Tri-County Journalists To Be Entertained Here By School Paper Staffs

THREE MEMBERS OF FACULTY AT KENT STATE UNIVERSITY, PROFESSOR WILLIAM TAYLOR, MR. DALE ROOKS, MR. FREDRICK R. MARBUT, WILL APPEAR ON PROGRAM AT MEETING

Three members of the faculty of Kent State university will be the featured speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Tri-County Journalism association to be held in the Salem High school auditorium next Tuesday, April 1, starting at 8 p. m., with the staffs of the Quaker weekly as host. Those to be heard of the program are Professor William Taylor, Mr. Dale Rooks and Mr. Fredrick B. Marbut.

Today, Deadline To Order Class Rings

Today is the deadline for juniors to place orders for their class rings or pins. Rings may be ordered in either 10 carat gold or sterling silver.

In gold, the boys' rings cost $8.70, the girls' rings $7.40, and the pins $4.60. A $3.00 deposit is required when ordering rings and $2.00 for pins.

In sterling silver, the boys' rings cost $4.75, and the girls' $4.50. A $2.00 deposit is required on these rings. Pins are not available in sterling silver.

Orders may be placed with any local jeweler.

Today is also the last day on which seniors, who have not already ordered rings, may order them.

Miss Olive Bowman

Professor Taylor is the head of the department of journalism at Kent and is very active in journalism circles in the state.

Mr. Rooks is an instructor in photography at Kent State and last year was the winner of $500 "Popular Photography" contest, out of approximately 50,000 entries. He has also done work for the Booth newspapers, having worked in Michigan on the Muskegon Chronicle.

Mr. Marbut is an instructor in journalism at the university and has worked on newspapers from Butte, Montana to the Panama Canal. He has had six years of work with the Associated Press and has his Master's degree from Harvard university.

The program will be opened by a short welcome address by the superintendent of the Salem Public schools, Mr. E. S. Kerr. Miss Olive Bowman, journalism teacher at Niles McKinley High school, Niles, Ohio, and president of the Tri-County association will have charge of the business session.

Following the business session the play, "The Bear," will be presented. Appearing in the play will be Irene White, Quaker Business Manager, as Popova; Robert Balantine, Quaker editor, as Luka; Louis Raymond, as Smirnof; William Dunlap, Ben Ware and Wayne Steffel, members of the Quaker Business staff as the extras.

Refreshments will then be served in the school dining room by members of the home economics classes under Miss Leah Morgan, cooking teacher.

State Supervisor Here To Inspect Salem High Building

Mr. L. L. Louthian, supervisor in charge of high schools from the State department of education, was in Salem High school last Tuesday inspecting the school building.

Salem High was again awarded a rating of first grade, Class A, a rating which it has been given for many years. It is the highest rating a school can be awarded.

Mr. E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, stated that Mr. Louthian urged the following objectives:

1. To cause children to be glad to be in school and to learn something.
2. To plan together in the classroom.
3. To teach children to live a rich life.
4. To emphasize the group center.
5. To intertwine workshop, reading, discussion, and play activities in the classroom.
6. To make much progress in the teaching of reading.
7. To make reading a basis for effective work shop and discussion procedure.
8. To encourage sustained discussion.
9. To teach pupils how to take children's notes.
10. To devote a special room to each field.

Vacation, Time To Catch Up On Books

"Have you fallen behind in your reading? Do you have a book report to give soon?"

Miss Lois Lehman, school librarian, reminds the students that spring vacation is not far away, and that it would be a good time to do some reading. Books may be taken out over vacation for students to get caught up on their reading.

A few new fiction books have been ordered and should be in before this time. They may be taken out over vacation.

Some of the newer books which will interest the girls are "Peggy Covers Washington," "Bound Girl of Cobble Hill," "Sold To the Ladies," "The Lady and the Panda," and "Ballet Shoes."

Newer books to interest the boys include "Hills of Gold," "Boy With A Pack," "River Rising," and "Hill Doctor."

Congratulations

Last Saturday night after the district Solo and Ensemble contest in Steubenville, contestants representing Salem High streamed home bearing honors galore. Not only did they receive high ratings, but several were chosen to enter the state contest to be held in Columbus in six weeks.

To those persons, we, the students of Salem High, wish the best of luck and to all, our heartiest pat on the back for doing your job so well. Each one has helped himself through the experience the contest offered, and Salem High has benefited also through your fine representation.

