Jean Lantz Wins Honor At Oberlin

First place rating went to Jean Lantz at the State solo and ensemble contest in Oberlin last Saturday. Jean played tenor saxophone. Winning a first rating entitles Jean to enter the National Regional contest at Battle Creek, Michigan. This contest is to be held May 10. Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and Illinois are all to be in it. Lois Field is accompanist.

Other winners at Oberlin are as follows:

Excellent ratings went to Ruth West, soprano; Ruth Stout, mezzo soprano; Gusty Conja, violin; Aden Riffel, alto saxophone; Charles Lind, baritone saxophone; Maybelle Huston, clarinet; String Trio, Emma Bauman, Gusty Conja, and Paul Evans; trombone quartet, Al J. Freed, Robert Shuck, Herbert Hansell, and Bob Jeager.

A third place rating went to Frank Davis.

These students went to Oberlin Saturday and remained there all day.

30 to Enter Scholarship Tests at Kent

Lack Only Two of Having Complete Team of Thirty-Two

Salem High school is sending a team of thirty pupils to the annual Kent Scholarship tests which are to be held at Kent State university tomorrow.

A complete team would consist of two students representing each of the 16 subjects given. Salem lacks only two persons of having a complete team since only one student is going in second year Latin and only one in second year French.

The students attending the contests will compete for district and state team honors as well as individual honors. Examinations cover about three-fourths of the year's work.

Those attending from Salem High and the subjects they are taking are:

Biology: William Juhn and Earl R. Martin; chemistry, Jack Atkinson and Philip Ressler; general science, Albert Kenst and Robert Mitchell; physics, Allen Fehr and Thomas Houlette; algebra, first year, Emma Bauman and Fern Brennan; plane geometry, Homer Asmus and Jack Grubbs; American history, George Steffel and Robert Umberger; world history, Mary Byers and Walter Vansickle; Latin, first year, Stephen Hart and Gene McArtor; Latin, second year, Rita Pottorf; French, first year, Alyse Kuniewicz and Lucia Sharp; French, second year, Robert Ballantine; English, 9th year, Richard Chessman and

Lehman Elected President Of Northeastern Ohio Press

Mr. H. C. Lehman, Quaker Advisor, was elected president of the Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press Association at an advisors luncheon held at Kent State University during the Third Annual Press Clinic last Saturday.

H. C. Lehman

Mr. Lehman has been very active in Ohio journalism circles, being president of the Tri-County Journalism Association and having served on several committees for state conventions.

Miss Lois C. Young of West Tech High school, Cleveland, was elected vice-president, and Professor William Taylor, head of the journalism department at Kent University, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

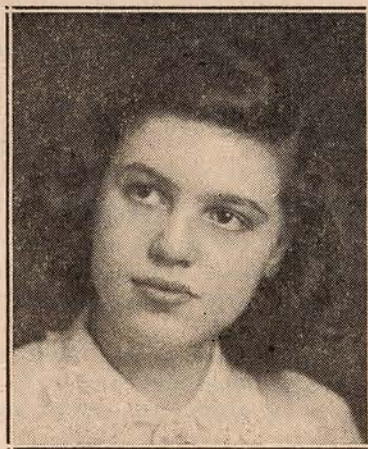

Reverend Gerald Goldner To Address Hi-Y, Hi-Tri

Minister, Kidnapped by Arabs Last Summer, Will Be Heard May 24

Hunted by the British Royal Air Force, police dogs and monks and missionaries, these exciting adventures all happened to Rev. Gerould R. Goldner of Mogadore, Ohio.

Rev. Goldner is pastor of the Mogadore Christian church where he has held the position for just a little more than a year.

Ruth West Wins Coveted Position On All-Ohio Cast

Miss Ruth West, senior thespian, has brought great honor upon herself and Salem High School through being chosen the most outstanding actress in the state. Ruth, who played the leading role in "The Gypsy," was chosen to head the all-state cast at Cleveland last Friday by Mr. E. Turner Stump, judge of the State Thespian Drama Festival.

Playing the part of Zita, a temperamental prima donna, Ruth gave a performance equaled only by professional actresses.

