interpretations of both "Sweet and Swing." This marks the first appearance of a radio and name band at a Salem High School Band Benefit Dance.

Another Assembly Listed for S. H. S.

It was announced last Friday by Mr. Williams, that Dr. Sydney W. Landon, America's premier characterist, will be presented to the student body in an assembly on April 27th. Dr. Landon will present a lecture-recital, "Character Studies of Great Literary Men."

Through his interpretive art, men like Poe, Longfellow, Stevenson, Tennyson, Victor Hugo, Thackeray, Kipling, Whitman, Bret Harte, F. H. Smith, Carlyle, Riley, Bill Nye, Mark Twain, Artemus Ward, and Josh Billings, live again.

Many of the later writers, such as Smith, Riley, and Twain, Dr. Landon knew personally. Others, he has become acquainted with through visits to their former homes and libraries. He has found that the only way to really know these celebrities is through personal contact or by studying their lifetime surroundings. With this in mind, he has interviewed relatives and close friends of Longfellow, Poe, and others, securing intimate touches that are given realistic interpretation.

A few of the many important colleges and universities where Dr. Landon has appeared are:

Cornell, Penn State, St. Mary's, Ohio Wesleyan, Maryland, Wisconsin, Virginia, St. Joseph's, and Florida. Dr. Landon has appeared before approximately 5,000 audiences from coast to coast in the past thirty years.

G. A. A. Selling Magic Slates

The G. A. A. (Girls' Athletic Association) members are now busy selling the thirty-six dozen magic slates that were ordered by their supervisor, Miss Hanna. These magic slates are being sold for 12 cents.

According to a statement made by Miss Hanna regarding the magic slates the G. A. A. members have been selling, the magic slates are selling "nicely" and if they continue to sell at the present rate, the members might decide to order a larger size slate than the one now being sold.

A prize will be given to the girl selling the most slates.

Tickets are now on sale for this New Year's Celebration although the dance will be held a few days before New Year's. The price for admission to the dance will be 75 cents per couple, no single tickets being issued. The dance is scheduled to be a Semi-Formal affair. Tickets may be gotten from any member of the band.

Make Plans for New Dramatic Club

At a meeting of the Salemasquers last Monday night, plans were discussed for organizing a dramatic club for underclassmen.

A committee was appointed for the purpose of drawing up a constitution for the present organization. This committee consists of the club officers, Ruth West, Alyse McDonald, and Sara Wonner.

Following the business meeting a short program was given. Mary Louise Emery played two piano solos, Lucia Sharp gave a reading and Ruth West sang two selections.

Latin Club To Be Reorganized

The Latin Club has been started again this year, with Miss Harroff as adviser. A meeting was held on December 7, when it was decided to get Latin pins after Christmas. The members will go carolling in Latin on December 22. Latin carols were distributed and practiced.

At the next meeting reports are to be given on gods and goddesses of ancient times.

A Story With a Moral

Well do I remember a Christmas season a year or so ago when I was in the eighth grade. There was a play given by the students. What it was about, I don't clearly remember, except for the second act. Even then, it was only one line that stuck clearly in my mind. . . The gift without the giver is bare."

I never knew exactly what it meant till I heard a little human interest story.

There once was a man in a certain small community the same size as Salem. He was a good man at heart, a very good man. He gave generously of his money to many charitable institutions; he had helped poor boys through college; he had made loans to those who asked for it. At Christmas time, he was especially benevolent, but in the back of his mind, he knew something was missing. Years went by. His secretary kept on writing checks for this organization and for that one. Recipients of his gifts blessed him. Friends who knew of his honest generosity congratulated him, but still he found something lacking when the snow fell, and the various groups came around to serenade him.

One Christmas, he was talking to his son who had been present at that eighth grade play, and he too was puzzled at that one line. . . The gift without the giver is bare." He asked his father. Suddenly it dawned on the old gentleman, just the answer for his son, and more than that, the answer to just why he had not felt right these past Christmas seasons, despite his generosity. Never had he himself delivered one of the many Christmas baskets he had paid for.

Needless to say, and not to make this story too much on moral side, the gentleman ordered two or more baskets, and delivered them to two or three families on Christmas Eve.

