

'Our Town' Chosen As Senior Play By Miss McCarthy

Former Broadway Success To Be Presented By Seniors Without Aid of Properties, Scenery; Story of Life In Small New England Town

A story depicting the humor, picturesqueness, and pathos of a New Hampshire village, "Our Town," will come to Salem audiences on December 11 and 12 as the first senior class production directed by Miss Jean McCarthy, new dramatic coach.

The play, having as its setting the small town of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire, during the years from 1901 to 1913, concerns the daily life, the love, marriage, and death of Emily Wobb and George Gibbs. It pictures the life of a village set against a background of centuries of time, social history, and religious ideas.

The stage manager, who is the main character and narrator of the play, says in the drama: "This is the way we were in our growing-up, in our marrying, in our doctoring, in our living, and in our dying."

A semi-tragedy, the production will be presented entirely without scenery and with the minimum of properties. Written by Thornton Wilder, it was presented in this form on Broadway. Martha Scott and Frank Craven took the leading roles in the Broadway play. On the screen, Martha Scott, Frank Craven and William Holden were the leading stars.

At the time of this writing, the results of the try-outs, which were being held for the cast during this week, are not known.

Miss McCarthy, however, has already chosen, as stage manager, Charles Lind. It will be his duty to see that the whole play runs smoothly.

Besides the members of the cast, she chose a technical advisor who will be in charge of properties; a costume director, and chairmen for lighting, make-up, and properties.

MR. OVERTURF HEARD ON RADIO PROGRAM

Mr. Raymond Overturf, football coach, spoke on the program "Curbstone Coaches" over station WKBN, Youngstown, last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Jack McPhee, head of the central Y. M. C. A. in Youngstown, acted as commentator.

Mr. McPhee interviewed coaches from different towns neighboring Youngstown.

New Files Used

A cardex used for filing grades is being used in the Dean of girls' office for the first time this year. The card contains every girl's grades from the first grade up until now.

The new system is being used to facilitate records in the Dean's office, and to make it easier to check on the girls' records.

Salem Squad Sees College Debate

Last Thursday evening the Salem High debate squad journeyed to Canton McKinley to witness a demonstration debate between the University of Pittsburgh and Western Reserve.

The cross-examination type of debate was demonstrated on the subject, Resolved: That every able-bodied male citizen in the United States should be required to have one year of full time military training before attaining the present draft age.

The debate squad has recently been divided into the two different

College Representatives Visit Salem High

Mr. J. M. Faulda, registrar of Tusculum College, Greeneville, Tennessee, interviewed several boys interested in that college, a week ago last Thursday.

On Monday of that week, Miss Elizabeth K. Dingus of Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, spoke to senior girls interested in attending that school.

College catalogues which were formerly in the principal's office will go to the library. Mr. B. G. Ludwig, principal, feels that the catalogues in the office were not of much use to the students. Among them are many which are not in the collection in the library.

Miss Zimmerman, Thorpe Named New Hi-Tri Advisers

New S. H. S. Teachers To Fill Vacancy Left By Mrs. Charles Goldner

Miss Ala Zimmerman, sewing instructress, and Miss Helen Thorpe, English teacher, will be joint advisers to the Hi-Tri club, it was announced by Mr. Beman Ludwig, principal. Miss Zimmerman and Miss Thorpe are filling the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Goldner, the former Miss Marye Louise Miller.

Miss Zimmerman, who came to Salem from the Ravenna City high school last year, was adviser to the Girls' Reserves group there for 10 years. There were 125 girls in this group. Among its various projects, the club sponsored luncheons for the needy school children and acted as an employment bureau.

Miss Thorpe, who began teaching at the Salem high school this year, taught at the Ravenna Township high school. While there, she supervised for four years a girls' club organized for social services and self-betterment. She also helped with the Hi-G which corresponds to Salem's Hi-Tri.

When asked what projects the Hi-Tri would carry out this year, Miss Zimmerman commented, "I think the club should work out its projects to fit the needs of the school."