Other members of the all-state cast received bronze medals with silver insignia. The medal won by Ruth is of unpolished gold with polished gold insignia.

Prior to winning top honors at Cleveland, Ruth headed the all-regional cast chosen at Kent where the play won a superior rating. The certificates and the medal will be presented to the cast at recognition assembly.

Other members of the cast, all of whom turned in creditable performances were: Nora, Zita's faithful and loving Irish maid, Joyce Malloy; Paulo, Zita's lover, James Benedict; John, a stage hand, Ed Cavanaugh.

Although the play itself received only an average rating at Cleveland, each member of the cast gave performances which built up the background of the story and made it possible for Ruth to carry off the honors.

The play was directed by Miss Viola Bodo. Sara Wonner was the student stage manager.

Committee Meets

A committee composed of seven seniors: Ruth West, Tom Houlette, Katharine Freck, James Schaeffer, Peggy Stewart, and Richard Beck met in room 209 last Tuesday to decide three suggestions for a present to the school. The senior class will vote and the suggestion receiving the most votes will be decided upon.

Accompanied by his father, Rev. Jacob Goldner of Cleveland, the young pastor was held captive from July 18, 1939 when he and his father were seized on a trip to visit a Greek monastery at Mar Saba on the Dead Sea, until July 25.

The elder Rev. Goldner was held for one day then was released to go to Jerusalem and raise the ransom demand of $5,000.

Congregation Responds

The members of young Goldner's congregation responded immediately and pledged their financial assistance to release their pastor from the rebel Arabs cave where he was held.

On July 25, one week after he was kidnapped, Rev. Goldner was released, worn and haggard, upon payment of the $5,000 by his father.

On Thursday, May 24, the kidnap victim will relate his experiences to a joint meeting of the Hi-Y and Hi-Tri in the high school auditorium.

Rev. Goldner will speak only to those two clubs, who are partly responsible for his appearance here.

The lecture to students will be after school, while later that evening the Methodist Men's Club will hear Rev. Goldner.

Dixon, Fehr Win Cup In Contest

Bob Dixon and Allen Fehr, seniors, "brought home the bacon" last Saturday at the Journalism convention when they won first place in the dramatized news event news-writing contest at Kent University.

The contest was open to the 700 high school journalists attending the convention. At nine-forty-five o'clock in the morning, all contestants were given issues of the "Kent Stater", Kent College newspaper, which carried a fictitious story of the murder of Dr. H. Tuo, beloved professor who had been slain by two killers in an attempt to get a formula. It was reported that a mob of Kent students were marching on the jail to lynch the killer who had been caught. At this point, contestants were told to hit the trail and cover developments.

Arriving at the Kent city jail, Dixon and Fehr discovered that the enraged students had already hanged one of the pair and were dragging the other from the jail to deal him a similar fate. He broke away however and as he started across the street, a Kent U. sophomore whipped a .38 revolver from his coat, and firing two shots, mortally wounded the fleeing killer. Bates, the student, then fled, but was caught by a patrolman, and thrown into a cell to await trial.

The whole event was acted out by

Join the Crusade For a Better Salem

Monday marks the opening of the annual Community Chest Drive in Salem. During this campaign the cooperation of every Salem citizen will be asked in building up a fund for the support of various civic organizations in the city.

An opportunity to contribute to this fund which is so essential to the welfare of the community will be given to Salem High students in a school campaign. The results of this drive will indicate the interest and pride of the school in civic enterprises.

Unfortunately, student contributions in the last Community Chest Drive did not serve as a very good example of cooperation. Evidently the student body felt that the support of civic organizations did not concern them. For a community which offers so much to its young people as Salem does, this attitude shows a great lack of appreciation.

Millions of young persons are being called to arms to defend the liberty of their home lands; we are merely being asked to give a few cents for the support of our city. We cannot show our patriotism by making a great sacrifice for our country, but we can do our little bit for Salem.

Aw Shucks, Fellers, Don't Be Bashful

Come on! Let's make this the best prom Salem High has ever had. Everyone of the dances and parties this year have been record-breaking successes. The Prom should top them all. It's the last dance of the year and it's the biggest event of the year, so why not get in the swing of it and contribute your part in making it a colossal hit.

