Wins Trip by Winning Extempor Contest Here Friday

Bob Leider was the winner of the Extemporaneous Speech Contest held here last Friday night.

There were six contestants in the race. Two boys from Salem, two from Youngstown Chaney and two from Wooster.

Leider's subject was, "The Significance of the Sino Japanese War."

Bob will go to Columbus March 29-30 to compete in the Ohio High School Speech League finals there. Charles Schoonenberger, who was second, will go as alternate for Leider.

Journalists Hear Sports Editor of Cleveland News

Approximately fifteen members of the Quaker business and editorial staffs, accompanied by Mr. Lehman and Mr. Hilgendorf, attended a meeting of the Tri-County Journalism Association at McKinley High School, Niles, last night.

The high light of the program was an address given by Ed Bang, sports editor of the Cleveland News. The speaker cited some of his interesting experiences as a journalist.

Thomas Murphy, former editor of the Miami Student of Miami University, spoke on the subject, "Journalism in College".

Allen Fehr, editor, participated

Speech Contest Representatives, Judges, Say New Library Is Okay

Students and faculty might be interested in knowing a few individual opinions on the new library given by some of the judges and speakers of the 14th District Extemporaneous Speech Contest held here last Friday night.

Copying the "Man on the Street" idea the reporter approached several persons asking, "What do you think of Salem High School's new library?"

Here are a few of the answers. Mr. Mollenkopf, a judge from Alliance:

"It is the most adequate and well-arranged high school library that I have ever seen. The designing and planning, though simple, are excellent. It should be the envy of every high school student to have a library like this one."

Mr. Russel Coldveal, debate coach of Wooster:

"Salem High's library is the best I've seen this year in either high school or college and I've been in some fifty or sixty schools this year.

Dan Coates, speaker for Wooster: "I was greatly impressed by the neatness of the library and this room seems actually to create a studios atmosphere."

Bob Thomas, another speaker for Wooster:

"The modern equipment is the best I've ever seen. The arrangements and architecture are splendid and the books seem to be in especially good condition. The library display case just outside the door also interested me very much."

Russell Johnson, speaker for Youngstown Chaney:

"It's really 'tops', this library, and I wouldn't mind studying at all if I could study in a library like this one."

3 Will Fight It Out For No. 1 Scholastic Position

Klyne, Fehr, Kirchgessner, Wonner, Stoudt, Mercer, Reader Place Among First Ten

Sue Herman, Thomas Houlette and Jean Stone are tied for first place in the senior scholastic ratings, it was announced by Principal H. M. Williams this week.

Sue Herman is a monitor, a member of the Hi-Tri club and is interested in music and ballet dancing.

Thomas Houlette is a monitor, a member of the Hi-Y club and plays in intramural basketball.

Jean Stone is a member of the Hi-Tri club, president of the Spanish club and secretary of the Salem High Association.

The following students placed for the remaining seven places among the first ten:

Dorothy Klyne, fourth; Allen Fehr and Betty Kirchgessner tied for fifth; Sara Wonner, seventh; Ruth Alice Stoudt, eighth; Ruth Mercer and Eva Reader tied for ninth.

Are Active Students

All of these students are active in school activities. Dorothy Klyne is a member of the Hi-Tri club and the library staff. Allen Fehr is editor of the Quaker weekly and annual and a member of the Hi-Y club. Betty Kirchgessner is a monitor in the Girl's Glee club and has won several honors in typing.

Sara Wonner is on the Quaker editorial staff, the library staff, a member of the Hi-Tri and Thespian clubs, was in the senior play and is assistant director of the junior play. Ruth Alice Stoudt is a member of the Girl's Glee club, is warden of the Hi-Tri club and is active in music. Ruth Mercer is in the Hi-Tri club. Eva Reader is a monitor and a member of the G. A. A. and Hi-Tri clubs.

In Upper Tenth

Also in the upper tenth of their class of 205 members are the following students:

Kathryn Kenst, Ada Shriver, George Karres, Vivien Snipes, Ruth est, Kathryn Freck, Nancy Roose, Eugene McCready, Theresa Ciricosta, Elizabeth Hart and Lois Jane McArtor

Jr. Actresses Are Featured In Skit Series

Contains Scene Taken From "Little Women"

Feminine members of the cast of the junior production, "Little Women," are putting on a series of skits at the meetings of various clubs and organizations throughout the community.

