

Mount Union Choir to Sing in Student Assembly Tuesday

Under the direction of Mr. W. H. Hodson, Director of Music, the Mount Union a Cappella Choir, composed of sixty voices, will be presented in an assembly for High school students next Thursday morning at 10:45.

Also included in the program will be a string trio of violin, 'cello and piano which will give instrumental variety to the program.

32 Students To Take District Scholarship Tests

Following elimination tests taken last week, 32 Salem High school students have the honor of taking the District-State Scholarship tests which are to be given at Kent University next Saturday.

These students and the divisions they will enter are as follows:

Ninth year English—Homer Asmus, Dorothy Lutsch.

Tenth year English—Ethel Hill, Alice Hunter.

Eleventh year English—Margaret Stewart, Jean Stone.

Twelfth year English—Mary Louise Emery, Elinor Gray.

Latin I—Margaret Ann Jones, Sara Miller.

Latin II—Rita Emery, Lucia Sharp.

French I—Elizabeth Hart, Ada Shriver.

French II—Eugene Neale, William Rogers.

American History—Allen Fehr, Dorothy Klyne.

World History—Robert Mileusnic, Ward Zeller.

First year Algebra—Charles Lind, Betsy Roose.

Geometry—Robert Ballantine, Mary Stiffler.

Chemistry—Robert Hively, Henry Zimmerman.

Physics—John Evans, LeRoy Moss

Biology—William Martin, Eleanor Schultz.

General Science—William Juhn, Richard Martin.

The tests, given for the purpose of increasing interest in scholastic endeavor, will be 60 minutes in length. Various programs have been planned for the remainder of the day.

Students from 20 counties will compete in the tests at Kent, while the remaining counties in the district will meet at Bowling Green, Miami University, Ohio State and Ohio University.

Last year Paul Hoffmaster, '38, placed second in the district and

Journalists Attend District Meet

Last Saturday twenty-five persons from Salem High School attended the second annual South-eastern Ohio High School Journalism convention which was held at Kent State university.

The first thing on the program was an assembly at Merrill Hall. Joseph Kelly, chairman of the conference, introduced the president of the college and William Taylor, Head of the Journalism Department there.

From there the convention proceeded to town where a street fire was held for the journalists to write up as a news story. Dick Jaeger and John Evans took third place in this contest.

The next thing on the program was the round table. There was a variety of subjects to pick from and to attend.

After the morning round table came the lunch period. This free time was spent by most of the students in looking over the campus of the town.

In the evening a banquet was held in Lowry Hall. There were many interesting speakers who gave equally interesting speeches. A dance followed, sponsored by the staffs of the college papers.

Henry Pauline received third prize in a preconvention contest.

Varsity 'S' Dance Social Success

The second annual Varsity "S" benefit dance held during the spring vacation proved again to be one of the year's social hits.

Approximately 100 couples danced to the stylish strains of Shy Lickson and his popular orchestra.

The gym was attractively decorated in a new and very original way. This is the first time the gym has been dressed in this manner and many complimentary remarks were heard among the dancers.

Band Participates In Eastern Musical Contest

Mammoth Parade To Feature Festival; 35 Bands Compete

The Salem High School band, under the direction of Mr. Brautigam, participated this morning in the Eastern District band contest held at Lisbon, Ohio.

The band, originally scheduled to perform this evening, was shifted to be the first band to play in the contest, because of Salem's nearness to the county seat.

Three selections were played by the organization, which included a warm up march, a selected number, and a state required composition.

Salem's band chose the "Huntress March" and "Egmont Overture" as the first two numbers. The required selection was unknown to the band until one hour prior to its appearance on the Lisbon High School stage.

At four o'clock this afternoon, the entire 35 bands entered in the contest, will parade through the streets of Lisbon.

"Stamp Collecting Is An Interesting, Educational Hobby." A. E. Beardmore

Mr. A. E. Beardmore, postmaster of Salem, stated in a recent interview that he believed stamp collecting was an interesting and educational hobby.

"There are so many different angles from which to approach stamp collecting", said Beardmore, "for instance, one person may collect all stamps with some slight error in engraving or other portion of the stamp, while still others collect only corner stamps which bear the plate number."

