

Play Goes To Contest On Friday

"The Last Curtain" Is Entered In Dramatics Festival

Friday and Saturday, November 22 and 23, Miss Viola Bodo, dramatics instructor, will take the play, "The Last Curtain," to Kent State university, where it has been entered in the district drama festival, sponsored yearly by the national chapter of the National Thespian Honor society. The two schools receiving the highest rating in the district contest will go to Cleveland December 6 and 7, where the state contest will be held. Winners in the other districts throughout the state will participate in this contest.

"The Last Curtain" deals with what happened behind the stage of the Ford theater the night that John Wilkes Booth killed Abraham Lincoln. Herbert Hansell plays the part of John Booth, who is in love with Jeanie Hart, portrayed by Lee Donofrio. Sam and Effie Evans, who are vaudeville hoofers, are played by Bill Dunlap and Jan Wallace. Mary Lou Brian has the part of Kate Truman, a widow, and Charles Lind is Peanut John, the handy man around the theater.

Lucia Sharp is assistant director. Lois Hoover has charge of make-up and wardrobe, and Joyce Stratton is stage manager.

Journalism Student Working At News

Gloria Gibson, an advanced journalism student, was chosen this year from the first period journalism class to work at The Salem News.

Gloria works from 8 until 9:30 a. m. each school morning. With these hours she misses her first period class in journalism and the 15 minutes in the morning.

Working under Mr. Francis Wise and Miss Ruth Obenour, Gloria has found plenty to do so far. She writes socials, briefs, and anything else that is given her.

"I think it's swell of the school and The News to give me a chance to see what I can do, if anything, by letting me work there. Mr. Wise and everyone else I have worked under so far have been awfully nice." This was Gloria's statement when asked how she liked the work and the chance of going to The News.

She will continue working there through the first semester.

Glee Club Chooses Officers For Year

Officers were elected at the meeting of the Boys' Glee club held a week ago yesterday. The officers are: President, Alex Simion; vice president, Andrew Strank; treasurer, John Dan; secretary, Andy Chitla. Herbert McCave was appointed librarian.

A committee composed of the officers will decide what music will be bought. Orders have already been placed for some new selections. Christmas songs will be practiced at the next meeting.

Dr. H. H. Nininger Will Appear Here

Dr. H. H. Nininger, meteorologist and director of the American Meteorite laboratory will speak on the subject of meteorites at an association assembly next Thursday morning.

Dr. Nininger, listed among "American Men of Science", has discovered more than one-half of all the meteorites found in North America within the last ten years. He has spoken to many miners and scholars and to more than 2,000 high school students.

The speaker is also the author of the book, "Our Stone-Pelted Planet."

Freshman Class Has Nominations

Nominations for freshmen class officers were held in the various freshman home rooms a week ago today.

Each home room nominated a president and a secretary-treasurer, from that home room.

The following nominations were made: President, Ray Wise, 308; James Primm, 307; William Mullins, 306; William Hannay, 305; Robert DeMalignon, 303; Peter Cibula, 301. Secretary-treasurer: Ann Toip, 308; Marjorie Otto, 307; Betty Lutsch, 306; Claire Hicks, 305; Jean Dilworth, 303; Barbara Butler, 301.

The nominees gave a speech last Monday to the members of their class. The election was held yesterday.

Brautigam, Judge At Music Contest

Mr. C. M. Brautigam, band director and English instructor, in Salem High school, was one of three judges at the Regional Instrumental contest, sponsored by the State Grange organization and held at Akron, Ohio, Saturday, November 16.

Groups competing in this contest, the first of its kind to be held in Ohio, are bands and orchestras backed by individual granges or by the state organization.

Among the bands entering the contest from this district, one of the four into which the state is divided, is the Mahoning All-Girl orchestra, which has among its members Lois Myers, Deborah Beery and Priscilla Beery, Salem High school students.

Approximately 175 of the 200 scarfs purchased by the sophomore class have been sold. Selling at twenty cents, the scarfs are made of poplin material and are triangular in shape. The corner that is not used for tying has S. H. S. stamped on it in black on a red background.

Those students who have sold the most are Marjorie Frederick, Lorraine Adams, Frank Hill and Ruth Sinsley.

A one-pound box of candy will be given to the student selling the most scarfs.

Western Reserve Coach To Speak At Grid Dinner

Bill Edwards Is Scheduled To Talk at Annual Football Banquet

Bill Edwards, head coach at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, will probably be the chief speaker at the annual football banquet, which will be held next Wednesday night at the Memorial building. Edwards played football at Wittenberg college with Coach Carl Schroeder of the Salem High football squad.

Attending the banquet will be the members of the varsity and junior varsity football squads; the coaches, Mr. Schroeder, Mr. Ted Jones and Mr. Frank Gordon; the male members of the faculty; the board of education and several other invited guests.

S. H. S. Band Elects Officers for Year

Recently elected officers of the Salem High school band for the 1940-41 school year are: Alex Simion, president; Lee Bennet, vice president; Vivian Foltz, treasurer; Maybelle Huston, librarian. All of these officers are seniors except Maybelle, who is a junior.