Get your dates, boys! Don't be backward. Girls don't be shy. If you all pull together the Prom of 1940 will be remembered always.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

It seems that someone is always complaining about the seats in the auditorium. Someone suggested that we have them oiled so they won't squeak so much. I think it is a very good idea. When we have an assembly and someone moves—the seat squeaks and disturbs the whole auditorium. Can't we do something about that?

—A Student.

Dear Editor:

Two mirrors arranged in the girl's dressing room on the third floor like those on the second floor, is the plea of the girls using the third floor dressing room. At noons and before school, girls usually want to take a last minute look at themselves, but if you aren't among the first ones to reach the mirror, well then, you must take a grand guess at your appearance.

Already there is one mirror in the third floor dressing room, but another one is needed, both of them to be hung on the south wall. Mirrors cost very little and I'm sure one of the janitors could find time to hang them up.

Mirrors are needed and would be appreciated very much.

WONNER'S WORLDLY WISDOM

Heigh ho, everybody. Another week, another Quaker, and another column. I have a little challenge to start off with this week. Limericks about me seem to have grown in popularity. This one doesn't rhyme and it doesn't make sense, but I have been challenged to print it, so here goes. It is signed, "By your two admirers, Allen Fehr and Bob Dixon.

I heard a romantic little morsel about Marvin Coffee and Faye Cozad. He not only thinks about her all the time; he makes everyone else think about her too. He passes her pictures around during his classes and just brags and brags about her. That must be true love.

Show Case Displays

Junior High students have had several very interesting show case displays in the last few weeks. Following a display of stamps from all over the world by the Stamp Club, Miss Klose's English classes featured a collection of their drawings of the characters in "Pinocchio". These same classes also are showing booklets made to illustrate punctuation.

Contest Closes

The paper collecting contest ended last week with 8D collecting the most paper and with 7F winning the honors with the most pounds per pupil. The paper campaign was held last year that gained part of the funds for the moving picture camera that was bought early this year.

Quakerette Issued

The last regular issue of the Quakerette came out last week. The staff is now concentrating its attention upon the annual, which is now well under way.

A fool's tongue is always long enough to cut his throat

ON THE BENCH

BY BOB DIXON

Once a year about this time two or three fellows in this year school get all flustered. One of them is Mr. Cope. Another is Mr. Clark. And the third is (surprise) me! The reason for all the excitement is just one thing. The Night Relays.

It is about this time that Cope, the most violent of the three fanatics just named, begins his nightly vigil. The object is the weather. Each night he begins to worry and fret for fear of a tornado, earthquake or some such similar occurrence that might cause a disturbance in his carefully laid plans.

Along about Friday night, tonight, he will really get down to some high powered praying. One drop of rain will send him into a panic. Two drops is disaster and a shower — well we don't talk about that in our family.

So you can begin to realize the importance of good weather to the successful running of this big carnival. True, there are other factors which go into making it a big success, but weather is the big item.

If you are one of those real track fans, you too will be praying for a bright, clear, sunny day for tomorrow.

I mentioned other factors in making the meet a success. There are some very important ones. One is good athletes. This year we've got the "creme de la creme". The real state champions. Leading the mob is Chet Thomas of Cleveland East Tech. He is the state 100 and 220 yard dash champ. He is practically a cinch to hold his reputation here. I predict four first place medals for him. Then too his team mate, Lloyd Crable, is one of the state's leading high jumpers. He and Bill Scally of East Palestine should stage a thrilling duel for top honors in that event. They tied for first place at Mansfield.

Another sure record breaker is one Bob Shaw from Fremont Ross. All you football and basketball fans will recognize this name. He is an All-Ohio choice in both these sports. He is a big fellow and he competes in the shot put, discus and high hurdles. At Mansfield last week he tossed the shot put 54 feet to break the state record. In view of this, Cope is afraid that the crew will have to move the shot put ring back for fear that Shaw might throw the thing up against the north wall. (That's no joke either). We'll give him two firsts.

vibraphone, interpreting on these instruments popular music of the day as well as classical numbers.

An outstanding part of the program is the ventriloquist act by Floss Grosjean. In it she employs lifesize mannequins. This act has earned for her the title of America's outstanding woman ventriloquist.