The skit, which was written by the director, Miss Bodo, and the assistant director, Sara Wonner, contains one scene taken from the play, and is so written that it introduces all of the characters.

Vivian Foltz and Nannabel Beardmore are in charge of the costuming for the skit and go with the group to help them arrange their costumes.

The cast for the skit includes: Irene White, Anne Belan, Lee Donafrio, Lucia Sharp, Florence Hiltbrand and June Ball.

The group appeared before the following clubs and organizations during the past week: Tuesday: Traveler's Club, Progressive Moth-

Committee Will Pick Buskin Play

A committee consisting of Walter Vansickle as chairman, Andy Chitea, Ruth Sinsley, and Janet Taylor has been appointed by the Buskins to secure a play in which the competent members of the club will participate.

Thirty-five members now constitute the club. This membership includes the newly initiated dramatists, namely: Deborah Beery, John Botu, Jacqueline Brown, Andrew Chitea, Mary Byers, Dick Erhart, Elinore Eschliman, Irene Fratila, Marjorie Fredericks, Charles Gibbs, Herbert Hansell, Stephen Hart, Carol Jaeger, Nada Lee Kreppes, Charles Lind, Robert Moore, Ruth Sinsley, Christine Schell, Walter Vansickle, and Jean Warner.

The chosen members of the Thespian club will give a make-up demonstration to the Buskins at some future date.

Twelve Seniors Receive Awards

Twelve senior girls received 60-word transcription awards from the Gregg Shorthand Company. As Peggy Stewart had the least number of errors in her transcript, she was given a pin for her work. The girls who received certificates are:

Jane Butler, Theresa Ciricosta, Esther Fowler, Theda Greenawalt, Dolores Jones, Betty Kirchgessner, Ruth Martin, Jean Stone, Helen Voytek, Virginia Warner, and Sara Wonner.

The girls took dictation at the rate of 60 words a minute for five minutes and then transcribed their notes within the allotted time with less than 15 errors.

MARCH 15, 1940

NO. 24

Congratulations, First Ten

There are ten people in the Senior class this year that the whole school should be proud of. These people rank as the first ten in scholastic achievements. They have been honor students almost everytime report cards come out, during their entire high school career. They've earned all the praise and respect that can be given them. The teachers value students like these because they set an example for the rest of the pupils to follow if they care to. Too many haven't the desire, energy, or ambition to follow their lead. Yet, to them, it hasn't been especially difficult because doing good work and always doing it on time is a natural thing to them.

They are to be envied by every student in high school because of the fact that they successfully accomplished the things which had been set for them to do.

Salem High's No. 1 Crime

Murder, prejury, treason, robbery and manslaughter are the major crimes in the United States, and in the Salem High School the major crime which, that affects every school, is cheating. The dictionary defines cheating as an act of deceit, or trickery, which clearly describes the word.

The next time there is a test watch for the cheaters in your class, watch the different methods they use in gaining their grades, watch how they slyly reach into their books and take a key to the answers, or observe the morse code system between two students in the class, notice on the liners of the tablets the answers for the test and observe during all the test how they watch the teacher very sharply as to see if he is watching or not.

In later life when you apply for a job and you begin to work for your employer you're not going to have a neighbor sitting beside you to help you and you're not going to have these various other methods to cheat with. What are you going to do? There is only one answer, stop cheating and stop those who are cheating.

Stick To the Job

With the month of March well on its way and April approaching, a person's thoughts are likely to turn to many things.

Studies are beginning to become slightly boring and to be too much of routine, so everyone feels as if he must do something to break the monotony.

School students have it much easier than they think. In June, school lets out and the school closes. Students are then free to do as they like. Business men and women have to keep right on plugging. It is hard work which we all will have to face someday.

While this school year lasts, let's keep the thought in mind that summer will be here soon and let's try to keep studying the books as well as possible.

Be Yourself

Why can't everyone act natural and lead a normal life?

Many people seem to think that they are superior to anyone else.

These individuals surely do not realize the help and comradeship denied them because of their prejudices about family ties.

Different classes of people should mingle with one another because of the influence exerted by both parties.

The people of this nation are born equally, so why must certain people violate this privilege?