Some of the houses he visited were dirty, and full of smells he had never experienced before, and half clothed little children with grimy mouths crawled all over his new Chesterfield, but he was happy, the gift was not bare. The old gentleman knew the meaning of Christmas once more.

Lesson in the Funnies

Reading the funny papers is supposed to be just a very mild form of entertainment which satisfies only the most simple people. Great men and women (great in name only) aren't known to read them. Yet there can be found within some of the comic strips certain lessons that many people could profit by. A way to happiness! Isn't that what everyone is clamoring for? Isn't that what nations really fight for? They believe that if they could have a certain thing they would be happy so they begin fighting for it. Perhaps it isn't really happiness, but it is what they think will make them happy and that happiness may be very wrong. For one person's happiness is another's sorrow. Still there are countless numbers of people who could be happy but refuse to be because they think happiness might deter them, might make them soft so that they would begin thinking about other people's feelings. That would be fatal. Those foolish people who deliberately stay away from happiness may get to the top by stopping on other people's toes but once on top they will wish they were at the bottom again if they could only be happy. What happens to those people who started out after something that would provide them with a selfish end. Do you hear them spoken of with great respect. Do you hear that they are basking in the warm sunshine of happiness. No! The only way they can find happiness is to give away what they got by grabbing for it with no regard for other people. So the old saying, "To find happiness is to make others happy," really is true. Many people declare they always feel happiest when they are making others happy with not only gifts but friendship. Every one has the power of making friends thereby making happiness. Wouldn't it be a better world if people would think more of others instead of themselves. Wouldn't there be more good will which is happiness. The world conquered by happiness would be a wonderful place in which to live.

Peace on Earth

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," is a phrase which we recognize as symbolic of the Christmas spirit. It is a well-used phrase at this season, and when we stop to ponder over its meaning and the significance of the story from which it comes, our usual response is a wholesome glow of humility and resolve in our hearts.

Yet sometimes our more noble thoughts on the subject occur only in certain atmospheres. To many of us there is not connection between school and the part of our lives which taught us to respect the better things, although our actions and attitudes at school form others' opinions of us. While we might be capable of drawing some very high conclusions in regard to life and its problems under inspiration, this does not represent our real character. It's the actions and impulses we exhibit at school that impress our friends.

The most important need for most of us is not to develop higher attitudes and purposes but to carry out the principles in which we already believe. We need to regard "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men," as an ideal result, rather than an ideal thought.

Christmas Atmosphere

Once again the atmosphere is filled with the spirit of Christmas. Holiday decorations adorn the store windows and streets are filled with hordes of busy Christmas shoppers.

The modern Christmas seems to be only time for people to give and receive presents, and stuff themselves with turkey and holiday candies.

It seems as though the real spirit of Christmas is lost in an endeavor to fill the entire season with boundless amusement.

It may be a surprise to some persons to learn that Christmas is really the celebration of the birth of Christ, who was given to the world as a gift from God. The anniversary of this day has been celebrated annually since that time.

This year, people are more thoughtful as the Yule Tide draws near. Many people can not give as lavish gifts as previously, but the spirit will still be the same and the gifts will be appreciated much more.

Many organizations, some of them here in Salem High, are doing their part to make this a Merry Christmas for everyone, rich or poor. If there is any little deed that can be done to make someone more happy, it should be done without the slightest hesitation.

Remember this phrase during the holiday season: "Tis more blessed to give than to receive."

Boost the G.A.A.

A quite diminished treasury,
Some parties to give,
We have to earn some money
So the G. A. A. can live.

We bought some magic slates
With harmonizing colors.
We must sell them all,
To get those needed dollars.

In red and black at the top
Appear this year's basketball games.

With plenty of room left below
To write most any names..

To secure one of them
Twelve cents you must pay..
And every one you buy,
Will help the G. A. A.

P. S.:

It's a good Christmas present
For kid brother or sis,
In fact it's a bargain
You can't afford to miss.

The Christmas Spirit

It happened a day so long ago—
Upon a manger filled with hay,
A baby boy was born to man
This was the first real Christmas Day.

The Wise Men heard about this King
And to his side their gifts did bring.
In reverence and in awe, they knelt
For some unspoken love they felt.

