

Meet To Discuss Class Elections

Williams Explains New System of Elections To Be Used

Members of the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes held a meeting in the auditorium last Tuesday morning.

At the meeting plans for the coming class elections were announced by Mr. H. M. Williams, principal.

The duties of the various offices, and the qualifications for office were discussed by Mr. Williams. The importance of nominating representative students who can adequately perform the duties of office was stressed.

It was announced at this meeting that the nominations would take place Wednesday morning and the election this morning. The election in the Freshman class will not be held until later in the year. This is done so that the members of this class have time to get acquainted and learn who the outstanding members of the class are.

A Restful Hour At the Dentist's

Timidly you climb the stairs, the odor of a typical dentist's office drifting out of the door. The waiting room, which is entered next, is usually full. This condition allows plenty of time to hear the drill from an adjoining corner and to get yourself all set for a horrible experience.

The usual magazines are "Hunting and Fishing," "Life" and "Dental Digest" (which eases (?) the nerves with pictures of extractions and drillings.)

One by one you count those who come before your turn. Then you gaze dejectedly at the pained expressions on the faces of the departing patients. The nurse never fails to give them a return appointment but the grim future does not daunt the pleasure which is experienced only by those, who, after a period of torture, know that for now it is all over.

After observing each of the patients critically, you again return to a worn magazine. Concentration is impossible, you find, with your time drawing near. A sickish feeling escapes from the pit of your stomach, hands become clammy and your cheeks are fiery hot.

Suddenly the nurse appears—all hope is gone. She approaches gently and asks if you could come back next week. "Doctor is awfully busy now and is sure you'll understand."

So you go home to look forward to the same experience in seven days. Ho hum.

Librarian Attends Library Meeting

Miss Lois Lehman, librarian, attended the 45th annual meeting of the Ohio Library Association in Youngstown Thursday. Henry S. Canby, Editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, was the main speaker. Music and business sessions were also included in the day's program.

Page, Leader, In Selling Contest

According to reports released last Friday, the highest five students in the Freshman pencil selling contest are: Marilyn Page, 53; Dolores Bell, 36; Margaret Dicky, 35; Mary McGuire, 30, and Bill Mullins, 27.

About 700 pencils have been sold and plans have been made to order 1,000 more, possibly the basketball schedule pencils, which seem to be the students' choice.

Last year 2,000 pencils were sold, 1000 with the football schedule and 1,000 with the basketball schedule. Herbert Hansell won last year's contest selling 125 pencils.

729 Association Membership Total

Several Changes In Standings Since Close Of Contest

According to the final association report, completed October 4, the number of association members this year is 729, the same number as last year. However, due to a slightly lower enrollment for the 1940-41 term the percentage of membership is about two per cent higher. The report also showed an increase of 16 members since the close of the contest.

Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf's home room, 308, showed an increase of three members since September 20. Rooms 303 and 310A have gained two members each. The following rooms show an increase of one member since the close of the contest: 212, 209, 206, 301, 310B, 201, 307 and 205.

Officers of the association this year are: Louis Raymond, president; George Baillie, vice president; Vivian Foltz, secretary; Marjorie Harroff, treasurer.

Final Enrollment Figures Released

Present enrollment at the high school, as released recently by the principal's office, is as follows:

Freshmen, 242; sophomores, 263; juniors, 227; seniors, 192; post graduates, 7. This makes a total of 931 enrolled in Salem High school at the present time.

This enrollment is lower than the 956 enrolled at this time last year.

Cross Country Team Will Run Tonight

The cross country team will hold its first meet of the season at Struthers tonight, between halves of the football game. With six veterans out, Mr. R. B. Clarke, the coach of the team, believes that Salem's chances are a little brighter than they were last year. Although the schedule for the remaining part of the season has not been fully decided, the following meets have been scheduled: October 17 at Warren; the district meet at Akron, October 26; and the state meet November 2.

New Students

Russell Sutherin from Darlington, Pa., entered Salem High school as a junior last Monday.

Charles Jackson, sophomore, has reentered Salem High school after a period of illness.