WONNER'S WORLDLY WISDOM

Greetings, Gates; let's skip a state.

Me-me-me-me-me

That operatic spirit has gotten into my blood and I have decided to become a prima-donna. It was all the fault of the Firefly last night. I have thought about it so much, I just must be an opera star. There's only one drawback. I can't sing. Well, to get to the point, the "Firefly" was wonderful and the Thespians got a big thrill.

Early Birds

Lots of guys and girls already have their prom dates. That is what I call getting in ahead of competition. A few of them are:

Jack Warner and Nannabelle Beardmore.

Eugene McCready and Vivian Foltz.

Lucia Sharp and Bob Neale.

Jimmy Schaeffer and Helen Knepper.

Isn't It the Truth?

I have overheard plenty of comments about back-seat drivers. The general opinion seems to be that they should have a license, also. To the furtherance of this great plan, I have put my brain, and here is what I dug up:

Back Seat Driver's License

This license, issued to _____ entitles the holder thereof to drive from the back seat; but not to be responsible for any, big or little accidents; to always confuse the edriver by giving the wrong directions and with sighs, socks and screams, to insist that a set of brakes and a steering wheel be installed in the back seat.

A straight-jacket will be provided for the driver upon his application to the proper parties.

Some Driving

Hats off to Peg Stewart for the best driving of the year. I hear a rumor that she drove in the middle of the road for about a mile or two to keep Allen Fehr from passing her. Allen honked and tooted and tore his hair. The joke of the matter is that Allen wasn't behind her. Only some man from Pennsylvania. He didn't see the joke, but Allen did.

Strike! Strike!!

The girls certainly have a novel idea. Very practical, too. No make-up for school. A rather nice sort of strike, don't you think? Ruthie West was the originator of the idea, and other senior girls were not slow to follow. Awfully comfortable!

Well, that brings an end to this column for another week. See you again.
Bye now.

— HE —

The personality this week is a Senior football hero. He reports to 210 every morning. He is tall, has sandy colored hair and friendly blue eyes. He's a member of the Varsity "S" club. What! you haven't any idea yet? Here is your final clue, his nickname's Butch. Still no go? He answers to the name of Leonard Piersol.

Confucius say: Beware of beauty expert; just panhandler.

Confucius say: Weeping bride old fashioned; try to run home by water power.

— SHE —

Our "she" of the week is a pretty Junior girl. Her home room is 203. She has brown curly hair and blue eyes and is a member of the Hi-Tri club. She also plays a clarinet in the Salem High Band. She's a good dancer and really "cuts rug" with Eugene McCready. If you don't know yet one of us had better stop here. Her name is Vivian Foltz.

March 10, 1939

Winthrop Difford, John Evans and William Rogers are tied for first place in senior class scholastic ratings for the first eleven semesters, it wa announced by Mr. Williams this week.

At the regular meeting of the Junior Dramatics Club last Friday after school, members chose the name of "Buskins" for the newly organized club which has for its president Martha Clark.

Leaflets, "Shall I Go To College" were distributed among the seniors this week. These leaflets were written by J. Elmar Morgan, editor of the journal of the National Education Association.

"Mikol," a play to be given by members of St. Paul's Catholic Club, will be presented in the High School Auditorium next Thursday night.

Last Tuesday evening the Salem High school band, under the direction of Mr. Brautigam presented its 10th annual spring concert.

Mr. Eric I. Grimwade from Stakeon Trent, England, spoke on "The Search for a European Equilibrium yesterday in a third and final assembly of its kind for juniors and seniors.

Letters To The Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

When are we going to stop having to read those screwy letters some dope writes? Of all the nutty ideas! Who ever heard of a SWING BAND playing between the halves of a basketball game?

If this "tired senior" wants entertainment, why doesn't he ask for something educational and instructive like a speaker to give a lecture on "Economic Conditions at the South Pole?"

Or if he insists on musical entertainment, I'll bring my harmonica to the next home game and play "The Music Goes Round and Round" for him. Then if he likes that I'll play "Ole Zip Coon" on a musical saw.

How about it "tired senior?"

Another Tired Senior.

ON THE BENCH

BY BOB DIXON

Have you noticed the worried look that has replaced Cope's usual placid countenance? You have. Good! So have I! And I think I have found the answer. It concerns track workouts and prospects for the coming season.