Mr. Beardmore also commented that while he was not interested in the financial returns for stamps

Salem Enters Twelve In State Finals Of Solo Contest

Six Soloists, Two Trios Compete With Best Musicians In State

Tomorrow morning twelve musicians will travel to Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, to participate in the State finals of the Solo and Ensemble contest.

These musicians, composed of six soloists and two trios, earned the right to enter the finals by winning ratings of superior at the district eliminations, held several weeks ago.

The soloists are: Joe Cooper, bassoon; Henry Pauline, alto sax; Joe Morris, trombone; Jack Warner, baritone sax; Ruth West, vocal; and Margaret Fronius, vocal.

The two ensembles are: Woodwind trio—Homer Asmus, John Dan and Earl Taflan; string trio—Paul Evans, Gusty Conja and Gerry Fickes.

Those entries that win at the finals will be allowed to advance to the National Regional contest, which will be held sometime in May at Indianapolis, Indiana.

Accompanists for the group will be Marjorie Layden, Lois Dilworth, and Gerry Fickes.

Association Party Enjoyed by All

The annual Association party proved to be a big success, as Riley Norris provided the music in his local debut last Friday in the gym.

The 500 students who attended the party seemed to enjoy the suave rhythm of this 10-piece organization. The services of Riley Norris were made possible when the funds usually used for hiring professional entertainers were used to secure a better orchestra.

Various games were provided for the entertainment of those not caring to dance. Winners in the different games received as their prize the game with which they were playing.

A ping pong tournament was staged on the school's new ping pong tables for those interested. Jim Kleon and Amos Dunlap won the championship of their respective tables.

The gym was decorated in the colors of each of the school's four classes and a very novel program designed by Jim Schaeffer was provided for the dancers.

Refreshments consisting of soft drinks and ice cream bars were served much to the satisfaction of all present.

Party to Be Held May 5 In Gym; Committees Chosen

Charles Douglas and his orchestra are to play for the Freshman-Sophomore party to be held in the Salem High Gym on Friday, May 5, it was disclosed this week by the executive committee.

This will be the first party the freshmen have had since they came over from Junior High and they are cooperating whole heartedly to make it a success.

The orchestra is composed of seven pieces and a vocalist and is considered very good by those who have heard him.

The various committees for the party are as follows:

Executive: Mrs. Cox and Miss McCready, faculty advisers.

George Baillie, sophomore chairman; Mary Alice Leipper, Bill Fineran, Dorothy Lutsch, Bill Dunlap, Bill Rance.

The Secret of Success

To most of us, the subject of success is a fascinating one. "The secret of success" is almost worn out in this day and age when everyone is looking for some magic formula to help him win a place in the sun.

Sometimes it seems as though the famous men and women who have reached their goal have had unusual luck. Yet if one of these experts were placed in some field of operation other than their own, they would probably not seem so super-human. There is no such thing as a human being who is superior to his associates in more than a few respects; and it has long been preached that everyone has some extraordinary talent.

Now is the time to discover and develop our own particular abilities which will help us in gaining a high ranking in some field.

Students Out of Control

High school people are always striving for sophistication and yet they pull off some of the most childish stunts. One of them is always getting mad at someone about nothing. A girl sees one of her best friends whispering to another girl and she immediately thinks they are talking about her. Result: One more swell friendship on the rocks.

That may sound silly, but it is the gospel truth. If you wear your feelings on your sleeve to be brushed by every passing breeze, they can't help but be hurt often. That's being out of control.

When you're mad, be mad, but don't show it. That's being sophisticated.

Do You Do Things or Just Get Credit?

"The world," Dwight Morrow once wrote to his son, "is divided into people who do things and people who get the credit. Try, if you can, to belong to the first class. There's far less competition."

There is no better example of this than high school activities. Some people do their share in the club, work when it is their turn and boss when it is their turn and for the most part, thoroughly enjoy the activities the club provides.

Other people wear themselves out trying to get out of work and still get credit for working, so that they do not have time to get any enjoyment from the various club activities.

The latter group is far in the majority, so if you do not relish too stiff competition prove yourself a worthy club member, and the habit you will form by doing so will be of great service to you in the endless competition life has to offer you.

Winners of Posture Contest To Be Announced

Winners of the posture contest, sponsored by the G. A. A. club, will be announced in next week's Quaker.

The contest was originated in an effort to improve the posture of the girls in Salem High.

Winners of the poster contest, held in connection with the posture contest, will also be announced at that time.