Ohio State, George O'Brien, (not the cowboy) is a graduate of Alliance High. He ran down here in the days when Alliance really had good track teams. I remember him and two twin brothers, Bob and Bill Alzner, used to make the Quakers look sick in the 880 relay. He will run the half mile.

That is about all the Night Relay news I've got to pass on but be sure to see the meet. Cope won't speak to you if you don't.

Jake says: In a report from the P. A. C., J. Untch says that the P. A.'s will play the P. I.'s anytime and at any stadium! But the Perry squad had this answer to make. Sol Matz says, "Due to the holdout of our star 'tworler', 'Speed' Beck we will not accept this challenge unless the 'Booger' reports in the pink of condition and is able to check the Park lads."

The newly formed intramural softball league got under way this week with four big tilts. Some of the more classy looking lads were "Ken" Kachner, demon third baseman for Les Knepp's Yankees, and the left side of the Spider's infield (known as the "Sieve"). It is composed of the "Wuks".

One complaint most all the players have is the use of the pumpkin ball. A large mushy affair, Mike Thomas can't hit it any farther than the Memorial Building.

"Bullet" Schaefer is telling it around that he is some hand at the fair game of golf. He already has challenged the mighty man of 303, namely A. V. Henning. However a match between the two is very unlikely. Henning is strictly a tournament man.

Don't forget the big Hi-Y dateless dance next Friday night. (Pd. Adv.)

I'll see you all at the stadium tomorrow.

Class Inspects

30 Teams Meet Here For 11th Annual Night Relays

5 Ohio State U. Track Stars To Be Featured in Exhibitions

Approximately thirty schools are expected to send athletes to the eleventh running of the annual Salem Night Relays at Reilly stadium here tomorrow.

Under the direction of Frederick E. Cope, manager of the meet, the Relays promise to be a huge success. "We expect to have the smoothest run and most widely successful meet of them all this year," said Cope. Entries have been pouring in all week to swell the number of contestants in the large meet, which was the first of its kind in the country.

Among the improvements in the meet are the widening of the track on the east side. It is now the same width as the five lane west side. Then too, fifty new red and white hurdles have been built by the manual training students and they will be available for use. A new victory stand for the winners of the various events has been made. Most of these improvements were suggested by visiting coaches last year.

Among the schools already entered in the meet is Cleveland East Tech, easily the outstanding track team in the state of Ohio.

Ohio State Men to Be Here

Five runners from Ohio State University will put on exhibitions at various times during the meet. They are Bob Johnson, discus thrower; Bob Saltsman and Bob Wright, hurdlers; Charles Beetham and George O'Brien, half-milers. Johnson is a Freshman from Poland, and O'Brien is from Alliance. Both have previously competed on the Salem cinders.

Seven Salem High girls will present the winners of the events with their medals. They are Helen Knepper, Margaret Stewart, Mary Fratila, Ruth West, Betty Dunlap, Alta McNabb. Trumpeteers will herald the awarding of medals. They will be Bill Merry, John Botu, Ralph Greenizen and Bob Entriken.

Preliminaries for the finals will be run off in the afternoon as usual. Both the shot put and discus finals will be held in the afternoon.

Officials for the meet are as follows:

W. J. Springer, referee; F. P. Mullins, honorary referee; George Thompson, starter; Dave Williams, clerk of course; H. C. Wagner, head finish judge; H. Larry Brown, track

Quaker Netmen Start Practice

The tennis team has started practice sessions to prepare for their first match on May 8 against Sebring. Unless there is a change in the standings of the ladder after the squad's second practice tomorrow at Mill Creek Park, the boys likely to make the trip to Sebring are: Lee Willman, Bob Ritchie, Ed Zatzko, Carl Capel, George Baillie, Walt Bolinger, and Wayne Laughlin.

Stewart at Top of Ping-Pong Ladder

"The ping-pong tournament is progressing smoothly, but at present contestants have been failing to play as much as the one or two matches a week, most players lived up to, near the beginning," Mr. Smith announced this week. He said that in order to keep all players active in the tournament, he set a date last Wednesday, for all players to have completed a match. If a contestant failed to play, his name would be removed from the ladder. Those in the first five places are: Gail Stewart, Steve Hart, Frank Quinn, Bob Loudon, and Ernie Hrovatic.

