

Lehman Appoints Ballantine To Be Managing Editor

Bob Ballantine, junior, has been named managing editor of the Quaker weekly, it was announced recently by Faculty Advisor H. C. Lehman.

Bob, who is a monitor and a member of the recently organized Slide Rule club, has been an active member of The Quaker editorial staff this year. He was the editor of this, the men's issue, and will take over most of the responsibilities of the weekly during the second semester.

Mr. Lehman explained that this has been done so that Allen Fehr, editor-in-chief and who is also in charge of the yearbook, will be able to work on the annual during the second half-year, when the work becomes the heaviest. The annual staff will be chosen in the near future.

Hobby Theme Is Used In Display

The library display window has been used for hobby displays during the last several weeks. Several stamp collections are in the window including the first day covers of the presidential commemorative series which have been furnished by Mr. Sander.

Mr. Beardmore, the Salem postmaster, has also furnished several first day covers from his collection and Mr. Williams has placed a group of United States commemorative half dollars in the window. To help anyone interested in hobbies, Miss Lehman has several books on reserve.

Psychologist Gives Answer Concerning Love Business

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Does a High school boy, a junior, have a right to be "in love," or is this love business all "bunk" anyway, interfering too much with a man's career? If a boy insists on falling in love, wouldn't it be better for him to wait at least ten or fifteen years after High school before succumbing?

These are problems facing Salem High school students, and here, in part, is the answer given by an outstanding psychologist, Dr. George Lawton, in the "Scholastic" magazine for December 11, 1939.

Dr. Lawton writes: "It is important to realize that the chief task of a man is to work and his main joys come from successes in the field of practical accomplishment. It is a rare individual who can be happy unless he feels that society recognizes the value of what he is doing. One of the most painful emotional experiences is a man's realization that he is an economic failure, for it destroys his self-respect, disorganizes his personality and ruins his sense of security in the world. Such an individual is going to find it difficult to be a satisfactory husband or father. Even if he is successful in his relations with the opposite sex, this

Boys Publish This Quaker

This, the Men's Issue, is put out annually by the male members of The Quaker editorial and business staffs without the invaluable (so the females think) help of the weaker sex. People generally think that it is impossible to do a good piece of work of this kind without the female helping out in its preparation and production, but the boys are proving by this issue that this is a misconception.

All the boys on the staff have worked hard to put out this paper, and they hope that the readers enjoy it.

Hi-Y Holds "Fun Nite" At Meeting

"Fun-nite" was held by members of the Hi-Y club a week ago Thursday evening. Bob Dixon, Solbert Matz, and Bob Leider presented "A radio program from station Hi-Y."

Mr. Herbert Jones sang two songs, one of which was "Billy." The members were unanimously in favor of having Mr. Jones appear on one of the assembly programs.

Jack Doyle gave an interesting two-minute speech on "How I got wavy hair in a week."

Don Rich gave a talk on "Why I am so popular with the girls."

Several other members sang, gave orations or performed other assignments.

Plans are progressing for a joint meeting with the Hi-Tri club.

Kent High School Day Is Saturday

Kent State University will hold its annual High School Day on the campus a week from tomorrow. Registration is only for juniors and seniors. The program will include: Tours of the campus, welcome by President K. C. Leebrick, scenes from the play "Beggar on Horseback," presented by the University theater; program of women's physical activities, swimming exhibition, informal dancing, and at night a basketball game.

Fehr Takes First Place In Contest

Allen Fehr, editor of the Quaker, won first prize of five dollars in the News Writing Contest sponsored by the Canton Repository.

Fehr's essay was entitled "God's Country," based on an article in the Salem News concerning persons getting their citizenship papers.

To enter the contest pupils were to pick a newspaper and to follow it for a week and then to write an essay of no more than 250 words pointing out the significance of the event that they found most interesting in that newspaper.

These are ten contests, one each week for ten consecutive weeks. Fehr was the winner in the contest for the third week out of 213 contestants. There are two divisions in the contest. One is for students in the city of Canton and one for students of Stark and surrounding counties.

