

'41 Girls Choose Varied Careers; 14 In College Classes

Clerking, Office Work, Nurses' Training, Chosen by Graduates

In a recent survey made by Mrs. L. E. Early, acting dean of girls at Salem High, many things were discovered about the girls who graduated in the class of 1941.

For instance, there are 16 working in local offices, 19 clerking, 11 girls are married, 7 training for nurses, 6 doing housework, 4 helping at home, 2 moved from town, 2 taking post graduate courses, and 14 girls represent Salem High at 13 different colleges.

Schools selected by these 14 girls include Randolph-Macon Women's college, Wilson college, Ohio State university, Hood college, St. Mary of the Springs, Pittsburgh Business college, College of William and Mary, Stephens college, Northampton School for Girls, Kent State university, two girls in Salem Business college and one girl taking a private business course. The occupation of 11 of the girls is unknown.

New SHS Teachers Initiated at Dinner

Members of the Salem High school faculty and of the secretarial staff held a turkey dinner last Tuesday evening at the Alliance Country club.

After the dinner, new teachers, Miss Jean Kingsley, Miss Jean McCarthy, Miss Helen Thorp, Mr. B. G. Ludwig, Mr. Ramon Cobbs, Mr. Frank Gordon, Mr. Albert Moore and Mr. Raymond Overturf were initiated.

A contest of guessing teachers' baby pictures was held, with a prize going to Miss Reba Dilworth who guessed correctly the largest number of photographs.

Miss Martha McCready was chairman of the social committee with Miss Lois Lehman, Miss Helen Thorp, Mr. Ted Keller, and Mr. Herbert Brown assisting.

SIMON HEADS HI-Y; OTHERS ELECTED

Sidney Simon was chosen president; Bill Probert, vice-president; Bob Ritchie, secretary; Bill Dunlap, treasurer; and Homer Asmus, chaplain, at a recent meeting of the Hi-Y. Approximately forty-five boys are members of the club this year. Supervisor, Mr. H. W. Jones, stated that meetings would be held every Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

Shelves Current Projects Of Wood Industries

"Whatnot" shelves and ornamental objects to be used on the shelves are the projects now being undertaken by members of the wood industries classes under the supervision of Mr. Elmer Wagstaff.

A number of the finished articles are on display in the library show case.

"Little Women" Is Popular Selection

In the last issue of the Quaker it was found that three books popular with high school students are "The Call of The Wild" by Jack London, "Gone With The Wind" by Margaret Mitchell, and "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" by Sir Conan Doyle. In addition to these three books the following were also found to rank high when a further survey was made:

1. Little Women — Louisa Mae Alcott.
2. Adventures of Huckleberry Finn—Mark Twain.
3. Adventures of Tom Sawyer—Mark Twain.
4. Last of the Mohicans—James Fenimore Cooper.
5. Robinson Crusoe—Daniel Defoe.
6. Smoky, the Cowhorse — Will James.
7. Treasure Island—Robert Louis Stevenson.
8. Lad: A Dog — Albert Payson Terhune.

When suggesting books to be ordered for the library, students included many books which were already in the library. A list of these books will be posted on the library bulletin board.

Cooking Classes Prepare Holiday Meals, Centerpieces

Among the activities of the home economics classes for the last two weeks are included the arranging of centerpieces, the making of Thanksgiving Day foods and the viewing of a moving picture.

The centerpieces for dining room tables were arranged by 24 members of the senior class. They were judged on originality, cost, ingenuity, and suitability.

The Thanksgiving Day foods prepared by the classes included cranberry sherbet, and molded salads.

The movie, "Citrus on Parade," dealing with the ways in which citrus fruits can be used in different courses, was shown to the classes last week.

Three girls, Lois Hoover, Maxine Everstine, and Geraldine Paxon have entered an essay contest sponsored by the A. A. A. The subject of the essay is "Why Does America Need A 'Food for Defense Program'?"