As in the past, the organization will continue as an honorary society, admitting only girls with "A" or "B" averages.

Home Ec. Class Sponsors Tea

In connection with the annual visitors' day a week ago yesterday, the Home Economics Cooking class number 4 held a tea party with their mothers as their guests. The centerpiece, arranged by Isabelle Lockhart, consisted of yellow candles and a miniature bridge spanning a creek, which was represented by a mirror bespeckled with pebbles and brown and yellow leaves, to coincide with the current autumn season.

The table was set by Gloria Foster, Mae Feller, Mary Sandlo, and Dolores Weichman, with refreshments prepared by Eleanor Stewart, Betty Fites, Mildred Miller and Dorothy Lipiat. The tea was made by Margaret Zocolo.

Geraldine Paxon and Joan O'Hara acted as hostesses, and Helen Grove and Isabelle Lockhart presided at the tea table.

Skating Outfits Made By Sewing Classes

Girls of the sewing class began a new sewing project last week and are now making jerkins, blouses, and skating outfits.

Last week was spent mostly in planning and cutting the different parts of the garments.

Ware To Head Senior Class, Asmus Is Vice-President, Lois Hoover Secretary

Dick Culberson Elected Junior Class President; Evans Chosen Vice-President. Arthur Hoover Heads Sophomores; Cibula Vice-President

According to the results of class elections held last Monday Ben Ware will serve as president of the senior class this year, Homer Asmus as vice-president, and Lois Hoover as secretary-treasurer.

Cheerleader Squad Chosen by Coach Out of 10 Finalists

Of the ten cheerleaders which have been trying out for the past few weeks, Mr. Albert Moore, coach, has chosen the following six persons: Betty Alexander, Ann Cosgarea, Marye Scorupski, Margaret Farcus, Agnes Kamasky and Shirley King to compose the regular squad. Betty Alexander and Ann Cosgarea were cheerleaders last year.

Out of the large turnout at the first call for cheerleaders this year, Mr. Moore chose ten finalists who performed before pep assemblies and at football games.

Although only five were expected to be chosen, Mr. Moore decided that six were necessary to execute certain formations.

There will possibly be more try-outs later in order to train additional cheerleaders, it was announced by Mr. Moore.

Overturf Explains New Football Rules

On the theory that most arguments at football games are a result of ignorance of football rules on the part of the spectators, Mr. Raymond Overturf, football coach, assisted by Mr. Herbert Brown, official at many games, and Richard Greene and John Volio, football players, explained in an assembly a week ago this morning certain fouls and new rulings.

Mr. Overturf explained such fouls as pass interference, clipping, holding, offside, and safety. Each of these was demonstrated by Greene and Volio. He also said that if, on the kickoff, the ball goes over the goal line and is recovered by the kicking team, the ball is put in the possession of that team.

Mr. Overturf explained three new rulings: Free substitution; a pass over the goal line on the fourth down is ruled the same as an incomplete pass; a punt downed by the kicking team within the 10-yard line is considered a touchback and goes to the 20-yard line.

Mr. Brown demonstrated the various signs used by officials on penalties.

Mrs. L. D. Early, acting dean of girls, accompanied by Mabel Hostetler, sang two selections, and the cheerleaders led the student body in several cheers.

The juniors have chosen Dick Culberson for president, Paul Evans vice-president, and have re-elected Marian Davidson to the post of secretary-treasurer. Arthur Hoover will lead the sophomore class with Peter Cibula assisting in the position of vice-president and Barbara Butler acting for a second year as secretary-treasurer.

Ware, a member of the band and Quaker Weekly business staff, holds a membership in the Thespian club and was in the cast of the junior play last year; Asmus, class president in his junior year, attended Boys' State at that time and is, at the present, drum major of the high school band.

Holding the title, "Football Girl," Lois Hoover is also an active member of the Thespian club and has been serving on the Quaker Weekly editorial staff.