We all realize the time and effort spent on each contest number and we are truly proud of the musicians of Salem High. May each one of you be an example to those who will represent the Alma Mater next year to do as thorough and creditable a job.

A Tale Of Mary

What do you do, during home room period? Are you like Mary Runaround, who comes in in the morning, leans her head in the door, pitches her books onto her desk and yells, "Mr. So-and-so, I'm here."

Every home room has Mary Runaround. Mary doesn't need to study in home room because she gets 4 D's and that's passing.

When anyone asks Mary why she doesn't use this time to study, she says she would rather keep moving around with her friends, than sit for the entire time studying as the boy next to her does. Mary forgets that that same boy is in her algebra class in the morning and that he always comes with his lesson prepared.

Ask yourself if you are another Mary Runaround. If you are, also question yourself whether you can afford to be. Most of us need ever little bit of time in the day for study. Let's cut down on the running around the halls in the morning for our own good and save our home room teachers some bother.

A Measuring Stick

"I ain't going to the movie this afternoon."

This and other less noticeable English mistakes are quite common around school. Perhaps at present, these errors will only determine grades in high school, but after graduation they may play an important part in the search for a job. Employers often use the manner of speech of an applicant as a "measuring stick" for the rest of his knowledge.

It is a shame that a number of people "ain't" got the work that they wanted because they used poor English in this day of universal education.

A bad beginning makes a bad ending.

It is only the ignorant who despise education.

Suggested epitaph for Adolph Hitler's tombstone: This is definitely my last territorial demand.

Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Push Button Tuning Time

Boys' Clothes Bring Forth New Fashions

Gone are the unshined shoes, the baggy trousers, sloppy sweaters, and the "no-tie" fads of several years ago. The young men of Salem High have become fashion conscious.

While the girls are discussing the "yes and no" of jumpers, military boots, and jerkins, the boys are equally interested in the subject of tweed trousers, flashy socks, and transparent suspenders.

Having to relinquish their supreme claim to the fashion spotlight, the weaker sex admits that boys do look 100 per cent better this season than any other.

The girls choose as their favorites, finger-tip coats, such as Dick Burcaw's, Bob Malloy's and "Bird" Culberson's, and vest sweaters like Val Moga's, Jack Tinsley's and Gale Stewart's.

Most girls welcome bow ties as a relief from regular (or no) ties, and they are unanimous about the good qualities of Hi-Y jackets and sweaters and the perennial favorites, the Varsity S jackets.

Profiles

ARTHUR HORNING

With track season just beginning, everybody should be acquainted with this curly-headed senior boy, 'cause you'll be sure to hear about him.

Besides being a member of the track team he also belongs to the Hi-Y and Varsity S clubs, and played Hi-Y basketball.

Art isn't choosy when it comes to food although his favorite is a full course dinner.

He enjoys Kay Kyser and his only ambition, after graduation, is to make money and to keep from getting married.

LOUISE ZECK

Another "dishwater" blond, whose peaches and cream complexion, blue eyes and charming smile are the envy of all with whom she comes in contact, is Louise.

This tall, graceful senior has served on the business staff for two years and is a member of the Girls' Trades class.

She naturally has her favorites, which include violets, Bob Crosby and "Stardust."

Louise's dislikes are few, with the foremost being bow-ties.

She plans to continue in secretarial work after graduation.

The seventh grade was entertained in assembly last Friday by Miss Tetlow's girls' glee club.

The Junior High school association members saw the matinee of the junior class play, "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," on March 19.

VIV'S VERBAL VENTURES

BY VIVIAN FOLTZ

Ah, spring, sweet, spring, when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of baseball and other forms of pitching! And as the sun shines brightly---(I'll bet two to one that it is snowin' snow by the time this issue is issued---things like that always happen to me)---but at any rate, with the approach of spring, business along my line---gossip writing---surely is picking up.

To prove the above statement the following excerpt was given to me:

Well, people, guess old General Knowledge Myers has fallen at last---and hard. Seems like Marian Seeman is THE one, but the General doesn't seem to be doing so well as she spends most of her time with a couple of mighty cute twins. No, not the "Wuks."

George Steffel is really proud of this poem, and as a special favor I'm passing it on to you.

"I wish I were a blond."

The lovely brunette sighed.

And went right out and dyed."

