

Sponsors Of Clubs Plan Activities

Classes In Parliamentary Procedure Are To Be Held For Officers

At a meeting called by Mr. H. W. Williams, principal, sponsors of the various clubs in the high school discussed plans for the clubs for the coming year and also plans for conducting a class in parliamentary procedure for officers of the clubs.

This class in procedure will be under the direction of some faculty member and all officers of clubs in the high school will attend. The class will not start until all clubs have organized and officers elected, however.

On a bulletin issued by Mr. Williams to the club sponsors were listed eight values of clubs. These are:

1. They explore, develop and widen the interests of the students.
2. They are wise and pleasant use for leisure time.
3. They motivate regular school work.
4. They aid in the formation of worthwhile friendships.
5. They are of service to the community which supports the school.
6. They develop intelligent leaders and intelligent followers.
7. The student learns parliamentary procedure.
8. They provide training in courtesy and good manners.

Mr. Williams also announced that it will be necessary this year to have the name of the club, purpose of the club, place and time of meeting, names of officers, activities proposed, membership requirements, fees, slogans, pins etc. all filed in the office.

New Plan To Be Tried By Band

The Salem High school band will inaugurate a new plan at the Salem-East Liverpool game tonight. Under this plan the band will remain in the stands after the game is finished, playing "God Bless America."

In accordance with the patriotic theme, the band has ordered several new numbers. These include: "America Exultant," which introduces the song "America" in the chorus; "Adoration," which introduces the song "America the Beautiful" in the chorus; "National Emblem," and the "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Hi-Tri Will Again Run Stand Tonight

After having taken over the senior stand at the first football game of the season, the members of the Hi-Tri club will assist at the stand again tonight.

Miss Marye Lou Miller, club advisor, will again be in charge of the stand. Some of the girls will sell to the persons in the bleachers while others will work at the stand.

Profits of the stand go into the treasury of the Hi-Tri club. This club may have charge of the stand at the remaining home football games.

Lieutenant David Barkley Addresses S.H.S. Students

David M. Barkley, First Lieut. Air Corps Reserves, spoke Monday in assembly about "The Story of Flight." Lt. Barkley was born in Kentucky, the son of Senator William Barkley. He attended the University of Virginia and was quite active in many campus activities. After college the Lieutenant went to Brooks Field in San Antonio, Texas. Then he went to Randolph Field and later to Kelly Field.

Lieutenant Barkley acted as a guide in Yellowstone Park during 1922. In order that he could see the Olympic Games he was a bell hop on a Trans-Atlantic Liner in 1924. The Lieutenant has many accomplishments but the most outstanding of them are: Army Air Mail pilot, Chicago to Cheyenne;

a member of the Bureau of Air Commerce as Aviation Expert; an author of text books and articles on "Flight" and "Flight Instruction"; one of six pilots selected by the Bureau of Air Commerce to make sectional airway charts; an instructor of Aeronautics at Columbus University, Washington, D. C.

In his talk, which was illustrated with colorful drawings and pictures of airplanes, Lieutenant Barkley told of many of his flying experiences and of the story of aviation.

At the close of his speech the Lieutenant said that we should realize how lucky we are, because when we look at an airplane we can laugh and not expect a bomb to drop on us.

More New Books Now In Library

Among the new books in the library is the one entitled "Police", by John J. Floherty. The text is informative and gives a comprehensive survey of the development of the modern police system and of its emphasis on crime prevention. Floherty's many photographs show the dramatic and everyday aspects of the work.

Another book is "Wild Animal Man" the life story of Reuben Castang, written by R. W. Thompson. Reuben Castang, considered one of the greatest wild animal trainers of all times, set a record, unequalled by any other living trainer, when he went to Africa and caught 29 live chimpanzees. He has trained lions, tigers, elephants, leopards and bears.

In his book, Mr. Thompson tells many of Castang's experiences, including the training of two chimpanzees, Max and Moritz, who toured Europe with him and were entertained by emperors, kings and princes.

Plans have been made by Miss Lehman to order many more new books for the library.