Culberson, a football player, was in the Latin club for two years and presided over that organization last year. Class prexy last year, Evans is a band member and was in the Latin club during his freshman and sophomore years.

Hoover is on the apprentice staff of the Quaker Weekly, and in basketball season works as manager. Cibula was class president last year and is now vice-president of the Latin club. Besides acting in the capacity of secretary-treasurer in 1940 for her class, Barbara was in the band. She is one of that group again this year.

At the time of this writing, results of elections in the freshman class were not known.

GAA Sponsors Year's First Penny Dance

The first "Penny Dance" of the year was held last Tuesday.

The dance, sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association for the purpose of raising money with which to buy new records, was held at 3:30 in the gym.

The admission of five cents entitled a person to five dances. After that, a student could dance one dance for one penny.

Committees chosen by Marye Skorupski, chairman, were as follows: Ticket sellers, Shirley King, Martha Hicks; refreshments, Eva Vissers; recording machine, Marye Skorupski, Donna Rice; ticket takers, first stairway, Nina Cahill, Doris Holroyd, second stairway, Marilyn Page, Helen Rinehart.

The Red Menace

Kissing a girl nowadays leaves its mark on a man according to an article in the Readers Direct. She also leaves marks on cigarettes and glasses, towels and spoons. Wherever she goes she leaves a trail of used mouths. It takes the fine cutting edge off a man's romantic mood to come out of a clinch tasting rose, cherry, raspberry or strawberry-scented goose grease and looking like a circus clown. Goo on girls is not minded by men so much as transferred goo on themselves. Yet girls use this strange substance which they can't keep on and a man can't get off. It is the real Red Menace.

All Because Of Max

Max Beerbohm once remarked, "If two people cannot agree about a third party whom they both know, the one who likes him is right, always."

In this country people have the right to make, keep, and enjoy true friends, which is a sacred privilege not all nationalities can enjoy.

An example of disloyal friendship is Germany's attitude toward Russia. Literally speaking, a year ago Germany and Russia were on their honeymoon, but now their divorce has become final as German troops march toward Moscow.

If every man in the world would do unto others as he would have others do unto him, friendship would make the world a better place in which to live.

Practically A Thunderstorm

What is worse than going through the halls and seeing everyone looking downcast and gloomy? You may have your troubles but other people can't tell if you really have something to be glum about or not. Then the first thing you know people begin to call you queer or snobbish. After a few people pass you up without speaking, you feel slighted and have a grudge against them.

So if everything doesn't go right, smile anyway and people will have a much better opinion of you, and soon your troubles will seem trivial and unimportant.

Let's see how many smiling faces we can have around here! What do you say?

Colored Maid: I strolled past the shops, window wishing.

It Can't Happen Here!

Armistice Day Forgotten In Europe, But Lives In America

If a visitor from Mars had looked down on the streets of New York, Chicago, or any other city in the United States on November 11, 1918, he would have supposed the entire population to have gone raving mad. People shouting, waving flags, and hilariously throwing streamers and confetti on friends or strangers alike dashed out of apartment buildings, offices, and stores. The reason for this unusually riotous behavior? . . . Why, peace had been declared and people all over the world were rejoicing.

Huge armies, which for four long years had hurled assault after murderous assault upon each other, laid down their arms and refrained from hostilities.

More than ten million men had been slain and twenty million more in the ranks died of disease and privation because of this dreadful struggle. Why, then, shouldn't the people have been overjoyed that this manslaughter had been stopped, never to occur again . . . or so the masses hoped.

Thus, every year on November 11 at 11 a. m., the people who supported the Allied cause stand at attention for the period of one minute in memory of all those who were killed while fighting to preserve the doctrine of democracy for the world.

It's Like Dentist Pulling A Tooth

Do you remember the first time you walked into a dentist's office to get a tooth pulled? You were fifth in line but this didn't mean a thing because you had an appointment. The tooth was driving you crazy with the help of your thoughts which weren't very pleasant.

