

Band to Give Annual Concert March 6 & 7

One Will Be Given In Assembly; The Other Will Be Public

Although definite plans have not as yet been completed, Mr. Brautigam, director of the Salem High band, announced recently that the band will present their first concerts of the season March 6 and 7.

On Monday, March 6, the band will present an assembly program to the student body, while on Tuesday night, March 7, they will present a similar concert to the public.

Mr. Brautigam stated that the most of the time of both programs will be given to solos, given by the students entering the District Solo and Ensemble contest one week later. Half of the solos will be given to the student assembly while the remaining ones will be heard by the public.

As was stated, the program is not complete, but some of the numbers to be played other than the solos will be as follows: "Semper Fidelis," march; "Pique Dame," overture; "Stars and Stripes Forever," march; "The Silver Chord," overture; "March of Time"; and parts of "Divertissement Espagnole."

The complete program will be announced at a later date.

Frosh Make $30 Selling Pencils

Thirty dollars is the total amount made by the Freshman class by selling pencils and feathers. The pencils and feathers are all sold now. The class up to this time has been quite prosperous and they hope to continue that way. The student body has cooperated with them to the best degree.

Tom Eberwein Talks To Camera Club

Tom Eberwein gave a talk on "Table-top Photography" at the Camera Club meeting a week ago.

He told the members how to set up a miniature scene and the proper way to light for the desired effect and the general method of focusing the camera. The talk was in connection with the forthcoming club contest, March 8.

Many of the members attended a special meeting last Tuesday night, in room 108, during which they put into practice the methods described above for table-top photography.

Isabella Fink and Theresa Hoff have joined the club.

Sportsman's Club Elects Officers

The Sportsman's Club has elected new officers for the second term. They are Bob Enders, president; Ruben Coy, vice-president; Ken O'Connell, secretary; Joe Vender, treasurer.

Ruben Coy has rewritten the By-Laws and presented them at the last meeting.

The program committee is attempting to affiliate itself with the State Department of Conservation.

Charter Received By National Thespians

For the first time in the history of the Salem High school, students received a charter for "The National Thespian Honor Society."

Mr. Williams gave a brief talk in opening the meeting last Monday evening in room 200, welcomed the society, congratulated its members, and extended sincere hopes for its success.

Following Mr. Williams' talk, the members were initiated. Some of them recited poetry with detailed gestures; other members gave one of Shakespeare's famous speeches, and a group of four presented an original skit, using Shakespearean scenery.

After the initiation, Mr. McDonald, a member and sponsor of the Salem High group, explained how the name of the society originated. The organization got its name from an ancient Greek actor and writer of tragedies, named Thespis. He used masks on his actors and so has remained the symbol of dramatics.

All members rose to take the pledge of the National Thespian society. Following the pledge, Mr. McDonald offered his congratulations to the new members and gave them membership cards. The members will receive "Membership Certificates" in the near future.

Mary Jane Britt was elected stage manager, which office corresponds with that of the presidency. Lucia Sharp was chosen secretary, and Gwen Dean, prompter. Officers are elected each semester.

Biology Classes Take Trip Through Dairy

Mrs. Cox's third and fourth period classes visited the Andalusia Dairy last Thursday to observe the methods of pasteurization, sterilization of utensils and bottles, and other processes that keep the milk free from harmful disease germs. Student reported a very enjoyable and profitable trip, during which Mr. Beck, plant superintendent, explained the working of the complicated machinery in this modern creamery. One of the most interesting things noted was a tank holding 300 gallons of cream ready to be pasteurized. Probably the high point of the trip was the serving of liberal portions of ice cream to each student.

One of Mr. Olloman's Biology classes made a trip to the Famous Dairy last Thursday to study the theory of pasteurization. Before leaving, the pupils were each given a dish of ice cream. In Biology the classes are studying about Louis Pasteur and his discovery of pasteurization.

Salem To Debate Monday, Feb. 20

At a meeting last Monday night of the debate teams and their coaches from Alliance, Salem, and East Palestine a drawing was held to determine what teams would debate to break the three-way tie for the district championship.

After the drawing it was found that Salem, drew a bye and would debate the winner of the Alliance-East Palestine debate which was held last Wednesday evening.

The Alliance affirmative debated the negative of Palestine, but the contest was held after the writing of this article and the results could not be posted.

When Salem meets the winner this coming Monday evening, the debate will be held in some neutral territory.