Hi Tri Initiates 40 To Honorary Club

Forty girls were initiated into membership of the Hi Tri club at a meeting held a week ago Tuesday. The new members participated in both serious and foolish initiations, after which a delightful lunch was enjoyed.

Those who were initiated are: Lorraine Adams, Emma Bauman, Elizabeth Benedetti, Elinor Bober, Barbara Brian, Mona Cahill, Emilie Cheval, Anne Cosgarea, Martha Coulson, Marion Davidson, Jean Dixon, Genevieve Everstine, Margaret Farcus, Ruth Fidoe, Irene Fratila, Verna Freshley.

Deborah Gross, Dorothy Haldi, Louise Hanna, Mary Elizabeth Harris, Mabel Hostetler, Agnes Kamaskey, Jeannette Hutchison, June Kennedy, Adelaide Kot, Rora Martindale, Virginia Mayhew, Gene McArter, Betty Merry, Jean Reeves, Lona Riffle, Virginia Schoss, Joyce Schaffer, Ruth Sinsley, Virginia Snyder, Sally Strank, Judith Trisler, Helen Louise Theiss, Dorothy Woerther, Jean Lantz. Other new members who were not at the initiation were Mary Byers and Shirley Johnson.

Choose College Early Is Advice

High school seniors should decide this fall what college they intend to enter next year, according to Jay Gerger, new student secretary at Northwestern university, Evanston, Illinois.

"High school students today have at their disposal a wealth of material on the basis of which to select their college," Gerger said, "Choosing a school early gives the candidate a number of advantages."

Among these advantages he listed the chance to make sure, in the senior year, that all entrance requirements have been met; the opportunity to apply for scholarships, many of which are awarded in spring; and, in the case of school whose enrollment is limited, greater assurance of admission.

Gerger advised students to consult the College Blue Book and the annual directory of colleges and universities published by the U. S. Office of Education. These books, available in the Salem High school library and the Salem Public library, give impartial information about all colleges and universities.

JOURNALISTS HEAR MOVIE EDITOR AT CHANEY

Mr. Charles J. Mulcahy, movie editor of the Youngstown Vindicator, spoke on "Reporting the Movies" at the Tri-County Journalism meeting at Chaney high school, Youngstown, a week ago Tuesday.

The delegates were welcomed by Dr. C. W. Ricksecker, principal of Chaney High.

The meeting followed a "Preparedness Theme." Dance maneuvers and mess were enjoyed in the new gym after the business meeting which was presided over by John Stewart, faculty adviser of the Rayen Record and president of the Tri-County group.

Committees For Senior Play, Dec. 11-12, Chosen By Miss Jean McCarthy

Miss Jean McCarthy Selects Committees For Annual Senior Class Production, December 11, 12; Junior and Senior Chairmen Head Committees

Miss Jean McCarthy, director of the senior class play, "Our Town," has chosen committees for the production. Each of the following committees has a senior and a junior chairman.

Sound effects: Ray Corrigan, Walter Vansickle.

Prompters: Katherine Gartner, Irene Fratila.

Stage carpenter: Walter Weber.

Painting Donated To Dean's Office

A picture, The Spirit of Education painted by Newell C. Wyeth, has been donated by the Silver Burdett Company to Salem High to be hung in the dean of girls' office.

In the center of the picture the dense clouds of Ignorance and Prejudice have parted and to the earth has come a heroic figure symbolizing the Spirit of Education. She holds aloft the flaming torch, enlightenment, which we in America are to carry forward from open before her lies the Book of leaning. Mercury-like she moves ever forward on the winged wheel of Progress.

Notice Juniors, Seniors

Miss Martha McCready, junior class adviser, and Miss Ethel Beardmore, senior class sponsor, announce that the junior-senior party will be held next Friday evening in the gym. At that time, there will be dancing, entertainment and refreshments.

Committees for the party, which is an annual event, are being chosen.

Are You Doomed For Woodshed Wednesday Night?