Archers Choose Name for Club

Members of the Three Feathers club are now making holders for arrows and bows from coat hangers and empty five-gallon oil cans. These holders are being constructed in the industrial arts room.

Three Feathers is the newly chosen club name of the High School Archery club and was chosen because each arrow has three feathers. The members have archery practice every Friday at 4:00 p. m.

The club has written to the National Association for information concerning the spring and summer tournaments. The Three Feathers club has set a limit of 25 members. Students who apply for membership after the limit has been reached will be put on the waiting list.

Play Is Feature At Club Meeting

Cleo Santee, chairman of last week's Hi-Tri program committee, directed a reading presented at the meeting a week ago Thursday. The reading was given by Lucia Sharp, playing the role of Mrs. Pease. The characters described in the reading were portrayed as follows:

The twins, Betty Percival and Nannabel Beardmore; village beauty, Elizabeth Hart; sister Jene, Ruth West; Ann Eliza, Ruth Alice Stoudt; mother, Ethel Mae Hill; Grandpa Hobbs, Marjorie Harroff; Eben, Mrs. Pease's husband, Eva Reader; Mrs. Pease as a little girl, Helen Knepper.

Reports were given by the chairmen of each of the Hi-Tri groups on their respective programs.

Alumnus Receives Honor at School

In a letter to Mr. H. M. Williams, principal, Miss Evelyn B. Gordon, head of the English department at Bliss College, Columbus, stated that Miss Mary Jane Lora, graduate of Salem High school in the class of '39, had received honorable mention in English at the college.

Miss Gordon explained that on "Recognition Day," held annually sometime during the second week in December, each student is rated in each class as to application, progress, attitude, attendance, punctuality and standing. It was at this program that Miss Lora received this special recognition.

Miss Gordon wrote: "Mary Jane has a good background in grammar, which will be a great asset to her in achieving success in the secretarial field. English is very important, but many young folks fail to give it the proper consideration in their education."

Sportsmen Hear Talk by Boring

Mr. Boring, Columbiana county game warden, gave a talk to the members of the Outdoor Sportsmen club at a special meeting last Friday.

Australian Will Speak Before Students At Assembly

"Australia, A New United States," is the subject which Dr. James Marshall, native Australian, graduate of Australian Universities, scholar, economist, and naturalist, will discuss before an association assembly next Thursday.

Dr. Marshall knows his native country as few men do, from the modern city of Sydney to the gold mines of the magic city of Kalgoorlie. Besides being so well informed on his own country, he has also visited forty-six of the forty-eight states in the United States.

Australia, which is the youngest nation of the New World, is a stable democracy of the most advanced type. It has permitted women to vote since as far back as 1893 and it has free and compulsory education and a free press.

Australia's close connection to the United States of America is not so well known. With a constitution modeled on the American constitution it has a house of representatives of the people, a senate representing the sovereign states and a Supreme Court. The steel, transportation, mining and irrigation industries in Australia owe their development to American genius and enterprise.

In his talk Dr. Marshall, besides telling of the social and economic aspect of Australia, tells of the glorious and amazing animals, birds and vegetation of this great continent.

This assembly will be open to association members only. Admission to non-association members will be fifteen cents.

Principals Honor Retired Teacher

Miss Elizabeth Horne, retired teacher of the Salem Public Schools, was honored at a testimonial dinner in the Presbyterian Church last night.

The dinner was arranged by the Principals of the Salem schools at the School Boards suggestion. Miss Natalie Sharpnick, principal of McKinley school, was general chairman.

Superintendent E. S. Kerr was in charge of the program following the dinner. Talks were given by Mrs. Matilda Fernangel-Albright.

Yearbook Orders Due Monday

Orders for the 1940 Quaker annual have been taken during the past week and will continue to be taken until the deadline, next Monday afternoon. If a non-association member wishes to get a yearbook, he must order one in the Quaker office, not later than Monday, and must pay a deposit of fifty cents.

The large part of the student body is assured a copy under the association plan, but those who are not association members must purchase one if they want one. The cost of the yearbooks this year will be two dollars, which is, as nearly as can be figured, the actual cost of the books.

