

Nine Assemblies Scheduled On 2nd Semester Calendar

Schedule of Events For Remaining Portion Of School Year Is Released From Office Of Principal H. M. Williams

According to the calendar of events for the second semester of the present school year, as released recently by Mr. H. M. Williams, principal, nine assemblies are scheduled for this period. Today ends the fourth week of this semester, and three of the assemblies have already been presented. Among those yet to come are a talk by a representative of the United States Coast Guard on March 3, a travel talk by W. L. Markham on April 3, and the annual high school recognition assembly, June 4.

Also included in the calendar is a dance sponsored by the Hi-Y club, March 7; the Junior class play, March 20, 21, the high school association party, April 18; the Salem Night relays, May 3; and the Junior-Senior Prom, May 23.

Calendar Follows

- Jan. 27 (Mon.) Second semester begins.
- Jan. 31 (Fri.) Basketball—Dover, here.
- Feb. 6 (Thurs.) Assembly. One act play—Thespians.
- Feb. 6 (Thurs.) Assembly—"Know Your Money."
- Feb. 7 (Fri.) Basketball—East Liverpool, there.
- Feb. 11 (Tues.) Basketball—Wellsville, there.
- Feb. 12 (Wed.) Assembly—"The Griffins" Indian lore.
- Feb. 14 (Fri.) Basketball—Akron West, here.
- Feb. 21 (Fri.) Basketball—Struthers, here.
- Feb. 27 (Thursday)—Assembly—Mt. Union Madrigal Singers.

Debaters Having Practice Debates

Salem High debaters are engaging a number of practice debates in preparation for the district championship tournament to be held at Washington High school, Massillon, Ohio, the first Saturday in March. During the past two weeks, the Salem teams have met Niles High school speakers twice and also teams from Youngstown Chaney. Mr. J. C. Guiler, debate coach, has written to several other schools to engage debates, but no definite arrangements have been made.

A change of speakers was made last week by Mr. Guiler in changing Elliott Hansell from first affirmative speaker to first negative speaker, replacing Mary Ciricosta, who was placed on the affirmative team. Karl Theiss is the other negative speaker and Herbert Hansell is the other speaker on the affirmative team.

Mount Union Singers To Appear Here

Musical Program Will Be Presented by College Madrigal Musicians

The Mount Union Madrigal singers, from Mount Union college, Alliance, Ohio, will present a musical program to the students of Salem High school next Thursday morning at 10:30 a. m. William Alexander, junior Conservatory student, from Canton, Ohio, will be heard as violin soloist with the group.

The singers will represent as accurately as possible a group of English squires and ladies, entertaining themselves as they sit around the table after sacred songs, gypsy songs, and a few American numbers.

The Madrigal singers are directed by Dr. W. H. Hodgson of the Mt. Union Conservatory of Music.

A Giant Staking Claim for Liberty

The anniversary of the birth of George Washington, which will be celebrated tomorrow, makes the following story very applicable and the thought expressed in it is certainly an important one at any time of the year since it expresses so well an idea foremost in the minds of all true Americans at this time in history.

During the First World War the boys in the freshman class at the Harrisburg Academy in Pennsylvania, were told to write a composition on the Washington Monument. A twelve year old boy wrote thusly:

"The Washington Monument is built of stone contributed by all the nations of the earth to honor the founder of this republic. From Arlington, across the river, where sleep the men who died for freedom, it looks like a giant spike which God might have driven into this earth, saying, 'Here I stake a claim for the home of Liberty.'"

This boy didn't tell about the height of the shaft, the number of steps to the top, how long it took to build, or how many people visit it each year and he was chided for this.

His defense was this: "I tried to tell WHY it is there and what it means." Did he succeed?

Students Enter

Robert Mix entered Salem High school last Tuesday as a member of the Freshman class. He formerly attended school in Leetonia, Ohio.

Terry Atkinson, a freshman also, entered Salem High school last Monday.

Committees Chosen To Make Plans For Junior Play

ADVERTISING, FINANCE, TICKET, STAGE CRAFT, COSTUME, PROPERTIES, MAKE-UP GROUPS ARE APPOINTED

Homer Asmus, junior class president, had charge at the junior class meeting, held a week ago Wednesday morning when there was a discussion on the selling of tickets for the class play, "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," which will be presented March 20, 21. Asmus pointed out how much would have to be cleared from the play to get money for the Junior-Senior Prom, and brought out the fact that if every junior student sold five tickets each, all tickets would be completely sold out for both nights.