Are you destined to make a trip to the woodshed next Wednesday? In other words does your report card look sick and do you feel worse? Well, science has discovered that this deplorable condition is due to a lack of vitamins and not sluggish minds. Consequently for the past years students have been accused of having such characteristics as laziness, hollow-headedness, and similar traits when a vitamin deficiency was the guilty party.

Now, all you have to do is eat the proper diet to get good grades instead of slaving away until all hours of the morning with books. After extensive research and much expense the Quaker has obtained the following diet which contains the necessary vitamins. Your breakfast should contain a steaming bowl of golden Ralston or a heaping dish of Wheaties with milk and sugar. Both of these cereals have that all important vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin which is packed into the wheat on the vast plains of the west. Milk is another essential food, often neglected in the daily menu. In case you can't relish the taste of plain ordinary milk have mother rush down to the neighborhood store and buy a can of Ovaltine which adds those extra vitamins X, Y, and Z to the milk.

Don't forget to light up a Camel to soothe those jumpy nerves before tests.

Debate Squad Prepares Speeches For Season

The debate squad has been writing speeches, which must be at least 800 words long. It was necessary to make notes for use in writing the speeches. Mr. J. C. Guiler, the debate coach, has announced that he will soon pick the four regular speakers; two negative and two affirmative with several alternates.

Plan Safety Program

As a part of the school's safety program, those in charge are doing everything in their power to urge students to refrain from riding "double" on bicycles because of the danger of accidents.

In the elementary grades and junior high, where many students ride bicycles to and from school, this program is being particularly stressed by teachers and principals.

Plea For Student Council

There are problems in Salem High school that can be taken care of only by the students. No matter how much the teachers try to correct these problems, they will not be corrected until the students cooperate and feel that they have a part in the running of the school.

Why can't we, the students, have a student council? It has worked in other schools. It gives the students the feeling that they have a say in the running of the school, and better preparing them for their roles as the citizens of tomorrow. Wouldn't you like your ideas voiced by your representative in the Student Council? Come on, then, let's show our interest in a student council, and maybe we'll get one.

LOIS FIELD.

Not Broke, Just Bent

All year we have been harping on the poor school spirit, but now, at long last, it is time to compliment the teachers and students alike for their fine sportsmanship and school spirit.

Last Tuesday we had a pep assembly in front of the school building. Then Wednesday afternoon there was another official pep assembly in the auditorium with the band and plenty of cheers.

A pep rally in the field beside Reilly stadium, a parade, a super-duper bonfire, cheers, speeches, and music special done up in the best collegiate style, wound up the pep activities for the greatly anticipated Leetonia game.