The election of the president and vice president was held two weeks ago yesterday and nomination and election of librarian and treasurer was completed a week ago today.

The band is scheduled to attend the Salem-Alliance football game tomorrow, with this game winding up the marching season for the year. Mr. C. M. Brautigam, band director, has announced that before final arrangements are made for the concert season, each band member must play a solo with piano accompaniment. This solo will determine to a great extent each student's position throughout the rest of the year.

Committees for Annual Senior Play Chosen By Class Faculty Advisers

Students Chosen to Make Preparations For Production of "Lena Rivers"; Play To Be Presented December 5-6

Committees for work on the annual senior class play, "Lena Rivers," written by Mary J. Holmes, which will be presented in evening performances December 5 and 6, have recently been chosen by the faculty advisers. These committees include those for make-up, stagecraft and lighting, properties and costumes, advertising, photography, and the executive committee, made up of the senior class officers and representatives from each of the senior home rooms, which has general charge of financial arrangements and the sale of tickets for the play.

Group Pictures Taken for Annual

"Please don't move" was a request that shivering students could seldom grant on that cold day, Wednesday, of last week when the group pictures were being taken for the Quaker annual.

With the temperature very low and a strong wind blowing Salem High school students found it quite difficult to keep their hair tidy and to maintain "mummy" positions.

Almost all the pupils somehow managed to get through the first picture, but when the photographer said, "Just one more", many nearly collapsed.

All in all, many students believe that if the pictures do not result in one long blur because of the moving people, the camera will have certainly done its duty.

Robert Ballantine, editor, announced recently that work on the 1941 annual is progressing satisfactorily.

Newspaperman at McDonald Meeting

Speaking on his experiences as a newspaper reporter, Mr. J. W. Raper, author of the column, "Most Anything" printed daily in the Cleveland Press, addressed the Tri-County Journalism association in their first meeting of the year, held at McDonald High school at McDonald, Ohio, a week ago last night.

Mr. Raper, who is 70 years old and has worked on approximately 40 newspapers in the Middle West, stressed the importance of work and possessing the right kind of friends.

"You've got to have friends in any business. A reporter has to have all types of friends," he added, illustrating with an anecdote about the saloon keeper who gave Mr. Raper scoops on robberies that were "hushed up" affairs.

Eighteen members of the Quaker staff were presented at this meeting, this being the largest delegation present. Other schools represented were Niles, Goshen, Struthers, McDonald, Scienceville, Youngstown East, Youngstown Chaney, and Austintown Fitch.

The next meeting will be held at Chaney High school in December with Salem entertaining the group in April.

The ushers, ticket sellers and doormen have not been selected as yet, but will be selected soon by the members of the executive committee.

Following is a list of the various committees with their faculty advisers and student members:

Executive: Miss Ethel Beardmore, faculty adviser; George Baillie, chairman; Louis Raymond, Florence England, Betty Bruder, from room 208; Marjorie Harroff and Alice Hunter, room 209; Cleo Santee, 210; Ward Zeller, 212.

Make-up: Miss Viola Bodo, faculty adviser; Joyce Stratton and Lois Hoover, a junior, co-chairman; Joyce Malloy, Irene White, Dorothy Greene, Mary Ohl, Mary Lou Brian and David Linn.

Stagecraft and lights: Mr. Karl Sander and Mr. R. B. Clarke, advisers; Carroll Greene, chairman; Warren Tullis, George Steffel, Earl McDevitt, Stephen Hart, a sophomore, Carl Bauman, George Baillie, Raymond Lowry, Wade Broomall, David Linn and Valentine Moga.

Properties and costumes: Mrs. Esther Talbott and Mr. C. M. Brautigam, advisers; Rita Emery, chairman; Patricia Bolen, Ethel Hill, Evelyn Koch, Elizabeth Mingroni and Margaret Hannay.

Advertising: Miss Mildred Hollett and Mr. H. C. Lehman, advisers; Dorothy Snyder, chairman; Jack Atkinson, Joyce Berk, Gail Eckstein, Charles Kille, Betty Ann Miller, Virginia Morrow, Robert Umberger, Ilene Parker and Ward Zeller.

Photography: Mr. Theodore Keller, adviser; Eugene Myers, chairman; Richard Woods, a junior.

Hi-Tri Club Will Donate 5 Baskets

Five baskets of food will be donated by the Hi-Tri to needy families in Salem on Thanksgiving day. This is a practice which has been followed by the club in preceding years.

The committee appointed for this purpose has Rita Pottorf as chairman, Ethel Hill, Hilda Fronis and Miriam Seeman on it.

Cleo Santee was in charge of the program for the meeting last Thursday. Elizabeth Mingroni was devotional leader. The program included a clarinet duet by Vivian Foltz and Maybelle Huston, a vocal solo by Marie Kastenhuber and a piano solo by Alice Ruth Vincent.

Passing the Cold

With winter close on the heels of autumn comes also the much dreaded cold that no one can avoid.

A large number of students each year are absent from school simply because they have contracted a nasty cold.