Committees Appointed

Committees to make arrangements for the play have also been chosen. They are:

Advertising and finance committee: Miss Martha McCready, faculty adviser; Homer Asmus, chairman; Bill Rance, Maybelle Huston, Dick Martin, Rita Pottorf, and Dorothy Woolf.

Ticket committee: Miss Hazel Douglas, faculty adviser; Dorothy Lutch, chairman; Esther Bartchy, Olga Duda, Jack Grubbs, Donald Milligan, Bill Probert and Jack Tinsley.

Properties Committee

Properties committee: Mrs. Esther Talbot, faculty adviser; Jan Wallace, chairman; Dolores Weichman, Twila Yates, Rora Martindell, Miriam Seeman, Shirley King, Regina Hilditch, Richard Burcaw, Dale Paxson, Phil Cozad, and Bob Ruffing.

Make-up committee: Miss Viola Bodo, faculty adviser; Lois Field, chairman; Betty Alexander, Betty Lynch, Mary Byers, sophomore, and Rose Marie Bates.

Stage crew: Charles Lind, stage manager; John Botu, Raymond Corrigan, Bruce Hack, Tom Williams, and Tom Moore.

Costumes: Miss Marye Lou Miller, faculty adviser; Deborah Beery, chairman; Irene Schmidt, Marie Kastenhuber, Alyse Kuniewicz, Isabelle Lockhart, Judith Trisler, Helen Ayres, and Betty Shuster.

Extend Sympathy

The Quaker, on the part of the student body and faculty, wishes to extend its sympathy to Earl McDevitt, a member of the senior class, because of the recent death of his mother.

Junior Committee Chooses Two Rings

Members of the Junior class ring committee met Tuesday to discuss plans for the selecting of their class ring. Two types were chosen and placed on display in the trophy case. A vote will be taken soon to decide on the desired ring.

The committee, under the direction of Miss Martha McCready, Junior class adviser, had Bill Dunlap as chairman, and included Virginia Mayhew, Homer Asmus, Jean Carey, Catherine Gartner and Dale Paxson.

A representative of the company from which the rings are to be purchased was present at the meeting.

Highway Patrolman Speaks At Club Meeting On Safety

Camera Club Learns Process of Tinting Photographs; Hansell Works at Newspaper Office

Patrolman Barnes of the Salem Highway Patrol substation, gave a talk to members of the Hi-Y club at the meeting two weeks ago. His talk was on safety and highway laws. He also told members how they could become patrolmen, the salary they would receive and of a patrolman's training.

Each Hi-Y club which is a member of the Mahoning Valley Council of Hi-Y clubs, has one night a month when it can go to the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. to swim. Last Thursday was the local club's night, and about 25 members journeyed to Youngstown to go swimming.

At the meeting last night the club members participated in a "fun night" when each member present at the meeting was required to do a stunt.

Camera Club Meets

At a meeting of the K. I. P. club held last Thursday Mr. Ted Keller, club adviser, demonstrated how to tint photographs, and June Wolford gave a talk on the same subject.

A tinting outfit was recently bought by the club for the purpose of tinting photographs.

Before the meeting members of

"First in War, First in Peace, First in Hearts"

Tomorrow, February the 22nd, the nation will unite in celebrating the 209th. anniversary of the birth of the man who is "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," George Washington.

In Washington D. C. there is a large marble column, built by the states in tribute to this man, the "Father of his country." To every visitor this is a reminder of the many things that Washington did for this country is making it free. So every February the twenty-second we celebrate the birthday of this great man.

Smiles

When you walk through the halls do you notice that there is a lack of smiles on the faces of a large part of the student body? Many students walk along as if they have a chip on their shoulder all the time. Others look as they would crack their face if they smiled.

Are you one of these people?

If you are, try to cure yourself. When you walk through the halls, or no matter where you are or what you are doing, smile and give out with a cheery "Hi," or "Hello."

