

Fred G. Bale Warns About 'Sheep Play'

Juvenile Court Judge Presented In Assembly Monday

Judge Fred G. Bale, who spoke to the student body last Monday, made each and every student sit up and take notice and take stock of himself.

For eight years he was the judge in the juvenile court in Columbus, and during that time learned many valuable tricks about handling young people and their problems.

He was a powerful speaker and a great dramatist and gave the students a worthwhile talk.

Judge Bale stated that every year, 1600 young people were brought before him and that he very rarely found a really malicious youth who was a habitual criminal.

The outstanding cause for juvenile delinquency, according to Mr. Bale, is carelessness. In other words, not stopping to think what one is doing until it is too late. He believes that the younger generation is really superior in many ways. That basically, they are fine, clean, and moral and are more critical of what they see and hear.

Warns Against "Ruts"

Judge Bale cautioned the students not to get in a rut because in his opinion, "a rut is a grave with both ends kicked out." He referred to a sign he once read on a dirt road, filled with deep ruts. It read, "Pick your rut very carefully. You'll be in it for the next twenty-five miles."

He used the old phrase "sheep follow sheep", making it refer to people. He used it to apply to finger nail polish, mustaches, smoking and the drinking of alcoholic beverages.

Hits Drinking

He very eloquently brought out the seriousness of drinking beer, wine, and liquor. He told of a meeting of 350 scientists and said that there were four points about alcohol on which they agreed unanimously. They were:

Hansell Is Winner of Pencil Contest

Honors in the freshman pencil contest, which closed October 2, went to Herbert Hansell and Twyla Metts who sold 125 and 67 pencils respectively.

Hansell was awarded a Chicago pencil sharpener as first prize, while Miss Metts received the second prize of a leather pencil case.

The awards were made by Mabel Hostetler and Gene McArtor, chairmen of the pencil sales in the winning rooms.

Guiler Conducts Debate Tryouts

Tryouts for the debate team are to be conducted next Thursday by Mr. J. C. Guiler. A meetin of those interested was held last Tuesday when Mr. Guiler gave instructions for tryin out. To do this one must give a three minute speech on any debatable subject. Mr. Guiler stated that if anyone interested in debate, who did not attend the meeting last Tuesday, would see him tonight or Monday there would still be time to prepare for a try out.

The national debate question for high schools this year is, "Resolved, that the federal government should own and operate the railroads."

Opportunities for a place on the team are quite good since there is only one regular, Louis Raymond, and two alternates, Alice Ruth Vincent and Ethel Hill, left from last year's team.

Will Join League

This year Salem High School is going to join both the debate and extemporaneous speaking sections of the Ohio Debate League. There will be about six practice debates during the latter part of November and early December, and about six decision debates, beginning about January 15. Salem will also enter the district meet which it won last year.

A feature of the season for the debaters will be the annual tips to Columbus, early in December, to hear a Big Ten debate and take part in the debate clinic to be held on the O. S. U. campus.

Senior Quintet Tells Kiwanians Of Boys' State

Are Guest Speakers At Regular Meeting Monday

Five senior boys, Allen Fehr, Eugene McCready, Mike Nicora, Jim Schaeffer, and Jack Warner, who attended Boys' State last June, spoke at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon.

The boys told of their experiences and of the functions of Buckeye Boys' State, sponsored by the American Legion. This year, the Kiwanis club paid the expenses of one of the group.

Fehr told about registration, the living quarters, electioneering of candidates, and getting settled in the camp. McCready explained about the elections and their results as well as the campaign rally held the night before the elections. Warner told of the jobs each of the quintet "landed" and described the duties of each. Schaeffer related his experience in helping to rob the Boy's State bank and recounted various cases brought before the courts at Boys' State. Nicora described the assemblies enjoyed in the evenings by the boys and gave the highlights of each program.