Assembly Speaker Gives Exhibition

Mr. Russell Hoogerhyde spoke on the subject, "The Romance of Archery" in an association assembly which was held in the auditorium yesterday afternoon.

His talk included the discussion of the history of the bow and arrow from medieval times up to the present day.

He also gave an exhibition of his expert archery, which was well received by the audience.

Mr. Hoogerhyde has won the national archery championship five times since 1930.

Association members, faculty, and the non-association members who paid fifteen cents admission, attended the assembly.

More Adequate Vocational Training Is Goal of Trades Class

Need for adequate and effective Vocational Training Programs is rapidly becoming more pronounced in all industrial sections.

It is for this purpose that the Salem Trades Classes are in operation.

These classes are held regularly on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday mornings in the High School building. Special classes are held every day in the Junior High building with two boys working directly under the supervision of an instructor.

The course consists of four years mechanical drawing including, shop sketching, blue print reading, detailing, mechanical design and lay out work.

A shop science course includes a general course in shop science, two years metallurgy, two years foundry practice, physics and chemistry, shop electricity, refrigeration and air conditioning.

Instructors for these courses are:
H. W. Cameron,
E. L. Kerr,
G. K. Weaver,

Proceeds To Be Used For Buying Scoreboard for Reilly Field

Soft lights and sweet music will be the setting of the second annual Varsity "S" dance on the evening of April 12, in the High school gymnasium. Proceeds of the dance will go into a fund from which a scoreboard for Reilly stadium will be purchased when the fund reaches sufficient proportions.

225 Persons Attend Penny Dance

Approximately 225 persons, one of the largest crowds of the season attended the Hi Tri Penny Dance in observance of St. Valentine Day, last Friday in the gym.

Souvenirs were given to each person attending, in the form of a valentine with a sucker attached. A red paper heart with a number on it, was also given each person. Then during a short intermission numbers were called. The person who was on the dance floor, and who held the number corresponding to the one called, received a prize. Ten prizes were given throughout the evening.

The Swing Creators furnished the music for dancing from 3:45 to 5:45.

Posters To Adorn 307 Wall

To stress the importance of keeping grades high to qualify for inter-scholastic athletic competition, is the purpose of the colorful blue poster adorning the front wall in Room 307.

This poster is the first of a series of posters which, will appear each week. They are all "Athletic Coordination Messages". The posters are 20" by 27" and are all in color.

The date for the dance was announced to the club last week after Mr. Williams was finally able to secure a suitable time. It will be held during the spring vacation so that ex-grads attending college may attend the affair.

Although it is still quite a ways off the club has started work on the dance to make it the most successful one of the year. The following committees and their chairmen have been appointed:

Decorations:

Bill Rogers, Chairman.

Finance and Tickets:

Joe Morris, Chairman.

Favors and Programs:

Bud Dean, Chairman.

Advertising:

Stu Wise, Chairman.

Orchestra:

Dominic Zappone, Chairman.

Dominic Zappone has asked that the students give him some suggestions as to what orchestra they would like to have. He says if the students will just mention their preference to any member of the Varsity "S" Club, he will get the information and will appreciate it very much.

Miss Josephine Campbell will be here next Monday afternoon to interview senior girls who are interested in attending the Pennsylvania College for Women. The college is located in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Spanish Club Sponsors Contest

An increased number of members attended the meeting of the Spanish Club yesterday afternoon in room 205, an increase due to the fact that a contest is being sponsored. The members are divided into sides, each under a leader who encourages attendance. The side having the best attendance for the next four meetings will be declared winner.

During the course of the meeting, members participated in a round table discussion concerning South America.

Music Classes To Study Composers

Mrs. Satterthwaite's pupils of the music classes have now completed directing. Each pupil chose one song which he desired to conduct and lead the class, accompanied by a pianist.

The classes are now studying the life history of famous composers and the songs they composed.

VOL. XIX. FEBRUARY 17, 1939 NO. 20

February, A Month of Great Men

February is truly a great month. Most grade school students think it's great because of Valentine day, but High school students recognize it because of the great people who were born during this month.

Lincoln was a rail splitter and a back woodsman, but he was also President of the United States. He was born on the twelfth of this month in a little log cabin in Kentucky. His childhood was harder than any person's today. Only a worshipper of Lincoln can truly appreciate what he did for the United States.

Lincoln's success was no half-way affair. His life was full of failures until, with one great leap, he reached the top.

Washington, the father of our nation, was born on the twenty-second of the month. His life held many heartbreaks, too. At the age of eleven his father died, leaving the mother to rear all their children. As commander-in-chief of the army he led our country to victory and freedom.

