

Ravenna Game To Be Here Tonight

Game Is Changed Because of Fall Festival; Mr. Cope Asks That Students Stay In Stand

Faculty manager, Fred Cope, announced last Monday that the Salem-Ravenna football game will be played here at Reilly Stadium at seven forty-five tonight. The game was originally scheduled to be played at Ravenna tonight but due to delay in erecting flood-lights, Ravenna school officials asked to have the game postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

RAVENNA UNDEFEATED

This will be the third game of the season for Ravenna. So far they are undefeated. They tied Aurora and defeated a strong Akron Buchtel team, 20 to 6.

Students having Association tickets and also holders of season tickets will be admitted to this extra game without additional cost.

The American Legion, who is sponsoring the Fall Festival, is cooperating 100 per cent with the faculty in having this game here.

Cope asks students to please stay out of the reserved seat section on both sides of the field.

Hi-Tri President Chooses Aides

A meeting of the Hi-Tri girls was held last Thursday after school with their new supervisor, Miss Harroff, to discuss plans for the coming year.

Barbara Williams, president, appointed the following committee to arrange programs for the coming year.

Ruth Schmidt, Mary Ruth O'Hara, Mary Jane Britt, Aileen Himmelspach, and Alyse McDonald.

A committee was also chosen to send invitations to all junior girls who have an A or B average in their school work. Those on the committee are:

Ruth Schmidt, Mary Fisher, Rosemary Minamy, Frances Simone, Theda Callahan and Dora Mae Smith.

The initiation committee composed of Viola McGaffick, chairman, Helen Piticar, Betty Stoult, Faye Lantz, Joyce Schuck, Dorofrances Webster, will take charge of the initiation of the new members at the next meeting.

The following were asked to make arrangements for a possible formal dance to be held sometime in the near future:

Valois Finley, Mary Fisher, Faye Lantz, Janet Greenisen, Dorothy Milligan, and Neta Lantz.

The penny dance which was held yesterday after school in the gym proved a big success. Ticket takers for the affair were Neta Lantz, Janet Greenisen, Mary Louise Emery and Mary Frances Hilgen-dorf; ticket seller, Marjorie Layden; and candy girls, Valois Finley and Faye Lantz. The club has planned to sponsor a series of penny dances throughout the school year.

Handicraft work will be a feature of the meetings this year.

Ice cream bars were served after the business session.

First Pep Assembly Presented

The first pep assembly of the year, in preparation for the Salem-Sebring game, was held in the high school auditorium last Friday at 1:30 p. m.

As is the custom each year, an introduction of each class was made by Mr. Williams.

Winthrop Difford, association president, announced that the cup, given to the home room with the highest percentage of association members, will go to junior room 200 with 95 per cent; second, senior room 209 with 89.7 per cent; and third, senior room 206 with 87 per cent.

A short speech was made by Mr. Cope concerning the football game, the time of the game, association tickets, etc.

Mr. McDonald, supervisor of cheer-leading, presented eight students who have tried out for cheer-leading, but no definite appointments have been made as yet.

They introduced several new cheers and received a fine response from the student body.

Outdoor Sportsmen Hold Meeting

The Sportsmen's Club held its first meeting last Tuesday, with Robert Schafer, president, presiding.

Specific plans have not been made as yet, but the club hopes to take a camping trip into the Pennsylvania hills sometime during the year. A definite outdoor program will be followed, Mr. Englehart said.

Preparations were made for the admission of new members.

Salem High to Have Large Band

The Salem High School Band is one of the largest marching bands ever assembled in S. H. S., Mr. Brautigam announced recently.

A very useful idea was conceived by Brautigam to be able to have all members in uniform. He decided to have the front, back and side rows uniformed in black while the inside of the band was to be in red. The band will attend all out-of-town football games. Drum-majors this year are Don Freed and Bill Fineran. The band consists of six trombones, four horns, two bass, fourteen trumpets, two baritones, ten clarinets, six drums, one piccolo and ten saxes, in all 55 pieces.

Senior Stand Nets Profit

About fifteen dollars profit was made by the Senior Stand at the Salem-Sebring football game last Friday night.

The stand took in forty-seven dollars, one-third of which was profit.

Miss Beardmore stated they had plenty of help and were well patronized.

