Liquid Air Show Among Programs To Be Presented

Again this year the Salem High school association will present to the student body a series of assembly programs. Thus far nine programs on subjects varying from demonstrations with liquid air to a talk on caves have been scheduled.

Those scheduled are:

September 30—The National Air show will bring Captain Corley P. McDarment, who fought in the air service during the World war. Captain McDarment is widely known for his articles and talks on aviation. He will give a history of air flight, tell the methods of flight and give demonstrations of various phases of aviation with working models.

October 10—Elliott James, who appeared before a Salem High student body in 1936, will return this year to give his demonstrations with liquid air. Mr. James illustrates the practical uses of liquid air and demonstrates the peculiar qualities given various substances when subjected to its freezing contact.

November 11—An epochal play, "Prologue to Glory," will present three scenes in the life of Abraham Lincoln. The first scene shows the village store in New Salem, where Ann Rutledge prods Abe to political ambitions. In the second scene the famous debate where Lincoln announces himself as a candidate for office while debating on

Enrollment This Year About 944

According to the number of schedule cards filled out in the office thus far, this year's enrollment is going to be about the same as last year's. Schedule cards show 944 enrolled in comparison with 948 enrolled at this time last year.

Of the 944 students, 195 are seniors, 234 are juniors, 264 are sophomores and 251 are freshmen.

Sixteen rural students, twenty-two parochial students and ten students new to the Salem schools are included in the enrollment.

Freshmen coming from rural schools are: Eva Bardo, Twila Bartchy, Hazel Black, Carol Freshly, Ruth Gromley, Mildred Hall, Glenn Halverstadt, Morris Hartman, Olin King, Virginia McArtor, Gladys McDonald, Mary McGuire, Marian Marshall, Mary Sanlo, Janet Taylor and Dwain Votaw.

This Issue Given To Every Student

This copy of The Quaker will be given free to all students in the Salem High school and Junior High school to acquaint new students with the paper.

Next week and after, only those students who purchase association tickets or subscribe through the business manager will receive copies.

This issue was edited by Robert Ballantine and the following students did editorial work for it: Gloria Gibson, Ethel Mae Hill, Mary Byers, Elizabeth Benedetti, Stephan Hart and Herbert Hansell from last year's staff, and Vivian Foltz, Jack Atkinson, Marjorie Harroff and Lois Hoover.

Irene White, this year's business manager, took charge of the business end of the paper, aided by Louise Zeck and Eleanor Kuhns, who helped to sell advertisements.

The students were advised by the faculty advisors, Mr. H. C. Lehman for the editorial staff, and Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf for the business staff.

Board Names New Latin Instructor

Miss Helen Redinger has been appointed by the board of education to replace Miss Dorothy Harroff as teacher of Latin and English II. Miss Harroff resigned last year when she was married.

Miss Redinger, who has lived in Salem most of her life, attended Saint Mary of the Woods College near Terre Haute, Indiana, where she received her A. B. degree upon graduation. She has also attended Kent State University, at Kent, Ohio, where she took special work.

Since graduation from college, Miss Redinger has taught at Saint Henry, Ohio, where she taught Latin, English and dramatics. She has been a teacher at Prospect School for the past four years.

Delegates to Boy's State Learn to be Good Citizens

Among the many fortunate boys trained to be good citizens at Buckeye Boys' State are five Salem boys—Robert Ballantine, George Baillie, Elliott Hansell, George Steffel and Louis Raymond. They were honored by being chosen by the American Legion to attend this assembly. The valuable experience gained and the enjoyment every boy received from his stay at Boys' State gave each of the boys the feeling that the American Legion has done the boys of Ohio a great service in sponsoring Buckeye Boys' State.

Seven hundred and sixty-seven boys from all over Ohio attended this model state, which was held at the Ohio State fairgrounds in Columbus from June 15 to 25.

From the moment the boys entered Boys' State they were full-fledged citizens with all the rights and privileges that Ohio extends to her citizens, and from then on the activities were just like those of a regular state.

For the first several days the big item was the campaigning and elec-

Irene White Will Serve As Manager

Hilgendorf Names Senior Quaker Business Staff Head

Irene White, senior, has been appointed to act as business manager of The Quaker weekly and annual for the next year, it was announced recently by the faculty advisor to the business staff, Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf. The editor of the weekly and annual for the coming year, as was announced by Mr. H. C. Lehman, faculty advisor to the editorial staff, at the close of school last June, is Robert Ballantine, a senior.