"Lena Rivers" Will Be Presented By Senior Class on December 5-6

Debate Tryouts

All Students interested in trying out for the debate team, should see Mr. J. C. Guiler, debate coach, in Room 301 as soon as possible. Members of the squad will be chosen by try-outs which will be held the latter part of the week. Tentative plans call for about six or seven members on the team this year.

The subject that is to be used this year for the regular league debates, which begin in about two months, is: Resolved, that the power of the federal government should be increased. The team will have a number of practice debates before the regular season begins.

Bird's Eyeview Of Salem High

Any seniors who intend to go to college next fall and will need practice in the "art" of "gulping goldfish," please report to the biology lab any time after next week.

Ah, yes! All students who love the little "fin friends" may come into closer contact with them soon, since "Oscar Goldfish and family" will move into the aquarium along with "Sammy and Susannah Snail" and other aquatic inhabitants, in the near future.

Biology pupils have been contributing to a "penny fund" and as soon as approximately three dollars has been collected "Oscar," "Sammy" and "Susannah" will move in, bag and baggage.

Water plants and other interesting "sea dwellers" will also be purchased, for this year it is really intended to have a "snazzy" aquarium. So, all you "fish fiends," drop in and look the aquarium over. Then, let the biology teachers know how you like it.

Oscar Goldfish & Company Join Us

If you want the facts on some silly things going on in S. H. S. take them from a bird who gets a bird's eye view.

As I was swooping and looping over your home of knowledge I saw a beautiful purple sweater. But, the girl in it seemed all twisted around in my vision. Her feet were stuck on backwards and her face was nowhere to be seen. Knowing I had not been out last night I couldn't imagine what was affecting me in such a way. Perching over the door as the sweater entered, I saw the face. Then I had to shamefully admit to myself that it was just the girl's sweater that was backwards.

Another day I was skimming over the clouds. I saw one of my fine feathered friends below. Dropping closer I saw that he was perched on a girl's head. My heart sunk. I was afraid the fad, "the bird on Nellie's hat," had returned. Flying still closer I perceived that it was just a long feather fastened on a skull cap instead of my long lost brother.

Tryouts for Modern Dramatization of Famous Novel Conducted This Week By Miss Bodo

Lena Rivers, a modern dramatization of Mary J. Holmes' popular novel, has been selected by Miss Viola Bodo, dramatics coach, as the annual senior class production. The play to be presented in night performances December 5 and 6, has been adapted to the stage by Ned Albright. The book, Lena Rivers, has been popular for many years. This dramatization has brought the book up to modern times without losing the warmth of the old story, or without deviating from the plot of the book.

Seniors Decide Size of Picture

Twelve senior class representatives met a week ago yesterday to choose the size for the senior pictures this year.

A four by six size picture, which provides for a sharper and larger photograph, was given preference over a smaller size.

Delegates included Robert Ballantine, editor, and Irene White, business manager, of the Quaker. Home-room representatives were:

Room 208, Martha Clark and Tom Berger; room 209, Jane Davidson, Violet DeRienzo, Charles Lantz and Robert Houlette; room 210, Cleo Santee and Philip Ressler; room 212, Estelle Volpe and George Stef-fel.

The Wolford studio was awarded the contract for photography after the bids had been submitted and considered. Sittings began last Tuesday.

Pictures are being taken at an early date so seniors may have them available for Christmas gifts.

The story of Lena Rivers deals with the plight of young Lena Rivers and her beloved Granny Nichols, who are compelled to leave their New England home and seek refuge with Granny Nichols' son, John, who has changed the family name to Livingstone because of the social aspirations of his wife, Matilda.

At her son's plantation in Kentucky Granny Nichols and Lena are subject to the sort of treatment usually handed out to poor relatives. They are made to live in a small room formerly used by servants and Mrs. Livingstone and her daughter tremble with fear at the thought of their wealthy friends' reaction to the awkward country girl and her grandmother. One person, however, sees Lena's potential worth with many complications for all the Livingstones and for Malcomb Everett, tutor to Anna Livingstone, the younger daughter.