CARD OF THANKS

In this manner I wish to thank the Sophomore class for their floral tribute, the students who attended my mother's funeral, and all who helped lighten our sorrow during her illness and death.

Former Salem High Student Establishes Riding Academy on Painter Road

Have you heard what sport the country is turning to now? It's horseback riding! For all those interested in this great sport, George Catlin ('37) has established a riding academy at his home on the Painter road.

As there are only about four more weeks of good weather left, Catlin started his classes last Monday, but there is still time for more to take advantage of this splendid opportunity.

This academy is Catlin's hobby at present, but he hopes to make it his life occupation. His grandfather has owned and bred horses nearly all his life and George has had over five years' experience with the animals.

He has two race horses, each six years old: Anna Guy, a beautiful black and white, and King. Both are lively, yet not mean, and anyone can handle them . . . even if they have never been on a horse before. King, the smaller one, will be used for beginners, but under

Miss Beardmore Reappointed Senior Adviser; Miss McCready To Be Frosh Adviser

The appointment of Mrs. Cox and Miss Roth as sophomore and junior class advisers, was announced last Tuesday by Mr. Williams, principal. Mrs. Cox will be in charge of the sophomores and Miss Roth will be junior adviser.

MANY DUTIES

Mrs. Cox will replace Mrs. Cope, who is now working at the Salem City hospital, and Miss Roth will take over the duties of Mrs. Koontz.

Among the many duties of a class adviser are supervising class elections and taking charge of choosing class colors. The junior adviser is in charge of the class play and the Junior-Senior prom.

Miss Roth teaches French and American history. She has been in charge of "Les Cercle Francais" for a number of years.

Mrs. Cox teaches biology. She has recently finished writing "Exploring Biology," a text book in biology. Before the publication of her book, Mrs. Cox was sophomore adviser.

Miss Beardmore will continue as senior adviser and Miss McCready as freshman adviser.

Debate Tryouts Tuesday Night

Tryouts for all students interested in debate will be held next Tuesday after school in 309.

The subject for debate this year is: "Resolved that the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain."

Mr. Guiler, debate coach, states that this is a timely subject due to the present European situation.

The S. H. S. debate squad has joined the Debate and Extemporaneous Speech division of the Ohio High School Speech league.

The schedule has not yet been made out but will be completed shortly before Christmas, and the team will meet its first opponent about the second week in January.

Previous to the regular season, practice debates with Youngstown, Warren, and Niles will be held.

One of the features this year will be an overnight trip to Columbus for the Ohio State University debate clinic.

One-half credit and debate pins will be given to each member of the team.

Constance Clarke, senior, is the only veteran debater. She has served on the squad three years.

Irene Schmidt Is Editor at Bliss

Irene Schmidt ('38), who is now attending Bliss College in Columbus, has been appointed Editor in Chief of the school paper after a series of tryouts in which 56 students participated.

Besides the Editor in Chief, there are three assistant editors and a regular staff.

When in S. H. S., Irene was on the Quaker editorial staff and had charge of editing one issue of the Quaker. She also did proof and copy-reading.

"Hello, Frank. Move over and let me sit down."

"Hello- What do you want?"

"I'd like to know something about the C. M. T. C. Camp where you spent last summer."

Laying aside the Journalism book he had been studying, Frank Bush disclosed what goes on at a military camp.

"I was in the 19th field Artillery in the Battery A Section. This is my second year there and it's a great camp", Frank said.

"The program that we followed through the week was:

- 5:00—First call

On Debate

The debate squad of Salem High is organizing in preparation for the 1938-39 season of interscholastic debate. This in itself would be reason enough to evoke any editorial in view of the fine work the squad did last year. For those who have forgotten, the Salem Debate squad advanced to the state semi-finals before being defeated.

Debate does not get as much publicity as some of the other activities, particularly athletics, but it is one of our most beneficial activities not only for the participants but also for the audience.

By the medium of debate one learns the pro and con of a vital present day problem and by a little constructive thinking decides the issue for himself.

The subject that will be debated by our squad this year is, Resolved: That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain.

This is a particularly timely subject in view of the unsettled and warlike condition in Europe.

Such a subject for debate should provide no little point for student thinking.

A Cheer for Sports

Athletics have been the peoples' most popular form of entertainment since the days of the ancient Greeks.