Miss White is a member of the Thespian club and was in the junior class play last year. Also, she has served on the business staff of The Quaker weekly for the past three years.

Ballantine served on the editorial staff for both the weekly and the annual last year and was a member of the Slide Rule club. He is also a member of the Thespian club and will serve this club as secretary-treasurer this year. He was a delegate to the Buckeye Boys' State held at Columbus this past summer.

Tryouts for the editorial staff will be conducted by the editor in the near future. Persons trying out will have to pass requirements set up by the editor. Those wishing to be on the business staff must fulfill requirements of the business manager.

Staffs for the 1941 Quaker annual will not be chosen for several months although preliminary arrangements for the yearbook will soon get under way.

tions. This was carried on in much the same manner as our city, county and state elections are carried on, with the boys being divided into two political parties.

The Salem boys were well represented among the various offices. Baillie was sheriff of his county and gained himself quite a bit of publicity when he arrested the governor of Boys' State for contempt of court. Ballantine was elected county treasurer of his county. Hansell was appointed chief of police of his city and his party chairman of the county. Steffel was elected city treasurer, and Raymond was an appointed safety director and a member of the state board of health.

A very full program was arranged by the American Legion for the boys, and during their stay they had many distinguished guests and speakers. Among these were Assistant Secretary of State Stern, Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland, Mayor Stewart of Cincinnati, Lieutenant

Two New Faculty Advisors Are Named for Coming Year

Miss Martha McCready, Miss Sara Hanna To Advise Junior, Freshman Classes

Miss Martha McCready and Miss Sara Hanna have been named as junior and freshman faculty advisors respectively for the next school year.

The naming of a new junior advisor was made necessary since Miss Mary Roth, who had been class advisor for the past two years, was married this summer and will not be teaching school this year.

Association Drive To Start Monday

The annual Salem High association drive, which starts Monday, brings with it the opportunity for students to enjoy over eight dollars' worth of activities for only four dollars, cash, or four dollars and fifty cents, by the credit plan.

Those who purchase tickets are entitled to attend association assemblies, an association party, all home basketball and football games and track meets, the junior and senior class plays, and to receive The Quaker weekly and Quaker annual.

Last year 749 persons took advantage of this mutual plan, which makes possible interscholastic debate, cross country, minor sports and special assemblies.

To the home room first obtaining 100 per cent membership a cup will be awarded. In 1938 this cup was won by junior home room 203, and in 1939 by senior home room 208.

Two hundred and eighty-seven Junior High school students also participated in this association plan last year. The banner awarded to the room getting the highest percentage of members was won by 7E for 90 per cent membership.

The association officers for this year are: President, Louis Raymond; vice president, George Baillie; secretary, Vivian Foltz; treasurer, Marjorie Harroff.

Misses Roth, Bodo Are Summer Brides

Miss Mary C. Roth, teacher of French and American History in Salem High school for the past four years, was married to H. J. Killmeyer, Jr., of Cleveland, Saturday, June 29.

Besides serving as French and history instructor, Mrs. Killmeyer had acted as faculty advisor to the junior class for the past two years.

Mrs. Killmeyer was graduated from Salem High school in the class of 1929 and from Lake Erie college at Painesville, Ohio.

Also married during the summer was Miss Julia Bodo, who had served as secretary to the board of education since 1936. She became the wife of Lon E. Aufer of Freeburg, Pennsylvania, in a ceremony at the Methodist church Saturday, August 10.

Mrs. Aufer, who was graduated from Salem High school in the class of 1931, was attended by her sisters, Miss Violo Bodo, teacher of English and dramatic coach in Salem High, and Miss Mary Bodo, teacher at the Fourth Street school.

Miss McCready has been named to succeed Miss Roth. She will have a junior home room in room 201. For the past ten years Miss McCready has served as advisor to the Freshman class. Among her duties as junior faculty advisor Miss McCready will help in supervising the annual fall party given by the Junior and Senior classes, will have charge of plans for putting on the annual junior play and also supervise plans for the junior-senior prom, given at the close of each school year. Miss McCready is instructor in mathematics and advisor to the Slide Rule club.

Because of the change of Miss McCready from freshman advisor to junior advisor it was necessary to name someone to that post for the Freshman class. Miss Sara Hanna has been chosen to fill this position. Her home room will be in a freshman room, 307. As Freshman class advisor, Miss Hanna will be in charge of helping the new class to get money in its treasury and help in making plans for the annual freshman-sophomore party in the spring. Miss Hanna is girls' gym instructor and teacher of English. She is also advisor to the Girls' Athletic association.