Beside the Kiwanis club, who sent one representative to the camp, the Junior Chamber of Commerce pair the expenses of one, the local American Legion post, two, and members of the Legion post contributed enough to send another.

The quintet plans to give the same talk to the Legion post sometime in the near future

James M. McDonald Leaves; Becomes Principal At Willard

Mr. James McDonald, English and dramatics instructor, resigned October 5 to become principal of Willard High school at Willard.

Mr. McDonald has been a teacher at Salem High for the past four years. In accepting his resignation, Mr. Kerr explained, it was decidedly a promotion for Mr. McDonald.

Mr. McDonald, who took over his new duties last Monday, was selected for the Willard principalship from forty-nine other applicants.

He is a graduate of Ohio State university, where he received his Master of Arts degree, specializing in school administration, which equips him for his new position. He also received his Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State.

Other colleges he attended were Penn State College, Pasadena Players School and the University of Southern California.

Before coming to Salem, Mr. McDonald taught at Clark High School, Pittsburgh, and Verona High School, thirteen miles from Pittsburgh. At those schools, he was athletic director and coached football, track and basketball.

Ludwig Is Elected Kiwanis President

Beman G. Ludwig, principal of Junior High School, was named president of the Salem Kiwanis club for the next year, and a delegate to the annual district convention at Cleveland in October. Mr. Ludwig has served as vice president during the year.

Harold G. Williams, High School principal, who was president of the club during 1938, was named a director for a two year term.

Quakers Hold Liverpool To 6-6 In Annual Fray

Wukotich's Pile-Driving Responsible For Tally In Second Quarter; Lineup Undergoes Change

Playing an inspired game in the role of the underdogs, the Salem High Quakers fought the East Liverpool Potters to a thrilling 6-6 tie before a crowd of 8,500 at Patterson field in East Liverpool last Friday night.

Although the Potters were slated to carry the battle and win by a couple of touchdowns the Red and Black lads did not seem to have read up on the advance dope, as they went to work and proceeded to hang up a second quarter touchdown. This was done through the efforts of Marvin Wukotich whose pile-driving line thrusts put the ball over the double lines.

Change In Lineup

The Quakers went on the field with an entirely different lineup from that of the first two games of the season. At center, in place of Melvin Wukotich, who had held down the pivot slot for two years, was Felix DiAntonio. A sophomore, DiAntonio had been placed at a guard position at the start of the season. His performance at center after only a week of practice was truly outstanding. And the player whom he replaced, Wukotich, was inserted in the backfield. His play at the blocking back post was highly commendable. Both these boys should improve vastly this week in their new positions due to the experience gained from actual play.

Other bright performances for Salem, beside that of the incomparable "Bronko" Wukotich, were turned in by Capt. Joe Vender and Carroll Greene. Their vicious tackling made them invaluable on defense.

Other bright performances for Salem, beside that of the incomparable "Bronko" Wukotich, were turned in by Capt. Joe Vender and Carroll Greene. Their vicious tackling made them invaluable on defense.

The Hon. John W. Bricker, Governor of Ohio, will speak at the banquet tonight.

Mr. Williams is a member of the Ohio High School Principals' Association and of the Department of Secondary School Principals of the National Education Association.

East Liverpool Strikes

After Salem had tallied in the second period the game progressed rather peaceably until the first part of the fourth quarter. It was then that E. Liverpool struck. As it has been in the past two years in which Salem has been defeated, the blow came through the air. A short pass to Bruno, Potter halfback, was completed. He was surrounded and about to be tackled when he suddenly flipped a short lateral to McGillivray, the big gun of the river team, who raced 60 some yards down the sidelines for a score.

Both teams failed to convert the extra points.

The game which proved to be a moral victory for the Quakers was a close, hard-fought contest which provided numerous thrills for the largest crowd of the season.

French Class Turns To Literary Works

Miss Roth's second year French class has already started to read one of the many books to be read this year.