The sports of that time were noted more carefully and criticized according to the amount of amusement they afforded. If the participants met with defeat, the spectators would show their disapproval by throwing weapons and shouting profane phrases, giving the players no encouragement whatsoever. If a victory was gained and the sport pretentious, they showed their approval by endless clapping and shouting.

The Salem High School spirit is somewhat like that today. If our boys are out in front gaining a victory, we out do ourselves with our yelling and cheering. But, on the other hand, when they are suffering a defeat, we sit glumly back will not yell at all. This is where the greatest mistake is made. When they are out in front, they do not need our encouragement so much, but when they are losing we should show them that we are back of them, even though it be an hour of defeat.

We have a team to be proud of and cheerleaders to help us. Let's show Ravenna tonight and every other team we play during the season that Salem High has the best school spirit to be had.

Whoser

A dark haired lassie is this Junior miss. She hails from room 201. A swell complexion and personality nearly describe her.

Put a stature of 5 ft. 3½ in. with blue gray eyes and there she is. All active sports are her favorites. Has been dating Phil Stevens quite steadily.

Have you guessed her yet? Betty Dunlap is her name.

Whosim

Brown eyes that look like.. velvet and brown eyes that sparkle when he laughs (which is seldom).

He claims 203 as his home room. A sort of bashful person is this Junior lad, but he is entirely different when you really know him.

He's about 5 ft. 9 in. Plays clarinet, sax, and oboe. Is one of Mr. Brautigam's prides and joys.

Do you know him? His mother calls him Aden.

The winds and waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators.—Dryden.

In taking the above literally it can be applied to almost anything in general but school work in particular. Keep it in mind when the next test comes up!

While we're on the subject of THE Mr. Lyons, I've noticed he and Mary Fratila 'round town quite a bit in the past couple months.

Who wants to bet on the Ravenna game with me? I'm bettin' we'll take them over just like we did Sebring! Only worse! I hope.

Have you seen Tommie Sanders? If you haven't you're missin' plenty! But—don't bother girls. He's fallen, hook, line, and sinker! Dorothy Hinkle is the lucky girl. When I say lucky, I mean just THAT. He's darn near perfect! How's that for a build up, Dot?

Who, besides me, noticed the word Salem cut in the grass Friday night? That, in my opinion, was quite a clever idea!

Wonder what Esther Fowler will do when Harold goes to college? Harold, you know, is Jane Butler's big brother.

That reminds me! Wark wants to find someone who knows Esther so he can be introduced! I offered my services but he didn't seem to appreciate it much!

While we're on the subject of Wark, it reminds me of something. Course you all know Bill is a heckler. Well, this is how he explains it. He eats heckleberry pie! Yep, I know it was pretty awful but he said it. Not Me!

Couple of the Week: Kate Sturgeon and Louie Zimmerman rate the spot this week. It's been nigh on to four years, hasn't it, kids? I'm not sure, but you might ask them!

Apology: To Walter Bolinger. Sorry I spelled your name wrong. Never meant to!

Joe Loutzenhiser had better watch himself. 'Cause if he smokes many more of those big black cigars, there won't be anymore little Joe!

Gosh, it's pretty this time of year! The leaves a changing color and then wind blows them to the ground. It's grand to hike or ride on days like this. The scenery is glorious! Makes you feel so free and like tearin' 'round havin' fun!

Have you seen Bob Neal hangin' round a certain blond's locker right outside 206. Here 'tis in a nut shell. Dot Milligan. I can see why, can't you?

Best Record of the Week:—"I've got a Heart Full of Rhythm." Played by Enoch Light and sung or rather swung, by Peggy Mann. He's got the neatest arrangement of "When the Circus Came to Town" I've ever heard. Not only the neat but clever as well!

"Pom Pom" Pauline is still carrying that great big torch for Mary Lou Brian! Gosh, ain't love grand? He has a heavy date with her tonight after the game. Good luck, fella. You'll need it!

Been seein' and hearin' quite a lot 'bout this orchestra a gang of fellows have. Let's see, there's Cooper, Broomall, Davis, Riffle, and two or three others. It's good, too!

Junior High News

Approximately one hundred new books will soon be ready for use in the Junior High Library. Most of them are fiction although some non-fiction ones are present.

The library is taking sixteen magazines this year. Junior Scholastic is a new one, and indications are that it will be a popular one.

The seventh grade librarians were chosen this week and the eighth grade girls were installed the previous week.