Just then the doctor walks in, you break out in a sweat and say a silent prayer, but all hope is lost when he points at you. You get up and stumble into a man next to you and apologize to a woman next to him. Your knees are knocking so loud they sound like native drums. The next thing you remember is sitting in the dentist chair wishing you had never been born or else dead. You feel a tap on your shoulder and are amazed because the dentist is showing you a tooth and telling you that was all for today. Later you walk out feeling like a million bucks, all is well and you can laugh at the world.

After an experience like this why do you take these fits when called on to recite in class. When called on, get up with that confident look on your map (face) and recite what you know and you'll later say, school isn't a bad place after all.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

"Did you hear that Henry Fay is in the hospital?"

"No. Is the school sending him any flowers?"

Have you ever asked this question yourself?

There are many students who at some time or another are patients in a hospital. They want their school to think of them while they are ill, but they have no way of knowing.

A bouquet of flowers would please these persons very much.

What do you say, gang? Let's all chip in and start a flower fund.

Here is a poem that I don't think needs any introduction:

They find fault with the editor
The stuff they print is rot.
The paper is as peppy

The rag shows poor management,
The jokes they say are stale.
The lower classmen holler;
The upper classmen rile,
But when the paper's issued

If someone doesn't get one,
You can hear his yell a mile.

This week's award goes to Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer. He was at a party last Saturday night dressed as an old grandma. Salem To Tangle With Aviator Team In Fray At Reilly Field Tonight

Salem High Quakers Out To Beat Last Year's Jinx Score, 34-0; Branfield Good Pass Receiver; Aviators Downed By Canton, Massillon

Possessing a record of five victories in seven games played to date, Alliance High's Aviators highly rated eleven will invade Reilly Stadium tonight to tangle with Coach Ray Overturf's Quaker squad under the lights. The Aviators have posted wins over Jamestown (N. Y.), Meadville (Pa.), Akron St. Vincents, Cleveland John Hay, and Youngstown Ursiline and have been defeated by Massillon and Canton McKinley. The visitors gained their latest victory last week 27-0 over Ursiline.

Alliance won last year's contest 34-0 in the last of a string of Thanksgiving day games. Tonight will mark the first time the two rivals have not met on Turkey day affairs.

It is very difficult for one to pick out individual stars on the Alliance squad. Coach Leonard ("Dutch") Hoppes has several capable backfield men, along with a pair of good pass receiving ends who score frequently. Larry Castiglione, "Bud" Howell, "Red" Artino, Dick McClure and Joe Rogel have all proved themselves valuable in running or passing. Captain Earl Branfield and Dick Fritz, Aviator ends, provide passers Rogel, McClure and Castiglione with competent receivers. Branfield scored both touchdowns in the Canton McKinley game on aeriels.

Still smarting from the 26-0 loss to Niles last week, the Quakers will go into the game with overwhelming odds against them. It is questionable whether Bob "Scub"

Quakers Lose To Niles In Muddy Battle Last Friday

Playing amidst a sea of mud, the Salem High gridgers fell before a superior Niles Red Dragon squad 26-0 before a Dad's Night crowd last Friday night at Reilly stadium. Several blocked kicks, along with a few long runs, proved to be the main factors of the local defeat.

Early in the initial period the Niles eleven started a drive from the 50 yard line which was climaxed by a 23 yard run by "Pete" Zorn. Depascal attempted to plunge for the extra point but the Salem line tightened and the try for point was no good. Niles added another "six-pointer" in the second period when Depascal blocked Ruffing's punt deep in Salem territory and Devarich fell on it for a score. Depascal's plunge was good for the "point after touchdown" and Niles led 13-0.

Depascal again blocked a Salem punt in the fourth quarter and Niles recovered on the 19-yard marker. Zorn took the ball to the five yard line and after two tries to plunge over he was successful and scored. Depascal bucked the line for the extra point, but was stopped.

Niles tallied their last touchdown of the game and the second one in the final quarter on a 30 yard dash by Hubbard, speedy substitute back. Luhaney took the ball over to give the Red Dragons the extra point and make the score 26-0.