Sophomores Place Pennants On Sale

Members of the sophomore class are making their first attempt of the year to raise money for their treasury by selling emblems in the form of small pennants. Mrs. Marion Cox, class advisor, has announced that 300 of these emblems, with the words "Salem High" printed on a red background in black letters, were ordered. The price is five cents each.

Students who were officers of the class last year and are acting officers this year until regular officers are elected are in charge of the sale. Any member of the sophomore class who wishes, may sell the emblems.

Also under consideration by the sophomore class are several other plans which may be used to raise money for the class treasury.

Prize Is Offered To Pencil Sellers

A prize will be offered to the person selling the most pencils in the freshman contest, Miss Sara Hanna, class advisor, announced recently. The nature of the award has not yet been decided upon.

According to the sales reports already handed in, more than half the pencils have been sold in the two weeks they have been on sale. A new order of 1,000 pencils will be made soon.

The new order will be made up either of the schedule pencils like those of last year or the kind which are now being sold, depending on the type which seems to be most popular.

Archers Hold First Meeting Of Year

The Three Feathers club, archery club of Salem High school, held its first meeting of the year for students interested in becoming members of the club in room 110 last Tuesday after school.

Plans were discussed for a combination roving trip and wiener roast to be held next Tuesday.

After the meeting for both the members of last year and the new members, a meeting was held for the old members only. At this meeting plans for an initiation were discussed.

The club plans to have either emblems or pins this year and is going to enter some of the members in archery tournaments.

New Equipment Is Bought By School

Dark blinds for the windows, a new screen and a metal stand for the micropjector have been purchased by the school for the biology laboratory.

This completes the equipment needed for using the micropjector, which was purchased before school was dismissed last year.

The micropjector flashes on a screen an enlarged picture of the slide under the microscope. This machine enables a greater number of specimens to be viewed during the laboratory periods.

3 Salem Grads Receive Honors

West, Schaeffer, Metzger Outstanding In College Activities

Many of Salem High school's graduates are making outstanding achievements at the colleges they are attending.

Miss Jane Metzger, who was editor of the Quaker weekly and annual during her senior year in 1936-37, is one of 45 Smith college students honored with membership in the group of first scholars, according to an announcement made at the opening chapel exercises of this year. Because of her ranking she will be awarded an honorary scholarship.

James Schaeffer graduate of Salem High school last year has been elected president of the freshman class at Ohio Northern university where he is in attendance this year.

Another graduate of Salem High with the class of '40, Miss Ruth West, has been awarded the lead in the freshman class play at Kent State university. While in Salem High Miss West did very outstanding work in dramatics and was awarded a medal for being chosen best actress in the state at the state dramatics festival in Cleveland last spring.

S.H.S. Described Yesterday, Today

Adjusting the long hair which fell over her shoulders in slender curls, Alice Jones remarked to her friend, Edith, "Did you hear that Jane Kelly went out unchaperoned with Jim Dales last night? And she only 16!"

Edith gave a maidenly gasp as she ceased biting some red into her lips. "Why, Alice, how can you repeat such a thing?"

"Oh, it's the scandal of the school. I heard mama and papa whispering about it this morning." Alice gave the tie of her middle a quick jerk and straightened the seams of her fashionable long black stockings. "They seemed to be terribly shocked."

Just then Dave Brownly strutted down the hall, his high laced shoes gleaming below his trousers. In passing the girls he gave a shy wink, then hurried on.

Both girls flushed a reddish hue and giggled delicately. "Oh, Alice, dare I hope he will ever call?" Edith murmured passionately.

Before Alice could answer, Percival Walters came dashing up and gallantly offered his services as book carrier. So, bearing the girls' books he escorted them to the first class.

Salem High—1940

Janie Farmer tore down the hall at 8:15 hunting furiously for a geometry paper. She had been on a date the night before and hadn't found time for homework. She accosted Jack Baker, who happened to have his finished and had promised to lend her the paper.

Mission complete, Janie paused to replenish her lipstick and retie the shoestrings of her dirty saddle oxfords.