Non-association members are urged to get a copy of the annual if it is at all possible, for the reason that, probably next to his diploma, a student's annual is the best recollection or remembrance of his high school days that he will have. Twenty years from now, he can look back on his high school career in his annual, which is a record of his activities, his classes, his teachers, and his friends.

Let's Be Better Sports

It's a sure thing that everyone who left the Salem High gym last Saturday evening left with a feeling of having seen a splendid game. But how about the visiting students and players from Youngstown? They could have left with but one idea of our school and students, the idea that we are very poor sports. They were here as visitors and yet the treatment that they received hardly showed it.

Near the end of the game when the score was really close, any of the South boys who attempted a shot did it with difficulty because of all the shouting and boing of the crowd in an attempt to make him nervous.

What kind of a reputation can a school with this type of sportmanship expect? After all, Salem plays games away from home and we expect fair treatment. When watching any kind of game or contest let's all remember, as Jack Starr says, "If you can't take part in some sport, be one."

School Calendar

Five association assemblies have been scheduled for the second semester according to the second semester school calendar released by Mr. Williams this week. Dr. James Marshall with an illustrated lecture on Australia appears here on Thursday, February 1st. On February 19th, the Melville glass blowers; on April 18th, Jim Wilson, globe trotter will discuss his travels; on May 1st, Jack Ramon will present a talk on "Our Reptile Friends"; and on May 9th, the Grosjean Musical Review will bring a program of music which features a fifteen hundred dollar Hammond Electric Organ.

The second semester will also bring to the musical groups of the high school special activities. A band program will be presented by the high school band on March 12th, and the orchestra will give the annual music week program on Wednesday, May 8th. The district and state solo ensemble contests are scheduled on March 30 and April 20 respectively.

The Varsity S club will have its annual dance Tuesday, of spring vacation week. The Association party will be held on April 19th, the first Friday after spring vacation; and the annual Freshman-Sophomore party is scheduled for Friday night, May 3rd.

Honesty Makes the Grade

Yuhasz's Yammer

Seems as though there is nothing like the Boys' Issue of the Quaker. I don't know why, but it seems that just the idea and thought that it is a Boys Issue makes it better.

First let's start off with something about the Faculty: Mr. J. C. Guiler's been struttin' around with a great big victory smile on his face over the fact that he had his American Government Students write out a 2,500 word theme.

Mr. Herbert Wm. Jones, Chemistry Prof. ought to further his study of voice, from all indications he made a big hit with the more musically-minded when he sang at the Hi-Y meeting not so long ago. Keep it up Jones, two milkshakes for every song you can sing without making my dog bark at you or make my cat double up and spit at you.

Mr. H. C. Lehman has been luring members into his loafers club by promising to buy them all-day suckers, and believe-it-or-not when the club met last Friday he actually passed out suckers. Three cheers for a man who is really a pal to us students.

Mr. Herbert Brown ought to have his left tonsil pushed in for the way he goes around kicking me in the shins or batting me in the "stummik". Someday, Ah! Sweet revenge!

Now let's go to the brighter side of School Life: In the Hall of Love: Seems as though a certain young Sophomore lad, Glenn Whitacre to be exact, has really taken a mean fall on "The Sidewalk of Love", for certain little senior lassie Betty E—.

Virginia Ganea had to go all the way to the big little town of "Bingville" to find a heart throb.

Wish Charlie Tolp would make up his mind on two certain Dorothys and one Jean. I hear he has a place in his heart for Dorothy Untch, Dorothy Brobander and Jean Lantz. No wonder he's stuck as to which one he wants, can't say as I blame him, do you students?

Couple of the Week: A new one to most of you, Jim Zimmerman and Betty Stahl. Keep it up, kids, life's just ahead.

News of General Interest: Ralph "Einstein" Landwert is really getting to know his American Government. He surprised Mr. Guiler and the whole class the other day by answering two hard questions in a row instead of his usual, "I don't know".

Have you noticed some of the flashy red and other colored ties some of the boys have been wearing lately? They're not half bad!