Community Chest Drive Starts Monday; Students Asked to Help

Salem students and teachers will again be asked to take part in the annual Community Chest drive this year. The campaign will get under way Monday and all student contributions are to be turned in to home room teachers Tuesday.

Last year Salem High school students contributed $46.00 to the fund. Approximately 65 per cent of the students participated. This was a slight increase over the preceding year.

The goal for the 1940 Community Chest has been set at $20,350. Nine agencies will participate in the 1940 campaign, representing an increase of one over last year. This year the Girl Scouts will share in the fund. Other agencies sharing in the fund are: Salvation Army, Home for Aged Women, City Hospital, Central Clinic, Friendly Council, Boy Scouts, Memorial Building and Red Cross.

Salem High students should have a special interest in the contributions to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Memorial Building. These organizations could not function in Salem without this Community Chest fund. The share allotted to the Girl Scouts is $400, to the Boy Scouts, $1050, and to the Memorial Building, $5,500.

Music Week Is May 5 to May 11

The annual celebration of National Music Week will take place during the week of May 5 to May 11. Mrs. Satterthwaite is in charge of the programs which are to be given by students of the Salem public schools in commemoration of the event.

As part of the celebration pupils in the first, second and third grades in Salem schools will participate in a program on Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. On Wednesday evening the High school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Satterthwaite, will present a program, and the students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will present a program on Thursday evening. Also students of the high school will have a chance to hear the Grosjean Musical Revue in an assembly next Thursday morning.

Music Week was first celebrated in 1924, and since then has grown until now it has a very important place in many communities. This year the same keynote as last year, "Support Local Group Activities," is being used. The main theme every year has been "Promote American Music." During the next week throughout the country music will come to the front in celebration of Music Week.

Chest campaign, and James H. Wilson is secretary. Leon Colley is campaign chairman with W. F. Bolen as assistant.

Superintendent of Schools E. S. Kerr is captain of the school team. He will be assisted by the principals of the seven Salem schools.

Paxson Wins First In Model Contest

Gail Paxson, a junior and a member of the Salem, Ohio, Petrol Pups' gas model club, won first prize with his gas model at a meet held at Butler, Pennsylvania, last Sunday. Paxson's best flight time was 18 minutes 45 seconds on 20 second motor run. His average time for three flights was 6 minutes, 50 seconds.

Gas model meets are held each month and a few Salem High students go to Butler to participate. Paxson received a midget gasoline engine as a prize.

Records are being examined and there is a possibility that Paxson established a new national record for class "B" gas model competition.

Schroeder Attends Football Clinic

Mr. Carl Schroeder, Salem High school football coach, is attending the ninth annual Ohio State football clinic and annual meeting of the Ohio High School Football Coaches' association which is being held at Columbus today and tomorrow.

Included on the program for today are pictures of the Ohio State-Cornell football game; talks by Francis Schmidt, football coach at Ohio State; Gomer Jones, assistant coach at Ohio State; Paul Brown, coach at Massillon, Ohio; and L. W. St. John, director of athletics at Ohio State.

Miss Schroeder Addresses Group

Miss Lilian Schroeder will have charge of the 3rd Senior Guidance Conference for Seniors this afternoon. Miss Schroeder will discuss with the girls who attend the conference the profession of nursing. Many girls in Salem High School are interested in this profession, and this discussion period will give them an opportunity to learn of the requirement for training and many other facts of importance to those who are considering this as their future career.

Those chosen to attend are: Robert Ballantine, George Baillie, Elliott Hansell, George Steffel and Louis Raymond. John Dan was selected as alternate.

Committee Chooses

The boys were chosen by a committee of the local American Legion post, picking the boys to go from a list known only to them by numbers. These numbers were then referred to school officials who then announced the boys selected.

The boys will live at the fairgrounds for ten days, functioning as a state with complete city, county and state officials. The officials are selected by the boys themselves. Through participation in these offices the boys learn the duties of the government officials.

The Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the local American Legion post, and the Salem Manufacturers' association will each pay the expenses of one boy.