You still don't see the point? Well, all right, I'll tell.... It seems there are some new forms gracing the gym each night. Forms which, never before, have been out for track. The four or five which are adding to Copeena's supply of grey hairs right now are seniors.

They go by various nicknames and monikers, but you'll know them best as Shafer, Houlette, Neiderhiser, Parker and KACHNER.

There is a quintet worthy of special recognition. Especially the last named. He has asperations of becoming a miler. However, he has not been told yet that he can't use a bike. Odds are that when Cope tells him he can't ride the four laps that he'll revolt and take up 8-ball. No hope here!

Then there is "Tweet." Mr. Shafer has been taking hurdling lessons from John Untch at the P. A. C. and is now ready to perform his stuff in the open. "Jake" tells me the lad shows promise.

Next is "Dillinger" Parker, who also would like to follow in Glenn Cunningham's shoes, (at a respectable distance, of course). This long-legged Banshee has been working diligently on the boards in expectation of the outdoor campaign.

Who do we have left now? Oh, two more milers. Say what is this? How about a couple of dash men? "Terrible Tom" Houlette and "Cincinnati" Neiderhiser comprise the remaining remnants of our little group. They are really basketball players but they felt they needed a change.

Thus you can see how Cope has just cause to wear a worried look. How he keeps going in the face of these disadvantages I have outlined, I don't know!

The Hi-Y tourney is scheduled for tomorrow but, at this writing it is not sure whether or not enough teams will enter to make it profitable. In the event that it is held, be sure to come down and lend some support to the Salem squad. They'll need it.

But say! Did you all know that the "Dude" is taking dancing lessons? Well he is! From Cassidy. Girls, take special notice. (I was asked especially to print this!)

be you didn't hear about the extem contest last Friday night. It was here that "The Booger" came thru in fine style and showed you and the rest of the skeptical world just how tough the Indians' representatives are. So baa!

Say Clyde, where are the Battling Baptists?

I'll have to put this in here to fill up a little space 'cause things are a little slack right now as far as sports around this here school are concerned.

Have you ever been informed as to the identity of the Hi-Y team's coach? Well, he is none other than "Pajamas," Kleon the erstwhile varsity flash.

Wow this kid can reel off some of the best between-half orations you've ever heard. And how. Ask Ac!

When he's not a monitor, a coach, or an International Relations Student, James may be found drawing Christmas trees on his tablet.

Some Keed! I can't think o' nothin' else so I guess I'll blow, like rubber balls. Will be bouncing back next week, eh, "Shorty?-"

Hi-Y Club Enjoys Moving Pictures

After a short business meeting, in which plans for the coming Hi-Y basketball tournament were discussed, a so called "double feature" was enjoyed by the members of the Hi-Y last Thursday evening.

The show, which included the showing of three different features was put on by the Modern Motion Picture Company. The first picture was about Edgar Guest and his poems, the second reel was about winter sports, and the third reel was a Terry-Toon cartoon. All the pictures were talkies. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Honor Students

Students are rated on their semester grades for the seven semesters of work completed. In rating the student his 28 highest grades are taken and the letters are assigned a numerical value, four points for an A, three points for a B, two points for a C and one point for a D. These are then totaled and rated from the highest on down. The final standings are based on eight semesters of work so these ratings are subject to revision at the end of the school year.

Interesting Facts Brought to Light In Score Sheet

Although the 1939-1940 basketball season was somewhat of a failure as far as seasonal records are concerned many interesting facts may be learned from delving into the mysteries of the Salem High score book. We have endeavored to dig up some of these facts for you.

For instance the total amount of points scored by the Quakers came to 536. This compared with their opponents 457. The average for 17 games was just 32. This amounted to a point a minute. Salem's foes averaged 27 points per game.

Knepp is Leading Scorer

Leading scorer for the team that lost nine and won eight was Les "Hank" Knepp. The blond center pounded the hoop for 114 points. Last year Amos Dunlap scored 100 points to lead the squad. Runned-up in scoring was Bob Shoe who tallied 92 points. Others in line were Mike Thomas with 80, "Dinty" McLaughlin with 69, and Bob Jaeger with 43.