That day will soon be here again
And as rejoicing travels 'round,
Remember, the best gifts, large or small,
Are those that with your love abound.

Ants carry combs on their legs
with which to curry their hairy coats.

Truckin'
On Down

BY AL J. FREED

Well, here we are, doin' the last issue of the Quaker, before next year. And I think that we'll have a special Holiday column, in collaboration with those special occasions that are called Christmas and New Year's Day.

Edythe Wright, the vivacious yodeler of Tommy Dorsey fame, wants nothing more than a new mink coat from her hubby, funnyman Ben Blue.

Hall Esmond, who directs a band of his own at the Hollywood Casino on Hollywood Boulevard, in Hollywood, is playing Santa to a bunch of kids at the annual Hollywood Charity Christmas Party to be held at the Chinese Theater of Sid Grauman fame. They tell us that the price per plate is something like $500.00. I quit.

Don't look now, but the Official Dance Orchestra for the 1939 New York World Fair, is none other than, guess? It's Horace Heidt and His Alemite Brigadiers.

It's Christmas time once more and that means that Benny Goodman and Co. will play another Benefit Dance at the Annual Milk Find Concert at Carnegie Hall.

Bea Wain, Larry Clinton's ace blues chaser, wants only a marriage license, because it is whispered that she and Maestro Larry will marry on Christmas.

On a special program to take place one hour before midnite on New Year's Eve you will hear the following great bands:

- In the order that they will appear:
1. AL GOODMAN AND HIS LUCKY STRIKE ORCHESTRA.
  2. BENNY GOODMAN AND HIS ORCHESTRA.
  3. TOMMY DORSEY AND HIS ORCHESTRA.
  4. LARRY CLINTON AND HIS IMPRESERIOS OF SWING.
  5. JOE VENUTI AND HIS SWINGCATS.
  6. JIMMY DORSEY AND HIS BAND.
  7. BOB CROSBY AND HIS DIXIELAND RYTHMN.
  8. ARTIE SHAW, THE ACCLAIMED KING OF SWING, AND HIS MODERN RYTHMN.
  9. HORACE HEIDT AND HIS ALEMITE BRIGADIERS.

You will be able to hear the above program over any N. B. C. station in the entire nation.

And now, may I take this opportunity to wish each and everyone of you a very Merry Christmas and a very Happy and Prosperous New Year. And I hope that 1939 will bring many more wishes to come true for all of you. And so until next year,

So-long, everybody.

This Here an' That There

BY MARGIE KNISELEY

Well kids this week I'm abandoning my usual line of chatter for something which will interest you more than ever. It's a letter telling Santa just what many of the students are hopin' and prayin' Old Saint Nick will drop in their stockings on the big day of days! Dear Santa:—

Gosh Santa, Christmas has sneaked up on me so fast this year I haven't had time to make out just what I DO want but some of the other kids know exactly what they want. So, please Santa, see what you can do, willya?

The entire Byron Lee orchestra would like to have some time for practice, then—a few engagements will satisfy them perfectly.

Mary Alice McBane wants a round trip ticket to North Carolina. Just for a trip—you know how it is when the wanderlust gets you!

Her big brother, Bob, would appreciate money enough to find his way out west to California—with the "injunies."

Two girls from Marietta would just LOVE to have Harvey Rickett and Bill (Mugger) Rogers come down over the holidays. Yes, I guess they think it would be pretty nice too!—"Salty" Sell wouldn't mind having ex-grad Lucille Holroyd for Christmas. They were at the Senior Play together and seemed to enjoy it a lot—the play I mean!

Next on my list is a group that lost their one and only through college. They can hardly wait. Let's see if I can remember them. Mary Jane (Legs) Britt is waiting for Davie, Betty Wilson for Len Bonsall, and Jane Butler for Wade McGhee, Don Vincent for Betts Albright, Fran Webster for Billy Jones, Valois Finley for Kenny Wood. Gee, Santa there must be more—but I just can't think of them. Mebbe you'll help me out and just send them anyway!

I want to put in a request for myself now. Please help me apologize to Tommie Rhodes and explain to him that the evidence was SO misleading. Tommie wants everyone to know that he earned his Quaker pin by working on the staff last year. Honest Tommie, I'm sorry!