Last year's class got to read only one book, and so this year the students have already started to read "L'Abbe Constantin."

Strayton Withdraws

Robert Stayton, who was a member of the freshman class, withdrew from school here and moved to Berlin Center.

Sixty-Eight Members Make Up S.H.S. Band This Year

Sixty-eight playing members and two drum majors make up the Salem High school Band for this year. Mr. Brautigam, director, stated that the band promises to be one of the best concert bands that the school has ever had.

This musical organization has become an important part of the school since it was first organized in 1928 by Samuel Krauss at which time it was composed of twenty-six students. Thomas McCullough was the director of the band of twenty-eight pieces in 1929, which for the first time had a drum major. Mr. Brautigam, the present director, took over in 1930, conducting thirty-three members. That year, new black uniforms trimmed in red, appeared. In 1932 the band had sixty-five members and in this year first started forming letters while on the field at football games.

Gets New Uniforms

The band obtained fifty new red uniforms for the first football game in 1935. Each year several more uniforms are bought so a larger marching band is possible. On May 9, 1930, the band first presented a concert, which has now become an annual event, as has the Band Dance, which was first sponsored by the band in the school year 1933-'34.

The band has played and will continue to play at all home football games this year. It went to

Do You Appreciate "Movies"?

Ask any average American girl what actress played in which moving picture and she is sure to answer with this information as well as a detailed explanation of the star's wardrobe and a breathless description of the leading man's profile. It's common knowledge that the movies are the most universal source of entertainment, that everybody who is anybody follows the careers and the private lives of all the Hollywood celebrities.

There are two kinds of movie fans. First there's the kind who goes to the "show" every Saturday night and who reads every page of every screen magazine. This type will also prefer to miss the best picture of the year than bank night.

Then there are those who appreciate good acting and who know the moving picture as an effective medium of good acting. It is for this following that producers spend millions of dollars on classics, and experiment with unknown players so that they may create worth-while screen drama.

Do you belong to the once-a-week mob, or can you pick a really good picture without the aid of a screen magazine?

Sail On! Sail On!

Although Christopher Columbus had a great insight he had no way of knowing that his discoveries would be the changing of the entire world. He believed that the world was round when everyone else believed that one would drop off into some dark, horrible pit never to return. Columbus was not a sheep, he stuck to what he thought was right even though he was declared insane by everyone. In 1492 Columbus began the voyage that changed the world map considerably. He made several voyages and set up colonies on Espanola (now North America). He then visited South America and not long after was put in chains of his malicious enemies. The king and queen had him freed and he began another voyage but this one ended in grief and desolation. Everything he did seemed to fail, his colonies had not been a success, and his ships were ready to fall to pieces. Columbus had been ill through most of his last voyage and soon after he went back to Spain disappointed and worn out he died without knowing he had discovered a new world, without the fame or credit he deserved but since then he has been hailed as one of the greatest of all times.

— HE —

He has green eyes, light brown hair, and he is 5 feet 7 inches tall. His home room is 205, a Junior home room. This lad collects stamps in some of his spare time. His favorite sports are basketball and baseball. He is basketball manager and likes his job very much. Ray Lowry doesn't as yet have the least idea what he is going to do when he has finished school. He'd like to do several things such as building bridges and perhaps fly airplanes. If you'd like to see those green eyes flash just ask him how he acquired his new nick name of "sneeze-light."

— SHE —

A combination of blonde hair, blue eyes and a sparkling personality makes this week's personality very interesting indeed. A member of the G. A. A., naturally she is fond of all sports but particularly swimming. Speaking of swimming brings to mind sunny beaches and the mention of sun brings up tans and this lassie really acquires a beautiful one in the "good old summer time". In her more serious moments she likes to read. She would like to become a nurse some day and here's hoping she does, for her smile will cure more than a few. Joyce Stratton is her name, if you haven't already guessed it.