Dan Attends Hi-Y National Meeting

John Dan, senior in Salem High school, joined 1,100 other boys representing 7,000 Hi-Y clubs and 200,000 Hi-Y members in the United States and Canada at Oberlin college in a special five-day program celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Hi-Y.

During the course of the congress one of the main purposes of Hi-Y clubs and their importance to us today was emphasized by President Roosevelt in a letter to the representatives at the congress. He wrote that present day events are striking strongly at our religion and our religious beliefs. He urged the Hi-Y boys to greater understanding of these events and praised the Hi-Y movement and the work it does to combat these threatening forces.

The boys were privileged to have as guest speakers Carl F. Zeidler, the singing mayor of Milwaukee, who, after completing his talk, was forced, at the request of the boys, to lead them in the singing of "God Bless America." John says that he did a pretty good job of it, too.

During the sessions of the congress William O. Douglas, associate justice of the Supreme court, served as honorary chairman of the conference.

The growth of the Hi-Y movement was symbolized by the "Gol-

An Open Letter to Freshmen

Dear Freshmen:

Today you tasted your first real sample of High school life. You went through your schedule and became acquainted with your classes and teachers. You discovered new friends in several classes with whom you have already struck up faithful friendships. You found that Latin, algebra or whatever your secret dread might have been was not such a bad subject after all. Yes, all in all, your first day in Salem High has been a pretty successful one, has it not?

Out of the classrooms have you seen the various points of interest. Did you see the library? If not, snag a fellow sufferer and go exploring. This was a thrill to last year's new crop and it surely should please you. If you don't care to brave our "terrifying halls" alone ask someone to take you sightseeing. Undoubtedly he'll jump at the chance. And while you have this upperclassman in a good humor ask him to take you to the music room also. He is probably well acquainted with the school and your curiosity and confidence in him should flatter the ego of even the hardest of either sex enough to make him take you anywhere.

Now that we have taken care of those little details we, the remaining populace of the school, would like to know if you are enjoying High school. If not, why? Is it because everything is so strange, so new?

That seems to be a very common ailment among freshmen. However, since each class seems to be blessed with such an epidemic we shall try to help you over the rough spots. At least, this is our aim and we are confident that you, the freshman class of 1940-41, will provide us with ample rewards by your cooperative spirit, talents and all the other things which will help to make your class a leader in Salem High.

Get A Quick Start

While watching a track meet we noted in one of the races that one fellow got off a fraction of a second faster than his opponent, and just this proved to win the race for him.

If this principle of a quick get-away is applied to our school life in that we get off on a good step by studying, the work seems to get easier as we go along, instead of harder.

The student who lets his work slide from the start will be like the late starter in the race; he will lag behind always. His work will pile up until he will never get ahead.

The persons who is friendly is a help in the school. It is this person to whom everybody looks up. He is far ahead of the person who nags and pesters the freshmen. The person who is friendly has got a head start toward making friends, and it is he who will come out ahead in the race. The student who is off to a quick start will win the race in the end.

Is Freshman Criticism Unjust?

Stories have it that freshmen are the only students who walk into the wrong classroom or use an incorrect flight of stairs. But, if one were to watch carefully who the persons are who pull the "blunders" he would find that several are not freshmen but upperclassmen! Whether the three eldest classes consider themselves always in the right or if it is a new fad to act different is undeterminable. A freshman has been drilled over and over again on locations and directions in the high school. On the other hand upperclassmen are supposed to be past the drilling stage. Don't lose heart "Frosh", some sophomores have hunted for the elevator to the library more than once. Come on you "oldsters" let's set a good example for the newest class and, whatever we do, let's not be mistaken for the "jokester's freshman"!

Get In The Spirit

Soon we will be having pep rallies every Friday and the "Quaker Drive on Song" will be heard all over the building. When we cheer inside it seems as if we can be heard most anywhere but when we are out in the bleachers the cheer can hardly be heard on the other side. Every year we hear the same thing "support your cheer leaders." We should really begin to take this to heart. Our leaders get out into the mud and wave their arms and yell to encourage us, but we just sit there all huddled up in our coats. It is really every student's job to stand up and cheer when the cheer leaders start to lead.

Get in the spirit! Yell for the team so the others can hear! Stand up and cheer. We always admire a school that has a good cheering section. Why can't we be admired too?