These are but two of the famous men born in February. Thomas Edison, Felix Mendelssohn, Horace Greeley, Aaron Burr, Jules Verne, Victor Hugo and many others who have achieved distinction in every field were born in this month, the shortest month of the year.

Scouts Celebrate Anniversary

The Boy Scouts of America celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of its founding on February 8. All over the nation, from New York to California, in every city and town, the scouts were celebrating with banquets, window displays and demonstrations.

No matter what magazine you read, no matter what radio program you listened to, the scouts were mentioned. For one week out of the year, the nation was scout conscious, but during the other fifty-one weeks of the year the scouts are just as busy going about their daily tasks. The scouts of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. The boys of scouting age in our country today are learning to become better citizens for tomorrow when they will take their place as the leaders of this country. In some countries, take the Totalitarian states of Germany and Italy, the boys of scouting age are not given the opportunity to improve themselves. Instead, mere children, boys from eight to fourteen, are forced to join military organizations where they learn to use guns and hand grenades and other articles of death and destruction. The same boys in this country would be learning first aid, signaling and good citizenship. In 1939, we should thank God that the pride of our nation, the young men of scouting age, are given the opportunity to become better citizens through a medium of scouting rather than cannon fodder for some half crazed power-thirsty totalitarian demagogue.

Making Friends

The one benefit of a high school education which very few of us pass up is the opportunity to make friends. To the average person of any age it is a natural impulse to share his fondest hopes and his disappointment with someone whom he believes he can trust.

It is these relationships which have as much if not more influence on our characters and personalities than the "book-learning" we absorb while we are in school.

Although unfortunately, the victim is never conscious of it, the influence of some friends is not favorable. It is regrettable, to say the least, when a student's standards of behavior and thought are lowered by some one else, and he consequently loses the admiration of his more worthy acquaintances.

Since the subject of friends is one which has so great an effect on us, it is certainly worth a little thought, that is, if we consider ourselves capable of independent thought.

Father of Our Country

The birthday of the "Father of his Country." May it ever be freshly remembered by American hearts. May it ever reawaken a lily veneration for his memory; ever rekindle the fires of patriotic regard for the country which he loved so well, to which he gave his youthful vigor and his youthful energy. Till the last drop of blood shall freeze in the last American heart, his name shall be a spell of power and of might.

Washington's life is an open book. He knew that he was making history, and he kept careful copies of all his most important letters and writings, so that it is impossible that there should be doubts on any very important point. Most of Washington's writings which are preserved show him to one only as a grave public character; and lives of Washington drawn mainly from this source are apt to make the great man seem unnaturally cold, dignified, remote, and impressive.

Washington had immense physical courage. In all the battles in which he fought he exposed himself fearlessly. Perhaps Washington's greatest qualities were his wisdom and prudence. Though he was a man of action, he thought deeply on many subjects. "Never" said Jefferson, "did nature and fortune combine more perfectly to make a man great, and to place him in the same constellation with whatever worthies have merited from man in everlasting remembrance."

Life is just one disappointment after another!

Was very, very disappointed in that Liverpool game. To my notion they aren't good as the score seems to tell everyone!

Ah, but the Massillon game was an entirely different story. Never in my life do I expect to see a better game than that! Doubt if it's possible for a game to be much better than that one was. Was so exciting my knees sorta wobbled on the way out of the gym.

Told someone that and they cracked, "Oh, knock kneed!" I laughed!

Cute Nicknames: Wilbur Spaulding was named "Wilbie" by Gwen, now it has sorta spread.—Betsy Roose is now known as the "All Merican Sweetheart." Advise you to duck after calling her that. Somehow Betsy, I'd consider that as a compliment if I were you!

Akron West and Wellsville are next on the list for our basketballers. Have a feelin' that we'll take them both—just to make up for that Liverpool game. Wanta bet?

For one armed drivers: You can't pay attention to the brakes if your mind is on the clutch.

—Eddie Can'or

Not much you can add to that except to heed it after the games this week-end!

There are several new studes in our school namely, Park Claycomb, a new junior from Johnstown High School; Beulah Grace, freshman from Greenford High School; Oscar Laken; freshman from New Stanton High School; Sarah Miller, freshman from Millers-

All the world's a stage.
—Shakespeare.

Today, having visited the country last week, we are going to wash the hayseed out of our hair and go ultra-modern.

We visit the family of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Ritzzy. They have a penthouse on Park avenue and money to burn. (I'd like to fire their furnace.)