Gwen Dean wants a certain Senior boy all wrapped up in cellophane and tied with a big red ribbon under her tree on Christmas morn. Next to that, her heart's desire, is a real live Scottie. That will make three, but Santa—she promises to love them all. Jack Warner would be happy if he could get a smile from that belle of the Junior class, "Sis" Knepper. Of course he wants other things too, but "Sis", along with ice skates, would do very nicely.

Many, many, studes want skates this year. Let's see there's Don Sankey, LeRoy Moss, Galen Duncan, Mary Fisher and—gee, that's all I can think of now.

Joe Vender (that all-county guard) would gratefully accept a complete hunting outfit. You know how it is with these champs in their off season. See what you can do about that, Santa.

Those ten boys that did the dishes for Katherine Sturgeon wouldn't mind doin' it again sometime. Two washed, one set them down—so that left seven of them to dry one-seventh of each dish. Yes, Santa they had loads of fun that night. See if you can't find more dirty dishes for them!

There are a number of boys in this old school that are hopin' for a chance at the basketball championship. Guess I don't need to tell you just who they are. Just send it in care of Coach Brown.

There are about 20 girls that I can think of, at the present, that would love to go to the Band Dance—but as the fellas just aren't doin' their share so—you might put a bug in their ear and see if that helps any.

I know you've heard of red flannels, the kind grandma used to wear. Well Santa, instead of red ones I'd much rather have green ones, I'd wear them just for ice skating and sled riding—when it's real cold and snowy.

Hope this last request isn't too much for you to fill along with all the things the other kids want.

So with this thought I close and Santa, our chimney isn't very big, but will you try to squeeze down anyhow?

Yours 'til Christmas

Margie from Salem High

An Open Letter To Salem Classes

Freshman:

Well, the Freshmen have finally found their way around dear old Salem High. Very seldom are they ever lost. Don't you upper classmen think they are just too cute for words. Oh, well, short or tall, we all love you just the same.

Sophomore:

Here we are to the class that delights in running the Seniors into the ground. This, the class of "41." They are at the young age where their parents have quite a time with them because, you see, they want to stay out 'til 9 o'clock with the gang. Well, we love you, too.

Junior:

A little more refined but still very young. These kids are the ones who like to pull pranks on the Freshmen and Sophomores. They also try extremely hard to run the school, but there is only one more year's wait, so don't feel so bad about it.

Senior:

Now we get to the dignified students with the utmost ability. The Seniors . . . Every student in this class has the right to put his or her head up as high as it will go. After all, we are about to graduate, but down deep in our hearts we are all wishing we could be Freshmen just once more. A SENIOR.

Studes Express Christmas Wishes

It is a good thing that the students do not have to come back to school for a couple of days after New Year's Eve. Not that any of the pupils would stay out late, not much!

Several different scenes will be enacted on that night of nights.

When the whistles begin to blow and the bells start to ring, the freshmen will give a short toot, holler a loud hurrah, and hurry home to bed.

The sophomores will return at a more leisurely gait, and the juniors will take the long way home.

Ah, but the seniors will just be putting on their coats to step out about that time and will be going strong for several hours. Not only will they not miss the milk man, but the stores will be open and they can get an early start at returning their unwanted Christmas presents. (The only thing that is wrong with this wonderful idea is that the stores are not open on New Year's Day. Oh, well it was only an idea.)

After extensive experiments, it was discovered recently that it is not healthful for humans to sleep for long periods under water!

Bud Brings You A Xmas Bedtime Story

By Elaen

'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through the house
Not a creature was stirring
Not even a mouse.

Etc.

Hello peoples! We are going to visit the La Finglestines Esq. for a Christmas Day.

Everyone went out last night, even little Susie Finglestines the baby of the family, Dorothy Krauss. She had rhythm in her nursery rimes and went to a Jam session of her favorite club, the Milk in Bottle Club with the next door neighbor, Johnny Jones (George Kleon).

Johnny has a sister Jane who goes to Junior High, Margaret by name.

Now it is about one o'clock p. m. and the House is thoroughly awake

Ma — Valois Finley — has awakened the whole house. Pa— Clarence Woerther—has gone downstairs and lit up the Christmas tree. And—Oh! look out! Run for your lives! It's the children, all ten of 'em charging down the stairs. Joe—Frank Stone—the oldest of the family is first down. (He has the fastest legs).