BY VIVIAN FOLTZ

Ah, me, "school days" are here again! Oh, sweet sound, but with football season waiting around the nearest corner, two lengths ahead of prosperity, there's bound to be plenty of excitement barreling around.

Yes, football's my sport. I've never cared for baseball since that fatal game so long ago between the Jennings Juveniles and the Perry Street Parasites, when I pulled that untimely remark along about the eighth inning of the game that was proving very disastrous for the home team. It was really a gem. I announced, in my most naive manner: "Isn't our pitcher grand? He hits their bats no matter where they hold them!" . . . Thus ended my baseball career.

Do you remember when:

Sunday papers were not sold until Sunday?

Every well furnished parlor included a postcard album?

You didn't have to be a combination math genius and lightning expert to take a picture?

At the sound of an airplane, everybody dashed from the house to get a glimpse of it. . . . And just think, now Bobby Bichsel is the proud owner of a solo license. The first time he took his mother up he was doing back flips and the full twist like a veteran. At first she beamed with pride, then all of a sudden she fainted. . . . While hanging by her feet, she muttered: "This is g-glorious—when did you l-learn to f-fly?"

"I'm learning now! This is my first lesson; great, isn't it?" That's when she fainted.

A tailor in Denver advertises: "If your clothes don't fit we make them."

Round the Raspberry Bush

Some chaps, upon being informed that they have become fathers, pass out cigars; others merely pass out.

You can judge a man's age by his bay-window. Under 40 he is sensitive about it; after that he's proud of it.

T. Jones certainly started sompthin' when he organized that girls' golf team. Yep, we practiced all summer long and can really swing a mean club, tho' we do admit to all parties concerned that we swing much better on the dance floor. Nan Beardmore is the limelight catcher and she plays every afternoon, rain or shine (mostly rain). Just she and her man. Ain't it wonderful how love can survive after 18 holes of hand blistering, oath-uttering, ball-losing ohles?

"Alas, our interests I'e

Fifty Boys Answer First Call For Grid Practice

Eight Lettermen Among Aspirants for Positions On Quaker Football Squad

Approximately fifty boys answered Coach Schroeder's first call for football candidates last Thursday at the High school. Among them are eight lettermen and several good reserves from last year's squad. Practice opened last Tuesday at Tolerton's field, where the Quakers will prepare themselves for their ten-game schedule.

Call Them "Papa" Cope, "Papa" Smith

Two Salem High school teachers became fathers during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cope are the parents of a daughter born August 21. Mrs. Cope is the former Miss Doris Shoop, former teacher of biology in Salem High.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith became the parents of a boy born on August 5.

Season Tickets Go On Sale Next Week

Season tickets for football games will go on sale the first part of next week. Mr. Cope, faculty manager of athletics, announced recently. The ticket, costing two dollars, entitles one to admission and a reserved seat for the five home games. Reserved seats will sell for fifty cents and general admission tickets for thirty-five cents. Student tickets cost twenty-five cents but the greater number of students have association tickets which entitle them to entrance to the home games.

Night games in Salem will start at 7:45 p. m. There is a possibility that the Dover night game, on Friday, November 1, will be Dad's night instead of the usual afternoon occasion.

There will be a special gate for association members this year, the same as last year. The plan of having a special rooting section, which was very successful last year, will also remain the same.

The end positions were left wide open by the graduation of Bob Shoe and the moving of George Baillie to the center post. Several boys are battling for the two vacant slots. They are Bob Ruffing, Phil Cozad, Art Chappell, Bob Umberger and Jim Benedict. None of these candidates has seen excessive action in varsity tilts but all of them will be in there fighting for a position.

The outstanding candidates for the tackle posts are Felix DiAntonio, a letterman, and Ward Zeller. There are several good guards battling for a position. Among them are Carroll Greene and Bob Malloy, lettermen, and Walt Bolinger, Gordon Shasteen and Wayne Steffel.

In the backfield are four lettermen and several good reserves. They are "Buster" and Melvin Wukotich, John Volio and Bob Scullion, all lettermen, and Elliott Hansell, Jim and Carmen Nocera. Melvin Wukotich will call signals from a half-back slot.

Carroll Greene and Bob Umberger are slated to do the punting, while "Buster" Wukotich will perform the place-kicking duties. He will also carry the ball a good bit because of his savage plunging. He led the team in scoring last year.

Coach Schroeder says his hardest job this season will be picking the eleven best men to put on the field.

The Quaker gridders will open their season at home again this year when they play Sebring September 20 under the lights at Reilly Stadium.