Wonder what it is that attracts the attention of a certain Bob Enders at noons in the library. Couldn't be the books because he doesn't study, so it must be Alice K—.

What is it that the Goshen girls have that the Salem girls don't have For the answer see Wade Broomall and Dick Beck.

Talking about Goshen, "Windy" Whinnery and Janice Miller of Goshen have been seeing quite a bit of each other.

Wish people would learn to pay up their debts, then this would really be a happy world. A certain "Butch" owes me "two bits" and if I had this amount I would really feel like a millionaire.

So now I close with the thought that I hope this issue really shows you girls that the boys are the ones that are really journalists and not you prospective females.

Items of Interest

Mr. Engleheart is a member of the Male Chorus of 16 voices which sang at the Farmer's Institute a week ago last night. The group is directed by Mrs. George Jones and practices each Monday night. A concert by the chorus is planned for the near future

Mr. Fred Cope was in charge of the program at Kiwanis Club yesterday and had as guest speaker Dr. Charles B. Ketcham, President of Mount Union College, Alliance.

Because they had increased the number of subscriptions on their routes, seven boys from high school who deliver the Youngstown Vindicator were taken through the Vindicator plant last week. The boys are: Walter Schneider, David Jones, William and George Karres, Kent Mayhew, Perry Whitacre and Robert C. Scullion.

Frank Davis, Virgil Stamp and Alex Simion sang at the Odd Fellow's hall last Friday night. The boys also sang at the joint meeting of the music clubs at the library last Monday. Donna Haessly was accompanist.

Mr. Smith showed the movie, "The Declaration of Independence" to his World History classes last week.

Mary Byers played a piano solo at the joint meeting of the music clubs of Salem in the assembly room of the Public Library, last Monday night. Her selection was "Memories" (a tone picture) by Albert Kussner. Mary has also recently played for the Musical Culture Club and the Convention of Music Clubs of Northeastern Ohio, held at Youngstown.

— HE —

This week's boy of the week is Howard Coy. He is a freshman lad from 303 and has brown hair and eyes. He is a member of the band. Howard is very fond of horses but he likes all animals (and girls). He hopes to become the world's "hot-test" sax player, so he says, and for a start, plays in the school dance band. He is quite a popular fellow and we feel he's one boy who will never be wanting in friends.

— SHE —

Our girl of the week is blond, blue eyed Lois Hoover from 112. She is quite active in school, being on the Quaker Business staff and also treasurer of the Buskins. Lois has a great liking for lemon cokes and in her own words is "simply wild about Mickey Rooney." She has many friends and from all indications she will have no trouble keeping them.

Open letter to our cheerleaders: In the last two home games I've noticed something to which I object and that many others also object.

Both the Rayen and South games were close and at the end of each, the excitement reached a fevered pitch! The shouting of the crowd made it next to impossible to hear the official's whistle. That was bad enough. But on both occasions a time-out was called during the height of the game. Now, this would have been a good time to quiet the gym and give the players time to get collected.

But instead, one or two of you got up and gave a cheer. It just rattled them all the more. True, you got splendid results with the yells — everyone was anxious to scream their lungs out. But it all added to the bedlam and noise.

Don't you see where it would have been better to have allowed things to quiet down just then? The boys can play a lot better ball when they are calm and unexcited. How about laying off next time?

Yours for the right cheers in the right places,

That nickname of Buck Rice's has caught on like wildfire in the last few days. I don't know whether "Puffed" appreciates his new title, but a lot more do!

We salute "Mugger" Knepp for his stellar performance last Saturday night! The kid was really "on." His 17 points are the most any Salem player has hooped this year. He now leads the team with 60.

Oh, yes! Before I forget. Dave Kachner wishes it to be universally known that Ol' Les got a just reward for his great game at the hands of Joyce Stratton. The big event happened in Isaly's just after the game. What was it? Just notice the nickname in the first line of this article and you'll get some inkling.

You should see "Fathead" Al Freed performing for the Ghosts in intramurals. He's absolutely corn! He's the sloppiest, dumbest, dirtiest, slowest—but yet the best basketball player on the team.