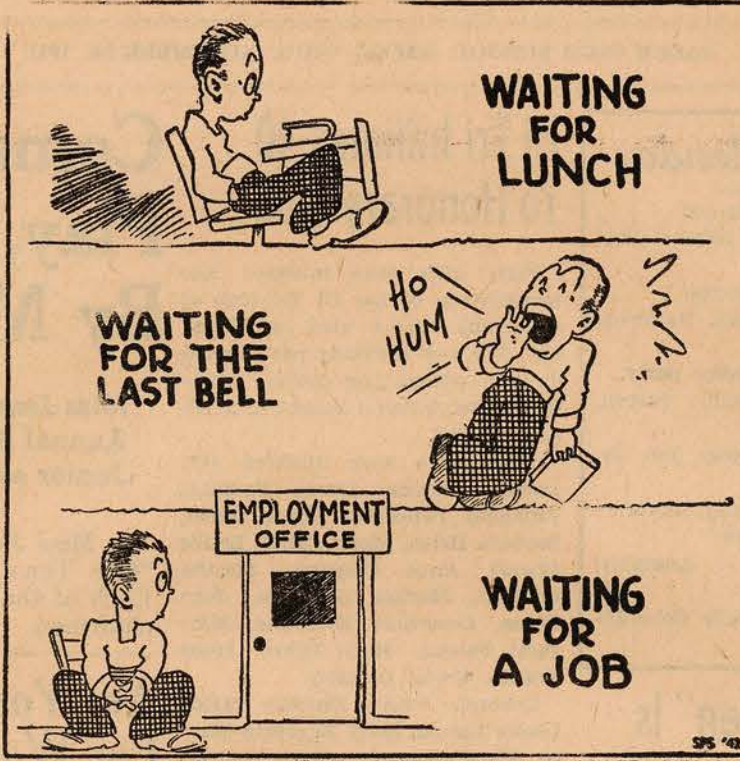

Now that we know what school spirit is and how much fun we have in the swing of it, let's be the school that has the best school spirit in this county.

As the announcer said at the game Thursday, "The Salem High students are really cheering today, for the first time this year."

Our School Is Red Hot

When you stop to think about it, our school is O. K. We are always seeing something that we believe should be changed, but considering it as a whole, it's fine. We have an excellent selection of subjects, a capable faculty, and all sorts of sports, clubs, and musical activities. Also, our building is in good condition, and each year new items are added to make it even better. So, in view of the fact that we have almost everything a high school student could want in this school, let's try even harder to show our appreciation.

Waiting

Something To Talk About

It would be hard to find a more enjoyable story than this story of a nineteen year old girl working on a newspaper. Lynn Curtis was an orphan faced with the problem of keeping the Curtis home and still earning enough money for two years of university training in journalism. Her work as a substitute stenographer in her guardian's law office brings in some money, but she determines to get more by working on The News, a local news paper.

The story of her progress, from a feature which she thought was a news story and wasn't, on through small failures and successes until she gets her first real assignment, makes a book that is full of activity and high tension, as a newspaper office always is. More than that, it is a fine story and presents an authentic picture of country newspaper work because Gertrude Mallitti, the author, is a former newspaper woman.

S.H.S. Students Bear Strange Labels

There is a saying "VARIETY IS THE SPICE OF LIFE" (and here is some of the spice of S. H. S. in the way of nicknames. Although at times a little confusing, it's admitted that they are amusing.

- Hazel Capel—"Torchy".
- Dick Lantz—"Deacon".
- Elizabeth Dales—"Ebby".
- Mary Byers—"Speed".
- Bill Rance—"Gappo".
- Lois Hoover—"Sacks".
- Steven Hart—"Tyker".
- Irene Fratila—"Baby".
- Charles Lind—"Cutey".
- Betty Merry—"Betsy".
- Bob McGhee—"Mousey".
- Carol Jeager—"C. J."
- Walter VanSickle—"Percy" or "Snapper".
- Emma Bauman—"Tex".
- Paul Bloor—"Apple".
- Virginia Snyder—"Jinny".
- Frank Snyder—"Sneezy".
- Bill Hannay—"Cowboy".
- Maybelle Huston—"Dimples".

Horace Heidt's up and coming band really gives us a solid version of "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire". The vocal chorus by Larry Cotton and Donna and her Don Juans on this Columbia disc leaves very little to be desired. Yes sir, looks as if the Musical Knights are really going places!

Arturo Toscanini and the B B C Orchestra give one of their finest performances on Victor in Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony". Although Toscanini records also with the New York Philharmonic and the N B C Symphony Orchestra, his best are with the B B C, mainly because their recording engineers have come closest to capturing the vitality and warmth characteristic of Toscanini reading. The Columbia recording by the Minneapolis Symphony under Mitropeulos is fair, but cannot compare with the Victor.

The theme of the "Pastoral" is the beauties of the country; in writing of it, Beethoven said, "It is FEELING rather than tone-painting . . . I leave it to the listener to discover the situations for himself . . . Anyone with a notion of country life will imagine the composer's intention." Incidentally, it was one of the works presented by Walt Disney in his "Fantasia".

That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profits. —Alcott.