It was in English class, Mr. Lehman had finished reading a long theme saying just how sad the seniors should be at leaving school. Sad because there would be no more five chapter assignments, sad because there would be no more bells to beat, excuses to be made, time to be made up, and so forth. It was then in answer to Mr. Lehman's question, "You all agree with that don't you," that Boyd Helm came forth with a sarcastic "Well, not exactly."

With the Junior play over and all, Buckie Rice has spotted himself another "Jeannie," this one also has light brown hair. Whether or not Miss Warner would grieve a whole year if he made eyes at Carey is the question of the week.

The saddest words of tongue or pen
May be perhaps, "It might have been,"
The sweetest words we know, by heck,
Are only these "Enclosed find check!"

SALEM HI'S FUNNY MEN:

This oh so honorable position goes to Zeke 'Chivalry is not VERY DEAD' Steffel and Stretch 'First Vice President' Ware. Speaking of Benjamin, he has finally given way to the flocks of females hanging around, and emerged with one grand and glorious date for the Prom. Just how this JJunior rates this lady is the question but Miss Gloria Gibbons is the light in his life.

GLAMOR GUY OF THE WEEK

Mr. Ronnie Herron. How do I know? Well, last week when the Quaker Annual proofs came in, every variety of the feminine outfit was in there beatin' the other over the head trying to get his picture. All those fortunate enough to get out of that brawl in one piece, carried home a small frayed looking fragment of what was at one time a picture of Mr. Herron. Such popularity, wow!

If anyone has missed seeing Buck Richie driving in a new station wagon no less than a block in length, they've really missed somp'thin'.

Plans For Tennis Squad For Coming Season Are Made

COACH LOREN EARLY ANNOUNCES THAT LOCAL TEAM MAY JOIN MAHONING COUNTY LEAGUE; 4 LETTERMEN BACK THIS YEAR

Mr. Loren Early, Salem High school tennis coach, outlined his possible plans for the current season at a recent meeting of the tennis squad. Early announced that he has four lettermen and two experienced players returning this year. Carl Capel, Bob Ritchie, George Baillie and Gale Stewart are the monogram winners of last year who are eligible for competition. Phil Cozad will likely start at the fifth position.

Early also stated that he hopes to attend a meeting of the Mahoning County Tennis league, an organization of high schools which Salem may join.

"Competition in this league will be a lot different from what it is in this district," he stated, "but we hope to have a strong team."

Jerseys with a monogram of some kind will probably be ordered for use this year.

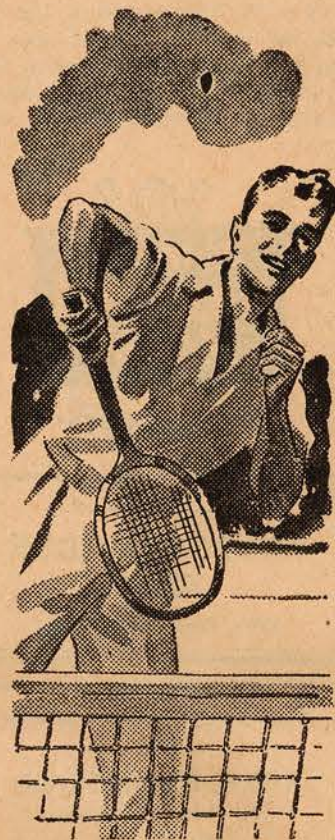

Last year a ladder tournament was in progress all season to determine who would play in matches. This prevented a rigid practice from being held, for members of the first team were kept busy playing challengers.

Early has changed the procedure this year in that he has named his first team. When the boys start to work out on the outdoor courts other members of the squad may challenge the fifth man for his position on the team. This system seems advisable because of the experienced racket wielders at hand.

It is probable that Salem will better the .500 mark of last year's team although it will be a tough assignment if they join the Mahoning Valley League.

Indoor workouts started in the gym last Tuesday night after dinner.

Hi-Y Cage Team Wins Championship of Youngstown League

Local Club Cagers Win 2 Weekend Games to Become Champions

The Salem Hi-Y came through with two victories last week, the second of which clinched the Mahoning County Cage league championship.

The first triumph was a 32-7 conquest of a tough Hubbard team, which had a bad day, and the second was a 16-13 win over the Youngstown South Hi-Y.