To Explain Liquid Air In Assembly

Elliott James Will Speak Before Student Body Next Thursday

Mr. Elliott James will demonstrate the qualities and practical use of liquid air at an assembly next Thursday morning.

As an introduction, Mr. James will cite liquid air as the basic product of argon, neon and nitrogen. As the program progresses he will demonstrate the peculiar qualities given to substances such as mercury, raw beefsteak, alcohol and a rubber ball when subjected to the freezing contact of liquid air.

A native of Frankfort, Kentucky, Mr. James has presented his program with great success in many schools. He appeared on a program at Salem High school in 1936.

National Defense Stamp to Appear

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker announced September 12 that the Post Office Department will issue three new postage stamps in connection with the National Defense Program.

These stamps, which are to be of 1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cents denominations, will be placed on sale for the first time in Washington D. C., on October 16, to coincide with National Registration.

The motif for the one-cent stamp will be Industry and Agriculture, that for the two-cent stamp will be the Army and Navy, while the three-cent stamp will represent Security, Education, Conservation, and Health.

On the one-cent stamp will be portrayed the Statue of Liberty, on the two-cent stamp, symbolic of the Army and Navy, will be one of the new ninety millimeter anti-aircraft guns. The Torch of Enlightenment will be pictured on the three-cent stamp.

Club Holds First Meeting Of Year

Members of the Thespian club held their first meeting of the year in room 203 after school last Monday.

At the meeting Miss Viola Bodo, club sponsor, announced plans for the club for the coming year and appointed several club members in charge of work to be done in the property room.

Lucia Sharp, senior, is president of the club for this year.

Set Up Bleachers For Game Tonight

Due to the extra large crowd expected at the football game tonight between East Liverpool and Salem, the bleachers used in the gym during the basketball season will be set up on the track at the north end of Reilly Field Stadium to accommodate 500 more people.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to attend this game with 930 reserved seat tickets having been taken by East Liverpool.

Opportunity At Finger Tips

"Our problems are our biggest opportunity."—Salam Rizk.

This statement is especially true of Americans. It is much easier to have a problem to work on and work than to have no problem and not to work.

Everyday school work presents many problems for the average student. Most students think they will never finish their work, but if you really admit what you truly think, you will find it's best to have something to do.

Have you ever stopped to think what it would be like to be blind or dumb? You would be so physically handicapped that real work problems would never enter your span of life. You would live a very systematic life with none of the excitement a few hours of work presents—that is, first to have a question to solve and second the triumph that comes when it is done.

When you consider how fortunate we are to live in a free country and be normal, it is a blessing to have problems as slight as the average person has today.

Hair Fever

It Can Happen To You

Have you ever noticed how hard the janitors work trying to get the mess out of the various desks. Yes, the mess made by thoughtless students who stuff every kind of trash into the desks just because they are the too lazy to walk to the rear or front of the room to deposit their junk in the waste basket. I wonder what wastepaper baskets are for if not to put trash in.

Think also of the industrious student who really needs the desk space for his books while studying. When he takes his books out, preparing to go to the next class, and finds his hands full of someone else's chewing gum and candy wrappers, etc., imagine how he feels. Place yourself in his position and you'll realize what agonies he suffers.

There is but one way to enter this life, but the gates to death are without number. One kisses the child for the mother's sake and the mother for the child's sake.

Woman's talk, like the brook, babbles on forever . . . but the brook gets somewhere in the end.

This issue is to be dedicated to the modern lassie; now to begin with, there are two kinds: the fashionable ones and those who are comfortable. I don't know much about fashion but Dad tells me that if women's clothes did not CHANGE so often there would be more "CHANGE" in men's pockets.

But the typical American gal, as far as I can figure out is . . . Janet Taylor . . . Sophomore. She's really a pip, has flashing brown eyes, natural curly hair and a Personality followed by a capital PLUS. R. S. She can whistle too) Gub Gub Corrigan is the proud possessor of this little number.

BEAUTY HINT OF THE WEEK

(The following was given to me by a friend that I might profit by it, I'll pass it along to any other fellow sufferer in this common cause).

Little dabs of powder,
Little specks of paint,
Make a lady's freckles
Look as if they ain't.