Mrs. Ritzzy—(Eleanor Eberwein) is a social climber-upper. And the way she's keeping at it she'll soon be at the top.

Mr. Ritzzy—(Don Sankey) is one of these poor business men who have to listen to their wives. (By the way, this happened after the Hi-Y—Hi-Tri meeting.)

They have two children, Henrietta (Mary Lou Brian) Ritzzy who will have a coming out party in the Ritz-Carlton this summer and Iras Manual (Bud Dean) Ritzzy II who is the apple of his father's eye. He has attended military school now for four years and when he finishes he'll probably go to Princeton.

Their maid—Mary Alice McBane—has something about her attitude that makes her even better than the rest of the maids.

And their butler, Joe Weiss is so correct he can detect an untied shoe lace at 70 paces.

That takes care of all the Penthouse folks except little Mimi, the French poodle. I guess I'll take the part for I've been in the dog house all week.

Sunday evening at 10:00 o'clock there is a new program called "Swing 'Round the Circle" with Ronald Colman as master of ceremonies. It's really worth the time of any person who listens to it.

They have good plays and fine entertainment for everyone. The only trouble is that it's so late at night.

Last Friday the Hi Tri girls had a Penny Dance. It was the best dance held this year! The orchestra was better than ever and really went to town on some of their pieces. The dancers were good and everyone appreciated that circle dance some of the High school kids gave.

Salemasquers are putting on a play entitled "His First Date" for the assembly group sometime next month.

Speaking of Salemasquers, an initiation of all members joining the National Thespian Organization was held last Monday. Boy! Everyone had a swell time and if they didn't it's their own fault.

Well I can't think of anything else except that I wish to challenge to a duel whoever it was said that the Hi-Y boys should be called the "Dead End Gang". That wasn't enough, they had to add "because their dead from the neck up". Enough of this stuff and horseplay. Next week: How about some more poetry? O. K. that's what we'll have.

So Long,

On The Bench

By Robert J. Dixon

The "Swing Creators" are the only well-known band in the school but there is one other which is rapidly gaining in popularity. It is well known among the basketball team. In fact, it contains some of those very boys who have been gracing our court this year. The leader of this little ensemble is none other than Les Knepp. They are known as the "Silly Swingsters," and do they ever play? Every night they are down in the dressing room dreaming up some new arrangement. Their instruments range from kazoos to washboards and dust pans. Whether this extra curricular activity affects their ball-playing is not known at the time, but it certainly affords a little relaxation from their "worries."

Salem High's undefeated Hi-Y team finally gets a break tonight when it gets a chance to play a coveted game with the Reserves just before the Varsity-West game. They have really rolled over their opponents so far this year and have racked up six consecutive victories, the latest being two wins last Saturday.

In glancing over the record sheet for this week we find that Bill Schaeffer has pulled up even with Amie Dunlap in the scoring race with 67 points. With four games the total for the regular season should reach at least 90 apiece.

It seems the majority of the overzealous young basketball enthusiasts

Liverpool Takes Salem 27 to 20 In County Tilt

Salem High's Quakers lost their fifth game of the season and their chance for the county championship as they bowed before the fast stepping East Liverpool Potters 20 to 27 at the River City gym last Friday evening.

Coach Brown's Quakers didn't even come close to the rough and ready potters as the Liverpool lads led in the entire contest. The potter's rushing zone defense and fast breaking offense crushed the Quaker machine before the game was hardly started. The Liverpool soapbox floor proved to be even more detrimental to the Quakers chances than the erratic style of the Rivers lads. Time after time the Quakers would throw the ball to Sutter or Duncan only to be sewed up at that point. In previous games the Quakers, with a larger floor had been able to click by popping from the sides or working the ball under to big Bill Schaeffer, but in this contest the narrowness of the gym made this impossible. Adding to this the Potters played a good brand of ball, not the style of ball that Brown's lads play, but wish to use this column as a means of advertising their various intramural teams. The latest "star" who has approached and asked for some recognition is "Mouse" McGhee of the reknowned "Ravens." He thinks he has a real team, but being the modest lad, that he is, he doesn't want it known that he is the high scorer. (Not much).

Have you noticed a group of "whoopes" tearing about the old halls adorned in red and black sweatshirts on which is lettered "Salem Panthers". They are members of a newly organized basketball team. They want a game with the Hi-Y team sometime soon. I don't know why—but they do. What do you say, Hi-Y?

a fast rough, shoot when the occasion demands, style. During the entire evening the Potters took advantage of every break and put everything they had into the game. On the other hand the Quakers fumbled frequently, threw poor passes in an attempt to catch the Potters and did not display the traditional Quaker form.

