

Maude Hart, 18 Years As Dean of Girls, Dies in East

Miss Maude Stanton Hart, dean of girls at Salem High school, died suddenly Monday, August 23, at the home of friends in Chestnut Hill, Mass., where she had been visiting.

Although not a native of Salem, Miss Hart spent many years here. She taught English in the High school for 20 years. For the last 18 years she has also served as dean of girls. She was a graduate of Columbia university in New York City.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Blanche Lease of Salem.

Monday Opens Association Drive in S.H.S.

Will Continue Until Sept. 19, With Cash, Installment Plans

The annual association drive in Salem High school will get under way next Monday morning and will continue until September 19. Students, however, may join until September 26.

The contest will be conducted as in former years with both the cash and installment plan available to students. Under the cash plan students may pay the $4 fee during the drive or a down payment of 50 cents and the remainder during the period of October 1 to 10.

Under the installment plan a down payment of 50 cents must be made during the contest, with the remainder being paid in installments of $1 each month until February. The installments must be paid during the first 10 days of each month.

By means of an association membership students may attend association assemblies, association party, nine basketball games, a class party, six football games, junior class play, senior class play, and three track meets. Students will also receive copies of the Quaker weekly, and the Quaker annual. The total cost of these items if figured separately is $9.75.

The home room which first reports to the office a record of 100 per cent membership receives a loving cup. Last year's winner was Mr. Lehman's home room, 210.

Winners of English, Legion Awards in Freshman Class

Jeanne Moore and Carl Ferreri were announced as winners of the American Legion awards given at the junior high school at the end of last year. Helen Haessly and Joseph Wendelsky were presented with the prizes at St. Pauls' school.

The American Legion awards are given annually to eighth grade students who, in the estimation of their teachers, show the most marked qualities of character, honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Also awarded at junior high was the Arta Dodge Snyder prize, given to the students making the most pronounced progress in English. The first prize of $15 went to William Vignovich and second prize of $10 to Paul Bancik.

Salem High Band Starts Practices in August

The Salem High school band, under the direction of Mr. C. M. Brautigam, started fall practices Monday morning, August 25th. This week, however, marching schedules were discontinued to enable new members of the outfit to try out.

4-H Girls Have Fair Exhibits

Four Salem high pupils represented their respective 4-H clubs at the Ohio State fair last week.

Rita Claire Pottorf and Jane Stamp, who belong to the Butler Sew Merrily club, demonstrated "The Milky Way to Health." Verna Freshley, also of the Butler Sew Merrily club, gave a demonstration on "Consider Your Shape."

Arlene Johnson, a member of the Winona Jolly Bunch 4-H club, entered the health contest.

Freshmen Hold Meeting Wednesday

Approximately 220 freshmen of Salem high met for the first time at a meeting at 8:30 in the auditorium yesterday.

At this meeting freshmen were told the rules of Salem high, were shown their home rooms, and became acquainted with some of their teachers.

Principal Beman Ludwig presided.

Note Of Thanks To Voters

The students and teachers of Salem public schools wish to thank the voters of Salem for their support in the recent 1.5-mill levy for the operating expenses for the public schools.

This levy will enable the Board of Education to put its financial house in order and proceed on the "pay as you go" policy for the Salem public schools.

The people of Salem always are behind the schools and their support in this instance is another evidence of that fact. This levy means that the schools will continue to offer the same quality of education as before.

THIS ISSUE GIVEN TO EVERY STUDENT

This copy of the Quaker will be given free to all students in the Salem High school and Junior High school to acquaint new students with the paper.

Next week and after, only those students who purchased association tickets or subscribe through the business manager will receive copies.

This issue was edited by Mary Byers and the following students did editorial work for it: Emma Bauman, Steve Hart, Herbert Hansell, Walter Vansickle, Joanne Zimmerman, Jackie Brown, Ruth Fldoe, Margaret Farcus, Lois Hoover, Elizabeth Bennedetti, and Dorothy Haldi.

William Dunlap, this year's business manager, took charge of the business end of the paper, aided by Charles Gibbs and Ben Ware, who helped to sell advertisements.

The students were advised by the faculty advisors, Mr. H. C. Lehman for the editorial staff and Mr. R. W. Hilgendorf for the business staff.

MISS DOUGLASS, MR. SMITH AND CLARKE LEAVE S.H.S. FACULTY

Miss Hazel Douglass and Lewis F. Smith, mathematics instructor and dean of boys, respectively, made their resignation to the Board of Education during the summer months.

Miss Douglass, veteran mathematics teacher, has been a member of the teaching staff for a number of years.

Smith, who also was athletic director, plans to secure a school position in some city on the Pacific coast.

Another teacher, R. B. Clarke, science instructor, will be missing from the teaching staff this year, having taken a year's leave of absence.