Patsy (Gwen Dean) stop fighting with Tommy (Burton Sutter). Tommy will give you that baby doll. He doesn't want it.

Alfred (the poet of the family—Al J. Freed) didn't get much for Christmas, but he doesn't care. He's thinking of December 29 and the Band Dance. Nice date, Al J.

Calamity Nearly Spoils Play

Drama, excitement, and suspense held the high cards last Thursday evening. Back stage in the third act, scene two, something went wrong. Outside in the hall, two boys were pacing the floor.

A grave mistake had just been made. What could it have been? Well, only about three people knew it then.

Out in the audience about six persons' hearts skipped a beat. Then the actors did a great job of covering the mistake.

Back stage again, cold beads of perspiration were breaking out on the two boys. The question was whether to run or stay. They decided to stay. Slowly the scene came to an end. They shook hands, and turned to face the music.

But few except the ones in the play or those on the committees noticed it. Everything worked out O. K. after all.

What was it? Who made the mistake? Well, what the audience doesn't know won't hurt.

Katherine, the maid with the delicate air (Fran Webster), got just what she wanted, too! It comes at 4 o'clock with ex-Grad Bill Jones.

Robert ("Crosscup Kiss" Bill Rogers) isn't satisfied. Pa got him one ice skate. He'll get Bob the other one next Christmas. (By the way, did you know Bill is the life of any party He's one swell guy.)

Nancy ("Avie" Bard) isn't very interested in the Christmas tree and things. She's thinking of the big turkey waiting to be consumed.

Harry (Vincent Bober) is just the other way. Ma can hardly drag him away from his new streamlined windup train long enough to eat.

About 10 minutes later after roll call has been taken, the whole family starts to eat. They hardly take the first bite when Susie and Tommy start to fight over the wishbone.

Ma comes to the rescue, though. She tells them neither one can have it. It goes to the dog (Kenny McConner incognito).

And so we leave the La Finglestines, Esq., with their turkey and all the trimmin's. That's that!

But . . . before I close this week I wish you al a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and remember me when you take the first bite of your Christmas dinner! So long! "BUD."

— He —

This Senior lad hails from Room 205 and plays on the Varsity Basketball squad.

Quite short, with brown hair and eyes, and among the girls he is considered rather cute. He can be seen usually wearing a black sweater with a large "S." He has been going with a Senior lass, initials T. H. for about two years. Incidentally he has a brother who professes to be a boxer.

If you still have not guessed who this very likeable fellow is, his friends call him "Jim."

— She —

This Senior lass, leaning mostly on the plump side, has blond curls, and blue eyes.

Owning two beautiful horses, and riding them very well, she belongs to the Salemasquers..

When seen, she is always laughing and joking, especially when a group seems to become dead, she rises it to a height of hilarity.

She has been going with an ex-grad, initialed B. S. If you still haven't guessed who she is her friends call her "Alyse."

James Eakin Comes To Salem High

He quietly entered 205, senior home room, last Monday, went to Miss Hollett's desk and she gave him a seat in the last row. The following day she introduced him to her class.

"Boys and girls, we have a new student with us. His name is James Eakin." All the studes looked at him and he shyly glanced up from his book.

"Jim" is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, has dark brown hair and sparkling brown eyes accented by long dark lashes.

Before coming to Salem from Clarksville, Pa., he attended Greenford Hi for several weeks.

"Salem Hi is a little bigger than Clarksville, but I like it a lot. Most of the 'kids' are pretty sociable."

Jim is taking only three subjects because he already has 14½ credits. He gets good grades too. Jim is a member of the Hi Y.

Attend

Band Dance

Students Express Holiday Expectations

With a welcome vacation not far away, several of S. H. S.'s admirers of Santa have expressed their desires and wishes. Work, sports, trips, study, amusements, Band dance, eating and celebration of the new year are some of the activities that most of the students will indulge in during the holiday season.

Some students when asked what they intended to do during Christmas vacation answered in the following ways:

"Me, Ha! Ha! Hm'm" then a giggle, "I'm going to get my teeth fixed. I'm going to raise whoopee on New Year's day for it is my birthday," said Mary Cosma. (Guess how old)

"I am going to take a trip to Cleveland for a couple of days and work the rest of the time," stated Charles Sell. (Who is she, Salty?)