Colds are passed on primarily from one person to another, which, of course, is due to carelessness on the part of the one already having the disease.

No matter how hard a person tries to avoid it, he seldom gets through a winter without having suffered at least one cold.

Sneezing, coughing and blowing of the nose are trivial things we notice every day. All are very discouraging to the person trying to study. Rarely anyone can concentrate if he has to stop to sneeze every few minutes.

Everyone should join the crusade for the prevention of colds by keeping them to themselves if he is an unfortunate victim.

Try always to cover your mouth when you cough or sneeze. Who can tell but that you may save the person next to you a great deal of grief.

The Handwriting On the Wall

The walls and desks in some of the classrooms in Salem High school have the autographs of a good many of the students. These markings would look much better in someone's autograph book.

If you must do something to occupy your time, you might consider studying for a change. It can be accurately stated that the teachers would enjoy this aforementioned miracle a great deal. Next time when the urge to write overtakes you, try to find somebody's autograph book in a hurry.

Sadie Freezes To Get Picture Taken

"Oh, goody, goody; Today we are going to have our pictures taken. I just love to get out of my chemistry class and dash into the cold air and line up with all the juniors. All of a sudden one hears, "Watch the birdie", and all the gum chewing jaws relax and beautiful-tooth-paste-add smiles light up all over all the angelic faces.

Finally all is through and it's back to class and settle down. The professor is just about ready to ask me one of his killer questions when the class bell rings. Thank goodness the periods are shortened.

I get into French class and suddenly remember that I am due outside again to have a club picture taken. I go out again and freeze practically to death but you must be loyal to your "Alma Mater", so they say. I get back into class and once again settle down to business. Again the bell rings before we even get started.

Oh well, I might as well give up trying to study and donate my face to the films.

Turkey Is Off To Dinner Table Feast

Curses, Foiled Again

Well, well, another Thanksgiving has rolled around. Too bad about poor Ambrose, locked up to be killed for Mr. Man's dinner. Ha, Ha. But he deserves it. Any turkey who has six wives . . . well . . . Oh, look, here comes Rover. Seems to be hungry. Must be taking it out on Chester. Well, Chester should stay with his own friends and not go wandering off. Oooop, better duck! Here comes the wife with a money-mad expression on her face. Too late! No, you can not buy that fancy grain for dinner. Huh, guess I told her.

Well, look who's here. That snotty daughter. Must be seeing how fat Ambrose is getting. Heh, Heh. Hey, Don't kick me around, woman. I saw you and that farmer boy out behind the hen coops the other night. Goodness here comes the old man himself—with a hatchet. Better clear the way. Hey, you're going the wrong way. Ambrose is over there. This is me. Gobble! Gobble! Awk! Be careful where you sling that knife. Ooops! Got me, pal. Ohhhhh-my-happy-

Thanksgiving Day

Last year President Roosevelt decreed that Thanksgiving would be observed a week earlier than usual. A controversy then arose between the states and as a result the holiday was celebrated on November 19 in some states, while people in other states ate their turkeys on the last Thursday of November. These controversies would not have been necessary if those taking part in them had read the story of the first Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving: the meaning of the word is evident. The day was set aside as a day to worship and thank God for his blessings. Abraham Lincoln made Thanksgiving a national holiday and since his time people all over the country have followed the example set by the Pilgrims.

Then, if Thanksgiving is a day on which to thank God, and we are taught to thank Him every day for our blessings, does it really make any difference in our feelings what day is proclaimed a national holiday?

So, no matter what day you sit down to your Thanksgiving turkey and cranberries, instead of joining in the conversation as to whether the President should have the power to change the date of Thanksgiving or not, why not start counting your blessings.

As number one, thank God that you are sitting down to your dinner in a house and not in a bomb-proof shelter.

Thanksgiving Is Reason For Party

Now that Thanksgiving is here, our minds turn to turkey, cranberries, Puritans and Alliance. On Thanksgiving there is naturally a banquet. Let us picture an imaginary Turkey Day feast for you.

Sitting around this holiday table we find an array of Salem Hi students, stuffing themselves full of Thanksgiving goodies.

At the head of the table we find "Coach Carl" Schroeder eating his first full meal since the start of the football season. On his left, or in the seat of honor, we find "Hammerin' Harry" Ehrhart, who is beaming at a turkey leg and a double order of mashed potatoes. Harry is suddenly hit in the eye with a hot roll, tossed by playful "Dog" Barta, who has not yet been served and is passing the time away in the best way possible.

Peeking out from under a banana salad, Florence Hiltbrand waves to little Mary Beth King who is "scared stiff" in the presence of such BIG celebrities.

"Butch" Wise, consuming as much turkey as possible, is confronted with the problem of how to eat the mince pie when it comes. Carol Jaeger, another poor soul that hasn't been served yet, gets out her "eversharp" pencil and doodles "Buck", "Buck", "Buck", all over the white linen tablecloth.

Francis Horning is obediently saving a seat for Jean Reeves who is entertaining this happy group with a trumpet solo.

After everyone has seated to their heart's content they go home feeling very happy that Christmas is 35 days away.