Mr. Ludwig came to Salem as Junior high principal in 1936, succeeding Williams, who at that time was promoted to the high school.

Principal Ludwig, an alumnus of Marietta college where he received both his Bachelor's and Master's degrees, is working toward his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Ohio State university. He held principalships at Martins Ferry and East Liverpool before coming to Salem.

Mr. Williams, who has been with the Salem public schools for 14 years, 5 years as high school principal, resigned to accept a similar position at the Hays junior high school in Youngstown.

New Teachers For English, Science Appointed by Kerr

Ramon Cobbs, a teacher in the Damascus schools for the past six years, has been appointed by the Board of Education to teach applied science and physics in Salem high school for the year of 1941-42. Cobbs attended Mount Union college and was graduated from Kent State university.

Also appointed by the board to fill another position in the high school this year is Miss Helen Thorpe. Miss Thorpe, a graduate of Kent State university, will teach English.

Two Salem high graduates of the class of 1937, Miss Jean Kingsley and Miss Jean McCarthy, have also been appointed by the board to serve on the faculty of Salem high. Miss Kingsley, teacher of mathematics and science, is a graduate of Wooster college. Miss McCarthy, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university, will teach English and dramatics.

MISS MILLER WEDS NAVAL AIR TEACHER

Miss Marye Lou Miller, French and science teacher in Salem High school, has resigned to become the bride of Ensign Charles W. Goldner of Warren. The wedding will take place tomorrow night.

Ensign Goldner is an instructor in the air corps of the United States naval reserve.

To A Beloved Friend And Helper

Maude S. Hart, beloved dean of girls, died on August 25, during a visit with friends at Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts.

While teaching here she worked faithfully with her students, imparting to them the priceless treasures of her knowledge.

Miss Hart having traveled extensively in England was well-versed concerning England and its literature. Thus she added much to the culture of her students.

With tender grace and understanding, Miss Hart found a place in the hearts of the girls of Salem High. But truly, all who knew her are richer because of that experience.

Yes, we the students of Salem High will miss her kind heart and helping word.

We're Glad You're Here

Having noticed the unfamiliar faces about the school (this does not include freshmen), the whole student body wishes to take this opportunity to welcome the new members of the faculty. During the coming year we will try to show our appreciation for your work and patience. This is a challenge to all Salem High students. Let's make a fresh start at the beginning of the year under the leadership of the old and new members of the faculty.

Save Your Pennies And Dollars

Today with the first full day of the new school year starts the Association Drive to get Salem High School students to realize the advantages of being a member of the association. Not only does the ticket admit one to all home games and track meet, but also to class dances, the Association party, class plays, special assemblies, and entitles the owner to his Quaker weekly and annual along with many other things.

Each year the home room reporting its 100% membership first is awarded a cup. Last year 208 won the cup. This year, see if your home room can win it.

Become A Success In 4 Easy Lessons

Dear Freshmen:

Now that you have begun your high school career, do you like it? Some of you are saying "yes" and others, "no". But regardless of the answer, you will be here for the next four years, so it is up to you to get the most out of it. Following are a few suggestions passed on by "experienced" upperclassmen.

1. Become a prominent member of your class by making yourself known as a person who can be depended upon to do his best when called upon to participate in school activities.

2. Remember that the success of the freshmen class as a whole depends upon the support of its members. Therefore, join in wholeheartedly in the efforts of your class to make money and assist with the plans for the freshman parties.

3. Join the clubs. There is such a variety of them that everyone of you will be able to find one in which you are interested.

4. And last, but certainly not least...study! Don't forget that the primary purpose of the high school is to educate the pupils. Don't just choose any subject.

BANG...

I always did like a column that started with a bang. General confusion marks the first few days while the freshmen are getting adjusted, but of course the upper classmen soon teach them the ropes, and everything is running smoothly.

After being out of circulation for two months it is rather hard to get back into the swing of things, but I will try to do my best. Any contributions or ideas will be gratefully accepted at the Q. O. For the benefit of the freshmen, that means Quaker Office, 3rd floor.

Flash...Flash

It has just been learned over the grapevine, that Fred (It couldn't last much longer) Cope and Herbert (I simply had to) Jones have purchased new cars. National defense had other uses for the old cars and would have taken them in soon anyway. It makes everybody very happy about it because now we won't have to hold our breath every time they try to start them.

MONEY-MAKER

When Zeke Steffel gets hard up for cash, he charges $25 to anyone who cares to put him out. Tyker lost some money on the bet the other day. Zeke just folds up after 10 deep breaths. When he wakes up he remembers nothing but he always gets his cash.

Drip...Drip...

Donna Haessly buried "Tooter" Lozier in a watery grave the other day. "Tooter" was calmly tying her shoe when there was a trickle down her back. She let out a blood curdling scream and turned to find Donna pouring water all over her. Kinda' drippy I'd say.