Hoover Sweeper

I GET ALL THE DIRT

By Lois Hoover

Well, that four day vacation that we had last week was gratefully accepted by everyone and now back to the grindstone until Christmas vacation which isn't so far away. The six weeks will soon be over and perhaps there will be more disappointments.

Here is a little poem that fits in with the occasion:

A beau, a date,
Perhaps out late,
Next day a quiz,
No pass—gee whizz!!

Membership. . . .

A couple of years ago there was organized in this great institute of learning a "Loafers Club." This club was held forth in Room 210, and every night the wide awake students that went to sleep in classes met in this room. Lollipops were passed out and every one had a gay time. It was noted though that the next day the ones that had received summons to attend did not go to sleep and payed strict attention in class. Mouse (I am a great promoter, and simply am not a LOAFER) McGhee is thinking of starting such a club and if you want a membership card just send in 15 box tops of "Susies Slushy Sludges" and two wooden nickels. You will receive your membership card and become a full fledged member. . . .

Free Medical Advice. . . .

The next time that you think you are coming down with a case of mumps, measles, etc., just go into Room 206 and let Doctor Peppppppp fix you up. Just take along your own sugar and cream and you can have a delicious breakfast.

GOBBLE? GOBBLE. . . .

At least we know one family that had turkey for Thanksgiving last week and that was the Ware family. When Stretch got the new addition to the family he was a little overwhelmed, but he tied it in the auditorium and the bird seemed quite contented. It really seemed to enjoy the rehearsal of Our Town. . . .

Acting Award. . . .

In the senior play Bob "Slats" Enriken has the line that is the envy of the entire cast. . . . Someone says to him, "Lovely moon, isn't it?" Slats comes back with "Yeahhhhhh!" He got up on the stage the other night and forgot it. Some part. . . .

Captured

Did you see the latest bracelet fad that has hit S. H. S.? Miriam Seeman brought this one. She bought a pair of handcuffs at the 5 and 10; you know, those ones that little kids get to play Cops and Robbers, then she doubled them on one wrist and they are quite the thing. . . . A very novel idea.

On Or Under???

The other night, at the local soda parlor, Terry Atkinson, Donna Schaeffer, Pat Keener, Molly Schmid and a few others were sitting in a booth drinking their cokes and eating their hot fudges when the table fell down on them. Donna's knee was crushed beneath the weight of the table, but Knight Terry came to her rescue and held it up while she got out, and then dropped it on the floor. . . . CHIVALRY IS NOT DEAD. . . .

Say Ahhhhhhhhhhh???

Thanksgiving week-end John Botu had his tonsils out. Don't make John talk too much because he probably wants to conserve his energy so he can get hepped with his trumpet. . . .

May The Best Man Win

Glenn Whitacre certainly must want to become president of the band. He is constantly campaigning for himself. . . . Bill Hannay makes little signs so that you vote for him. . . . Homer Asmus is the silent opponent of Glenn's. I hope the best man wins. . . . Who is the best man? The election will soon tell. . . .

Coming Soon

It is rumored that the junior-senior party is going to be soon, so don't forget to get your dates. . . . There is always someone that doesn't get to go. . . . Get 'em all in this time. . . .

"Where's Creeper?" Students Ask

Everyone wants to know when and how the "Creeper" is these days. It's been a long time since he's been around old S. H. S.

We see "Baby" running through the halls from "morn" till "nite" searching in vain for the Creeper. Percy VanSickle can be seen tuning in his radio for news of the "Creeper" every evening. Ah Yes, 'tis a sad tale. Over in the corner, Dick Chessman and Sid Simon, enjoying a little game of (shall we say, cards?) ask each other, "And what do you hear about the 'Creeper'?" We look out the window and there's "Wild" Bill Shoop in his cowboy suit, trying to saddle his pony. Yes, the adventurous lad is going in search of the "Creeper." Sam Berger and "Sneezy" can be seen getting out the "little ole rattletrap" to go in search of the wild and famed "Creeper." Ah, but here my story has to end. Their search was all in vain. So now we come to a sad conclusion—there just "ain't no Creeper no more!"