The visitors silenced the Quaker guns for the rest of the night when Phil Cozad was tackled after a 20 yard return of the kickoff after the first Niles score and was injured. It was announced in a few minutes that he had received a broken leg just above the ankle, thus ending

TIME OUT

By TYKER

Where was I when the news was passed out that Niles wasn't so hot. Wow! and Alliance hits town tonight with a team that is really hot. The only defeats the Aviators have suffered this year were at the hands of Ohio's pride and joy, Massillon and Canton McKinley.

That was really tough luck that Phil Cozad broke his leg last Friday night. "Pidge" added a souvenir to his collection, for it was necessary for him to have his leg set in a cast. The cast has accumulated quite a few names on it of the persons who have visited the injured gridder. That Niles game put a close to Phil's high school football career and may delay his appearance in basketball. As you all know, he is one of the "all-junior" "roundball" team last year.

"Hammerin' Harry" Ehrhart, manager delux of the local gridgers, hung up his key to the cage to don the togs of the Quakers. Late in the game "H, H and H", wearing Number 17, made his initial appearance in the capacity of a player. He took the ball off tackle for 4 yards much to the glee of the entire crowd and squad.

Question of The Year

Why is it that Mother Nature has a grudge against the Salem football team. She has proved to be the main factor of Quaker defeats several times this year. Oh, well, I think a little rain tonight wouldn't hurt the game any from the Salem standpoint.

"Ode to the fan who knows all the answers".

Everyone has gone to a football game and has, much to his disgust found some gent in front of you who answers all the questions you ask your companions. Although this is sometimes helpful for a couple of unknown problems it becomes a very trying situation. We ran into an expert of this type at the Rayen-East tilt last Saturday. He was very pleasing but also very annoying. In case you run into a character of this type, give him a few solid blows on the head with a newspaper. It works

Like a charm. Ask "Gappo" Rance.

Last week in the Quaker in Hoover's column she mentioned Salem's bet hounds. Lois omitted the greatest of them all, "Shotgun" Mayhew. She really knows her stuff, too.

Tonight the Salem fans will see one of the best ends I have ever had the pleasure of watching perform this year, Earl Branfield. He can catch a pass anyplace, anyhow, and anywhere. Well, maybe that is a little exaggerated, but the lad is the "propeller" of the "Aviators".

Leetonia roller over Lisbon Saturday afternoon with very little trouble. The Quakers Nshould take the "county seaters" into camp in their game also. Alliance shellacked Ursuline HI of Youngstown 27-0 last Friday night.

Maybe Salem won't get a chance at the Leetonia football team after all. It seems as if the Mathermen have an offer to perform before the East Liverpool Thanksgiving game with a small school of that district.

Here in Salem High we receive many speeches on sportsmanship and fair play; some of it sticks to us but the greater part of it is scoffed at and forgotten. I'd like to pass on to you a little item that made me feel pretty good when I heard it.

Johnny Devarich, left end of Niles who tackled Phil Cozad on the play that Phil broke his leg, received permission from the principal to hitch-hike to Salem to see Phil. He came to the Cozad home and sat and talked with "Pidge" for approximately two and a half hours.

"It really knocked it out of me for the rest of the first half, but I steadied up a little in the last half," Devarich told Cozad. He also stated that he was really sorry that it had to happen and that the tackle was a very expensive one. Hats off to you, Johnny, for a swell gesture.

J. V. Squad Downs Potters

Salem Jay Vees defeated East Liverpool 19-13 last Thursday afternoon at Reilly stadium.

Salem's points were all scored by H. Lodge and "Butch" Wise who received passes from W. Brian. This play of the Jay Vees scored their points 3 times.

Chuck Winters of East Liverpool scored the two touchdowns for them. He ran around end for

Ludwig Appointed To Library Board

Principal Beman Ludwig was appointed a member of the board of trustees of the Salem Public Library at a meeting of the Board of Education last Monday night.