Everything will be sunshiny if everyone is cheerful and wears a smile. Even the bad things in life don't seem half so bad if one is in a cheerful mood.

Try it some day and see what a difference it makes in you and in other students and the people with whom you associate.

To Whom It May Concern

Are you up on your classroom etiquette? Do you know that your actions in class definitely affect your grade? If not, here are some of the "Don't" for classroom "know-it-alls."

1. Don't gaze out the window while your teacher is talking. After all, the teacher isn't that homely.
2. Don't ask for permission to speak in study halls, then go and do your whole lesson with someone else, or talk about the dee-vine date you had the night before.
3. Don't go to class without pencil or paper thinking you may borrow some from the person across the aisle. He might think the same thing about you sometime. Then what will you do?
4. Don't continually argue with your teacher. After all, she knows more about the subject than you do or she wouldn't be teaching it.

How To Do It

Way back at the beginning of schools, when some ingenious human devised study halls, the original plan was for students to use them for studying. Since then times seem to have changed considerably. Today study halls are used for anything from jam-sessions to beauty parlors, for anything but study.

Report card time rolls around and parents just can't understand why Junior doesn't get better grades.

The study hall situation isn't the fault of the teachers. They—the poor souls—scold, threaten and tear their hair—all to no avail.

Can't we have the study halls a little quieter for a change? There are those intelligent (?) individuals who never study, perhaps because they think they don't need to, but even if they won't be quiet for their own benefit, they might bbe quiet for the benefit of those who do wish to study.

Nuisances, That's All

Tom Sings Sad Old Song of "Study Hall Blues" As He Tries In Vain to Study

Wearily Tom plods toward the study hall. It is the last period and he is unusually tired. Finding his seat in the back of the room he flops down. Ah-h-h, he thinks, I can finish my English, then rest.

He fumbles around with his books finally opening a delapidated text. The class bell has rung but the study hall has not yet quieted down.

Tom, however, goes right ahead with his studying. Not for long though, because the teacher has started yelling at the boys in the rear to be quiet. For five minutes she threatens to keep them in, but no soap. She has told them that too many times. So they just continue to talk. Soon the teacher gets disgusted and leaves the boys alone. Peace again is reigning, so Tom begins to study again.

This time he doesn't get far, either, for soon a paperwad stings his neck. Tom ignores the first one, but at about the tenth crack he turns angrily around and shoots one at the boy. He missed. It hit a freshman girl.

Presently she walks up to the teacher and tattles. Tom moans, realizing his end is near. In a second the teacher grasps his collar and tells him to clean up the paperwads on the floor.

Twenty minutes later he has finished this backbreaking task. Returning to his seat, he begins to study. He has not had more than a moment of peace when someone taps his shoulder. "Have you an extra pencil?" He hasn't, but he helpfully offer shis one and only, realizing the fates had not intended him to accomplish anything in this study hall.

Eventually, the bell rings and Tom gropes his way out of the room, more weary than before.

Song Hits and High Hits

"YOU'VE GOT TO BE A FOOTBALL HERO" sings our brown-haired, blue-eyed Tamale lipsticked personality girl of the week, Dorothy Greene. Of course this doesn't apply to "George." Dorothy is a member of the senior class and she is football girl this year. "Dot's" favorite orchestra is Glenn Miller, and she knows an awfully cute boy from Columbiana.

"MOONLIGHT AND TEARS" for Dorothy sings our personality boy of the week, George Lozier. George is a fiend for tinkering with cars. He can usually be found in the auto-mechanics room teaching the boys how to crack up cars. The family now boasts a new Oldsmobile and George will have it fixed up in no time. His main occupation though, is trying to keep track of Dorothy. His favorite orchestra is Glenn Miller's, and he loves to hunting (rabbits, squirrels, etc.).

Obeys the rule.
What are they Boys!

In study hall
They try to see
Which one can cause
Most deviltry.
What are they? Boys!

But, after all,
They kinda' rate
If they will ask
You for a date,
And have a car
And lots of dough
To take you where
You wanta' go.
Who are they? Boys!

BOYS ! ! ! !

They make you blush,
They make you sad;
They make you sigh,
They make you MAD!
What are they? Boys!

They always start
Uproar and noise;
They like to have
You lose your poise.
What are they? Boys!