The seventh grade pupils attended an assembly last week, at which Mr. Ludwig, the principal, was the speaker.

The purpose of this assembly was to get them acquainted with the routine of Junior High and to tell them what is to be expected of them as members of this organization.

The Audibon Club, under the supervision of Mr. Baker, hiked to Lake Guilford last Saturday to look for herrons and ducks.

Approximately two hundred wood ducks were found there. These ducks are very rare and are protected by law against hunters.

Cheer leader tryouts were held this week, and the best candidates will be chosen and coached in time for the next home game. The seventh grade cheerleaders of last year were Anne Cosgara and Howard Coy.

8E student retained their lead in the Association drive with thirty-two out of forty-three pupils joining.

The goal of two hundred in the drive was passed by a large margin.

Plans for the various clubs got under way this week. Many changes are to be made in the clubs of previous years and some new ones are to be organized.

Monitors Disrupt
'Alchemists'

In the first period chemistry class last week there were quite a few vacant seats caused by the monitors meeting. The remainder of the class were bemoaning the fact that they too, were not monitors. While this was going on a certain member of the class answering to the name of Allen Fehr got up out of a clear sky and announced to Mr. Jones and the class "Oh yes I'm a monitor myself. Thanks for reminding me!" And then to the classes utter amazement and amusement got up, picked up his books and dashed out. "Alas, but that we all might be monitors."

Miami U. Band

Don Beattie, '39, former S. H. S. drum major, has been chosen assistant drum major at Miami university where he is now enrolled as a freshman.

Beattie will be a strong contender for the position of head drum major next year, as the present one is a senior.

Beattie performs at all the university's games.

QUAKER SPORTS

Quaker to Face Ravenna Squad

Ravens Bring Sensational Sophomore Back; Overconfidence Feared by Schroeder

With the opening game now in the past, the Quakers of Salem High are now concentrating on the Ravenna game tonight. The Sebring game helped the team but it may also do some harm. The one thing Coach Schroeder is trying to avoid is that cocksure feeling which comes on every team after an easy victory. Extra precaution should be taken to try to get away from that feeling this week because Ravenna is not Sebring. They have a powerful team with some fast backs as steady scoring threats. Last Friday night they took over Akron Buchtel 20-6.

SOPHOMORE FLASH

Lee Havre, a sophomore sensation at Ravenna, is one player who will bear notice: It was he who set up one of the touchdown plays.

He runs the hundred in 10 seconds and weighs about 170. Their high scorer was Pugh, who made two touchdowns. The Buchtel team couldn't score on them until the last minute, when an intercepted pass paved the way to their only score.

You remember Ravenna held Salem to a 13-13 tie in last year's fracas, and they are supposed to be better than ever this year. However, this year Salem is out to regain some of its lost prestige which resulted from some bad seasons. There is new spirit on the squad and they really seem to want to go places.

"Stu" Wise, who played a bang-up game last week, will be back in the lineup and will probably be the mainstay in the ball-carrying department. The fans are also hoping to see some results from Joe Morris, who was not at his best in the last game. Also, Bill Schaeffer did not have a chance to show his stuff as far as punting went, as the team was forced to kick only once.

Studes and Teachers Pick Winner

Gordon Hise says: "Ravenna will win by a score of 7-0."
 Eddie Cavanaugh says: "I pick Ravenna 13-0."
 George Hanson says: "Salem 14-0."
 Ellen Monks says: "Salem by at least one touchdown."
 Robert Lyons says: "A tie. One touchdown apiece."
 Al J. Freed says: "Seven-seven."
 Mr. Clarke says: "We will win by three touchdowns."
 Robert Lieder says: "I'll say 13-7 in favor of Salem."
 George Dickey says: "Ravenna to be beaten by two touchdowns."
 Larry Faini says: "Thirteen-seven. Salem to win."
 Mr. Jones ("The Prophet") says: "Ravenna will win by one touchdown."

After that runback of Don West's last week, the next play was Bob Clark's. He gained about a yard and then called West's play. But Bob Shoe got his signals mixed and passed to Pilch, who went over. This deprived West of a chance which he rightfully deserved, that of breaking into the scoring column.

When asked about the meals, Frank said they served the best meals the Government could give.

Other students who went from Salem High were Charles Sell and Charles Everstine.