As the score indicates the first game was a walkaway but the second was a different story as the South team, which owns a poor record for the season, battled the locals to a standstill. Both teams played a mediocre brand of ball, missing easy lay-up shots and throwing bad passes.

These games wound up the regular play in the Mahoning County Hi-Y Cage league, Salem finishing with a record of 12 wins in 13 starts in this loop.

The tournament of this league started at the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night.

By virtue of their wins last Friday and Saturday in the Youngstown Hi-Y cage league, the Salem Hi-Y basketball team returned to first place in the league standings.

Last Friday the local club team met the Scienceville Hi-Y team, defeating them, 46 to 36. On Saturday the Hi-Y from Salem defeated the Youngstown East team, 33 to 22, at the Youngstown Y. M. C. A.

High scorer for Salem in the first contest was Hansell with ten points, followed by Art Horning and Alex Simion with eight each. Krautner got 11 to lead Scienceville.

In the Saturday game Atkinson led the scoring with nine, Hansell following with eight. Balestra led East with 11 points.

The Salem team still has one more game to play in the regular league play, this being with Youngstown South Hi-Y tomorrow.

Lulu was watching her mother working among the flowers. "Mama, I know why the flowers grow", she said. "They want to get out of the dirt."

SPORT SLANTS

BY RABBIT

Greetings readers:

The winning of the state championship by Martins Ferry made East Liverpool's squad look good. It was Martins Ferry who defeated the Potters in sectional tourney play to gain the trip to Columbus, winning by only four points. Glenford's 20-point triumph in Class B over Canfield left Canfield out in the cold once more. Canfield was also defeated in the finals at Columbus last season. Several good teams fell by the wayside in earlier games of the tournament and the two finalists in Class A were "dark horses." Ditto Class B.

Paced by Warren Tullis, who gathered 14 points in two battles, the Hi-Y squad annexed the Mahoning league Hi-Y championship by virtue of a 32-7 verdict over Hubbard and a 16-13 decision over the Youngstown South Hi-Y. These two wins put the Hi-Y record at 18 wins and four losses as they prepare for tournament play in Youngstown. The tourney started Wednesday night and at this writing, the results are not known.

SURPRISE: This week we're not going to mention anything at all about a famed gentleman who is well-known as the Hi-Y's low-point man. We'll just neglect him this once.

Some one once said, "In spring a young man's fancy turns to baseball". Soon that long-awaited baseball season will roll around and supporters of this team and that team will utter alibi or crow about their favorite team and its players. When things like this begin to happen, spring is here and not until. Don't look for a real spring till you see the symptoms of the baseball malady going around.

The Quaker thinclad machine is starting to take shape as Coach F. E. Cope prepares his charges for a strenuous track season once again highlighted by the annual Night Relays. This year ought to be tops for Salem in track.

"Buster" Wukotich enjoyed their visit to the state tournament in Columbus last week? They should have had a good time as there was plenty of good basketball to see.

Mel Wukotich, "Beef" Zeller, etc., journeyed to Youngstown last week to see the famed "Angel" wrestle. This monstrosity, gruesome as he is, doesn't seem to mind his appearance at all and all those who took the trip over to Youngstown agree that he is much uglier than his pictures show. They tell the story of one woman who took one look at him and beat a rapid retreat for the door. Can't say I blame her too much. After all, he is no movie idol.

Ask "Bobby Hambone" Umberger about all the things he indulged in last Saturday in that nice weather. He says that he played football, basketball and staged a track meet all on the same day. No wonder he was tired when Saturday night rolled around.

Since Art Horning has been clamoring for some publicity here is is. Art, having won his varsity letter in track last season, is returning this year to run the mile for Coach Cope. This scribe has no doubt that this will be Art's best year for the Quakers.

Speaking of publicity, one George Baillie requests that his name be kept from this column for various reasons. 'Nuf said.

Have been told that Eugene Myers, he of the numerous nicknames, will be out there tossing that discus farther than ever this season. More power to him. Ambition can carry one a long way to one's goal and the boy has that ambition to heave the platter into the next county.

Have been trying to get "W" Bolinger in here somewhere but he's been behaving too well, lately, so we'll pass over him for the present.

And the gentleman who is looking forward to his best track season, is "Al" Hansell, who will once again run the dashes. Need it be said that he is seriously eyeing that state meet in Columbus, to be held late in May?