Fire Prevention Week

The week of October 8 to 14 is celebrated Nationally as "Fire Prevention Week." The week should impress upon the American public the importance of fire prevention, and should be entered into with an open mind and a desire to better the present conditions.

Fire maps and fire hazards should be made known today as the common hazards in their homes, hazards which threaten the lives of those near and dear to them. It is the purpose of teaching the public to recognize the hazards and know how to avoid the recurrence of these hazards is to protect you in the future.

Knepper Returns Foiled, Snipeless, From Hi-Tri Hunt

Have you ever considered taking up big-game hunting as a hobby or even as a profession? If you have, kindly consult Salem High's own exponent of the bring-em-back alive art. It's none other than fearless, death-defying senior lassie, Sis (Frank Buck Knepper).

What's that, you doubt the veracity of my statement? You don't think Sissie could catch a cold, let alone a man-eating tiger?

Well, fellow hunters, try to keep your wits and a straight face and I will relate a tale of blood-curdling adventure in a dark and dangerous forest.

It happened at that wild and uncivilized spot known as Sevakeen Lake. Our eminent young sports-woman, Miss Knepper, was accompanied by members of that world-famed hunters' club, the Hi-Tri. The object of their intense search was that ferocious and deadly bird, the snipe.

Oh, yes, reader, do not be now risk their pretty necks to capture this rare specimen.

Finally, they came to the snipe country and there they stopped. Quietly and efficiently the hunters laid their trap.

Sissie, brave hunter that she is, was elected to remain behind and have the honor of personally capturing the elusive quarry. She was equipped with the two requisites of snipe hunting, a flashlight and a burlap sack, and was left alone while the other members of her party went out into the underbrush to stir up the snipe and chase them into the waiting arms of our heroine.

Excited at the prospect of becoming famous as a snipe hunter, Sis sat down, held open the sack and waved the flashlight about in an effort to spot the little snipe.

But alas, no snipe was forthcoming from the forest and neither were any of the Hi-Tri girls.

Then, in the face of dangers from all sides, did the brave hunter give up? No, she did not. She was firmly resolved to return with some snipe or know the reason why.

Well, to make an already long story short, Sissie did return to the civilized world without any snipe and she also doesn't know the reason why. Can any of you hunters enlighten her?

Bumps And Bruises Prevalent; Roller Skating Is Blamed

Skinned knees, bruised elbows, and sore muscles, are again in vogue due to a revival of the popular pastime, roller skating.

Many a lad or lassie from S. H. S. has sallied forth to Salem's Skateland in eager anticipation of a night's harmless fun, only to come home bruised and battered. But after two or three nights of this, the skater has enough control of his unwieldy pedal extremities to venture forth with new confidence.

Two-Stepping, waltzing, and trucking, are practiced by the more experienced skaters.

During a ten minute interval, many acrobatic feats are exhibited by skilled skaters.

"Raising Cain" ends in a harvest of bitterness.

Quaker News of Yesteryear

October 15, 1937

Running for the first time this season under stiff competition, Coach R. B. Clarke's harriers had a tough time of it last Saturday morning when they met the long-winded runners from Akron East and three other thinclad teams.

Holding their first meeting of the year, the Salemasquers met in Room 200 and elected officers for the coming year.

The following officers were elected: President, Lionel Difford; vice president, Mary Helen Bruderly; secretary, Verna Carpenter; and treasurer, Jane Cope.

Going to the polls for the first time in their high school careers, the Salem High freshmen elected George Baillie, Robert Ballantine, and Mary Alice Leipper, class officers for the '37-'38 school year.

The biology laboratory has added a new name to its list of pets. This time it's a chameleon and has received the name of "Gecko" from Mrs. Cox.

Miss Beardmore, senior class adviser, announced Monday that the orders for Senior class jewelry must be made by October 18.

The cost of the boys' rings is $8.15 while the girls' cost $7.40 and the pins $4.50 plus tax.