The Quakers missed many long and numerous sucker shots. Then, too, the Quakers foul shooting was not up to par having only sunk six out of fourteen charity tosses. For Liverpool it was then eight wins out of eighteen hectic games and was their only win from a first rate ball club besides the Akron West contest which Liverpool won by a large margin.

For the Potters the whole team did their share of scoring. Bruno and Robinson, each scored seven points on two goals and three fouls. Ward hit the hoop for six markers and Brown Mackey sunk four and three points respectively.

For Salem, Jim Dickey subbing for Galen Duncan found the range for three goals and a like number of fouls to lead both teams in scoring with nine points. Dickey had been out the previous week because of scholastic difficulties and since his return to the Salem lineup, has shown all the scrap and aggression that have been traditional with Salem teams. Bill Schaeffer connected six points and Dinty McLaughlin and Amos Dunlap were only able to convert two and three points respectively.

In a preliminary contest the East Liverpool reserves spanked the Salem secondaries 30 to 26. McGilivray paced both teams in scoring with 13 points. Shoe of Salem, and Bennett of Liverpool each tallied nine markers.

Quakers to Tangle With West and Wellsville

Akron West Cowboys To Make First Appearance On Local Court

Salem High's Quakers again have a double feature on their program this week. Tonight they will play host to Akron West, and on Saturday evening the Red and Black trek to Wellsville to try out their new gym for the first time.

Hi-Y Chalks Up Two Victories

Sweeping through their fifth and sixth consecutive lopsided victories, Salem's undefeated Hi-Y basketballers trounced the Hi-Y's of Minerva and East Liverpool to the tune of 29-8 and 40-10 respectively last Saturday in the High school gym.

In the first game of the double bill, Stu Wise set the pace for Salem with 15 points, while Segesman, Dean, and Hanzlick each gathered four. Coy was the leading Minerva scorer gathering all but two of his team's points.

The first half was a listless affair with both sides consistently missing their shots. At the half, the score stood 13-6. In the second half, the Salem lads hit their stride and outscored their opponents 16 to 2, completely outclassing Minerva 29-8.

In the nightcap, Jack Hickling led the way with 17 points, while Dick Jaeger ran a close second, totaling 11. For East Liverpool, Heaston and Seaside led their team in defeat with three points each.

The game was a walkaway for the Salem boys as they enjoyed exceptionally accurate shooting, while the Liverpool lads consistently missed. The game was featured throughout with rough play. When the final whistle had blown the score stood 40-10 with Salem the victors.

To date, the Salem team has totaled 212 points to their opponents 54 in six games. Tonight the boys will meet their toughest opposition thus far when they play the High School Reserves in a preliminary game to the Salem-Akron West contest, Akron West not having a reserve team.

Little is known of the strength of the opposition but the old saying, "Anything can happen in a ball game" still holds true. A poor or even a mediocre team on a good night can knock off a first rate quintet. Basketball like anything else is not wholly a matter of developing a strong team, but of taking advantage of the breaks in the course of the game and in the course of the long season.

Wellsville hasn't a particularly impressive record but they have managed to keep their heads above water. They use a man to man defense and a fast breaking offense. They are strictly a second class team. For the most part they have played only smaller schools such as Palestine and Leetonia.

Two football players, Jack and Bill Call, have been important in both the offense and defense but Bill will be the only threat due to the fact that Jack is out for the season with a broken ankle sustained in a game earlier in the year. The game will have an important bearing in the county championship race for a win over Wellsville will put the Quakers back in the fight with Liverpool for the title.

However, it is tonight's game which will afford the fans more of the excitement they crave. The game will mark the first time the Akron West Cowboys have ever invaded the Salem sanctum. Two games have been played twixt the two schools in the past two years with the record standing even.

It will be remember two years ago the Salemites went up to Akron and defeated the Cowboys, then city champions, and went on to the state tournament at Columbus. Naturally our opponents won't regard us with any special favor due to that episode.

The visitors are above average this year but are not considered exceptional. However, the teams from the Rubber City are always worthy of note due to the fact that they concentrate on basketball more than on any other sport.

The contest will mark the first time the Quakers have played on the home grounds since the Chaney game three weeks ago.

Special Stamp To Be Issued For Fair

A special three-cent stamp will be issued Saturday, commemorating the opening of the Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco.