But take heed and take care, when using the rule up there, for a friend of mine followed it too closely and . . .

He kissed her on the cheek,
It seemed a harmless frolic;
He's been laid up a week
They say, with painter's colic.

Ah, but the modern girl isn't as bad as she's painted . . . but she certainly is painted

FASHIONS FOR BOYS

The newest thing this week seems to include a white shirt with red lip-stick all over the collar. I'm not sure where this color scheme got its start, but there's some possibility that Glenn (Minute-man) Whitacre has quite a bit to do with it, "Willie" Dunlap running a close second.

Something new and somewhat different seen tearing around in the halls is a boy's class ring on a BOY . . . What's the matter, Walt, doesn't jewelry agree with her?

KNIGHT OF THE NIGHT

This noble Galahad, when searching for the treasure at the Hunt Friday evening, gallantly carried his Lady Love across the Swamps, creeks, and drove off all oncoming cows. It was really a feat that deserves recognition, since the rest of us fair damsels were compelled to struggle through the marsh on our own power.

WANTED: SIX EASY LESSONS OR ONE HARD ONE

This will give you an example of the lack of information this year's flock of 'Freshies' seem to possess.

Herb Hansell, who is now feeling the weight of his vast store of knowledge becoming unbearable, said to Barbara Wells, in order to tease her, "Well, I hear that you and Yeudie were out 'muggin' last night." "Muggin'", she says, "muggin', what's that?" and she asked Jeanne Warner, who was looking on a midst gails of laffter.

Then taking a motherly attitude, Jeanne explained the term in question to the fullest, telling Barbara that she'd learn from experience, like everyone else seemed to.—So don't act so dense, Barb, remember that the girl who's always in a fog is never mist.

POULTRY(?)

There was so much 'favorable' comment on last week's poem, that I see fit to print the second in that series:

Two is company, there's no doubt
And so the little lamp went out!

No Pay For Going To School, Irey

The day was hot, the month was June and our three comrades were reclining in their comfortable tent at the Country Club, after a hard morning's session in summer school.

These intelligent men, Britt, Bolinger, and Leaf were holding a conversation in which the topic varied from girls to fish and to Mr. Guiler, then back to girls. While discussing Mr. J. C. Guiler and American Government, they were interrupted by a certain Mr. Irey.

This young lad, being just a junior and having been in high school for only two years, did not understand about the fine institution of summer school including Mr. J. C. Guiler and government.

Our heroes, happy to inform him about this subject, explained in very simple words, that all anyone had to do was to enroll in a class, attend for a week and at the end of a week's attendance, received $2.00 from the instructor, this continuing each week until the course was finished.

With mouth agape, and eyes popping young Irey, stood spellbound. After a half hour's explanation, Robert was convinced that the easiest way to make money was to take a course in summer school.

He paid the boys a dime to bring him to town to be introduced to Mr. Guiler. To be sure to be on the scene of the kill, they piled into a car and accompanied him.

But, alas! Mr. Guiler was not at home.

The next morning Bob was awakened bright and early by some kind friend who explained to him, that young boys should not believe everything they are told.

Letters to Editor

Editor's note: Any letters written by teachers or students who want to get their opinions in the paper will be welcomed by the editor. It is not necessary to have the name of the writer printed but no paper will be accepted unless the name of the writer is made known to the editor. Contributions may be given to a member of the Quaker staff or left in the Quaker office.

Soon we will be having elections of class officers to serve for the coming year. With this thought comes another thought, which I would like to put before the students. This concerns the practice of having one person hold several offices in the school. In past years one student has served as president of his class and an officer in other clubs or in the association. Again this year in the elections there will be votes given to students who hold other offices. Naturally class members want outstanding classmates for their officers, but there is more than one outstanding person in each class.

The point of my letter is this. Should not the students give more thought about dividing up the different class offices among more members of the class.

In closing I would like to stress the point to the students that, when they vote for their class officers soon, or when they are voting for a club officer, they should consider whether the student they have in mind holds other offices along with considering points of character and so forth.