Mr. Morgan noted author, traveler and member of the California legislature, spoke to the students of Salem High School on the subject, "What's the Use."

The legislature spoke in Salem fifteen years ago at a chautauqua.

Verna Brown, a graduate of Salem High School, class of '36, acted as Queen of the Harvest Prom at Penn College last week. Besides being honored by being voted queen, she was recently voted the most popular Penn co-ed in a college poll.

"Dame Fortune" frowned upon Salem High School's Quakers and snatched a seemingly certain victory from them in the last few seconds of their contest with Liverpool at Patterson field, to five the Potters the game, 19-13.

Members of the Girls' Glee club have elected Dorothy Krauss for president, Avanel Barnard for vice president, and Helen Picicar for secretary-treasurer.

A part of perio deach week is devoted to singing in the Spanish II classes. The pupils, under the capable direction of Senorita Hollett, have started on their first song, "Adios mi Chapaparrita," a love song of Spain. In English this means "Goodbye My Sweetheart."

Mt. Union Invites Gridders, Seniors

Salem seniors, members of the football squad, and faculty, have been invited to attend Homecoming Day at Mount Union College on October 14, by W. H. McFall, Alumni secretary. Those attending can see the football game between Mount Union and Kent State University and other special attractions.

Mr. McFall stated in a letter to Mr. Williams that the only charge for those attending will be five cents per ticket, which is a state tax.

Mr. Williams said that transportation at a minimum cost will be provided for interested students.

ON THE BENCH

By "B. Dix"

Wrong again! That's me. Once I take a dive in a vain attempt to call the correct score of a simple little thing like a football game. You may think it's simple but try it some time and see how you come out. . . Since I have been razzed so much about last week's efforts I am temporarily giving up the practice in favor of some other gentlemen. I've decided that someone else can take the rap this week and so I call on my partners to inform you as to the outcome of tonight's fracas. If you cast your eyes somewhere around the bottom of the page you'll see their prediction. Consider it carefully and remember it. If it's wrong I'll expect them to be reminded of it just as much as I have been . . . if not more.

It sort of gripes me about some of these gentle reminders that I've received the past week in view of that prediction. Almost anyone you might have asked last Friday would have predicted a loss for the Quakers. And a lot of them did. Even some of the faculty. But, as I was the only one who was able to voice my opinion publicly I have to be the sucker. Oh well! What a life.

Incidentally the greatest forecaster of us all is none other than Prof. A. V. Henning. It was he who, last week, picked 20 games out of a possible 30 to win a tremendous sum of governmental currency. He won over some of the most illustrious gentlemen in the city including our own Messers. Brown, Clarke, and Cope. Good for you, Al!

Our cross-country squad met with a crushing defeat last week when they ran amuck with Akron East. Akron took the first ten places. The outstanding feature of the race was the wonderful performance of the "Great O'Connel" who came screaming down the home stretch to finish a mighty fourteenth. Big "Slats" Entriiken and Bartchey finished ahead of the old master who, 'tis rumored, ran the race in a pair of football shoes.

The big bet of the week as far as I'm concerned is the one Clarke and I have dreamed up over the DukePitt game. He picked Duke while I think the Panthers will drag down the win. Though there is still a 2-coke lead on my side the margin may be wiped out this week unless the gods favor me. I suppose we'll have one for the Salem Struthers game for tonight but at the time this goes to print we haven't decided on the terms as yet.

Now on the subject of tonight's game. A lot of people seem to think that we're a cinch to win the game. But you can't tell. For as far back as I can remember, Struthers has never put a team on the field or on the floor that was a cinch to beat. And tonight will be no exception.

The team (our team) is riding pretty high since our first two victories and a moral victory over the Potters, and is about ripe to be knocked off. I won't commit myself but watch out!

Ask Mr. Carey of Junior High how he came out last week on his football choices. It seems, according to one F. E. C. that he was quite a bit off in his calculations.