"You are a little goose!" remarked a young M. D. playfully to the girl he was engaged to marry.

"Of course I am," was the laughing response; "Haven't I got a quack?"

Malloy Is Nearly Scalped By Indian

The library was quiet and everyone was studying, as they very well should in a library, when in burst that vivacious senior, Joyce Malloy.

Joyce, breathless with excitement and looking a little pale, sat down at a table and turned to the girl sitting next to her and out of a clear sky asked if she had seen that big Indian in the hall just now.

The other girl looked closely at Joyce to make sure that she was all right and then declared that Joyce was crazy and that the Indians had given up that warpath stuff years ago and were just as calm and peaceful as anyone else.

Joyce paid no attention to her or to Miss Lehman's frantic efforts to stop all the noise, but plunged right in to tell of her experience. Her version is a little bungled, so the revised edition from the mixed up jumble is as follows:

Joyce was hurrying to her next class and as usual not looking where she was going, as some seniors have a habit of doing, when she smacked slap, bang into a tall imposing man who on closer inspection proved to be the aforesaid Indian.

Thoroughly startled she hurried on, only to run into Mr. Kerr. She looked at him a minute and excitedly, exclaimed that he had better get to his office quickly as there was an Indian in there.

She finally reached the library, unharmed, but a little shaken.

For Miss Malloy's benefit—the Indian was "Chief Wild Wolf" of the Seneca tribe. He had come to see about speaking to the student body.

Well, Joyce, you can rest in peace and not worry anymore. And you a senior too—tsk, tsk.

Profiles

MELVIN WUKOTICH

Melvin Wukotich, veteran of three years on the first football team, will play his last game for Salem High school tomorrow. During his seasons on the gridiron he has played center, halfback and end. Ranking second in the line of sports Mel places baseball. Besides sports he is also active in both the Hi-Y and Varsity clubs. In college Melvin intends to major in either industrial arts or physical education.

LUCIA SHARP

Lucia Sharp is a tall attractive senior with brown hair and eyes. Her main interests in high school have to do with dramatics. She plays a principal part in the class play and is student director of the Kent play, "The Last Curtain." Lucia is president of the Thespians and program chairman of the Hi-Tri. She has won many cups in swimming, which is her favorite sport. The college Lucia has chosen is Smith where she will prepare herself to teach dramatics.

Journalism Class Views News Plant

Last Thursday this class went to Youngstown, Ohio, where they were shown through the plant of the Youngstown Vindicator. They saw how a modern city daily newspaper is published. They were taken through the editorial rooms, where they saw the teletype and telephoto machines; through the rooms where the type is set, and finally to the press room, where they saw the evening edition of the paper come off the press.

Last Thursday, November 7, the third period journalism class under the direction of Mr. H. C. Lehman, made a tour of the Salem News building, viewing the process of publishing a paper.

Leaving at the beginning of the third period they were taken through the different rooms. The class saw the teletype machines, which bring the news from all over the world, the linotype machines for setting type and the printing presses. They also saw the Quaker in the process of being composed.

Intramural Cage Play Starts Soon

Following the same plan as used last year, the Salem High school intramural basketball season will open soon after Thanksgiving. After the boys are chosen for the varsity and reserve basketball teams, intramurals will be formed. All boys interested may join.

There are to be three different leagues. The larger and more experienced players will be put in leagues A and B. The boys who are interested in basketball but do not have the experience will be in league C.

Jr. High News

The second issue of the Quakerette for this year was issued today at the Junior High school.

Donald and Dorothy Heim have entered the Junior High school from Coffee school.

Two squads of patrol boys have been formed at the Junior High school for this year. On squad number one are Fred Dawson, captain, Robert Todd, Jerry Smith, Lloyd Harroff and Gall peters. On squad two are Bill Stoudt, captain, Jay Leach, Dick Edgerton, Christy Deohn and Morris Hollinger.

8 Seniors To End S.H.S. Grid Career

Baillie, Wukotiches, Greene, Malloy, Zeller, Chappell, Umberger Will Play Last Game Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon, when Salem High's Quakers take the field against Alliance, eight seniors will be playing their last game for old S. H. S. They are Melvin Wukotich, Marvin "Buster" Wukotich, Carroll Greene, George Baillie, Robert Malloy, Ward "Beef" Zeller, Arthur Chappell and Bob Umberger. These boys have been giving their all for Salem this season and have taken the breaks as they came. Most of them have had two or more years of varsity football. Taking these seniors one by one, they are:

"Buster" Wukotich, number 99 to you football fans, has been varsity fullback for three seasons and has led the team in scoring in those years also. He has won the all-county fullback post two years in a row and is a candidate again this year. "Buster" uses all his 176 pounds to a good advantage when smashing through enemy lines. "Buster" is co-captain of the Salem squad.

Second in line in our parade of seniors is Melvin Wukotich, twin brother of "Buster" and co-captain of the Quakers. Mel has seen action at several posts for the Quakers, being used at practically every position, when a good man was needed in a hurry. Mel intends to use those 178 pounds, he packs, to help some college team along, but won't say where he plans to attend college.