"I want a riding horse for Christmas. I am going sleigh ridin' if it snows and suppose I'll have to go buggy ridin' if it rains," mused Wanda Zimmerman.

"I'll catch up on my sleep and might go to Cleveland for a few days. I expect to attend the annual Band dance," remarked Bud Dean.

"I'm not going to study, but have some fun," commented Betty Ablett.

"I want a pair of ice skates. I

Xmas Books On Reserve In Library

A group of books have been put on reserve in the library to help students during the Christmas season. This wide selection includes books of Christmas verse, party suggestions, Christmas traditions, and the history of the celebration of Christmas.

These books have been placed on the window sill and can be taken out over night or for one period.

will probably work at the public library to get my American Government term paper," replied Delbert Thomas.

"I hope it will be cold enough to go ice skating every day. Also would like to go to East Liverpool during vacation." (Wonder why? Her initials are A. C.) "Except though, that I'll spend most of my time recuperating from Christmas festivities," said Marvin Coffee.

"I want Santa to put a pair of white ear muffs with blue trimmings into my stocking. I'm planning to go to New Jersey." Ruth Schmidt.

Science Awards To Be Given

Williams said, for pupils who rank high in their graduating classes to rank high in college freshman tests and to follow these tests with high marks in college.

Reports from the high schools making the award show that 47.6 per cent of all the medal winners are preparing for college. New Hampshire led the parade of college bound students with 100 per cent, while Puerto Rico was a close runner-up, with 90 per cent of its science medalists bound for college.

The wide distribution of the Bausch & Lomb Science Award and the annual reports from school participating indicate an increasing interest among high school students in science, a trend which augurs well for the schools and the country at large since it denotes improved powers of observation and the ability to interpret new facts in the light of present progress.

This will mark the third time Salem High school has cooperated in making this award. In 1937, Arthur Bahmiller won the award, and last year Paul Hoffmaster was announced the winner.

QUAKER SPORTS

On The Bench

By Robert J. Dixon

Intramurals got under way this week for the first time since last year, with three leagues in the running. The "A" league will be made up of the best players in the school, while the other two, "B" and "C," are for the less experienced boys.

The names are the things to watch as far as intramurals are concerned. Some of the wildest choices of monikers are used. They sound like excerpts from a Mother Goose book.

Maybe you saw the picture, "Angels With Dirty Faces." If you did, you saw some of the basketball which was in one of the scenes. It was one of the roughest, toughest, games that ever has been played.

My nomination for the man in Salem who has the most patience is Joe Kelley. If you happen to drop into the Memorial building some Saturday morning, you will get what I mean. He has to referee the Mickey McGuire league games. In other words, this is the sixth grade league. Some of the players don't even know how to shoot, and Joe has to stop and instruct them. All in all, he has the most trying job ever conceived. To top it all off, it is performed amid a jumble of screaming cheers, which is the result of much enthusiasm by the diminutive ball hawks.

Speaking of the Memorial building, they have some pretty neat games down there every night in the Class A and B leagues, in which a good many of the players are students of old Salem High or have been at some time. They play every night except Wednesday. There are about three or four games a night.

After completing a season on the freshmen football team at Dayton, Charley McCloskey has now gone out for the "Frosh" basketball team. Incidentally it is said that "Old Deadeye" still stands pretty high in Coach Brown's estimation as a basketeer.

I hear that Les Julian received an honorable mention on the Buckeye Conference. Les plays a whale of a game at guard on the Wittenberg team.

Wayne Sidinger was recently made an assistant coach at Western Reserve in football and basketball. He is studying to be a teacher as well as a coach.

Scoreboard Proves Source of Troubles

Although Salem High's new basketball scoreboard has not as yet been chosen, plans are under way to purchase it before the Alumni game. The committee chosen by last year's Senior class is composed of Mr. Kerr, Mr. Williams, Mr. Cope, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Smith. Last year, at graduation time, the class of 1938 wished to present a lasting gift to their Alma Mater. After much discussion they decided the much-needed scoreboard would be just the thing.