How To Spend The 25th Hour

If there were more than 24 hours in a day what would you do with the extra time?

Winnie Tolson said, "I could use the time to study, but I'd probably sleep."

Camille Ward would enjoy some extra time to sleep and eat.

Doris Sprowl said that she would have more time to go to Lisbon.

"I'd probably spend my time trying to decide what to do with it," Eunice Smith said.

Sarah Knepper avowed that she would spend it dancing.

June Wolford said "I'd have an extra date. And I don't mean fruit either!"

Laura Belle Lozier said that she would have a good time if she had more of it.

Work With Motor

The metal industries classes, under the direction of Mr. E. A. Engelhart, have been running the airplane motor in class for the past three weeks. They are now tuning and troubleshooting it. Troubleshooting a motor means to recondition it after it has purposely been put out of running order.

"The airplane group in the fifth and sixth period classes will be in charge of the motor for the next few weeks, while the students in the other classes interested in airplanes wait their turn," Mr. Engelhart said.

Basketball Schedule

The complete Salem basketball schedule for 1941-42 is as follows:

Ravenna—Friday, December 5

*Lisbon—Tuesday, December 9.

*Columbiana—Saturday, December 13.

*Youngstown Chaney—Tuesday, December 16.

Niles—Friday, December 19.

Canton Lehman—Saturday, January 3.

Alliance—Friday, January 9.

East Palestine—Friday, January 16

Warren—Tuesday, January 20

*Youngstown Rayen—Friday, January 23.

*Youngstown South—Tuesday, January 27.

Girard—Friday, January 30.

*East Liverpool—Friday, February 6.

*Wellsville—Tuesday, February 10.

Akron West Friday, February 13.

*Alliance—Tuesday, February 17.

Struthers—Friday, February 20.

*Sebring—Friday, February 27.

This will mark the first time that Canton Lehman has been on the Salem schedule. This will also be, aside from tournaments, the first time that Salem has played Girard. Columbiana has not appeared on the schedule since the 1926-27 season.

Mr. F. E. Cope, faculty manager, explains that the Salem-Alliance game will be played twice, once there and once here, because the rivalry between the two teams is good and, consequently, presents a good drawing card.

The schedule is fuller this year because Salem's football season was to have ended sooner. The contest between Leetonia and Salem, however, changed that.

* Indicates home games.

Quakerette Issued At Junior High

The Quakerette with John Mulford as editor was issued November 19. The touch football standings are as follows: Eighth grade, 8F—1,000; 8E—667; Seventh grade, 7F—1,000; 7D and 7A are second with .500 each.

Two weeks ago the Athletic clubs saw movies of the best plays of 1939 and 1940. This week they saw more football films.

The Athletic clubs have started contest for choosing the winners of about ten big college games. The high point individual receives a prize.

The students of Junior High express their deepest sympathy to Geraldine Letzkus in the death of her mother.

Reflections Of A Lighter Note

This week's Mystery Mr. is just another "pretty boy" although that "bushy Butch" of his isn't as much to his credit as the curls he used to have.

Being a senior this year, he has been pretty busy with a very full schedule for his last year.

A good percentage of this time is taken up by "one known Toots," a junior gal who seems to think the ring she has is a little bit of all-right.

Baseball is his hobby, as everyone knows, since "Buck" is in his glory when baseball season rolls around. Someday we may see an old S. H. S. Aluminus out there in the major league baseball and you can say "That's an old pal of mine. His name's Bob "Buck" Ritchie."

"Just a wee bit on the plump side" is a saying that causes this weeks Mystery Miss to gnash her teeth. But along with this plumpness comes dark curly hair, big blue eyes and about 5 ft. 1 of pleasing personality. She likes to dance, eat and have fun, we hear.

Another displeasing (extremely so) heckle that can be applied is that she is, they like to say, "a country gal." This one usually makes her burn, since she prefers to call it "my country estate," after which she gets a lot of razzin'.