This Here an' That There

BY MARGIE KNISELEY

Here it is time for another column after two whole weeks of heaven! Heaven 'cause there was no column to write and more time for sleep!

Don't know how you feel about it, but I feel as though I'll never, never get enough shut eye!

Spring has sprung! At last! There for a while it looked as tho' we were forgotten by the weatherman and would be stuck with rain and dreary days! But now that the sun has really begun to shine, that sickness—commonly known as spring fever—is overtaking the majority of S. H. S. studes!

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to the thoughts of love—as the saying goes, and here is some proof of it: Gordon Hise and Sarabelle Clark strolling through town, window shopping. First it's a men's shop—then a dress store. This goes on nearly every day after school, so it could be love—puppy love!

Bob Lyons' curiosity got the best of him the other day and finally he asked: "What is that Riggs girl's name?" Of course, a helpful senior lass contributed "Marion Lee Riggs." So then Bob was satisfied, and he went merrily on his way, mumbling, "Yeh, that's it—Lee Riggs. Nice, too!"

Couple of the week: Don Sankey—a senior—and Eleanor Eberwein. Don't know what class she's in, but they go everywhere together and seem to have a mighty good time.

Wasted a perfectly good dream the other night on "Pom Pom" Pauline. Told that to someone and they cracked: "That was no dream—that was a nightmare!" After all, who am I to argue?

Congrats to the Varsity S Club! They really had a swell dance. Orchestra was good—to my notion—and Shy Lockson had a personality which went over big with the students! Better we should have more of this kind of dances!

Laugh of the week: Joe Morris cracked "Bashful" Lockson, eh? For those who don't get it, a diagram will be printed at a later date.

Bob Enriken and Lucia Sharp make up another couple yours truly has been seeing a lot of. The Varsity S dance and the Association party were two that I can name.

Here is how some were coupled at the Association party: Jane Davidson and Carroll Green, Betsy Roose and Jack Warner, Vivian Foltz and Jim Schaeffer, Polly Silver and Joe Morris (wonder what happened between Joe and Vee?), Helen Bender-Wade Broomall, Dorothy Green-George Lozier, Dot Milligan-Bill Wark. There were some "regulars," such as: Jane-Bill, Marge-John, Nan-Bob, goes on and on like this—so 'tis best I stop there!

Cute Nicknames: Dick Jaeger's is "John" to some people since a prof made the mistake. Then there is Esther Fowler, who answers to the name "Sweetpea." She's been called that for years and sorta answers to it automatically.

Larry Faini has a S. P., too. Thought he was different—but no, he's just like the rest. Likes a girl and doesn't do anything about it. Curious? Well, she works in the office and her pals call her "Spike." Got it?

Sara Knepper has a yearning for a senior lad. She thinks he's about the best ever. Want to ask you one thing, Sara? Are you going to be a teacher? Why? Well, I heard he's going to marry a school teacher . . . so plan accordingly!

Funny—not ha-ha funny, but peculiarly funny—how the lowly freshie falls for the almost unreachable senior. Have often wondered just what strange phenomenon causes this!

Notice to boys learning to dance: A good practice partner is a broom. At least it can follow you. One lad told me he uses a coal shovel. Guess that might work, too. Why not give it a try—least you can do is trip!

Libby Hart and Bob Beck have been making the rounds together. Have seen them ever so many places lately. Ya got sumpthin' there, Bob!

Best piece of the week: "The Story of the Three Little Fishies" as played by Kay Kyser and told by Ischabibble. First heard it when 'twas played by Enoch Light orchestra and sung by Peggie Mann. Seems to me Enoch Light introduced it too. Novel . . . to say the least!

Speaking of orchestras reminds me, we had a good one at the Association party. Riley Norris—the leader—can surely make that trumpet wail!

With this I leave till next week. . . . Bye now!

Tid Bits

Sometimes I wonder why I spend each lonely night Dreaming of a song.

How does everyone feel this weekend? You ought to be recuperated by this time.

Today, since there's nothing else to do, let's get out those old formals and go to a dance. Not a barn dance, just a nice quiet little, small dance, where you get pushed, shoved, tramped on, and have a good time.

And then look would you. Here comes the new Vice-President of the Association—Jimmie Schaeffer. And... well knock me over with a feather, —it's Vivian Foltz. They make a swell couple but who would have guessed it?