The team scored 199 field goals and 138 free throws. Against Boardman the Red and Black whipped in 21 field goals to top the season's mark. The year's low was against Ravenna when they made but four.

Although Salem was known as a "second half team", it is interesting to note that their biggest scoring quarter was the fourth.

The highest number of points scored by the Quakers opponents was 39. This total was reached in the Youngstown East game. The lowest was 15, scored by Lisbon.

Sewell Leads Opponent's

Sewell, rangy center from Dover, led all the Salem team's opponents in individual scoring, when he hit the hoop for 13 points.

Les Knepp scored 17 against Youngstown South to set the season's mark for Salem.

These were just a few of the facts hidden away for ever in the Salem High record book. We sadly close it and bid the basketball season a fond farewell.

Mogadore Kid

There is amongst the seniors of Salem High school a very well informed young man, who can tell you just about how, who, when, where and what goes on in that great metropolis of all metropolises, the one and only Mogadore. Now to relate unto you how this has become a known fact.

We had just gotten through view-in the game between our own beloved Alma Mater and Akron West, which as you all know, was very disastrous to us by a measly two points, when our guide the one and only "Mogadore Kid," Chester Coughenour offered to take us through his beloved hometown. now believe me it really is a hometown, and when I say hometown I mean it.

At the city limits there is a sign, "Entering Mogadore" and you look back and see "Thank You, Come Again." Now all this has been to give you an idea as to the type of a town this is. From the way it seems, each street is named after a girl of the community. For instance they have streets there by the names of Lucille Avenue, Dorothy Avenue, etc. The first residence we sighted in this town was where a certain old couple lived, then we came upon the Borton residence and as we drove slowly on Chester told us something about each one as to how long they resided at the place and if they had a daughter and her age. It just seemed that he knew them all. As we labored our way over the rough, uneven, unpaved streets, we were

Then an ear to ear smile spread across his face as he came to a stop in front of a house which had a few gables on it, and some green shutters, and nice shrubbery out in front, neatly arranged. "Here," he said, "lives Betty who I was supposed to take to aparty not so long ago, but I didn't show up." Just then a fece peered ou the window to see who had stopped in front of the house and a look of recognition came across her face. Never before had I ever witnessed such pick up, pep, spurt and all that stuff in a car. Boy, we really got out of Mogadore in a hurry. So in closing may we salute Mogadore and the "Mogadore Kid."

CRACKPOT'S CORNER

Conducted by Prof. I. M. Poppinoff.

Greetings Goons. Scoop!! Did you know that as yet, a homing pigeon has never won the Kentucky Derby! Don't take it so hard cousin, Uncle Snuffly was just fooling.

Here's this week's recipe for all you kitchen cowboys. This week we will make brussel sprouts. First you take one pound goose liver, three ounces broccoli and four finely chopped fish tails. Mix them all together and what have you got? A nightmare no doubt.

Facts behind history: The real reason that Columbus sailed for America was that he wanted to get in on the "Pot O' Gold."

Invention of the week: A bottle cork that says "Mom" instead of "Pop" when pulled out of a bottle. Don't blame me, it was Myer's idea.

Science oddities: The man who invented the electric chair died in it. Moral: Don't go around inventing electric chairs.

Etiquette tip: When your neighbor's little kid knocks over the prize vase, spills your jam on the parlor rug and then kicks your dog, it is proper to smile and say, "I'll do the same for you some day sonny," then do it.

Health hints: When brushing your teeth always hold them in your left hand and brush with the right. Don't be ashamed. It's done in the best of families.

Prediction: In the 1940 pennant race the Hitler Pirates will fall apart when "Dizzy" Goering's arm goes bad. The British "Bombers" will probably take the lead and will be closely followed by the French "Flashes". In the other league, "Red" Stalin's legs are beginning to weaken and will drop out of the picture before the season even starts.

The limb I just crawled out on is starting to crack so I'm going to get down and crawl in the doghouse for another week. So, arf! arf!

"Los Hidalgos" Is Spanish Club Name

Los Hidalgos, the Spanish club, which was organized after Christmas, now boasts fourteen members. They are: Jean Stone, president; Alta McNabb, vice-president; Betty Dunlap, secretary; Jeanne Hutcheson, treasurer; Walter Bolinger, John Carlariello, Juanita Dunlap, Bob Houlette, Minnie Huddleston, Eleanor Kuhns, Eliz. Lantz, Vivian Snipes, Andrew Strank, and Betty Valentine.