"One of my greatest ambitions," she says, "is to get a report card all one color."

Well here's hopin', Mystery Miss, Ethel "Toots" Lozier.

Sadie Suchtrap Back On Beam

Lookout below.... I'm coming in on the beam. Crash, bang, boom, thud, crash again.... I came in on it and am all ready to start and review the events that have taken place since school started and a few other things. Remember me. Saddle Suchtrap? I had such fun last year, but so far this year I have not been hepped to the groove. All of these ghost childs around here have had me flustered and I have been quite busy trying to keep up with them.

The band has been wonderful and I love to watch them walking around. They look like phantoms strutting their stuff out there at the football games.

We have had one shin-cracking exhibition this year and I hope that we have many more. Nothing like getting out there on the gym floor and really cutting loose.

The seniors seem to be trying very hard to be dignified. The juniors are quite proud that at last they are upper classmen and can attend a prom. The sophomores are the rulers of the third floor and the freshman.... well, what can I say about them?

I think that we ought to have more assemblies in which the football players talk. They seem to love to hand the speech making to their fellow members.

What we really need around here is a good feud. Remember the Smith-Cope, and the Raymond-Cope ones last year. Nothing like a good joke to break the monotony of an assembly.

We certainly don't lack new faces when it comes to teachers this year. We still have some of the old stand-bys left.

The senior play seems to be getting well under way and December 11-12 we can see how good they really are. They are supposed to be such experienced actors.

And last but not least I have to mention the cooking classes. They have been making great progress since the beginning of school. Around Christmas they will be making candies, and right now they are in the process of learning to make biscuits and gingerbread. You may never believe it but some of the biscuits are so hard they would break a plate. They call these "honeymoon biscuits." I guess that you are supposed to throw these at your husband.

The beam is going out so I have to go with it. I'll be back again with the latest happenings and try to tell you about them. They probably aren't new but maybe there is something you don't know. See you at the next boogie beat meeting where we will hand out booklets, "How to Graduate in Four Years" or "Five Years at the Stern." If you can't attend the meeting leave a wrapper from a can of popeye's spinach and a note from your parents saying you know how to read.

TIME OUT

By TYKER

Wow!! What a way to end the football season. The Quakers really showed themselves to be capable of playing an entire game of tight football. Congratulations are in line for the local football squad for playing such a swell game.

P. S. Leetonia was plenty tough, too.

When an ardent Quaker fan asked Wiggy if he got hurt in the game Thursday, what did the "golden one" say but, "No, I waited till I got home and cut myself shaving." (Oh, how cutting Glenn.)

At last the season of roundball has struck S. H. S. Practice started last Friday. The lads enjoyed a few light workouts last week minus the football players, who were awarded a welcomed holiday. Sessions started in earnest Monday with the "oval ballers" also in attendance. If all plans go through as expected there will be three squads, varsity, reserve, and freshmen. The idea of having a "frosh squad" is a good one for it gives first year men a chance to get plenty of experience.

Dr. "Tuffy" Gordon and his boxes of "pep" did wonders for team, fans, and cheerleaders at the Leetonia game last Thursday. The seniors played swell games as did everyone who got in the encounter. "Pinky," "Tut," "Scubby," and "Johnny" led the Quakers in their last taste of scholastic football.

Even if Phil Cozad can't practice basketball, he's at workouts with flying colors and cart. "Pidge" says just a little more than a week and the cast comes off. Glad to hear it, Phil.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

In an earlier edition of the "Quaker," I noticed on the last page an article entitled "Why Don't We" which brought about the subject of class assemblies, and I believe this is a very good idea.

Many of our students have talent but they have no way of letting others know. If we had class assemblies, the student body would appreciate the talents of others and who knows, we may have a potential movie star in our midst.