Next we come to George Baillie, varsity quarterback and president of his class. "Sonny", as he is called by his friends, has also seen action at several positions. He has made himself famous as a pass receiver deluxe. He caught 10 against Lisbon for his best game of the year. George would like to go to the University of Michigan and take up where "Tornado Tom" Harmon leaves off.

Ward "Beef" Zeller is the fourth man in our group. "Beef" is a stalwart tackle who has played practically every minute of every game this season. His 175 pounds is the reason for his endurance, and it is a wonderful asset when he runs interference for Salem ball carriers. Ward has played varsity ball only this year.

Our next victim is Carroll Greene, known to his many friends as "Greenie." "Greenie" does the punting for the Quakers and didn't especially fine job in the Barberton clash. He has seen three years of varsity ball and uses his 163 pounds to the best advantage for the Salem boys.

Art Chappell is the next in the pigskin parade. Art started the season playing end but was switched to a halfback slot for the Lisbon game and he has been there ever since. His claim to fame this year was in the Ravenna game when he caught a pass and scored the Quakers' only touchdown. His offensive play is very good and he's no slouch on the defense either. Add these talents together and you get a better than average football player which describes Art exactly.

We now take up the fortunes of one Bob Malloy, who is a first rate guard in the the Quaker line. For some reason or other, Bob has not been given credit for his wonderful play this year and this writer would like to dedicate this paragraph to a boy who really played out there and was overshadowed by some other shining star.

And last but far from least we come to Bob Umberger who has not seen excessive action this season. His punting ability is unknown, mainly because he has not had much chance to show his wares. When a dependable punter and end is needed though, Bob is always there waiting to be used. Thus, the Salem squad has a very good end who can be used at any time. All he wants is the chance to show his talents.

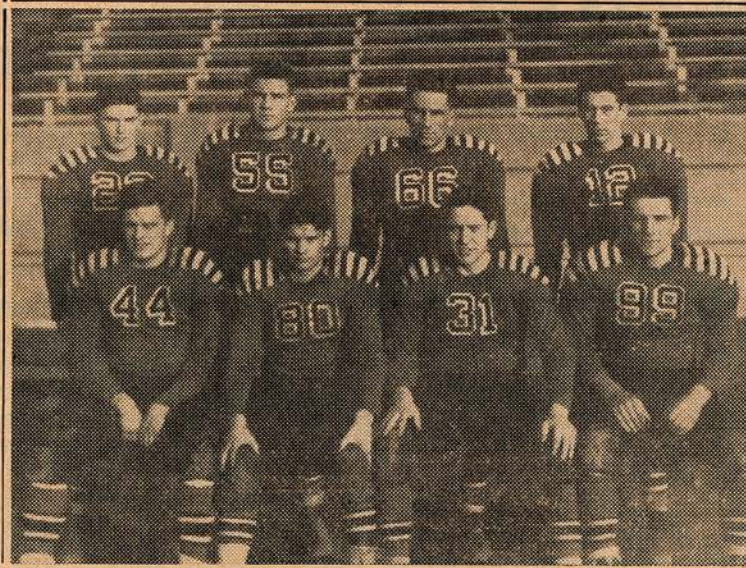

Thus, have we covered those grid stars, both bright and hidden, who will take the field for Salem for the last time when the Quakers battle Alliance's Aviators tomorrow. We wish these boys good luck, both in tomorrow's game and in future clashes when they attend college.

Youngstown South, Salem Grid Teams Fight to 7-7 Tie

Salem High school's Quakers outplayed a highly-favored Youngstown South eleven last Saturday afternoon in Youngstown, although the score resulted in a 7-7 tie. Playing the part of underdog, the Quakers were slated to take it on the nose by three touchdowns, due to South's victory over East Liverpool. In the opening period Salem marched 33 yards for a touchdown.

Marvin "Buster" Wukotich climaxed this drive by going over from the eight-yard line. His plunge for the extra point was good, and the Quakers led, 7-0.

For the rest of the half the ball changed hands after each team had a short series of downs. Most of this play was in Youngstown territory.

Taking to the air in the fourth quarter, South made their final bid to score. With the ball on the 47-yard stripe, Jim Ruse faded back and threw a 40-yard pass to Sheridan Weaver, who romped the remaining 25 yards to pay dirt and a touchdown. DeMichele's pass to Crane was good for a point after touchdown, locking the scoring at 7-7.

During the last half Salem threatened several times. Twice the Quakers had the ball on the one-yard line, only to be held for downs.

The Quakers played superior football in comparison to the brand displayed by South. Their straight driving and plunging, running attack gave them the edge over the Youngstown aggregation's razzle-dazzle offense. The field was wet and snowy, which made it difficult for either team to use deception in their ball handling.

Marvin Wukotich carried the mail for Salem, driving the greater part of the contest. He was largely responsible for Salem's 10 first downs to South's three.