Smith Invites

Mr. Smith, dean of boys, invites all boys to come in and consult him if they are in difficulty about their schedules or any other school matter. He urges the boys to come in to consult him any time they feel they are in trouble or if their studies are worrying them.

2 S. H. S. Teachers Get M. A. Degrees

During the summer two Salem High school teachers completed the prescribed courses of universities to receive their Master of Arts degrees.

Lewis Smith, dean of boys, was among a class of 750 which received degrees at Ohio State University in Columbus a week ago yesterday.

Loren Early, English instructor and tennis coach, finished his course at Columbia University in New York City. He will not receive his diploma until October.

Other High school teachers who attended school this summer are: Mr. Brown, Ohio State University; Mr. Englehart, Lincoln Electric School of Welding, Cleveland; Miss Lehman, Western Reserve University; Mr. Olloman, Duke University; Mr. Schroeder, Coach school at University of West Virginia; Miss Schroeder, Western Reserve University.

Freshmen Meet In School Auditorium

Two hundred and fifty-one freshmen were welcomed by Principal H. M. Williams, Dean of Boys Lewis Smith, Dean of Girls Maud Hart and freshman home room teachers at a meeting held at the High school auditorium at 10:30 a. m. last Wednesday.

Miss Hanna, freshman faculty advisor, discussed with them activities for the coming school year. After home rooms had been assigned, the meeting was adjourned so that they could locate their home rooms. Here home room teachers discussed with them the association plan, class schedules, the location of other rooms, and various other freshman activities.

Freshman home room teachers are: Mr. J. C. Guiler in room 301; Mr. A. V. Henning in room 303; Mr. Herbert Jones in room 305; Mr. R. B. Clark in room 306; Miss Sara Hanna in room 307; Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf in room 308.

BY JACK ATKINSON

Greetings, Readers:

First of all, this column promises not to mention any organization outside the school, such as the Perry Indians, during the following school year. That's over with, now let's get down to brass tacks.

Just before school left out in June the Wukotiches took a beating when everybody was a Cleveland fan and the "Wuks" were rooting for the Yankees. Everything went just fine until the Yankees decided to make the pennant race a little more exciting by starting a winning streak in which they swept a three-game series from the Tribe. I lost two "cokes" to the "Wuks" on that series and rashly bet "Buster" a milkshake that the Yankees wouldn't win the pennant. The way it looks, I stand a good chance of losing that wager, too.

The National league race has become a walk-away for the Cincinnati Reds since Brooklyn has hit the skids. I'll bet Mr. Brautigam dances with joy every time his beloved Reds widen the gap in the pennant race.

I still wonder why F. E. Cope roots for the Pittsburgh Pirates? They are getting nowhere fast the way they're going now.

Flash!!! Rumor has it that Mel Wukotich is not going to shave until the home team walks all over East Liverpool October 4. It is also going around that the members of the football team are going to get hair cuts as short as possible. That's a laugh. I can just imagine Walt Bolinger and Bob Malloy with crew hair cuts.

Ray Lowry's new nickname is a riot. The other morning a great ball game was being waged on the Centennial Park diamond, where two Legion teams were playing in a series for the city championship. Two promising rallies were promptly crushed when "Racetrack" came to the plate and hit into two rapid-fire double plays in a row. Folks, meet "Double-play" Lowry, star of the North End ball club which set a new league record when it committed fourteen errors in one game! Sounds like the New York Yankees on an off day.

That's all for now, so I'll see you next week.

History is, indeed, little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind.

the subject, "Resolved, that the bee is more useful than the ant," is shown. The third scene shows Lincoln and Ann in the garden, where they plight their troth. Taking part in the play are Ellen Hogue, Edward Rees and Stanley Harris, all of whom have appeared in stock companies throughout the country.

November 28—Dr. H. H. Nininger, curator of meteorites at the Colorado Museum of Natural History, will give an illustrated talk on meteorites. Dr. Nininger has been widely acclaimed all over the country for his talks and is well known for his book, "Our Stone-Pelted Planet."

December 6—The Bentley Trio will present to the student body an act featuring the marimba-xylophone and Spanish, Mexican folk dances. Specialty dances are included as well as novelty numbers on the musical bottles and on a one-string Chinese fiddle.

December 11—Miss Arlite Smith, famous diver and winner of two national diving championships on the low board, will present a talk and show movies on diving. The motion picture will show many famous diving champions doing their specialties. In her talk Miss Smith will tell about her climb up the ladder to national diving championships.