Characters in the play include: Aunt Milly, a short, stout Negress in her late thirties; Old Caesar, a Negro servant; Lena Rivers, the heroine, a girl of seventeen; Granny Nichols, a delightful old lady in her late sixties; John Livingstone, Lena's uncle, a man in his early fifties; Mrs. Livingstone, his socially ambitious wife; Caroline Livingstone, the older daughter of twenty; Anna Livingstone, the younger daughter of eighteen; John Livingstone Jr., the son of nineteen who is addicted to slang; Frank Graham, a southern gentleman in his middle forties; Mrs. Graham, his jealous wife, about the same age as her husband; Durward Belmont, son of Mrs. Graham by a former marriage, twenty years old; and Malcomb Everett, a young chap in his early twenties.

Miss Bodo held tryouts last Friday and the early part of this week. However, the cast had not been chosen at the time of this writing.

NO. 6

It's Up to You

How many times have you made an attempt to help out a new student? In most cases the answer can be counted out with one or two fingers.

Every once in a while someone new and strange comes into your home room or into one of your classes. Naturally the new student feels out of place and rather deserted. He or she doesn't know the way around. But in most cases no one bothers to do anything about it.

Each student who possibly can should make it his business to see that new students in his classes are helped to feel a little more at home. Just a little advice as to where a certain room is or a short conversation with new students would make them very grateful.

Just place yourself in their position and consider whether you would like someone to help you out. Of course you would. And so does every other person who enrolls in a new school.

The next time you see a new student, make an attempt to be friendly and chances are you'll be happier for it.

An announcement was recently sent around stating that all pupils must not leave their home rooms to go to their lockers or for other reasons unless granted special permission.

This rule was enforced last year all of the time but this year many of the teachers started out by granting all permissions requested.

It was the same old story. Students took advantage of their freedom and ran around the halls, here, there and everywhere making such a commotion that it became necessary to go back to the old rule.

Students, you are the ones who decide how much freedom you will have! This is an example. So, from now on, let's cooperate and we'll be better off.

They're There For You

"Say, why weren't you at the meeting last night, Bob?"

"What meeting? Nobody told me about it."

Are you like Bob? Do you miss meetings and important announcements just because you haven't taken time to look at the bulletin board?

A new bulletin board was given to Salem High school last year by the Hi-Y club of 1939. The least that students could do to show their appreciation would be to use it.

When club secretaries and advisors go to the trouble of putting announcements on the bulletin board they like to be assured that students are going to see that announcement.

Even though you may not belong to a club, there are sometimes announcements on the bulletin board that may be of interest to you, so why not join that group who makes it a point to read the announcements on the bulletin boards.

But next day when she called up "Dinah's Sister Kate" she was told that "Cecilia," "Irene," "Sierra Sue" and "Margie" were also girl friends of "That Lucky Fellow."

So, Katie "Hit the Road" and is now "Home Again," sighing "I'll Never Smile Again" because "I'm Nobody's Baby."

All are not hunters who blow the horn.

Observe the face of the wife to know the husband's character.

There is some virtue in almost every vice except hypocrisy.

It would take a very large book that contained all the "maybes" uttered in a day.

As their "Friendship" developed he took her to "A Little Cafe Down the Street" where they did the "Boogy Woogy" and the "One, Two, Three, Kick."

Next day he took her to "Blueberry Hill" and whispered "Yours Is My Heart Alone" for "We Could Make Such Beautiful Music Together" "Only Forever."

Then he murmured, "Tell Me" "Where Do You Keep Your Heart" because "I Love You Truly."

Man, oh, man the messes that yours truly hasn't been getting into lately. Due mostly to the fact that some obscure individuals have been giving me some mighty ambiguous information—in oder woids, day 'aint givin' di storiee on de up an' up.

Ya know that when a guy goes around wearing a beef steak, you can be pretty sure that some one gave him a bum 'steer'—it wasn't his misSTEAK. So if any one see's me tearing to and fro, decked out in "Bossie's" finest, you'll know how come.

1. Henry Balsley's gal from up Bingville way, "just aint speaking" to him, cause I once hinted that—"his interest in the library was somthin' more than books", and as it pans out it was just the books. My apologies!