One consolation that we have to look forward to tonight is the fact that we won't have to be worried about anyone by the name of "Swede" Anderson. He finally graduated, thank heaven.

Don't say I didn't tell you. So long.

Library Purchases 'Wuthering Heights'

Among the new books purchased for the library are two new and exceptionally good novels for high school students.

The first of these, "Wuthering Heights", by Emily Bronte has long been considered by critics and general readers the greatest novel ever written by a woman. The enormous popularity of the recent motion picture has made the immortal character of Cathy, Heathcliff, Ellen, Edgar and all the rest more real and vivid than ever to modern readers and movie goers. This book contains sixteen full pages of photographs of the very people who have been seen talking and moving on the screen, bringing back the great moments of the story. But only in the book itself can be found the full story, the complete adventures of all these people.

"Discovery", the second of these novels, is the story of the second Byrd Antarctic Expedition. This trip was made using most primitive means and also the most modern, pushing on by ship, dog team, and by airplane, Admiral Byrd and his men penetrated to the very heart of the Antarctic. In all twenty-two branches of science will profit from the discoveries for which these men risked their lives.

In this great book Admiral Byrd tells the whole magnificent story of geographical exploration, scientific achievement and adventure. Here is the living, glowing, human story of discovery and the reactions of a man who faced self-imposed isolation for the benefit of science as told by this man Admiral Byrd.

Try to discover your own shortcomings before your teacher does.

Library Reveals Beauty Secrets

Girls, that elusive quality called, "Good Looks," is knocking at your door!

You can get practical advice, useful to any girl or woman, and written by an expert, by merely inquiring at the library for a book entitled, "Good Looks for Girls."

The author, Miss Hazel Rawson Cades, is Good Looks Editor of The Women's Home Companion, and for years she has been advising girls on how to become good-looking, charming, and popular.

The book proves that "good looks" are within the grasp of any girl who will take the trouble to secure it. It depends more on how she takes care of the details of appearance than on whether she happens to have regular features and naturally curly hair.

The chapters tell in detail how to care for the hair, how to treat the skin, when and how to use make-up, how exercise affects good looks and what specific exercise do for definite reduction or building-up problems. The book describes not only the care of the body, but the elements of style and dress selection which a girl must know to be well-dressed.

Girls strive to attain beauty and boys seek strength. The latter topic is discussed in another new book at the library which is called "The Boys' Book of Strength," the author of which is C. Ward Crampton, who is a medical doctor.

He shows how to build up a "training schedule" the way varsity athletes do, how to develop man-sized muscles and a fine all-round physique, how to keep in physical trim so that one is "ready for anything." It's all in the secret of the right kind of exercise, breathing, diet and habits. That secret is disclosed in this interesting book by Dr. Crampton.

Those who habitually keep late hours seldom rise early or far.

Two Music Classes Started This Year

Mrs. Satterthwaite, music instructor, has announced that there will be music I for beginners in music in high school, and music II for those who have taken music in high school before. Heretofore there was just a chorus class in which those who had taken music before in high school were mixed with those who hadn't.

The new plan is expected to make it easier for both classes of students.

The music I classes will use "The Singing Youth" music book. They are now working on folk songs. In the future they plan to study operettas, holiday songs, patriotic songs, and others.

Since there are very few boys in the music II classes, and the boys enrolled sing soprano, the music classes will sing in three part treble voices.

JIVE'S SELECTIONS—

BAND OF THE WEEK: None other than HARRY JAMES and his ULTRA-MODERN MUSIC. Harry hasn't done so bad for himself since the day that he packed his trumpet and left B. G. to make a name for himself. Not bad at all! He's got a swell group of musicians—and Harry gets off some mean arrangements. The group is now being featured at New York's famous and favorite — THE INTERNATIONAL CASINO.