Yea! Men's Issue. We'll show 'em!

Special acknowledgement! "Low-Begs" Lyons, the pool shark! What-a-man!

Flash! News from the Perry Indians: The boys inform me that they've added another sport to their curriculum. It's ping-pong. They claim to have a likely-looking doubles squad in S. Matz and R. (Booger) Lieder. They challenge all comers.

They also plan to open a baseball training camp for young, inexperienced players this spring. The camp will be in the Perry Indians' Recreational Rooms (Leider's cellar). Fee—11 cents.

I happened to hear that when the two Wukotich lads first moved into these surroundings they lived out in the country. They were supposed to go to Goshen High. However, when they found out that football, at that school, was rather stunted, they decided to come to Salem High. But there was no transportation available. That did not worry the boys much, because they walked both ways. Clear out into the country just to play football. Oh, my feet!

Fifth straight victory for the Hi-Y last Saturday at Sebring. They play a double-header here tomorrow with Canton McKinley and Lisbon. That'll be a real test.

Personal nomination of abolishment: The Freed All-Stars. 'Nuff said.

They tell me Jim Schaeffer's some shakes as an ice skater. Anyone know about that? Heuk! Heuk!

Wall! It's roundup time—so into your saddles. And let's get goin'. So long till nex' Friday.

Quaker Triumph Over Two Teams During Weekend

Coach Herb Brown's Quakers added two victories to their string during the last weekend and boosted their percentage from .444 to .555 for the first time since their season got under way. The triumphs came in games with East Palestine and Youngstown South.

The East Palestine game was played away from home on the Bulldog's spacious gym. Salem led throughout the game and was never in danger until the last few moments when Palestine made a threat. The Quakers were playing sloppy ball and taking long shots with a comfortable lead. In the last few minutes the home team came up within striking distance but couldn't quite overcome the Salem ball-handling. The game ended 24-21 in favor of Salem.

Bob Shoe, playing a guard position, led the team in scoring by collecting four field goals for eight points.

In the Saturday night tilt the Salem outfit played Coach Dave Williams' South High team from Youngstown. They encountered the same type of opposition as on the previous night and played the same kind of game. The Quakers led all the way until the last four minutes of the game. Then, minus the services of "Dinty" McLaughlin, they fell before South's desperate rush and with two minutes to play, the score was tied.

McLaughlin was ejected from the game early in the fourth quarter and his loss was felt strongly in the Salem back-court.

However, two foul shots by Mike Thomas, a field goal and a foul shot by Les Knepp cinched the game.

Knepp led the scoring for both teams by caging 17 points.

Tonight the Salem lads meet Warren's Presidents on the home court.

Quakers Face Warren In Try For Sixth Victory This Year

Salem Out To Avenge Defeat By Presidents In Close Game Last Year

Seeking their sixth victory of the year and their fourth in a row, Salem High's Quakers will go up against Warren here tonight.

The Salem squad now on the come-back trail after a poor start will face a tough opponent in the Presidents. Last year the Red and Black dropped a close, rough game to Warren. Therefore, they will be more than anxious to defeat their rivals.

Two Teams Tie For First Place At End of Round

The Suburban League ended the first half of its schedule Monday, the 22nd, at noon. After the end of the regulation first round there was a first place deadlock between the Feuhrers and the Bulldogs. A playoff game resulted in a 26-18 victory for the Feuhrers. "Ham" Gircht led the winners with 12 points. The Bulldogs' mainstays were Tullis and Bennett.

The Quaker extends apologies to players and fans of the Celtics. In last week's Quaker it stated the Celtics had been defeated. They have yet to be dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten.

Dixon, Lyons, Lowry, Freed, and Beck compose Class A's up and coming Ghosts. They have but one Warren dropped a game last Saturday night to Canton McKinley, one of the strongest teams in the state, and will definitely be on the rebound.

The Salem squad will be strengthened by the return of Jim Kleon to the lineup. Kleon did not appear in last week's Palestine and South games. He had been suspended as a disciplinary move.

loss which was received at the hands of the Celtics.