They make a mad
House out of school,
For they will not

VIV'S VACUOUS VERSE

BY VIVIAN FOLTZ

Dear Readers:

(No, I'm not an optimist—I made it plural 'cause I'm fairly sure that two of us read this column—the editor and me—we both got rooked in. Oh, yes, and also my Uncle Elmer. He takes such a great interest in my future. . . . He is debating whether to reserve that cell or take it now.)

You may come across the ocean,
You may come across the sea,
But you'll never come across
Another poet like me.

(Good fortune.)

You may be acclaimed a hero
In all the lands that be,
And still you may not like
My poetic poe-it-try.

(Genius never was appreciated around here.)

Well, playmates, I trust that most of you are by now fully recovered from last week's startlin'—and I hope—rather amusing issue. As for this week's dribble, I haven't heard one item of much interest, except that "Mouse" is in the midst of circulating a petition to end child laborers. I guess last Saturday evening he found out to his great dismay that most of Salem's sub-debs take care of little kids in the evening. At least, the dozen or so he called did. He declares there should be a law against it.

CORN OF THE WEEK

This priceless gem is the uncanny work of Mildred Anderson, who should be cheerfully done away with. The story goes as follows:

There I sat ripping off a very snaky rendition of Deep Purple on our ancient piano with my index finger, and, well I'll grant you that heirloom of heirlooms has seen better days and is sadly in need of about ten keys, but I was mighty proud of the effort I was making and shouted in to Milly to see what she thought of my musical genius.

At the sound of my melodious voice she tripped daintily into the room, and with innocent eyes opened wide declared very nonchalantly: "Oh, are you playing? Gee, I thought you were washing off the keys."

NOTE: I immediately inquired how she preferred her forehead—with one lump or two—and spent the rest of the afternoon cheerfully beating her over the head with the piano stool.

Several Valentine Telegrams were received by various guys and gals last Friday, but two of the more clever ones were: The one Jan Wallace received from her military love-life:

Roses are Red, Violets are Blue.

Sugar, you're sweet, Via wu wu wu!

Then Louie Raymond didn't do badf or himself, when he hauled in this clever catch:

You're the dearest of our sex,

All I can say is X, X, X!

A Four-Woman Man: Sid Simon.

Young Sid came bouncing out of the local confectionary, fairly brimming over with boxes of sweets. Four of them, to be exact! On the way out of the store he bumped into Mr. Henning, who was struggling under the traffic pressure of one large heart-shaped box himself.

"Gee, but you are lucky," said our young hero. "You only have to get one box to get in good, and I've got to squander my slim funds and get four or I'll be in the dog-house."

And, as Sid trudged wearily down the street, Prof. Henning grinned cleverly to himself, and uttered: "Well, maybe I ain't so bad off after all."

Quakers Will Meet Struthers "Big Red" In Game Tonight

STRUTHERS HAS RECORD OF NINE WINS, FIVE LOSSES FOR PRESENT SEASON; SALEM CAGERS OUT AFTER FIFTH WIN

Tonight's basketball attraction finds the Salem Quakers meeting a good team from Struthers on the Salem floor. The Big Red owns a record of nine wins and five losses as it prepares for its battle with the Red and Black.

Struthers holds a 25-24 victory over Youngstown South which defeated the home boys badly. They also defeated Scienceville, Youngstown Chaney, and have been defeated by Woodrow Wilson and Youngstown East. Their latest triumph was their 36-35 win over Scienceville, last week, with Dan Keddon and Nick Planey leading the attack with 15 and 11 points respectively. These two just mentioned are not the only point getters for the Struthers outfit as Birch and Mulgrew have dragged in their share of the points also. Bloomberg was a threat in the early part of the season but he was ill a lot of a result his game has fallen off a good bit.

At present the Struthers squad ranks second in the Youngstown district baseball standings by virtue of their fine season thus far. At any rate the visitors figure to give Coach Herbert Brown's charges quite a workout before the final whistle calls a halt to hostilities. In the preliminary, the Salem reserves will meet the Struthers' second stringers.

Hi-Y Team Splits In Weekend Games

Club Cagers Lose To High School Reserves; Get Win Over Canfield

In a game with the Salem High school reserve basketball team last Friday night before the Akron West-Salem game, the Salem Hi-Y club cage team came out on the short end of a 30-28 count for their first defeat of the season.