Betty Blaine

Dear Editor:

In every home room there should be an American flag hung up in front of the room. Every morning when the last bell rings the teacher of every home room should read a section of the Bible and as soon as the teacher is through the students should say the Lord's prayer and salute the flag. This has nothing to do with religion; it should be done for patriotic reasons.

A Senior.

Allah "Speed"
If Bob Feller is your cousin, if you used to live next door to Tom Harmon, or if you have shaken hands with "Tut" Guappone, don't boast about it when Mary "Speed" Byers is around or you'll really get the works. As the tale goes, young Miss Byers attended the Ohio-State-Michigan game and stayed in the same hotel as the State team. "Speed" says they were whooping it up a bit but she still exchanged several words with Columbiana's own "Sonny" Fisher.

Evading a Slavedriver
Everyone likes plenty of extra work and as that is the way certain cases, ambitious lads enter into the career as manager of various sports. If you find it very trying, reading of the many stories of "Simon LaRance", please bear with me for it saves a great deal of unnecessary hustle at "roundball" if Capt. Rance's name appears in this gazette.

Until next week I'll leave with, "The basketball players would like to go to the Junior-Senior party, too, but it seems there is a game on December 5."

GEOMETRY CLASS MAKES MODELS

Last Friday, the solid geometry class, which consists of boys only, made models for five regular polyhedrons, prizes being awarded for the two best.

The models were made of paste board with first prize going to Bill Juhn who received two freshmen pencils, and second prize Don Milligan who received one freshman pencil.

Miss McCreedy is teacher of the Solid Geometry class.

Quakers Hold To 0-0 Tie Over Leetonia Champs

Playing the part of decided underdogs, Salem High's highly improved Quakers held the mighty eleven of Leetonia to a 0-0 tie last Thursday afternoon on a muddy Reilly gridiron. Although weather conditions pointed to a listless game both teams presented fast charging, good running, and excellent tackling abilities.

John Volio and Bob Scullion, appearing in a Salem grid uniform for the last time, ended their careers in a blaze of glory as they led the locals to a startling upset of Leetonia's previously unbeaten and untied squad.

Salem's bid for a score was in the second quarter when Volio scampered 30 yards to the Leetonia 30yd. marker. The Quakers threw a successful pass from Volio to King for three yards but then failed to make a first down on three attempted line plays.

Although Leetonia threatened several times they were held by the strong Salem defense. The local forward fall performed at top speed during the entire game. "Pinky" King teamed up with "Sal" Guappone and "Tubby" Shasteen to get the majority of tackles. For the enemies it was Ernie Altomare who was the stalwart on defense. Murphy and Mango collected the main part of the Leetonia yardage.

November Has Unusual History

In the temperate regions, November, more than any other month, seems the "season of death". The Anglo-Saxons who had a way of naming things simply and picturesquely, called November the "blood month". This name refers to the killing of animals for the winter months.

November was one of the months to which the Romans never troubled themselves to give a specific name. "The ninth month" it was called and from the Latin word novem meaning nine, we get the name November. Even though it has been neglected it has had its share in the history of the United States.

Thanksgiving day, originated by the Pilgrims, falls in November. Denver became the capital of Colorado, the Armistice was signed, Congress met for the first time, the Suez Canal was opened and Lincoln made his Gettysburg address in November.

Listed on current best-seller lists in Germany: Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Many a train of thought is just a string of empties.

Song Story

"Remember me?" "I'm just a nobody from nowhere." While I'm writing this "Last Letter" "I'm playing with fire." But say listen "Daddy," just because I went out with "Jim" you're not going to "Shuffle off to Buffalo" without me. Aw listen, honey, "It's so peaceful in the country" that you can "Whistle and blow your blues away." "I understand" but "Don't just stand there, do something!" If you don't, "I guess I'll have to dream the rest." "I'll never smile again" if you don't "Hurry home" to "Mamma."

"Do you suggest he is a thief?" asked the council.

"I couldn't say he's a thief, suh," said the witness, "but if I was a chicken, I'd sure roost high!"