2. Also, Bob McGrady doesn't know where 10th street is, so how could he be carrying on with B. Flick?—More apologies.

So now having set myself straight in this wicked world and can again hold high this noble head, I will carry on:

THE FIRST QUESTION BEFORE THE HOUSE TODAY IS:

Will some, kind, helpful, peace-loving soul PLEASE—for the improvement of our noble community—Please have a Bake Sale or raffle off a soft-boiled egg—ANYTHING,—anything at all in order to make a little money—enough to buy Carroll (Eagle-Scout) Greene a razor—He'd have to be a boy scout to find his way around in that thicket he's wandering around in. It's really a darn shame, to have our football stars go to seed the way they do. So please, kind neighbor, help the cause.

OBITUARY NOTICE

NOTE: To all parties connected in anyway with this darling (?) wise-crack. It has been run to the ground, is dead, buried and is now taking it's last stand. Originated by parties unknown—which is just as well for them—and has been a bother to all it has come in contact with.

It consists of slapping a pal on the back and admitting very seriously that "I don't like you; your feet don't match—one's a right one and one's a left."

A LINE—BORROWED FROM THE LADIES

I heard the other day (I just heard, mind you) that a very determined little red-head asked Melvin (mow-em down, Marv'-if-you-don't-I-will) Wukotich if he would PLEASE attend her party. "So sorry" he cooed, and I quote, "but I just don't have a thing to wear"—and he's supposed to be a full-fledged he-man. (P. S.) It might have been Marvin—but there is practically no difference.

IN BEHALF OF THE VISITING FRESHMAN

Those of you who are about to give up the ship can take heart in hearing of the progress made by two of your sister classmates—

That is—June (Ann Sheridan) Chappel and her chum Elaine McGee. These two are making a place for themselves in this dog-gone world, by gum!

I guess Punkey Williams is continually heckling Cleveland Street residents with his presence, as he likes nothing better than riding up and down honking at the McGee mansion.

And George (I play football. . . too) Baillie now claims his only song to be. . . with "June in Jan-u-airy", February, March, or anything else you've got to offer.

NO INTERFERENCE WITH THE MALES. PLEASE!

Carl (13 times in a row) Capel has taken to journalism lately. That is—scribbling down 'notes' concerning love, dates, hot fudge sundaes and other thoughts along the same line. . . and signing "Danny Reardon" very affectionately at the fini. Then he passes them on to Donna Hassely. Now Uncle Dan doesn't deny she's his 'only Love' but he would rather do his 'courtin' in his own inimitable way, if you don't mind, Carl. And as I hear it, you'd better give your "own" affairs more attention.

Song Hits and High Hits

"WHISPERING GRASS" is what Bob Ruffing hears when he hits the ground in one of the football games. Bob is the big junior who plays center on the football team and played on the reserve basketball team last year, doing a good job on both. Of course, Bob's favorite sports are football and basketball, but he likes all the other sports, too. Bob is very well known to two young sophomores who think he is "simply wonderful." Namely Marge and Norma.

"I'VE GOT RHYTHM" is certainly true of Maybelle Huston when she plays the hot "licorice stick" in the band. Maybelle came here to school her sophomore year, and she has been a member of the band for the last two years. Her favorite swing master is Tommy Dorsey and her favorite sport is badminton. She dates a saxophone player in the band very regularly.

Jr. High News

Another sound motion picture was shown to the seventh and eighth grades last week. It was entitled "Percussion Instruments" and showed the part played by such instruments as the drums and tambourine in the modern orchestra and also how these instruments are made to blend with the tones of the others.

The picture shown this week was entitled "Symphony Orchestra". It showed the location of each instrument and groups of instruments in a symphony orchestra.

Several clubs were reorganized this week, among them the Handicraft and the Girls' Glee club. It was planned to start the clubs last week but since 82 girls tried out for the Glee club and 60 for the Handicraft club this was impossible.

The Quakerette staff will, for the present, consist of approximately 20 members, selected a week ago Thursday. Mrs. Lulu McCarthy, advisor, announced that it would not be possible to appoint a permanent staff until the seventh and eighth grades are better acquainted.