Mr. Ludwig will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of H. M. Williams, former Salem High principal, who was appointed in 1939 for the term 1939-46.

Other members of the board of trustees are: Mr. G. R. Deming, Mrs. E. S. Dawson, Mrs. Mary Dunn, Attorney Charles McCorkhill, Mrs. F. J. Emeny and W. Eugene Young.

LIBRARY SHOWCASE HAS HOLIDAY MOOD

After Halloween's endless pranks, comes Thanksgiving with roast turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and other tempting morsels. To celebrate this occasion the library will have a special display in the library showcase, next week.

Books and magazines featuring Thanksgiving programs and menus will be exhibited. Also in these books are stories of the first Thanksgiving and suggestions for observing this nationally-celebrated holiday.

Quakers Face Aviators

Scullion will be ready to resume his duties as starting halfback and main ground-gainer of the squad. His presence might spark the Salem outfit on to the form displayed earlier in the season. Even so, it is evident that the Quakers will be the "underdogs."

Salem will depend on the play of the forward wall to stop the strong Aviator running attack. The Alliance team uses many end sweeps and an abundance of aeriels. The locals can make the game much closer if they play "heads up" football 48 minutes tonight. The invaders play "wide open" on offense and base much of their power on end runs and long passes.

Alliance possesses a considerable weight advantage over the Salem-ites. They will take the field tonight with an average of 185 pounds per man. Their line is big and fast-charging and is very game. Although Gordon "Tubby" Shasteen is the lightest of the Quaker linemen, he will carry the main burden of stopping Alliance's line thrusts. He has performed creditably in every game this year and also possesses the majority of tackles.

J. V.'s Win

50 yards and 30 yards to score the 12 points. Winters also plunged through center for the extra point.

The biggest thrill of the game was in the last period when the score was 13-13, Liverpool's ball when they passed. The ball was intercepted by B. Kupa who ran it back for 20 yards. Lodge completed a pass in the end zone to make the final score 19-13.

On Friday, November the fourteenth, there will be no issue of the Quaker. This is due to the fact that on the following Wednesday a special six page Quaker will be issued before Thanksgiving vacation.

Snyder Elected Glee Club Prexy

The Boys' Glee Club, directed by Mr. J. P. Olloman, has selected the following students as club officers for the year: President, Walter Snyder; vice president, Martin Juhn; and secretary-treasurer, Dick Woods. Orlan Ludwig was chosen as librarian for the group.

The glee club is now working on college songs and doing very nicely, as announced by Mr. Olloman.

Sophomores Win

The sophomores, captained by Paul Horning, were declared the winners of the underclass tug-of-war, scheduled for last Friday night, by default, since the freshmen captain failed to collect a team for the event.

his high school football career.

Salem played almost the entire game on the defensive and when they did gain possession of the ball it was usually deep in their own territory and thus they had to punt. The fact that the Quaker line gained strength when Niles had the ball in Salem territory prevented several touchdowns. The two punts blocked by Red Dragon fullback Depascal proved very important in the Red and Blue victory. Both of the kicks which Niles blocked and recovered resulted in touchdowns. The last enemy score in the last stanza was gained against the second and third stringers. It was made in the late minutes of the game when Niles had an adequate lead to win and it is highly probable the starting eleven would have nailed Hubbard on his 30 yard trot to pay dirt. However, Zorn scored on the same play in the first quarter for their touchdown.

Hi-Y Holds First Meeting For Seniors

Plans for the coming year were outlined to senior boys interested in joining the Hi-Y, by the club advisor, Mr. Herbert Jones, at a meeting a week ago Tuesday.

The local organization is a member of the Mahoning Valley, council of Hi-Y clubs. This membership entitles the boys to a swimming party once a month at the Y. M. C. A. pool in Youngstown. Later in the year a basketball league will be formed in the council.

Mr. Jones stated that the purpose of the club is to promote athletic, social, instructive, and religious activities.

He thinks posterity is a pack horse, always ready to be loaded.