Any more Contestants?

First prize in the Screwball contest goes to Glenn (Now I am a senior) Whitacre. One day our wonder boy was in a rush to get back to work, but he had to have his gum. He put the penny in the machine, stuck his finger up the slot and turned the knob....No finger and no gum. William (I tote 'em all around) Dunlap took Whit, with the machine on his lap, to Youngstown and got him back his finger and gum. Rumor has it that the machine man was none too crazy about the set-up.

Daffy definition Blotter: Something you look for while the ink dries.

I am sure that we all are very happy to welcome the new teachers we got through the summer and we are also very sorry to see the old ones go.

We have quite a fine bunch of freshmen this year....Remember seniors Impress them with your dignity....All seniors are (supposed to be) dignified. No more of this racing through the halls before the first bell stops ringing. Seniors are invariably late to classes because of the way they saunter through the halls.

Here is a closing thought that we hope all juniors and seniors will obey....GET YOUR PROM DATES EARLY.

Fall Lineup of New Freshmen Faces

Well, here I am a senior with so many freshmen to get acquainted with. I think I will meander up to the third floor and look the situation over. My goodness, so many good looking girls. There are Mary Mullins, Pat Keener, Sally Campbell, Jean Sharp, and Phyllis Cozad.

They are something for the upperclassmen to look forward to. Over there I see Mutt Schaeffer clowning around with Bill Buehler and Bob Elyson. Almost as bad as his brother Jim. Farther on I see a group that seem to be discussing some weighty matter, such as where the soda fountain is. Someone should let Marilyn Flick, Phyllis Gross and Martha Lee Beatty in on that little secret of ours. Don Firth Jim Kelly, Don Wright, Bill Byers and Eugene Mueller will all become member of the band, so they are trying to catch a glimpse of the famed room. Every one seems to be rather bewildered by the confusion that always goes with the opening of school, especially Walter Brian and Lowell Hoperick, seen over there in heated argument.

Kidnapping, Robberies, Add Thrills to Boys' State

Concluding a 10 day vacation filled with kidnappings and numerous bank robberies, five senior boys returned to Salem understanding the principals of state government gained through actual experience at Ohio Boys' State in Columbus early in the summer. Homer Asmus, Bill Dunlap, Charles Lind, Bill Rance, and Wayne Steffel were the boys chosen at the end of last year to represent Salem high at the meeting.

Boys' State consisted of a model state with its county and city governments patterned from the form in use throughout Ohio.

A political campaign, climaxed by an election, determined who would hold the offices. Broken pledges and promises of "pork" from the "pork barrel" were featured in the lively races.

In the end, Steffel obtained the office of State Auditor, Asmus was elected to the Supreme Court, Rance was successful in his race for county commissioner of Cole county, Dunlap won a seat on his city council, and Lind was appointed chief legal examiner in the State Auditor's office. Dunlap's career was not limited to the city council. He was able to pull some "political strings" and obtained a number of positions, including the filling of a vacancy on the Supreme Court.

During the course of official proceedings, Asmus and Steffel found themselves at odds in court. It happened when the legislature cut the salary of the Supreme court judges. Since the legislature was exempt from law suits, the judges sued Steffel, State Auditor. The trial took place in the chambers of the Ohio Supreme Court before a large group of Sunday visitors. As the trial proceeded Asmus, spokesman for the Supreme Court, and Steffel engaged in frequent verbal encounters.

A number of crimes were committed in Boys' State including the kidnapping of the governor and numerous bank robberies. Steffel was a member of a gang of three who successfully held up the Boys' State National Bank.

All business ceased at 3 p. m., when the youths participated in different sports. Entertainment in the evening was furnished by assemblies. Lind and Asmus were members of the Boys' State band.

Commenting on the educational value of the trip Asmus said, "Boys' State was very instructive in the functions of government." Steffel added, "I obtained information there that I could not have received from books."

L. D. Early, Salem High English Teacher, Named Junior High Principal

Early Succeeds Ludwig As Salem Junior High Head; Holds Master's Degree from Columbia University

Loren D. Early, English and social studies teacher at Salem High school for the past six years, has been appointed principal at the Salem Junior High school to succeed Beman G. Ludwig, now principal at the high school.

During the last school year Mr. Early had two articles published in the magazine, "Ohio Schools". The articles were, "Pupils Don't Fail" and "Propaganda in the Schools."

Mr. Early, who taught in the East Palestine public schools before his appointment here, received his B. S. degree in commerce from Geneva college at Beaver Falls, Pa. and his Master's Degree in school administration from Columbia university.