SPORT SLANTS

BY RABBIT

Greetings Readers,
After that thriller in Ravenna last Saturday, Salem fans can be ready for almost anything when the East Liverpool Potters invade Salem for a tussle tonight. The Ceramic City squad has piled up an impressive record so far this season having beaten East Palestine, 40-0; Cleveland West, 20-6; and Akron West, 7-0. A victory for either team would add much to its record.

There are still a lot of loyal fans rooting for the Quakers, who like to place little wagers on the outcome of the battle to make things more exciting. This columnist has it straight that Carl Capel won 12 milkshakes on the Ravenna tilt. At least somebody won on that game.

Well, you guys and gals who were promised that Mr. Herb Jones, the eminent professor of chemistry, would be put on the well-known spot this week. So, this scribe has asked the prof for his prediction on tonight's game and I quote, "Liverpool will take 'em by 12 points," unquote.

Tonight's game promises to be a big one for Felix Di Antonio, Salem's representative to the House of David. Yes, tonight is the night that the whiskers on Felix's chops come off. I think you'll agree with me that it'll be a new man who trots to school on Monday morning cleanly shaven. Your scribe was offered the opportunity of cutting and shaving the famous crop of whiskers but declined the chance because of embarrassing circumstances if the Quakers should lose tonight. I think you get my point.

Have been checking up on Salem's future opponents on the grid-iron and found out that Alliance and Wellsville are still undefeated. Alliance continued its string with a 14-0 victory over University school of Cleveland while Wellsville continued on its merry way with a 39-0 conquest of East Palestine. Struthers lost its second in a row to Tiffin Junior Home by 33-7. Barberton dropped one to Akron North 18-15 while Youngstown South was beaten by Campbell Memorial, 20-7.

Sideglances

Mr. R. B. Clarke winning "coke" as usual) on the nation's big football games. Likewise Mr. H. Jones.
The Quakers looked like a new team up at Ravenna last week. Anyway, far superior to the team which tied Sebring. The running attack was much improved as was the passing attack, which was again led by "Buster" Wukotich, one of whose heaves went for a touchdown. Orchids to the whole team for a well-played game and to Coaches Carl Schroeder and Frank "Tuffy" Gordon on a much improved squad. Hope they do as well tonight.

Well, your reporter is of the opinion that the column has gone far enough for one week so till next time,

So long.

Boys' Gym Classes Playing Baseball

Under the supervision of Mr. F. E. Cope the boys' gym classes began their various sports activities with a series of baseball games. Each of the five gym classes, was divided into two teams. The series winner is the first squad to win five games.

Cope has appointed Stoffer, Atkinson, Stoudt, Albert, Miller, Allison, Ware, Bennet, Pasco and Hahn to serve as captains.

None of the ten teams has won the five necessary games as yet. Bob Ware's outfit has won four straight from Bennet's team. His team is the closest to the five victories at the time of this writing. The results of games played up to date are: Miller, two out of three against Allison; Stoffer, three wins and one loss against Atkinson; Pasco has won three straight from Hahn; and Stoudt's nine has beaten Albert's team four out of a possible six times.

Undefeated E. Liverpool Plays Here

Potters Face Quakers In Annual Grid Battle Tonight

Salem High school's Quakers are slated to meet East Liverpool's undefeated football team tonight at Reilly Stadium. The Quakers, fresh from a 7-6 victory over Ravenna, will be out for their first win over Liverpool in four years. The Potters battled the Salem gridgers to a 6-6 tie last year at East Liverpool.

East Liverpool will put an undefeated eleven on the field, for the Potters have posted wins over East Palestine, Cleveland West and Akron West. They have but one touchdown scored against them during their three games to date. Coach Joe Morbito has relied on a straight running attack this season.

Salem will use approximately the same revised combine that was used in the Ravenna game. Bruno and McGillavry, the main ground gainers of the Potters last year, were lost by graduation. Last year the Quakers scored early in the game. Then, late in the contest East Liverpool tallied but failed to convert for the extra point.

The Salem gridgers will be trying for their second victory in three games, while at the same time the Potters will be trying for their fourth straight victory.