The music couldn't be better. There's Helen Lowry dancing with someone. I can't see whom but he's probably enjoying himself. She's a good dancer.

No dance would be complete without jitterbugs, but it's a shame we have to go to Jr. High to get them. I guess it's necessary though, because I promised to name the winners of the Hi-Y jitterbug contest. They are Roy Wise and Ray Faucet. They really swing something.

Nannabel Beardmore and Bob Clark are here. So is Bob and Barbara (you know them). And then Don Vincent and Bettie Sharp. There's a new angle!

Speaking of Sharps, Lucia Sharp is here too with Bob Enriken. And here, all this time, I didn't even know he cared.

And then it finally happened, Mary Lou Cope is here with the junior she's wanted to go with for ages. I wouldn't mention names or anything like that, but he's in the second period music class.

Betsy Roose is here with Jack Warner. They seem to be having a good time, too. Why don't you give him a break, Betsy?

That's that, except that May 5, Salemasquers is presenting another one-act play. It's good. The student body ought to enjoy it.

So long,
BUD.

On The Bench

By BOB DIXON.

Well, here we are, after an absence of two long weeks back at the job of pounding out another "kolum". There ought to be a wealth of material this time of year, what with track and baseball vaulting into the limelight. So here goes:

As you know the Quakers are quite some shakes in dual meets but the big question is how they'll look in the larger meets especially the Night Relays.

The competition is going to be so stiff that it'll take all they've got to be in the running. I was looking over the results of the Mansfield Relays, held last Saturday, and using them as a criterion, the boys from Salem are going to have an interesting day along about May 6.

The high hurdles went in 15.1 seconds which is plenty good. The best anyone has done here has been over 16 seconds. However, this was done on a comparatively slow track.

Another "hot" event was the pole vault. Johnny Linta from Mansfield goes over 13 feet consistently and will probably do it down here, if he comes.

Special Notice

Mr. Cope is looking for students who will volunteer to keep some Toledo Scott track men in their homes over-night the day of the Night Relays (May 6).

Please get in touch with him, if it is at all possible.

Hi-Y Addressed By Mr. Cope

Mr. Frederick E. Cope, head coach and faculty athletic manager, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Hi-Y Club last night. Mr. Cope spoke on his experiences at the Olympic games.

Members of the Junior class who plan to join the club next year were present to enjoy the interesting talk by Mr. Cope.

A new constitution which has been drawn up by the club was read and adopted unanimously. This constitution will be the foundation for all future Hi-Y clubs.

Next week the club will enjoy a scavenger hunt after which its meeting will be held at the home of Eugene Neale, a member of the club. Prizes will be awarded to the members of the winning team.

of notes of interest which concern this dynamic gentleman.

It seems he doesn't care so much for the old chemical H2O anymore, especially in the form of rain. He saw enough of it during vacation to last him indefinitely. All the plans for vigorous workouts during this period were rudely jolted by old man Jupiter Pluvius.

Then another thing is Cope's distinct favoritism for baseball over "roundball" (basketball) and his interest in the game. Last Sunday we were out at his ranch on the Damascus road getting some practice. It was there that he showed us what the game is supposedly all about.

For further information concerning that venture see "Bow Legs" Lyons.

If you're down at the Reilly field some afternoon and see some "cagey fox" leaning on a shovel, its probably Al Goodman. He's a real "rare occasion." Clarke will more than likely be near by also "busily engaged." Those two make up a real sight for sore eyes.

In reality, though, they have done some "right smart" work in making the track and infield look better than they have in years.

Mr. McDonald—All right, run up the curtain.

2nd Annual Ping Pong Tournery Started by Smith

Thirty Boys Participate In Contests Which End the Last of May

Ping Pong is the game of the hour these days, at least for the thirty boys that have entered the second annual high school ping pong tournament. The tournament is in charge of Mr. Smith, coordinator of athletics, who has had intramural programs. This is the second time such a ping pong tournament has been held at Salem High. Two years ago Mr. Brown had charge of a similar program.

There are thirty boys enrolled and the tournament is not to be an elimination affair but instead the boys drew numbers giving them a temporary position. Any boy may challenge another boy that is not more than two steps ahead and if he wins, he may step up two places. All boys must play at least one game per week and may play as many as they choose. Should a boy not accept a challenge he may be asked to exchange places with the challenger.