January 24 — Captain Theodore Stern, scientific investigator for the Elgin, Illinois, police force, will discuss science in crime detection. Captain Stern will demonstrate the lie detector and illustrate fingerprinting, ballistics and the laboratory analyses and use of microscopic clues to crimes.

March 6—W. L. Markham, who appeared here in 1937, will give a talk on air travel and illustrate it with views taken from airplanes. All the pictures are in color and include views of Mt. Vernon, Arlington, Bear Mountain bridge, Los Angeles, Catalina, Hollywood, and many other famous places.

Also scheduled to appear, although the dates have not been set, are:

Mr. Russell T. Neville will tell of exploring unknown subterranean labyrinths, delving into prehistoric cave dwellers' lore, about thrilling adventures underground, and will show wonderful cave marvels.

Karl H. Maslowski will present vividly colored close-up movies of plant, animal and insect life, describing each picture as it is shown. Mr. Maslowski has been associated

Freshmen Include Six Award Winners

Among the students entering with this year's Freshman class are six who received honors at the close of the last school year.

Each year Charles H. Carey Post No. 56, American Legion, awards to the boy and girl of the eighth grades at the Junior High school and at St. Paul's school who are found to possess among the high qualities of character, courage, character, service, companionship and scholarship. At the Junior High school Robert Cibula and Rachel Keister were the recipients of this award. Donald Whiteleather and Edeldgard Zerbs received this award at St. Paul's school.

Also given each year to the two students who have, in the opinion of the teachers, made the greatest progress in English during their Junior High school years is the Arta Dodge Snyder award. First prize of ten dollars was given to Duane Guiler and second prize of five dollars went to Josephine Hart.

den Anniversary Pageant," presented by the Kansas Hi-Y clubs. At another assembly music by the "Wings Over Jordan" choir from station WGAR was featured.

The delegates to the convention were guests of Oberlin college and were given sleeping quarters in the various dormitories.

The Hi-Y club is one of the foremost of worth-while clubs for High school boys. John states that not only did he learn a great deal from the discussions and sessions of the congress, but that he gained a much better idea of the meaning and purpose of Hi-Y.

Jr. High News

New teachers in the Junior High school this year are Miss Lois Roller, Mr. James Campbell and Mr. Willard Farrell.

Miss Roller formerly taught at McKinley school. Mr. Campbell, a recent graduate of Wittenberg college, will be doing his first year of teaching. Mr. Farrell is a graduate of Ohio State university and will assist in the intramural athletic program.

These teachers are replacing Mrs. Paul Lau, Mr. Robert Carey and Mr. William Baker. Mr. Carey resigned to become business manager at the Salem City hospital. Mr. Baker is doing graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Lau was married last year, so resigned.

Due to increased enrollment in the seventh grade it has been necessary to add an additional home room.

The purchase of a portable radio with an extra speaker for the use of the Junior High school students is made possible by the receipts from sales tax stamps given by the pupils.

The first assembly of the year will be held on September 10 for both the seventh and eighth grades. The highlight of the assembly will be a motion picture sound film, "String Choir".

Boys' State

Governor Paul Herbert, State Senator Haskins, C. J. Pennington of the F. B. I., and among the distinguished guests was Governor John Bricker, who inspected the workings of the various governments. But perhaps the one program enjoyed most was a group of chorus girls who presented a program at one of the assemblies. An amateur hour was held the last night.

There were also many other things to keep the boys busy. Every boy had a job. Those not elected to positions got appointive offices and some of the boys opened a bank and others worked on the newspaper. Also, there was a 120-piece band which presented a number of concerts and played over the radio three times.

There were all kinds of athletics. The boys were taken swimming, several baseball and volley ball leagues were formed, and a track meet was held. In the track meet Hansell was high scorer.

The climax of the Boys' State activities came when the officers of the winning city and county were permitted to take over the operation of the city government of Columbus and the county government of Franklin county, of which Columbus is the county seat. Although little chance was given for the actual operation of the government due to lack of time the boys were able to get an insight on how the governments are run.

Two Salem boys were among the group who got to participate in this activity. Ballantine was treasurer of the winning county, so visited the Franklin county treasurer's office, and Raymond, as an officer of the winning city, was permitted to view the city government.

The purpose of Boys' State is to teach boys to become good citizens and to show them how their government runs. Every boy who has had the privilege of attending Boys' State knows that the American Legion has made a success of its plans.