Just then the tardy bell sounded and Janie gave a loud crack to her gum as she scooted down the hall.

Salem Defeats Ravenna, 7-6, For First Victory

Quakers Score On Pass From Wukotich To Chappell In Third Quarter

Coach Carl Schoroeder's Salem Quakers edged Ravenna High Ravens 7-6 last Saturday afternoon at Ravenna. The Ravens, who were the underdogs during the entire contest, scored late in the fourth quarter but failed to convert for the extra point.

The Salem squad battled its way into the shadow of the Ravenna goal line in the first quarter but failed to score when a holding penalty was called against them. In the third period they fought their way deep into Raven territory and scored on a pass from Marvin "Buster" Wukotich to right end, Art Chappell. Chappel caught the touchdown pass in the end zone. Marvin Wukotich plunged over for the extra point.

Early in the fourth period Leon Havre, triple threat Raven star, trotted approximately 25 yards to the Salem 18 yard stripe before being dropped. Havre then threw a pass to Henderson, end for Ravenna, who went over for the lone Ravenna score.

The game was featured by the sparkling runs of the Quaker backs. Marvin Wukotich made numerous gains through the Ravenna forward wall. Bob Scullion showed plenty of ability to gain ground when he cut through holes provided by the Salem line to get needed yardage. George Ballie proved that he merited the backfield try given him by Coach Shroeder by helping to lead the team to victory.

Salem held the upper hand in the entire struggle. The Quakers threatened several times and thus kept Ravenna on the defense the greater part of the game, allowing them but six first downs.

Do not judge of a tree by its bark or of a man by his exterior.

Keep a thing seven years and you'll find use for it.

It befits a king to be liberal for he is sure of never falling into poverty.

Snap, Crackle, Pop

Crack, crack, snap! These sounds, so familiar to high school students, are the trade mark of chewing gum. Whether it be in the hall, class room or study hall, the never-ceasing snap, crackle, pop of gum is heard.

Most students chew it under the pretense that it helps them think. Some have other reasons, but that's not the point. The question is, must it be stuck in desks, on seats or thrown on the floor?

How many unprintable remarks have been heard as a heel sinks gently into a wad of chewing gum. This means that the hunt is on for a knife or some other implement to get it off. After the object is found, the unfortunate victim usually spends an entire period whittling at his heel.

Another example of the misuse of this "brain tonic" is the neat little row of gum lined up on the inside of a desk. The action takes place when an unsuspecting student is depositing books in the desk and his hand, on the way out, wipes up a couple wads of the sticky stuff.

Cleaning this off is another of the not-so-pleasant pastimes. All in all, wouldn't it be better to deposit the paper-wrapped gum in a waste-paper basket? Who knows, YOU may be the next victim of "gumosis."

HELP WANTED!

This column is supposed to be more or less humorous and having run rather dry, I am considering reprinting last week's editorial on "TOMBSTONES . . . THEIR ROMANTIC AND USEFUL OUTLOOK." So, if any of youse guys and gals have the unheard-of desire for some fancy publicity, just drop a note, stating what you want printed, into Locker No. 226 on the second floor and I'll try to do right by you. Thank you!

The Winners

DRUMMER BOY—Alex Simion. This senior is well known for his ability on the drums and brilliant acceptance speeches (remember the first pep assembly?). Besides these accomplishments, he keeps the band "in stitches" over his crazy antics. Alex is very popular with boys and girls, and after graduation he wants to play big league baseball or to organize a swing band.

VIVACIOUS JUNIOR—Jean Carey. Jean is one of those gals who has no trouble at all in getting around. Among her favorite haunts is the "Corner," where she is inevitably drinking "cokes". She dates an ex-gard and an unidentified Lisbon lad.

Teachers Join 100% In Associations

For the second year Salem High school faculty has 100 per cent enrollment in the National Education association, the Ohio Education association and the Northeastern Ohio Teachers association as was reported recently by Mr. H. M. Williams, principal.

The N. E. A., O. E. A. and N. E. O. T. A. are organizations of teachers which have as their aim improvement of teaching methods and the bettering education conditions in general.