It was a close battle all the way with the deciding point coming in the last minutes of the game when Frank Entriiken hooped one to give the reserves a two point lead.

The high point man for the reserves was Bob Ruffing with eight points, while the Hi-Y's were led by Horning with six points. At the half the score was 13 to 11, the reserves favor.

Saturday at the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. the Hi-Y cagers easily turned back Canfield, 35 to 23 in a scheduled game of the Mahoning Valley Council Hi-Y cage league. This leaves the Hi-Y's still undefeated in the Mahoning county loop.

The locals jumped into an early lead, from which they were never

Last Quarter Rally Gives Cowboys Win Over Quakers

Akron West Quintet Winner Over Local Cagers 31-24. In Close Battle

A last quarter rally, sparked by Ziruolo and Falor, gave the Akron West Cowboys a 31-24 win over the Salem Quakers. The visitors' attack started slowly, hit fairly well in the second period, and reached its peak in the fourth period rally.

The score at the end of the first quarter stood at 4-4. The Cowboys gathered momentum in the second quarter as they tallied 10 points to the Quakers two.

The third quarter found the Quakers playing a good brand of ball as they battled the West crew on their own terms and tied up the ball game as the period ended, 18-18.

In the fourth period the Quakers took a 22-18 lead on heaves by Salvadore "Tut" Guappone and Ray McGaffie. At this point the visitors turned on the heat and Ziruolo and Falor proceeded to bombard the hoop with a fair degree of accuracy. The Akron team never relinquished the lead they took then and the Quakers were handed their eleventh loss of the year as a result.

The locals got several tough breaks as shots rolled or bounced off the rim time after time. Ziruolo and Falor accounted for 12 and nine markers respectively, to pace the winner's attack, while Johnny Volio topped the locals' scoring with seven points. A formidable Struthers aggregation will be the next foe of the Brownmen tonight on the home court.

CLASSES B, C HAVE 1ST ROUND PLAYOFFS

In a final playoff, Thursday, February 6, in the classes C and B of the intramural cage leagues, the first half of the schedule was finished. In the Class B tilt Ralph Davis' Panthers edged out Danny Kleon's Spiders, 28 to 25.

In the class C match Paul Horning's Shamrocks were narrowly defeated by the Terrors, led by William Hannay. The score when the gun went off was 18 to 19.

These two games decided the champion teams of the first half. The winners of the first round will play the winners of the second half to decide the final winners.

Salem Hi-Y Cage Team

Pictured here are the members of the basketball team representing the Salem High school Hi-Y club which is undefeated in the cage league of the Mahoning Valley Council of Hi-Y clubs. This team has suffered its only defeat at the hands of the Salem High reserves, this being a 30-28 win for the reserves.

SPORT SLANTS

BY RABBIT

Greetings, readers!

After a week's absence, this columnist gladly returns to the task of turning out a column and thanks Gibby for taking over the column for the co-ed cause.

Well, kids, that Reserve-Hi-Y clash turned out to be a real thriller, didn't it? Want to extend congratulations to the reserves on their close win, and also to the Hi-Y boys, who played a much inspired brand of ball. Rumor has it that Coach Brown was not satisfied with the showing of his charges and, don't tell anyone, there might be another game between these two squads. Don't say I told you, though.

But the Hi-Y bounced back from their close defeat to club Canfield the next afternoon by 12 points, although not at their full strength. They are looking forward to their tussle with Youngstown Woodrow Wilson's undefeated Hi-Y passers tomorrow afternoon. The battle will probably decide the winner of the league at the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. They're hoping for the very best, I assure you.

During the past few weeks "Lefty" Schmid's friends have been calling him "Zero," due to his past cage performances, no doubt. With a determined gleam in his eye, Lefty went into that reserve game to do or die for the old Hi-Y. He emerged from the clash with five points. The next afternoon he again scored five points. So Lefty's friends have changed his name from "Zero" to the "Five Point Kid."

After a week of tough practice, the Quakers looked like a much improved quintet as they battled an average Akron West team practically to a standstill. Victory faced the locals in the last period of that game, but Lady Luck was not in a laughing mood. Here's hoping they look just as good or better against the aggregation of basketball talent representing the Big Red of Struthers.