RECORD OF THE WEEK: Not that I favor Glenn Miller especially, but he really did get off a swell waxing about two weeks back. It's called "SOLD—AMERICAN" and imitates very cleverly the sing-song chant of the American tobacco auctioneer. You'll find it on a Bluebird Platter.... I'm warning you... IT'S GOOD!

SONG OF THE WEEK : I guess this has just got a' be!.... At least it's sellin more copies than any other song on the market.... It's from "The Starmaker"—remember "A MAN AND HIS DREAMS?"... Darned Nice!

Special bulletin! Artie Shaw has withdrawn his "Old Gold" contract away ahead of schedule! When asked his reason for withdrawal Artie exclaimed "My contract called for producing music for the show and not gag-lines! Anyway, we've just been booked at the New Yorker for the winter and when they change the broadcast to Saturday, I don't feel I'm doing justice to the management by leaving the stand twice on the biggest night of the week! And so Robert Benchley joined the "ciggie" show last Tuesday without Artie Shaw! If you ever want to throw away $20,000 extra a week, just ask Artie how—he'll tell you!

Review of Bob Crosby:
Bob Crosby, eminent Dixieland bandleader, and brother of movie star Bing, played to a jammed house at the new Youngstown dance spot, "The Elms," last night. Bob has developed a very pleasing personality in the past year or so, and his band has developed from nothing to one of the five most popular bands of today! We were treated to a real array of "jive" and "swing" through Bob and his "scat" vocals—Ray Bouduk and his masterful control of the drums—Bobby Haggart, his extremely swell "slap-bass" playing plus his ultra-swell arrangements and Eddie Miller, the tenor sax man supreme and his interpretations. Mixing blues with Dixieland styles, the band was smooth as a baby's cheek. (I said baby, not babe!) And they drew more applause than I think any band will draw there in a long time to come. The "Bobcats" were "in there" last night as was Helen Ward beautiful Crosby vocalist. As usual, "South Rampart Street Parade," by young Robert Haggart drew the biggest response. We can now surely see why the Camel Caravan show has picked Bob Crosby and his orchestra to take that big Tuesday night spot! Confidentially, I was very well pleased. — So Long.

Tryouts For Boys' Glee Club Are Held

Tryouts for boys interested in the boy's glee club were held in the music room a week ago last Monday at 3:20, but the successful candidates have not yet been announced. The members of the club will be divided into sections, as alto, bass, tenor, baritone.

Among the more prominent vocalists of Salem High that are in school glee clubs are Margaret Fronius, Andrew Strank, Ruth West and Victoria Cosgarea.

Margaret and Ruth won alternate and superior ratings in the state contest last year. Victoria and Andrew were featured in a recital given by Mrs. Oderan. Victoria has also sung for assemblies at high school as well as several clubs.

Your opinion of others is apt to be their opinion of you.

Appears In Parade

The first public appearance of the band this year was in the Fall Festival Parade. It will also march in the Halloween and Memorial Day Parades.

Again this year the band will sponsor a dance which is to be held on Wednesday, December 27, and also, in an attempt to bring an outstanding musical group to Salem, will sponsor a concert by Herbert Petrie and his White Hussars, on November 13.

The band will enter the district contest for high school bands again this year, and Mr. Brautigam also expressed the hope that students would be interested in the annual district solo and ensemble contest.

Four new uniforms have been ordered to increase the number of suits and also two identical drum major uniforms.

For the next two or three weeks the band will specialize on trying to improve its marching.

Fred G. Bale Warns

1. Alcohol has no food or economic value.

2. It has no stimulative quality.

3. Alcohol is a habit forming narcotic drug.

4. Alcohol is a race poison

There are only three race poisons, syphilis, white lead, and alcohol. By race poisons, he meant that they directly affect the protoplasm of people and thereby affect their posterity in horrible ways.

In closing, Mr. Bale said, "Don't ever do anything that will, in any way, spoil the dreams and ideals you have planned for your future."