So far the scoreboard has been just one big headache for the committee. They have been looking at several scoreboards, but none has suited them. On one the numerals were set too deep in their sockets and it was difficult to see the score at an angle, and the timing device was not accurate enough; another board was too large.

The ideal board, in the committee's opinion, will be one about three feet square with an automatic timer on it so as to enable not only the spectators to know how much time remains, but the players as well. The committee believes a small one will be much better than a large billboard type, but so far they have not located one of these. The recent trend in High School scoreboards seems to be to large, massive ones. But it is the belief that the scoreboard ought to be used for something besides advertising space.

Another headache on the hands of the committee is a place to put the board when it is selected. So far there seems to be no ideal place for a scoreboard. If it is placed near the ceiling, the players will find it difficult to see, as will part of the spectators if it is placed above the track on the east wall. The most desirable place yet suggested seems to be on one of the pillars on the east wall, but so far nothing has been decided and the committee will welcome any suggestions from the student body.

Intramurals Teams Chosen Last Week

"Ten teams will compose the Class B Intramural league this year, while the lower Class C league will have four squads in the running." These remarks came from Mr. Smith during one of his spare moments. Besides being coordinator of athletics, Mr. Smith has charge of all intramural sports, so he should be an authority on this subject.

The teams were chosen a week ago and started their schedule Monday. The Class B and C leagues play on Mondays and Wednesdays, starting at about 7 and ending around 10:30.

With the regular basketball season just around the corner, Coach Brown has been rounding out his team, in preparation for their first game of the season on Dec. 15, with Lisbon. The team has been practicing during the past three weeks and has been developing fairly well. Coach Brown's temporary varsity squad is composed of Bill Schaefer, Jim Dickey, Galan Duncan, Mike Oana, Amos Dunlap and Burton Sutter, all seniors, then the junior members are: Les Knepp, Jim Kleon and Bob Shoe and the sophomores are Jim Armeni and Glen McLaughlin.

Class Visits Newspaper Office

Mr. Lehman's first period Journalism class visited the Youngstown Vindicator and the Youngstown Arc Engraving Co., on the sixth of this month.

The engraving plant was first visited by the students. Here they were shown the process of enlarging a photo, of developing a plate, cutting the engraving to size, and then the actual engraving.

From here they went to the editorial office and the composing room of the Vindicator. In the editorial office there are many departments of the paper, and there are also the teletype machines. These machines receive the news from the I. N. S. and other news service companies. In the composing room, men were making cardboard impressions to form the half-round plates for the press. This cardboard is placed in a half-round cradle and hot lead is poured in on it. The excess lead is trimmed off and it is ready for the press.

In the pressroom, the presses were putting out about 42,000 papers an hour. These papers go through a conveyor into the circulation room, where they are tied into bundles and delivered.

When the class was through, it signed the guest book and was invited to return. From the reports of the students who went, they said they were courteously treated and the trip was highly interesting.

To Arouse

During their four-year stay in high school, there are some girls who work conscientiously in the library day after day. Should these girls receive some form of compensation?

Every day, hundreds of students visit the library seeking some kind of service. The librarians render these services and many others, too.

The other activities, such as band, receive a letter or some other insignia. Certainly, the work of the librarians is just as worthy.

The library activities are purely voluntary, but even so, they are of great service to the rest of the student body.

If the students appreciate the help which the librarians give to them, they should cooperate by getting behind this idea and pushing.

The White House was modeled after the palace of the Duke of Leinster by James Hoban, of Dublin.

Miss Beardmore for her interest in student affairs and all that she has done for the students of Salem High.

Stamp Club Attends Annual Meeting

Salem High's philatelists journeyed to Akron to attend the Philatelic meeting at the Mayflower hotel, which was held December 3 and 4.

This is one of the largest stamp meetings in the state. Important stamp dealers from Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit and other important cities attend these meetings.

Five members of Salem High's Stamp Club attended. They are as follows: Ralph Wood, Gordon Hickee, Benjamin Ware, Wilbur Spalding and Lee Boone. They were accompanied by Mr. Williams and Mr. Sanders.

The club collects, almost entirely, United States stamps, although there are a few who collect Canadian stamps as well. There are also a few who collect Christmas seals from United States and foreign countries.