Home room elimination tryouts for cheerleaders were held last week. The final seventh and eighth grade tryouts were held this week.

SPORT SLANTS

BY RABBIT

Greetings, Readers!

First of all, congratulations to the team for a well-played game last Friday night. They worked hard and deserved to win, but Lady Luck frowned on that idea. Even in defeat you looked swell in there, gang. Keep it up and take it out on the other teams you face this season.

Next, a quick review of the scores of the Salem rivals, to be faced in the future weeks. Wellsville lost its first game of the current season to Bellaire, 27-6. Lisbon broke a long string of losses, and won their first game since 1938, when they downed East Palestine in a spectacular battle, 20-14. Dover dropped one to Wooster, 21-18 and Barberton defeated Akron Kenmore, 14-0. The Alliance Aviators, who face Massillon tonight, were tied by a fighting Youngstown Ursuline squad, 12-12. Ursuline was the underdog in the battle, and scored twice in the last quarter to earn their deadlock.

That Massillon team looks better every week. They now have won four in a row this season, scoring 245 points and keeping their own goal line uncrossed. Glad our boys don't have to play those guys. P. S. They play Alliance tonight.

I wonder if the football team has noticed that Youngstown Campbell Memorial, whom they scrimmaged with before the start of the regular season, is undefeated in its last 14 games.

Say, wasn't that a crowd at Reilly Stadium last Friday night? Over 9,000 they tell me. I bet Cope had wonderful dreams that night. Trying to find a seat in that jam was about identical to trying to find a quiet, non-talkative woman in this world of ours.

That Liverpool band was really good. All boys, too. There's something that can do without femmes. Other features of the evening were the Salem band and our cheerleaders.

The Quakers' passing attack seems to improve with each game. "Buster" Wukotich does some nice tossing. Speaking of passing, those Potters were no flukes either.

Idle Thoughts
Wouldn't mind seeing the Massillon-Alliance clash in Akron's new stadium, the "Rubber Bowl" tonight.

Your reporter still wonders how the Potters won that game last week. It irks me how a team can get so many breaks crowded into so few a number of minutes. May it never happen to our boys again.

Sure would be nice to see our boys run up a lot of points tonight. They have only scored 26 in three games thus far this year. Would like to see them make more than that tonight.

Rumor has it that Bob Rufing likes to give the other team credit for a nice play. Don't let it happen again, Bob. They say that it isn't loyal to root for the opposition.

Well, I think that I've bothered you enough this week. So till next week — So long.

E. Liverpool Team Still Undefeated

Potters Defeat Quakers, 21-13, For Their 4th Victory

An inspired Salem squad went down to defeat to East Liverpool's powerful Potters by a 21-13 count before 9,000 screaming fans at Reilly stadium last Friday night. The Potters scored first in the initial quarter, driving 59 yards to pay dirt. Deshler's pass to Pack, an end, put the Potters ahead, 7-0.

The fighting Quakers refused to give up and drove 65 yards, with Marvin "Buster" Wukotich plunging over from the one-foot line. Wukotich also added the extra point on a line plunge.

In the third quarter the Quakers went ahead when Marvin Wukotich plunged over again, this time from the three-yard line. The plunge for the extra point was stopped. Everything went quietly until the last few minutes, when the Potters turned on the steam and drove through the tired Quaker gridders. A short pass accounted for the score and Deshler added the point on an end sweep. The Potters scored their other touchdown following a fumble by Carmen Nocera and added the extra point to end the scoring.

Each team attempted seven passes, the Quakers connecting on four and the Potters on six. Marvin Wukotich tallied all of Salem's 13 points while the East Liverpool scoring was divided among Deshler, Pack and Schaeffer.

The victory was East Liverpool's fourth in a row while the defeat was the Quakers' first in three battles. The game was close throughout with neither team gaining any great advantage at any time.

Tonight the Quakers journey to Struthers to meet the Big Red from that city. If the Salem squad shows the same fight they displayed last week, another game should be chalked up on the victory side of the schedule.