The tournament will last until the end of May, when the top four will battle for the championship in a two out of three series. This type of tournament stimulates interest among the boys to a greater extent than would be possible in an elimination affair since all boys good, bad or indifferent can play all month without being eliminated.

Fall Hi-Lites

Only a pin!
And it calmly lay
In the shining light
Of a bright noonday.
Only a boy
He saw the pin
And fired on it a look intent.
Only a chair—
It had no business there,
The boy put on a fiendish grin,
And on the seat of that chair he fixed the pin.
Only a man,
He sat on the chair,
And as he arose,
So did his hair.
Only a yell,
But an honest one,
It lacked all elements of fun,
And man and boy and pin and chair,
In wild combustion mingled there.

Racquetters Practice For Rayen Match

Team Schedule for '39 Announced by Mr. Jones

Members of the High school tennis team practiced at Mill Creek Park last Friday and Saturday in preparation for their coming season. Yesterday the team traveled to Youngstown where they battled Youngstown Rayen's crack team. Today the team is trekking to Youngstown where they will face a Youngstown East outfit.

The team this year is made up of Bob Vickers, Dick Berry, Jack Warner, Bill Rogers and one other player to be chosen later, the choice depending upon the boys' showing during the next two or three matches. The following boys are trying out for the fifth position: Jack Wright LeRoy Moss, Lee William, Stuart Wise and Bob Shaef-fer.

The following is the schedule for 1939. All home games will be played at the Salem Country Club.

Quakers Edge Boardman 72-71 Tues.

Result of Meet In Doubt Until Salem Scores In Broad Jump

The Salem High Quakers won their second consecutive meet of the year when they edged out Boardman by a 72 to 71 score in a triangular meet at Reilly Stadium last Tuesday.

The meet was a question up until the last minute, with Boardman pushing all the way. However, Salem's crack mile relay team came through with a victory and then Dunlap and Morris placed in the broad jump to ice the meet. Lisbon scored but 4½ points during the meet.

It was Boardman who walked off with the majority of the first places but couldn't match the Quakers' seconds and thirds. They took eight first places while Salem won six.

High scorer of the meet was Neil Williams of Boardman, who collected 18 points in winning the high jump, broad jump, and shot put and running second in the low hurdles. Kraja, also of Boardman, won three events and finished up with 15 markers.

Amos Dunlap ran a nice race in the low hurdles as he negotiated the distance in 27.6 seconds. This is fairly good time for the "lows" and with a second or so off that mark Amos would be up in the Night Relays.

In the high hurdles and the 100, Capt. Joe Morris was nosed out. However, the race in the hurdles afforded the maximum thrills as Joe battled Miller of Boardman all the way, only to be nipped in the stretch.

Students Attend Wesleyan Day

Emery, Rogers Enter League Contest

Last Tuesday afternoon, Mary Louise Emery and Bill Rogers participated in a League of Nations test, sponsored by the American Council of the League of Nations, New York City.

The test, of theme type and only open to seniors, was given to stimulate interest in movements for world peace.

The first prize winner of the contest will receive an all-expense paid trip to Europe. Other prizes will be given by various colleges to students of their respective states. These awards will consist of scholarships of different types.

Results of the test will be given within two or three weeks.

The test itself required three hours to complete.

Father of Country Honored by Stamp

The original painting, "Inauguration of Washington," by Chappel, serves as the theme of the central design of the new Washington inaugural stamp to be released Sunday at New York City.

The picture portrays Washington taking the oath of office on April 30, 1789. Considerable research was conducted, however, in reproducing the scene on the stamp because, owing to conflicting views of eye-witnesses and others, the arrangement on the original painting is not perfectly authentic. In the original painting by Chappel, Washington is shown with his right hand laid on the open Bible, which reposes on a red velvet cushion resting on the arms of Secretary Otis. Chancellor Livingston, administering the oath, is on the left, his arms resting on the cushion.

In the scene on the stamp, the arrangement of the characters is the same, but the designer added a small table between Washington and Livingston and a railing is shown in the foreground. The design for the railing is copied directly from a piece of the original railing.

Short Play Receives Second Rating

"Babbitt's Boy", which was entered in the District Play Contest held at Kent University last Friday and Saturday, received second rating.