Having covered just about everything of interest connected with the local world of sports, we will call a halt to festivities long enough to say

So long

"Pa," said Little Joe, "I bet I can do something you can't."

"Well, what is it?" demanded his pa.

"Grow," replied the youngster triumphantly.—H. E. Zimmerman.

Dr. Luther Gable Speaks To Science Classes On Radium

Hi-Tri Club Will Entertain Hi-Y Boys At Joint Meeting Next Monday Night; Senior Class Members Are Now Ordering Stationery For Commencement

Speaks To Scientists

Dr. Luther Gable, a recognized authority on radium, spoke to students of all the first period science classes last Tuesday morning on "The Story of Radium."

Dr. Gable told how radium was discovered, how it is refined and used and discussed its further possibilities. He also had protected cases containing radium, which he passed around and used for demonstration. He also passed around for the students to see different rocks containing the radium ore.

Announce Activities

Miss Mildred Hollett, adviser of Los Costelandos, Spanish club, announced plans for the club's activities for the next three meetings.

Familiar Spanish songs such as "Amapola," "Cielito Lindo," "Pena" and "La Cucaracha" will be sung at the first meeting.

The second will have puzzles featuring names of geographical locations in South America. The program for the third meeting will be a crossword puzzle and a contest using Mexican toys.

To Have Joint Meeting

The Hi-Tri and Hi-Y clubs will have an April Fool party at a joint meeting next Monday night, with the Hi-Y boys as guests of the Hi-Tri.

The refreshment committee for the party consists of Anne Belan, Doris Brunner, Evelyn Koch and Mary Stiffler. The chairman of the program committee is Lucia Sharp, and members are Florence Hiltbrand, Eleanor Schultz and Cleo Santee.

At the Hi-Tri meeting yesterday, members responded to the roll call by answering "What I Do To Keep Healthy." Certain groups of girls presented skits pertaining to health and the remaining members guessed as to what the act meant.

To Take Test

Eight seniors will go to Lisbon tomorrow morning to take the Ohio General Scholarship test. Those going will be Virginia Morrow, Eleanor Schultz, Philip Ressler, Robert Ballantine, Florence England, Rita Emery, Elliott Hansell and Elizabeth Mingroni.

The students will take tests in five subjects, mathematics, history, reading, English and science.

New Students

Sophomores who have entered Salem High school recently are Johanna Chulak of Beaver Falls, Pa.; Dorothy Melitchka of Youngstown, and Clyde Arthur, who has reentered from Alliance.

Robert Zimmerman of Leetonia and James Phillips of Katonah, New York, have entered the freshman class.

Stamp Contest Winners

Winners in a contest on the new Vermont Commemorative stamp held by the Stamp club a week ago last Monday were: First prize, Ben Ware; second prize, Edward Cobbs; third prize, Robert Mitchell.

Each club member made a frame of the Vermont stamp, issued two weeks ago in honor of the state's 150th year of statehood, and wrote material on it.

First, second and third prizes were eight stamps, four stamps, and one stamp respectively.

Mr. A. V. Henning served as judge in the contest.

Study Mexican Book

Miss Mildred Hollett's Spanish class is now studying "UnVuela A Mexico" which means "Flight to Mexico". It is a story of a Mexican boy who attends an American university. He marries an American girl and takes her to Mexico on the honeymoon. The story is true and helps those who read it to become better acquainted with Mexico.

Display Clothes

Garments made by girls in the sewing classes taught by Miss Ala Zimmerman, and selected by the classes for exhibition, were displayed in the library show case last week. The cost of making these garments ranged from $.35 to $1.80 apiece.

The next unit of work, as announced by Miss Zimmerman, will include discussion of color and design in relation to the girl.

Study Business Principles

Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf's classes in general business will, for the next six weeks, be studying the principles and procedures of buying, selling, business correspondence and filing.

In sociology, Mr. Hilgendorf states that the course for the following weeks will include the study of social institutions. These institutions are the American family, educational system, religion, economic activity and government.

Select Senior Stationery

The senior cards and announcements which are now being ordered by the senior class members, are of the formal fold type with the Quaker head embossed on the outside upper left hand corner. The date, 1941, is impressed in the lower right hand corner. The announcements, with matching cards and envelopes, are written in Italian script.

Do Crossword Puzzles

For the past week the French classes under Miss Marye Lou Miller have been working on crossword puzzles. The English words are given and the French equivalent or a synonym of it is filled in.