Quakers Lose To Barberton, 26-6 Salem Squad Suffers 2nd Loss of 1940 Season To Magic Team

The Salem High school Quakers were downed, 26-6, by a fast and smooth running Barberton football machine, November 9, at Reilly stadium. The game was played before an enthusiastic "Dad's Day" crowd. The Quakers showed plenty of drive and fight but were defeated by a superior Magic outfit. Barberton boasted four good backfield men. With Ratay, Sisler and Hornabeck as ball carriers and Quarterback Reese as blocker, the Barberton backs looked fast and showed plenty of aggressiveness.

SPORT SLANTS

BY RABBIT

Greetings, readers:

Say, wasn't that Barberton team vastly underrated. And those guys lost to Alliance. Wow! They tell me that Luca and Gainer of Alliance are really tough backs. Our team will have plenty of trouble with 'em.

By the way, have you seen our basketball schedule yet? Seems as if there are four new teams on the list; namely, Niles, Coshocton, Cambridge and Sebring. Basketball practice will probably start in the near future. Some of the boys are already getting in a lot of brushing up.

If you remember the last issue, this columnist stated that Barberton was 20 points better than the Quakers by comparative scores but that these scores didn't mean a thing when two teams get together. Was my face red when the Magics beat the gang by 20 points. Well, let's get to the point. By comparative scores on both teams' clashes with Barberton, the Aviators are some 29 points better than the Schroedermen. So, we'll just keep quiet this time and see what happens. Might say we're hopin' for the best.

"Buster" Wukotich again scored Salem's lone touchdown against Barberton to boost his season's scoring total to 70. The Quaker squad has scored 90 points and its opponents 80. Two of these opponents have accounted for 47 of those 80. The home team enjoyed its biggest scoring spree against Lisbon when it scored 31 points.

Well, it finally happened. After going undefeated for eight games, Sebring's Bulldogs dropped one to Boardman, 14-0. That was the last team that we had met to remain unbeaten. In the opposite case, the Big Red from Struthers has yet to win a game. By the way, do you happen to remember a few years back when "Swede" Anderson wore the Struthers regalia and ran wild against Salem, beating them almost single-handed? Well, that boy is the same "Swede" Anderson who is playing for Purdue's Boilermakers in the Big Ten conference. He has scored two touchdowns so far this season.

At last the problem has been solved. For three years Salem's opponents have tried in vain to get "Battering Bus" Wukotich off the field and out of the game. This, because of his devastating line smashing qualities, of course. Well, it seems that a week or so ago "Buster" was dragged out of the corner by one lone female whose initials are H. C. The surprising fact of the whole thing is that "Buster" gave less resistance than a dead mouse gives a cat. By the way, "Buster", what did she tell you that got you to go so readily? This problem will probably trouble his friends for ages. He won't tell anything.

The Quakers really played ball against the team that none of the Youngstown sports commentators hesitated to give an edge of 13 points or so. "Buster" Wukotich again tallied all the points for Salem to run his season's total to 77 points. Our boys also rated two pictures in the Youngstown Vindicator. Cut 'em out, Johnny, and put 'em in your scrapbook.

The Massillon Tigers really roared to a comeback after the Canton McKinley squad scored on them. We all knew that Massillon is tough, but not that tough. That 34-6 shellacking will be remembered in Carlton for years.

You know that Alliance squad showed real power in beating Jamestown, N. Y., by 38-0. They tell me the Jamestown team is highly rated and very good, but that they just never got going in all the mud and snow in Alliance. Luca and Gainer again led the Aviators to a win.

Note to VIV:

"Sonny" Bailey swears he will kill each and every columnist who prints his name in future issues. Oh well, life was pretty dull anyway.

And now for a few predictions, voiced by quavering Salem students, on the outcome of tomorrow's tussle.

"Gappo" Rance, basketball manager chooses Alliance by 13 points. Likewise, "Sal" Freed and "Gabby" Galbreath. This columnist refuses to voice an opinion on the game in fear of his own worthless life.

So now this column bids you adieu 'till next issue when you will again be tossed into the depths of despair after reading this stuff. Happy Thanksgiving to you all. So long

Salem Grid Team Will Face Aviators in Game At Alliance Tomorrow

Alliance, Quaker Squads Meet for Annual Turkey Day Contest; Game Will End Season for Both Teams

Tomorrow afternoon, Salem High's Quakers travel to Alliance to meet the Aviators in their annual Turkey Day tussle. The Salem squad travels to Alliance with an unimpressive record while the Aviators would be undefeated had they not played Massillon's Tigers and the Bulldogs from Canton McKinley High. The records for this year up to the Jamestown tilt last Saturday stands at five wins, two losses and on tie. They have beaten Minerva, 25-6, Cleveland Central 38-14, University School of Cleveland, 14-0, Cleveland John Hay, 12-0 and Barberton, which beat Salem 26-6, 9-0. They were trounced by Massillon, 40-0 and by Canton McKinley, 25-0. A 12-12 tie with Youngstown Ursuline completes the record. At this writing the score of the Jamestown game was unknown.