Former Football Star Named as New Coach Here by Superintendent

Raymond Overturf, Alumnus of Geneva College, Takes Over Schroeder's Duties As Coach

After much discussion during the summer Raymond Overturf, former head football mentor at Geneva (O.) High, was appointed head coach of this sport at Salem High succeeding Carl F. Schroeder. Overturf has served at Geneva for the last four years in capacity as head football and basketball coach. Geneva football boasted good records for all of the four years he held the position there and two seasons ago they won the highly coveted Lake Shore crown. On the other hand records show that before Overturf came to Geneva their teams received regular beatings from the majority of their opponents.

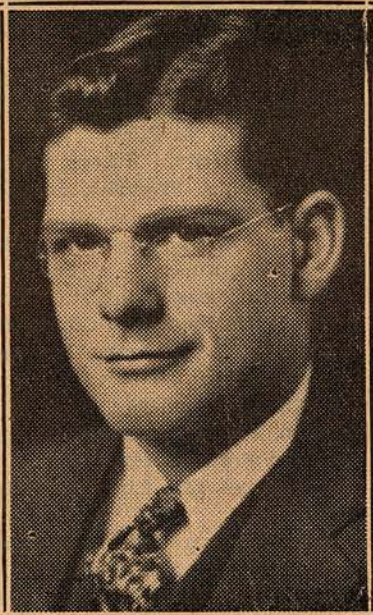

Another one of the new Salem coach's accomplishments is a championship track team in the same Lake Shore League last year. Previous to his Geneva position and his first taste of coaching was a year spent as assistant coach at Shelby (O.).

A former football star himself, Mr. Overturf began his career at Columbus North high school where he played for three years. Following high school he decided to attend Ohio Wesleyan. While going to school there Overturf starred in football for four seasons, three on the varsity and one on the freshman squad. Several honors were bestowed on him both by sports writers and by fellow players. In 1934 and 1935 he was named All-Ohio center. The next year, Overturf's senior year, he was elected captain. After graduating he received several pro football offers but decided that he would rather take up high school coaching.

Coach Overturf held the first meeting of the season early in August. He told the group of approximately 40, what plans and system would be used throughout the year. He stated that although he gave out few training rules they were important. "However, no hard and fast set of training regulations can be made for there are exceptions to all rules", he added.

Overturf concluded the gathering by passing out slips of paper on which the players were to list their age, grade, experience, etc.

About forty candidates answered his call for the initial practice on August 20. He recently cut this number to about 25 when he picked out players who would play for the Junior Varsity.

Probably the shortest book ever written would be "Who's Who in Germany."...Gamilacad.

'Sensational' Describes SHS Football Boys

This year's Quaker gridiron stars are nothing like ordinary football contestants for everything they do is sensational. In the first place, they opened up the season against two teams, not one, on Sept. 19! That's right, a doubleheader on the football field and under the lights of Reilly Stadium. The first half will be played by Salineville and the participant of the second half is yet unpicked (at this writing).

This year the higher-ups in the "pigskin outfit", namely, Coach Overturf and Faculty Manager F. E. Cope, have devised a system so ingenious and yet so simple that not one piece of equipment can be pilfered this season. (Information about this can be acquired from any manager).

The rumor that the Quakers will make their initial appearance in purple suits with an insignia of a bolt of lightning on the backs of the jerseys was (after investigation) found to be untrue. The "grapevine" is also carrying the untruth that the Salem squad will go by the name of the "Batmen."

Three of the four men that compose the probable starting backfield are "triple threat" stars. All of them are capable runners and blockers along with being better than average passers and punters.

TIME OUT

BY TYPER

This year Salem boasts a new football coach, Raymond Overturf, formerly head mentor of Geneva, Ohio, high. Frank "Tuffy" Gordon will resume his duties as assistant coach. Overturf plans to use a double wing offense this season if sufficient material is available. This brand of play will afford Quaker fans plenty of thrills for it presents plenty of both deception and passing.

All of us Indian fans seemed to have adopted the "silence is golden" saying about baseball since the Cleveland outfit did a "kiter." The "gloatin' guys" who "blew their tops" to the despairing Yank rooters at the first of the season when the Tribe began the "stove act" (hot and cold) with the heat turned on full blast are somehow not interested when baseball discussions start.

The Quaker gridders will, in my opinion, have a far better than average backfield this season. A few of the leading candidates are: Quarterback, Dick Culberson; halfback, Carmen Nocera, Phil Cozad, Anton Hrvatin, and Ralph Davis; fullback, John Volio and Dick Greene.

STATEMENT OF THE MONTH

"I got $250 for my old car," was what F. E. Cope is on record as saying when some of the boys were telling a few "fishies" a few nights ago.

Tip to Quaker Tracksters
Don't get early dates for the Prom because there is always a chance that you will qualify for the state meet and the "dates" coincide.