The purpose of the club is to endeavor to learn something which the members cannot learn in class.

The members are now working on a one-act play entitled "El Doble Robo." This is the story of an elopement and stellar roles are played by Jean Stone, Betty Dunlap, and Walter Bolinger.

The breasts of the members are now adorned with beautiful club pins which have engraved on them several of the articles of dress associated with Spaniards.

Evans In Upper Ten At Oberlin

John Evans, graduate of Salem high in the class of '39, is one of the 36 freshmen in the college of arts and sciences at Oberlin college who are in the upper tenth of their class for the first semester, according to a letter received recently by Mr. Williams from Mr. Ernest H. Wilkins, president of Oberlin college. This high rating places John on the College Honor Roll for the first semester.

While attending Salem high, Evans was editor of the Quaker weekly and annual, was an honor graduate, and active in music.

Dean Proves Voice; Sings "Marseillaise"

A wondering group of history students sat with mouths ajar one day last week gazing at their vocalizing pedagogue. He had just rendered the French national anthem. They gazed at him a moment longer, then one student with the light suddenly dawning upon him jumped from his seat and streaked for the door. Others followed, hurrying down the hall, until all the members of the class had gone. The teacher looked at the recently emptied rows of seats, and listening to the last strains of the anthem wondered if his vocal efforts had been a flop, but suddenly the light also dawned on Mr. Smith, the bell had rung to change classes. He left the classroom beaming with all doubts dispelled as to his class's appreciation of his honest effort to sing the Marseillaise.

Salem High's Movie Doubles

Many a boy or girl has spent a number of long hours dreaming of how he or she would like to be or become a movie star. Right here in S. H. S. we have quite a few that might measure up to Hollywood standards.

Take Elizabeth Hart for instance. She is said to be a perfect double for Jean Parker. Also, much to "Libby's" disgust, it is said by some that she talks like Shirley Temple. That is, her voice of course.

Then there's Al (John Barrymore II) Freed. That lad really has talent and if you don't think so just ask him. Really though, those who saw him in the senior play know that he has got something there.

When talking of actors and actresses, one can never overlook one Ruth West. She lives up to the standards of a second Helen Hayes. In the senior play she really made you think that she was mean and that requires acting ability to the "nth" degree.

Of course Jinny Snyder and her different accents could double any number of personalities either on

Thespians See "The Firefly"

To witness the light opera, "The Firefly", approximately 20 Thespians journeyed to Kent State University last night, March 14.

The cost of the sets alone for this extravaganza was $1,000. The dramatic and music departments of the University collaborated in producing "The Firefly". Such well-known songs as "I Want Sympathy" and "Firefly" which were sung by Jeanette MacDonald and Allen Jones, in the motion picture of the same name, were included in the performance.

GAA Girls Will Attend 'Play Day'

Eight G. A. A. members will attend the Basketball Play Day which will be held tomorrow in the gym of the David Anderson High school at Lisbon.

Four other schools besides Salem will participate in the play day. They are Leetonia, Columbiana, Sebring and Lisbon.

The eight senior girls who will make the trip to Lisbon include Ellen Catlos, Margaret Kovach, Theda Greenawalt, Ruth Tetlow, Genevieve Fisher, Laurabelle Veon, Jean Munsell, and Margaret Thiel.

the screen or radio. She has quite a talent for such things.

To wind things up in S. H. S.'s Hollywood on parade, there's always Vivian "Scarlett O'Hara" Foltz. She has really got Scarlett's ways and "I do mean ways".

Current Events Maps Purchased

Two maps of the world, published by the News Map of the Week, Incorporated, have been placed in the school, one in Miss Roth's room and one in Mr. Guiler's. These maps, about five feet long and three feet wide, contain at the bottom, explanations about important news events of the preceding week. The explanations are numbered and the corresponding number on the map designates the city where the event took place. An eight page paper entitled, "The World's Week" also goes to the teachers who have maps in their rooms. The events pointed out on the map are explained more fully in the paper.

The maps are to be used in International Relations, American History and World History classes.

Each week a new map will be received and will replace the one of the past week. The paper also comes each week.