Quakers Meet Struthers In Grid Battle Tonight

Big Red Has Not Won Any So Far This Season; Salem Gridders Are After Their Second Victory

Salem High's grid warriors journey to Struthers tonight where they will oppose the Big Red squad. So far this season the Struthers boys have little to be proud of because they have yet to score a victory.

Lady Luck has smiled on the opposition in all three of the Big Red's tilts. They opened the season against Girard and suffered a bad case of fumbleitis and jitters. They lost, 32-0. The following week they tangled with Tiffin Junior Home. Their green and inexperienced squad was no match for the boys from Tiffin, and they lost again, this time by a 32-7 score. Last Friday they played Youngstown Chaney, and again were beaten, 19-0. A fumble led to one Chaney score and a blocked kick accounted for another. The third touchdown drive was started when a Struthers pass was intercepted.

To show how bad breads hurt the Struthers squad, an incident from the Chaney game will be cited. Bonelli, ace of the Struthers backfield, booted one 53 yards and the ball went out on the Chaney three-yard line. The play was nullified, however, when the officials claimed that both teams were offside.

The Struthers team this season is very inexperienced, due to loss of men through graduation last year. So far this season they have shown nothing in the way of scoring power. They have little in the way of a running or passing attack, although they completed four out of twelve heaves against Chaney. They have a fairly good defense, but the breaks have been against them. The Salem squad will be trying hard for their second win with Struthers fighting to score their initial victory.

Better a dollar earned than ten inherited.

Jay Vees Suffer Loss To Struthers

At Struthers, September 26, the Salem Junior Varsity football team lost its first game of the season, 13 to 0. Although the Jay Vees were within a yard of the goal several times they couldn't get the ball over.

The schedule for the rest of the season has not been filled as yet but the following games are definite: Salem at Campbell, October 24; Salem at East Liverpool, October 31. Attempts are being made to schedule games with Newton Falls, Alliance and Augusta.

H. H. & H. Ehrhart Is Inspiration

"Handsome Hammerin' Harry" Ehrhart, football manager deluxe has been lauded with praise from every one of the Salem High football squad. His friendly advice is greatly appreciated by all receivers. He is the quarterback and star of the "Gusty Groves in the Groove" football team, a well known organization in Salem's football circles. Harry, being a modest personality, takes no credit for the impressive Quaker victory over Ravenna. He states that it is his patriotic paint job on the water containers that puts players in the mood to fight for two things, good old S. H. S. and also for the good of our country.

H. H. and H. Ehrhart possesses all the qualities of a good manager. Among these traits the main one is efficiency. "Mouse" McGhee reports that Ehrhart has been known to spend three hours sweeping one square yard of floor space in the dressing room. Head Manager McGhee encourages the development of these fine qualities possessed by Harry. It is his belief that "Dog" Barta works so slow that it is necessary for Harry to slacken speed to keep behind Barta.

The next time you see Harry Ehrhart, walk stealthily up behind him and screech in his ear, "Hammerin' Harry" Ehrhart. Then dart around in front of him and watch a big smile cover his face, only to disappear, as he wilts to the ground in agony. You cruel person. You've startled him and he has fainted.

Krauss Discovers Sure Way to Win

Fred Krauss, sophomore, has at last found a system by which one never loses a bet. (Notice to H. Jones.)

The other night, before the world series was over, "Freddie" was spied in room 310 trying to bet Mr. L. Early and Mr. A. V. Henning "two bits" that Cincinnati would win. The result was that Early took him up on it and marked twenty-five cents down on his budget book as income. Krauss sauntered out of the room to continue his wanderings.

About ten minutes later, who should be spotted in room 305 but the same famous sophomore, again talking about the "series," with Mr. H. Jones, instructor of chemistry and "Papa" to the freshmen in 305. This time, much to the amazement of the onlookers of the "Early-Krauss Pact," Fred was offering to bet another "twenty-five cents or one quarter of a dollar" that Detroit would be the champions.

If someone had asked Krauss who was going to win the series, he would have no doubt looked blank and replied: "Why should I care? I'm not losing anything, am I?"