By the way, how 'ja like that novelty tumbling act put on by the Junior High boys between the halves of the varsity battle last week? Not sure, but I think the same act, with slight variations, might be presented again tonight. The boys looked pretty good, you have to admit, and with just about a week's practice, too. Nice goin', guys. You deserved every bit of the applause the fans gave you.

And as for you, Gibson, I don't recall printing anything nasty about "Rapid Robert" and the Cleveland Indians. So . . . I think I'll string along with the Athletics as a cinch to cop the flag. Certain members of my clique support the A's in a way so I think they get the point I'm trying to put across. I hope.

Have been notified that "Wild Bill" Shoop, he of the crew hair cut, has been praying for nice weather so he can continue his training outdoors. As Bill is only a soph, he will probably burn up the cinders in the near future for dear old S. H. S. Here's hopin'!

Flash!!! Just found out that the old Hi-Y motto has been changed from "Do or die for the old Hi-Y" to "Do or live," etc. Simple, isn't it?

And also, Gibson, that crack

The club met in room 210 to try out for the position of photographer for the Quaker Annual.

Classes Study Silver

The home economics classes, under the direction of Miss Leah Morgan, have been studying silverware, glassware and china. The girls have been discussing the history of silverware and many have started their own silver collections.

Among the interesting ones are those of Rita Emery, who collects odd spoons, and Martha Clark, who has her own monogrammed silverware.

Also in connection with the study of silverware a group of girls interviewed several local jewelers.

Display Drawings

Drawings by Tom Berger, senior, were placed on exhibit February 17, in the metal industries showcase on the first floor, north.

The drawings are free-hand perspective shadings emphasizing the rendering of lights and darks on each object drawn.

Hansell at News

Herbert Hansell, sophomore member of the Quaker editorial staff, is working at the Salem News office from 8 to 9:30 every morning, as part of his work for advanced journalism.

Hansell's work includes such jobs as writing headlines, articles and helping to edit copy. He says that the work of helping in a newspaper office is very interesting as well as educational.

Make Plans For Relays

Despite the fact that track season is several months away, many preparations are now being made for the twelfth annual Salem Night relays, to be held Saturday afternoon and night, May 3, 1941, at Reilly stadium. Approximately 100 schools have been invited to participate.

about my good friend, Warren Tullis, doesn't go, see? Warren doesn't want the girls on the hood for a souvenir; he just wants them, period. Also, we keep an eye on him at all times so he doesn't get too wild at the wheel in case an especially appealing bit of femininity should happen along. So there!

Furthermore, some of those Salem News players didn't like that little remark you made last week, Gibby, and this here columnist advises you not to set foot inside the S. N. building until the matter cools off somewhat. You sorta got their dander up, and your popularity has decreased ever so slightly with certain persons.

And so, dear readers, with all urgent matters taken care of, it might be well to close this "fascinating dribble" for the week and let you get back to your studies. Since I know you'll appreciate me for this, I thank you. Since you are all anxiously awaiting the end of the stuff, I sign off, with regards. So, till next week, SO LONG.

An invitation has been extended to Jesse Owens, holder of four world records to run an exhibition race during the meet.

Cleveland East Tech won the relays last year and then went on to win the state meet. It is hoped that East Tech will be back to defend its title.

Six meets have already been scheduled for the local track team besides the district and state meets.

Track practice will begin immediately after the basketball season ends, it was announced by Mr. Fred Cope, track coach.

"FIRST IN WAR, FIRST IN PEACE, FIRST IN HEARTS"

Washington was not born of poor parents in a back woods shack. He could trace his ancestry back to the knights and squires in England. He was not particularly fond of studying and he loved the outdoors. He loved to ride his horses over the rolling acres of Mount Vernon.

At the age of forty-three he was placed at the head of the army. It was here that he displayed his greatness. He helped his men through the dreadful winter at Valley Forge and he became recognized as a national leader. He soon became President of the United States. He refused a third term in office because he was weary of the limelight and wanted to get back to the peace and quiet of Mount Vernon.

We should all be very proud that this country had a man like George Washington who helped to free the states from England and make it what it is now.