Salemasquers Make Plans for Social

Members of the Salemasquers and Mr. McDonald met last Monday after school in room 200 for the first time this year. Plans for the box social were further discussed and agreed upon. It will be held at Centennial park a week from this coming Monday.

Activities for this year were brought up at the meeting, but nothing was definitely decided upon. The next regular meeting of the club will be Oct. 24.

On The Bench

By ROBERT J. DIXON.

You know, the other schools notice if we have a well-organized, peppery cheering section. It looks like we're going to have a good team. Add that to a well-drilled band put in a dash of fast, snappy cheers and who in the world can beat us?

Speaking of the team, did you realize that the score last week was the highest Salem has rung up for three or four years? But keep your fingers crossed, 'cause Ravenna is no cinch.

Look out for Alliance! That saying didn't originate this year, but I'm afraid it's going to hold true. They have played two games so far and their point total is already above the century mark. Last week's massacre was the walloping of Kent Roosevelt to the tune of 54-0. And to top that, one of the backs, Hillis Hume, garnered five touchdowns. This made the second consecutive game in which he has accomplished this feat. He will bear watching.

Everyone I talk to is still raving about that magnificent block of Bob Clark's in the play in which Bill Schaeffer tallied. For a guy whose supposedly weak in the blocking department, it was plenty good.

Coach Schroeder likes plenty of scrap, but "Wuky" sort of bubbled over as far as fight goes.

By the way, I guess Bob Shoe did a pretty nice bit of playing when he went in.

It seems Mr. Smith is quite an announcer after last week's experience. I hear N. B. C. is bidding for his services. Also, how about get-

Salem Hi Swamps Trojans 39-0

Coach Schroeder's Salem High Quakers swamped Sebring High's Trojans 39 to 0 in their first game of the season at Reilly Stadium last Friday night.

The red and black lads really were hot as they scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and four in the final frame. The Quakers showed not only fight and power, but put on a fine show before four thousand odd spectators as they pulled off trick plays by the dozen.

Salem led in practically every department of the game. They gained 277 yards in scrimmage to their opponents 40. They gained 13 first downs to Sebring's four. The Quakers returned punts 86 yards to the Trojans' 18. A good bit of the Quakers' success can be attributed to good blocking.

The first score of the game came when Dean went through tackle from the seven-yard line after a sustained drive of practically 50 yards. Captain Bill Schaeffer's try for the extra point was wild. This drive was marred by two penalties against Salem. One was for backfield in motion and the other for interference.

The next score came a few minutes later when Wise, on a reverse, went around end to race 80 yards for a touchdown. There wasn't a Sebring player within four feet of him at any time. Almost perfect blocking made the play possible. Schaefer's attempt for an extra point failed.

During the second and third quarters, Sebring held the Quakers back, not allowing them to get nearer than the Sebring 25-yard line.

In the first part of the fourth quarter, Salem marched from the Sebring 36-yard line to the seven-yard line before losing the ball on downs. Then Sebring fumbled and Salem recovered on the 12-yard line. From there Wise swept around end to score standing up. Schaeffer kicked the extra point.

The fourth score of the ball game came when "Buster" Wukotich went through tackle from the seven-yard line after a series of plays netted them 45 yards.

Salem scored once more a few minutes later when Dean heaved a pass to Bill Schaeffer. Schaeffer ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Bob Clark did a fine job of blocking on this play.

Albert Pilch, substitute halfback, scored the final touchdown from the two-yard line after Don West returned a Sebring punt from about midfield to the two-yard line.

The entire squad played good ball, both offensively and defensively. Mike (Cupcake) Guappone did a good job on defense. Worthier and Rogers showed up well on the blocking assignments, while Dean, Wise and "Buster" Wukotich looked good on the ball-carrying jobs.

Jitterbug's Column

Well, and here is number three in the series of "Jive" stories. I think I'll start off by saying, "Hiya, ever'body!"

For real honest to goodness "Dixieland" Swing get an earful of the "Sultan of Swing!" I promised Joe Cooper, the guy who slaps a "doghouse," that I'd give him a little publicity. Their best interpretations are "Dinah," "Jeda," "Now It Can Be Told" and "My Blue Heaven," all in true Dixieland style!

Benny Goodman, "That King of Swing," gives "Swing" just two years, at the end of which he is going to turn to Concert music. As you know Benny is quite a clarinet soloist.