The Alliance squad has come along fast this year under their new coach who has taught the Aviators his system of play. Before the start of the season, the Alliance boys were not rated as much of a team but they have made some experts look sick. It is true however, that breaks helped them in some of their games, especially their battle with Barberton. They managed to eke out a 9-0, win over the Magics by virtue of a safety and a deflected pass which was taken over by an Alliance player for the score.

The Aviators' attack is centered around Quarterback Gainer and Fullback Luca, two of the best backs in the district. Both have ripped off long touchdown runs against the opposition this year. Gainer in addition to his running talents, place kicks the extra points for the Aviators. The line centers around Andreanni, a 145 pounder, who plays center. He has played most of the year with a badly injured right hand which shows that the boy has plenty of what it takes to be a good football player. By comparative scores on the rivals' battles with Barberton, the Alliance team is 29 points better than the Quakers. The Quakers will be decided underdogs in the battle and a win would climax a fairly good season.

Dads Honored At Barberton Game

Amid cheers, songs and cold weather, 24 dads or other representatives of the players on the Salem High school football team witnessed the game at Reilly stadium between Salem and Barberton Nov. 9.

The Salem High school had worked on special cheers to give, and throughout the afternoon they could be heard from one end of the stadium to the other. The band had also worked out special numbers and formations, such as "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." "Auld Lang Syne" and many others.

At the half the Barberton band put on a skit about William Penn and Father Time.

The Salem band spent their half time playing songs to the dads. They stood at attention as the names of the dads or representatives were called out. Each father stood up and faced the stands.

Mr. Sisler, father of the Barberton team's captain was escorted from the Barberton side by Salem's two drum majors to represent the Barberton players.

The Salem players' dads or representatives who were present were Mr. Wukotich, Mr. Violio, Mr. Scullion, Mr. Leslie, Mr. Cozad, Mr. Chappell, Mr. DiAntonio, Mr. Boughton, Mr. Hagan, Mr. Baillie, Mr. Ehrhart, Mr. McGhee, Joe Nocera, Dan Kenst, Ervin Kirchgessner and Jack King.

WILL MIRACLES NEVER CEASE?

Young Phil Ressler had a DATE for the Senior-Junior Party. Nice going, feller, its about time you broke down.

Also present was "Cross-Country" Myers, sporting one of the Smith gate—property that very definitely belongs to Wally Davis, ex-grad.

ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST:

From notes found here and there

This one comes from the love promoters of 201—It tells of the too too thrilling romance (the real thing, mind you) between Lesier (depester) Marshall and Janey (blush, blush) Davidson. It seems that when Mr. Guiler asked Lester if the government ran the Postoffice, he replied that he didn't know but would sure like to get in a game of it, if Janey was anywhere available.

But don't get too hepped up, Les, remember that a kiss is just an anatomical juxtaposition of two orbicular muscles in a state of contraction, so don't worry much about it.

This one, also, tells of a very divine little romantic setting. Place: The Corner

Time: Any old time in general; last Sat. night in particular. When in dashed Little Miss Hazel (Come on, you're going with me, aren't you, Buster) Capel and dragged Mighty Mr. Buster (I'll be back in a flash, fellows, I'm just going out to get some air) Wk out by the ear. (Notation: Fresh air must have been sort of scarce 'cause the "Fellars" never did see Buster again that night.)

ADVICE TO THE FORLORN

To Percy V.—with love:

Please remember that the only person who wants to have people sticking their noses into his business is the handkerchief manufacturer. P. S. I don't manufacture handkerchiefs.

Discovered—At Last, Ah at Last

At the journalism meeting, Lois (Rooney fan No. 1) Hoover at long last, stumbled over a very snappy senior from Lisbon who has the honorable honor of resembling the Champ Mickey to the nth degree. So, says Lois, "If you can't get the real McCoy (or Rooney as this case happens to be), his double will be sufficient." And so with this in mind, Lois and newly discovered talent spent a very enjoyable hour or two—listening to lectures!

FOUND: (on the back of Zeke Steffel's corridor pass)
The Moon was high,
The road was dark,
A perfect place to stop and park,
I gave a sigh,
I gave a groan,
I cursed the fate, I was alone.

Motion Made and Unanimously Carried:

That we have bigger and better pep assemblies—like that last one.

Librarian Picks Staff For Year

Miss Lois LeLhman, school librarian, has chosen eleven new students to serve on the library staff with the veteran librarians. All of these people are on the honor roll and some of them want to follow librarianship as a career. This year two freshman boys have joined the staff.

The pupils selected are: Dominick Alessi, June Chappell, Jean Dilworth, Dorothy Galchick, Ina Mae Getz, Vera Janicky, Margaret Anne Jones, Rachel Keister, Olin King, Betty Lutsch, and Susan Owens.

The experienced members of the staff are: Anne Belan, Debora Gross, Louise Hanna, Alice Hunter, Marie Kastenhuber, Alyse Kuniewicz, Dorothy Lutsch, Gene McArtor, Rita Clare Pottorf, and Sally Strank.

Employment Blanks In Office of Dean

Miss Maud Hart dean of girls, now has in her office two sets of blanks, one entitled "Record of Employment" and the other "Request for Employment."