Members of the cast are Mary Jane Lora, Harold Fitzsimmons, Lucia Sharp, Richard Capel, Ruth West, and Marjorie Layden.

These students, accompanied by Mr. McDonald, spent both Friday and Saturday at the University. They presented their play at 7:30 Friday evening and spent the remaining time listening to the productions given by the other schools in the district.

There were sixteen plays entered in the contest and the competition was much greater this year than it has been in former years.

Get Acquainted Mixer Held for Frosh

Last Thursday at 3:45 the Freshmen class held a mixer in the gym open for all freshmen.

There was dancing and an hour in which every member of the class "got acquainted" with his fellow members.

The mixer was made possible by the money made selling pencils.

The "Sultans of Swing" furnished the music for the dance which lasted from 3:45 to 5:00.

Dorothy Lutsch, Bill Rance and Bill Dunlap, officers of the class of '40 were the committee in charge of the affair. They were helped and guided by Miss McCready, freshmen adviser.

ALLEN FEHR

Well colleagues, it's time for another trip to scientific adventure-land. Have you got your bunsen burners adjusted? Got your flasks and retorts unfolded and the concentrated cow juice and portable horsefeathers ready? O. K. then, as Don Budge once said, quote,—Ready!?!—unquote.

This week we shall take a glimpse at the importance of correct diet. Strange as it may seem, eating is one of the most important things necessary in the life of man. To cease eating for as short a time as two months, is liable to prove fatal!

Some time ago, one of my col leagues who speaks over the air, gave the following menu as highly nutritive yet economical for children, 'who carry lunches to school:

First, toss in a 15 pound ham. Next, three or four cracked eggs (these are cheaper). Then butter eighteen or twenty slices of bread securely and heave them in also. (This provides the necessary bread in his diet). If the child is inclined to be the thirsty type, include a quart and a half of orange juice and a five gallon can heaping full of fresh cow milk. For the heavy eater, it is advisable to throw in an economical two pound loaf of wintergreen cheese and half of a banana split sundae. In case the child has to build his own camp-fire, include a bushel of kindling wood and a match.

There it is. If there are any suggestions or complaints in regard to this snack. "Write, don't telegraph."

Although some automobiles can go forward and some are capable of going backward, there is yet to be one which can go both ways at once.

Even the comic strips contain little gems of scientific interest! Several years ago, one of the most beloved characters of the comic strips, embarked on a revolutionary idea. When he was through getting the idea, it looked something like this. A rather strong hook, (although strength isn't absolutely essential) is secured to an electric light bulb. This facilitates carrying a light with you without the bother of a flashlight.

The following advertisement appeared in a country newspaper: "Old-established baker's business for sale; good oven; present owner been in it 11 years; good reason for leaving."

2 Students Enter Speech Contest

In addition to the open-house which it is holding today, Western Reserve College, Cleveland, Ohio, will hold the annual Western Reserve Speaking Contest.

Salem High will be represented in this affair by Bill Rogers and Howard Bennett. Rogers will enter the extemporaneous speech contest, while Bennett will give an oration.

Only a few months ago, Rogers entered the district extemporaneous eliminations and after copping first place there, he advanced to the state finals in Columbus.

Bennett, a promising orator, will be heard for the first time in any public contest today.

Students from both Pennsylvania and Ohio will participate in this convention.

Jr. High News

Duber Miller, eighth grader, was the high point man in the finals of the Junior High basketball tournament. Duber had 55 points to his credit at the end of the tournament.

The Junior track team under the supervision of Coach Carey and Mr. Gordon will start the regular practice Wednesday evening after school. At a later date, probably in May the Junior High track team and the Freshman from the High school will hold a track meet.

An assembly program was held recently at the Junior High School. A play entitled "Uncle Will-Becareful Broadcasts a Surprise" was presented. This play was a safety play and it was entertaining as well as beneficial to the student body.

Mr. Gordon announced recently that the soft ball season has now started. The teams have not yet been chosen but they will be some time in the near future.

The Junior High Orchestra, under the supervision of Mr. Walter Regal, played for the Kiwanis club Thursday.

A plaque was awarded to 8B for last year's basketball championship. This same plaque will be used each year and the name of the class winning it and the date will go on the front of the plaque. On the back will go the names of the boys on the winning team. Similar plaques will be used for the track teams, soft ball teams and other games.