The stamp will go on sale first at the San Francisco post office, but will be available here, soon after, according to A. E. Beardmore, postmaster.

The new stamp will be of the same size as the special delivery stamps, but arranged vertically. The central design is a reproduction of the "Tower of the Sun," one of the outstanding architectural features of the Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. The tower is 400 feet high, and contains a forty-four bell carillon. Atop the tower is a 5,000 pound golden Phoenix, representing the rise of the city from the ashes of the fire of 1906.

Treasure Island, a new island built in the bay, is about a mile square. The island and its buildings have cost over $50,000,000.

Most of the members of the high school stamp club are getting first day covers of this stamp.

This Here an' That There

burg, Ohio; James Romine, freshman from Princeton Junior High School, Youngstown.

Laugh of the week: It's one on me this time. On entering Lisbon last Friday night (on the way to Liverpool) I exclaimed: "Oh look at that full moon!" Much to my embarrassment it turned out to be the town clock! Bet there were others who thought the same thing but just won't admit it.

This Berry laddie certainly gets his share of attention, from the lassies around this school. Betty Bischel thinks he's tops—along with about four other that I can name without even trying. Wonder what he's got that gets 'em?

Hilda Steffani seems to rate with exgrades pretty high. Bruce Whitcomb can be seen with her quite often. Then there's Helen Kryk. Yes, she too goes with an exgrad. Del Schaffer to be exact. Funny, never expected him to tie himself down to one girl.

Couple of the week: A pair of freshies rate the limelight this week. Bill Dunlap and Lee Riggs. Yep. That's the way—start out young.

Heard a clever saying the other day, here 'tis. Love is one game that is never postponed on account of darkness. Forgot where I found it. But I'm inclined to agree to a great extent.

Don't know why but it always spoils a joke or a pun to explain it. Then after it's all over it seems quite silly to have wasted your breath on it.

Thought I'd never stop laughing at Mr. Smith when he directed the band the other week. It was too comic to even attempt to describe. I will say this much for him, he's really got rythm!

Up to the age of 16 a youth may be a Boy Scout, but from that time on he's a girl scout.—Sussman. Do you get it or will I have to explain it!

Every day for nearly three weeks Bill Segesman found a note in his locker every 7th period. Each one was signed with "Mystery Girl". They puzzled him for quite a while—finally she signed "Ann" to one of them. That was the give away! Can you guess who she is? I did!

Nomination for a cute Freshman boy! Ronnie Herron. Yes in every way he should be the ideal freshie lad. Sorta bashful—but still cute!

Sara Wonner has been seeing lots of a blonde ex-grad. Has written numerous songs and plays violin. These are just a few of his accomplishments. He is known as R. John.

Nearly every afternoon after school Bob Whitcomb can be found walking towards Highland Avenue. No, he's not alone. But with a varsity basketball player's, named Mike, kid sister. Her name is Mary. Need I say more?

Anna Mae and Harvey have a new note passing idea worked out. He puts the note in his trouser cuff and puts his foot on the seat of her desk. She takes, reads, answers and puts it back into the cuff—then Harvey takes it. Works pretty slick but I have an improvement to make. Put a little bell on the cuff so after the note is replaced in the cuff it may be pulled as a signal to take it away! 'Course now that might draw the teacher's attention—but what's the difference. They know we pass notes anyhow!

Good luck team! We're all pullin for you!

Bye now.

National Thespians

The meeting concluded with lunch, in charge of Valois Finley, Mary Fisher, Marge Layden, and Mary Jane Lora.

The following members were chosen to join this organization because of showing outstanding dramatic ability in one major role or two minor roles of a play, or because of their work as make-up artists or stage managing:

Mary Jane Britt, Dick Capel, Gwen Dean, John Evans, Valois Finley, Mary Fisher, Mary Jane Lora, Marjorie Layden, Alyse MacDonald, Eugene Neale, David Rohan, Lucia Sharp, Jane Tinsley, Bob Vickers, and Ruth West.

Latin Club To Hold Party

Further plans were made by the members of the Latin Club at a meeting last Wednesday at 3:35 in room 203 for a party in connection with the initiation of new members. As has been previously announced, a party is to be held in the home economics room, February 23.

Jr. High Teacher Attends College

Mr. William Baker, former English and History teacher at Junior High, is attending the University of Pittsburgh where he is studying English. Mr. Baker while teaching at Junior High became very interested in English and decided to take up further study along that line. During his absence Mrs. Koontz is taking over his duties as teacher.