Heard Wally Luce got quite a jump on, when he tried to tear down "The Sultan's of Swing." That's a very muscular bunch, Wally, in other words, they are tough!

I promised a swing definition every week; here it is — What is "Jive?" (Best explanation turned in to me before Tuesday will rate very honorable mention in this column next Friday).

Most popular "jitterbug" this week: Miss Gwendolyn Dean. She is really an ace when it comes to the shag. (Are there any good "Lambeth Walkers" in the crowd?)

Didja know that Tommy Dorsey and his brother, Jimmy, are from Pennsylvania. The brothers organized their first band from a bunch of coal-miners.

Leopold Stowkowski, great symphony conductor, believes swing music is very "unusual." O Boy!

Best record of the week: "My Margarita," as played by Richard Himber and his smarter dance music.

Just listen to those "Pyramids!" I'll tell you what is meant by Pyramids. There are three trombones and three trumpets in his brass section. The first trombone player hits a low tone to be immediately followed by another trombone with the next highest tone until we get to the trumpets who play the three higher register tones. They sound just like bells. It's very hard to explain, so listen to the band on Sunday afternoon at 3:00, and you'll say Dick Himber has the most unusually styled music you have ever heard!

Don't forget your answers for the question: "What is Jive?" Turn them into the Quaker office before Tuesday. Until next week, So Long, Ever'body!

Mr. Guiler: "Can anyone give me an example of an indirect tax?"

"Gabby" Pauline: "The dog tax."

Mr. Guiler: "Why is that an indirect tax?"

"Gabby": "The dog doesn't have to pay for it."

Dramatic Chatter

Hello, kiddies. This is a new idea for a column. If you like it, drop a card.

Hint to the Would-Be Actors of the Senior Class: Won't be long now 'till Senior Play time, so you better get out your Dramatic books and start brushing up on your accents. You belong to a class with some tough competition in it. What with Polly Silver, Dorothy Milligan, Nick Chitrea and a lot of others, you'll be pretty busy. That was a good play last year. Hope you put on as good a one this time.

For the Book-worms: Just finished a book called "Giants in the Earth," by Rolvaag. If you like tragedies, you ought to read it. The main character, "Per Hansa," dies at the end, and all through the book he runs up against hardships. You can get it at the Public library. I am reading "Jane Eyre" at present. Awfully good, so far. By the way, did you hear the performance of this same book over the radio? Helen Hayes played the part of Jane. It was very good. In my opinion, she and Louise Rainer are tops as dramatic actresses. Speaking of actors and actresses, how did you like "My Lucky Star," with Sonja Henie and Richard Greene? In my opinion, they should have had less skating and more action. During the song it was very dry and slow. Richard Greene was very good, and some day he will be as famous as Robert Taylor. "Marie Antoinette"—coming this weekend—has been held over in all larger cities. It is very, very good, and every person should see it. Tyrone Power and Norma Shearer give excellent performances.

Miscellaneous!
Boy, oh, boy! Was Kay Kyser good! Some of singers sure ar good. Too bad we can't have him for one of our Hi-Tri dances.

Guess that's all, so . . . like the Scotchman who got $1,500 for $1,000 . . . I say, Good buy, BUD.

Hoch Brings About 'Earthquake'

Not that a wrong answer to a question in history class is anything to create an earthquake anymore, but Bill Hoch really delivered something different in the line of boners the other day. Not that he was ignorant of his subject, either, because he had given quite a thorough recitation on the origin, purpose, etc., of the English Colony of Georgia, and was settling down in his seat again, confident of the lasting impression his dazzling intelligence must have made.

But Mr. A. V. Henning was not to be misled. He was going to have complete assurance of his student's understanding of the topic or know the reason why. So he asked, "Why was the colony named Georgia?"

Startled for the moment at the piercing look in the pedagogue's eye, Bill finally rallied and gave his all.

"They named it for King Charles. Georgia is Latin for Charles," he replied with conviction.

Now, Mr. Henning is the understanding type, and he did not wish to destroy Bill's self-respect, so he said very gently and tactfully, "Well possibly, but mightn't it be just plain English for George?"

Very slowly, as the refreshing dawn spreads over a country meadow, a beam of understanding passed over Bill's face, and he blushed painfully, a sadder and wiser man.

Fakers play a prominent part in native football games in India, working spells to confound the opposing side.