Class B and C's standings have made no changes from last week. The Mickies and the Saints are tied for the lead in Class B and the Spartans Class C.

Swing Marches On

BY AL J. FREED

Hello, you cats! (Introduction by Hammer Dixon.) It's been quite a good little while since we gathered 'round the old bandstand and had a REAL jam session! Not that I dislike Miss Gibson's expert ability as a journalist, but as a columnist . . . I prefer she stick to editorials! Don't you all? Or do you?

This yarn is the Men's Issue the finest form of journalistic knowledge that ever was produced—and it is because of this splendid occasion that I dedicate this issue to "Scoop" Dixon—the yellowist, screwiest, dumb-blindest, but yet the greatest of all the journalists in these h'ere United States!

AND NOW TO PRESS!

Attention, Fat-heads! It is my pleasure to announce the appearance of some of the nation's outstanding swing units which will appear in Youngstown during February:

- Eddie Duchin, master of the keyboard, and his orchestra. Palace theater.
- Count Basie and his famous Piana Rhythm. Elms ballroom.
- Benny Goodman and the World's Greatest Swing Band! Palace theater.
- Les Brown and his orchestra. Elms ballroom.
- Jan Savitt and his famous Shuffle Rhythm! Elms ballroom.
- Emery Deutsch and his orchestra. Elms ballroom.
- Johnny ("Scat") Davis and his orchestra. Palace theater.
- Red Nichols and his Famous Pennies. Palace theater.

The most underrated band in the country at present, in my opinion, are:

1. Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra. Here is really the world's finest swing band—under the capable direction of the world's greatest saxophonist! It includes some of the finest swing individualists that there are today! I can't really understand why his band is not at the top right now—because heaven knows he certainly deserves it!

BAND OF THE WEEK:

It's recorded on a Decca No. A-40443—and it's played by Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra. On one side it's called "Majer and Minor Stamp", and on the other it's Bob Eberly's golden voice singing "All the Things You Are". Very, very, very nice . . . Oh, my, I'm so bored . . .

SELECTION OF THE WEEK: Perhaps the most requested number of the present time is that dumb little crazy Kay Kyser Ditty, (Oh, by the way, Kay broadcasts his College of Musical Knowledge from Cleveland's Public Auditorium next Wednesday evening) "The Little Red Fox"—It's strictly corn, but then it's got a nice little jump to it also. The best rendition is by Bob Crosby.

So until next week,
N'ya, N'ya, N'ya—
Lord, that sure is corny.
But then what else are you to do when you are so bored . . .
Bye. . .

PSYCHOLOGIST ANSWERS

tic creation," went on Dr. Lawton.

"We all want to feel," he continued, "that we are necessary to someone and have a certain importance on the scheme of things. This is one reason why most of us seek to love and be loved in return. But we should be able to exercise some judgment and discrimination in our choices. And we should not behave as if being in love were a life-and-death matter to us."

Writing further he says that a boy or girl to whom nothing exists but the opposite sex is usually dissatisfied with life in general and will end up being even more dissatisfied.

"If we have received the proper kind of education in living, we have learned how to control and direct our feelings and experiences so that they help us in life rather than make us suffer; we have learned what we need out of life in order for us to be happy, how to get it if we can through methods which are approved by the more enlightened members of society, and how to accept disappointment if we must." . . . "Everyone of us from time to time faces a situation where we should say "No" to a particular trait or activity of ours, no matter how much pleasure it may yield, because it has become a stumbling block in the path of something else that is far more important to us. Unless we are capable of making this decision without flinching or subsequent bitterness we never really grow up; we just remain children emotionally all our lives," he concluded.

a former teacher at Columbia, and Mr. R. W. Hawley, a former student of Miss Horne's. Miss Edith Farbes, principal of Columbia Street school, presented the gift. Special music was provided by a high school group directed by Miss Satterthwaite.

Miss Horne retired at the end of the last school year after teaching forty-three years in Salem. For the last seventeen of these years she had been principal of the Columbia Street school.

The dinner was attended by about 100 teachers, former students and friends of Miss Horne's. Several high school teachers attended.