The purpose of the first set is to keep a record of girls in high school already employed and also to find the average wage paid to girls who work after school hours, as prospective employers usually ask for this information.

The second set is to keep a record of girls who wish to earn money for clothing, school supplies, to help out at home, or to save for college or other training after graduation. Jobs are secured as fast as possible for the most urgent cases.

Girls needing financial aid should call at Miss Hart's office and fill out a blank entitled "Request for Employment."

Quiz Is Feature At Jr.-Sr. Party

Members of the junior and senior classes met a week ago last Friday for their annual fall informal party. Dancing to the music of Freddie Boies orchestra was featured. During the intermission a program was presented by the entertainment committee which was in charge of Miss Marye Lou Miller and Mr. C. M. Brautigam.

This program featured a parody on Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge," with Vivian Foltz, senior, acting as professor Katy Kyser. The three judges were, Bob Entriken, Bruce Krepps and Glen Whitacre, juniors. Sidney Simon, junior, served as announcer, introducing the stars and telling about the quiz program's "famous products." Super-Super Wuper (can't be beat) 18 inch pencils."

The persons interviewed were all teachers of Salem High school, including Miss Sara Hanna, Miss Hazel Douglas and Miss Martha McCready, Mr. Herbert Jones, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Henning and Mr. R. B. Clark. The winner of the first prize was Miss McCready, who received a "Super Duper Special Pencil." Second prize was won by Mr. Clark, who also received a "Super Duper Pencil" but of a slightly smaller size. To the other contestants went a smaller size "Super Duper Pencil."

Football Players Guests At Dinner

The Kiwanis club entertained the Salem High school football squad at a dinner last Thursday noon. The banquet, an annual affair, was in charge of member Lewis Smith, dean of boys at the high school.

Following the dinner the boys were taken to the State theater, where they saw several football movies, presented by Mr. N. I. Walken, manager of the theater.

Debate Team Gets Ready For Season

Resolved: that the power of the federal government should be increased. This is the cause of the furrowed brows, thoughtful countenances and the mad dash for debate handbooks in the library at 3:20 every night.

For the last three weeks the eight members of the debate squad have been studying the question under the instruction of debate coach J. C. Guiler. They have been approaching it from all angles, tearing it down, building it back up, listening to presidential campaign speeches and debates on the radio, doing research work, taking endless notes and in between all this they stop and hope that they'll make the team.

Mr. Guiler had divided the squad into affirmative and negative teams for practice. Each team meets to study the question twice a week in room 301, after school.

The practice affirmative team has Herbert Hansell, Herbert Gross, Ruth Sinsley and Elliott Hansell as its members. On the negative team is Mary Circosta, Karl Theiss, Jackie Brown and Marjorie Fredericks.

Although he has less than a month to whip up a full fledged team, Mr. Guiler says that the future looks promising.

Teachers Attend Alliance Meeting

Mr. H. M. Williams, principal of Salem High school, Mr. B. G. Ludwig, principal of Salem Junior High school, Mr. Herbert Brown, Mr. Lewis Smith and Mr. L. D. Early, instructors in the high school, attended a special meeting of group nine of the Ohio High School Principals' association at the Administration building of Mount Union college at Alliance, Ohio, last Saturday.

Speakers at the meeting, which began at 10 a. m. were: O. H. Snyder, principal at Harding High school, Marion, Ohio; R. D. Purdy, and Dr. D. H. Eikenberry of the Department of Education at Ohio State university. These men discussed, "The Evaluation Criteria and Their Use in Evaluating High Schools in Ohio."

Those in attendance lunched at the Alliance Country club after which they were guests of Mount Union college at a football game with Wittenberg college.

Schoolmen from Stark, Carroll and Columbiana counties were present at the meeting.

Upperclass Fills In Reference Form

Members of the senior class of Salem High school held a class meeting in room 209 Wednesday to fill out records for permanent use in the office.

Papers were distributed among the seniors with questions pertaining to college, activities in school and out, and type of work they would like to take up. Each senior was asked to give two teachers for future reference.

The two teachers given as references will be asked to fill out the Jones' Personality rating Scale for the pupil who gave their name as a reference. This scale will aid the office in recommending persons for jobs and students for colleges.

Mr. H. M. Williams, principal, was in charge of the meeting.

Archery Club Has Tourney At Party

A tournament was the main feature of the Archery club party held in the gymnasium last Friday evening.

At the regular meeting held last week the club decided upon 6 inch emblems. These will have a regulation target upon a large red S. The emblems are not given for achievement but any member in good standing may buy one.

They also decided to adopt a constitution in the near future.

Indian Speaks In History Class

Chief Wild Wolfe, a Seneca Indian, spoke to Mr. A. V. Henning's seventh period American History class on the subject, "The History and Story of the Indians" last Thursday.

The Chief, who travels widely and who is considered an authority on this subject, lectures to many high school and college students annually.

Although born in New York he resides in Tulsa, Oklahoma, at present.

Among his possessions he has a gun previously owned by Theodore Roosevelt and presented to him by Roosevelt while on a hunting expedition in Africa.
