

Rev. William B. Denson, From Roanoke, Virginia Speaks To Student Body

HEADS CONGREGATION OF 1,500; SPEAKS ON "THE WORLD'S GREATEST MEDICINE," IN ASSEMBLY, TODAY

The Reverend William B. Denson, Virginia Baptist Minister, spoke on "The World's Greatest Medicine" at an assembly at 11 this morning.

In his talk, Reverend Denson brought out the value of humor and a good laugh.

Reverend Denson is the pastor of the Melrose Baptist Church in Roanoke, Virginia, a large congregation with a membership of more than fifteen hundred. He has always been interested in young people and in addition to his pastoral duties he conducts a young people's society every Sunday evening. It has a membership of two hundred persons.

He is conducting evangelistic services at the Salem First Baptist Church from October 14-24.

During the assembly, special numbers were presented by the high school pupils. The student body was also led in cheers by the cheerleaders.

G.A.A. Bowling Team Formed

Now that the G. A. A. has organized, bowling every Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, has again been taken up by those interested in this sport.

Seven girls were present at the first bowling session held Oct. 6. The highest score was 134 made by Marie Vissers and the second highest was 128 by Jean Dixon.

Miss Sarah Hanna, G. A. A. advisor, who accompanies the girls, announced that she expects more girls this Monday, at least enough for two teams.

The girls are taught the correct forms of bowling by Miss Hanna who believes bowling is an excellent form of recreation. She hopes that more girls will become interested in it.

The alleys at the Masonic Temple are used.

Hinton Wins U. S. Defense Stamp

Velma Hinton, senior, won a United States Defense Stamp which was given as first prize in a contest in decorating jelly glasses, sponsored by the cooking class last week.

Miss Hinton's glass was decorated in white lace-paper doilies with blue and red ribbon wound in and out through the doilies.

Other decorated jelly glasses entered included shapes of an apple queen, bunnies, owls, baskets, some of patriotic design, colonial design, leaves, and stars.

The prize glass and many others were on display in the library show case.

35 Prospects Meet As Debate Season Gets Under Way

At a preliminary debate meeting held a week ago last Tuesday, 35 students, the largest number to come out for debate in the past few years, received instructions on how to prepare for their tryout speeches.

These speeches were given last Tuesday. At that time 50 per cent of the students were eliminated. At a later date another cut will be made so that the team will consist of 8 or 10 members.

Each year the squad joins the Ohio State High School Debate Speech league. The league debates will take place in February, the winner going to Columbus. This year's debate league question is "Resolved, That every able-bodied male citizen in the United States should be required to have one year of full time military training before attaining the present draft age."

Other activities for the year include several practice debates with nearby schools.

Members of the squad receive one-half credit for their participation in debate and a pin is awarded each one.

Mr. John Guller, debate coach, says, "This activity is one of the most helpful in school, since it teaches one to select proper material, organize it well, and present it properly to an audience."

Outline Plans For Latin Club Year

At the Latin club meeting last Tuesday, the members outlined plans for the coming year. Arrangements were made for the election of officers at the next meeting which will be held next Thursday. The club expects to produce sev-

Movie Shown To Football Squad

"The Fundamentals of Modern Football," a moving picture film distributed by the Eastman Kodak company, was shown to members of the football squad last Monday afternoon in room 305.

The picture illustrated the correct ways to pass, kick and run with the ball. Tackling and blocking a man on the opposing team were also features of the film.

Spectators Cheer Band Formations, Lighting Display

5,000 Witness Show By Band, Majorettes

Led by Homer Asmus and four prancing drum majorettes, the much improved Salem High School band marched on the field at the half time at the Salem-Struthers football game and cheers from the 5,000 spectators.

Jackie Brown, Maxine Everstine, Anna Mae Helman, and Janet Taylor, making their first appearance as majorettes, wore white costumes with red appointments. After marching the length of the field and returning to the 50 yard line, the band assembled under the recently purchased mercury arc lights. Then it proceeded to execute various routines in the darkened stadium causing the fluorescent treated cloth on the uniforms to glow brightly under the mercury lamps.

Immediately following the performance, members of the Band Boosters' club took up a collection totaling $86.

The benefit card party held by the Boosters Saturday night was also a success according to reports from president, Mrs. Arthur Lind. Originally they planned to raise only $250 for the purchase of the arc lamps, but at present they have already received approximately $275 in contributions.

Rare Flower Discovered By Sophomore

Loretta Flitcraft, sophomore, brought to biology class a monstrosity as far as flowers go, according to Mrs. M. A. Cox, instructor. The flower, a dahlia, had two blossoms on one stalk, one of which was red and the other white.

Mrs. Flitcraft noticed this particular flower last year. Thinking it quite odd she decided to plant and mark the dahlia. This year the same thing occurred on red and one white flower on each stem.

Loretta brought the flower to Mrs. Cox, who wrote a letter to Dr. Glenn W. Blaydes and Dr. David F. Filler of the Botany and Zoology departments of Ohio State university.

Drs. Blaydes and Miller were interested and asked to have a tuber of the dahlia and a specimen

HERBERT HANSELL, ANNUAL EDITOR, ANNOUNCES SENIOR PICTURE CONTRACT AWARDED TO WOLFORD STUDIO

Kerr Emphasizes School Spirit In Assembly Talk

At a pep assembly held last Friday morning, Mr. E. S. Kerr, superintendent of Salem public schools declared to the student body, that in order for a school to succeed in its educational program there is need of school spirit. He went on to say that school spirit is not only supporting the teams, but also cooperating with the faculty in carrying out the school program.

After his talk, the students trying out for cheerleaders led the students in school cheers. They were: Joe La Monica, Juanita Whaley, Agnes Kamasky, Margaret Farcus, Helen Oana, Dorothy Heim, Mary Skorupski, Bill Shoop, Betty Alexander, and Ann Cosgarea.

These ten have been coached by Mr. Moore.

Dominick Alessi, accompanied by Martin Juhn at the piano, played several selections on his accordion.

Gift of '35 Class Lost In Shuffle

In 1935, the senior class graduating from Salem High school left as a gift a $15 electric, porcelain hot plate to be used for making hot dogs and the like at the senior stand during football games. This stove has always been stored in the high school building, but so far this fall no one has been able to locate it.

A cheap burner, formerly used by the janitors for cooking their lunches, is now being used at the stand. This, when compared to the porcelain burner with its three-way switch, is rather inconvenient.

If anyone having seen the lost hot plate would inform Miss

208 Has Charge of Senior Stand for Struthers Football Game

Miss Hollett's room 208 had charge of the candy stand last Friday night. Jean Carey and Homer Asmus were the chairmen. Their helpers were Betty Blaine, Joan Bevan, Mildred Berger, Esther Bartchy, Deborah Beery, Nina Cahill, George Bodirnea, Dick Chessman, and Shirley Bohner. Mamie Equize and Mary Schimp also helped at the stand.

The schedule for the pictures which are being taken by the Wolford studio, was posted in Senior home rooms Monday and the actual picture taking began Wednesday. It is hoped that students will be able to have their pictures before the Christmas vacation.

Although no complete staff has yet been chosen for the annual June Wolford and Sidney Simon staff photographers have been taking pictures and snapshots for the past several weeks. The regular annual staff will not be chosen for some time.

Wells Explains Auroral Lights

Having written to the Carnegie Institution of Washington, asking information concerning the northern lights, Dominick Alessi, a sophomore, received an explanation from H. W. Wells, a member of that institution.

Alessi raised the question as to why auroral displays are more generally observed at the higher altitudes.

Mr. Wells who predicted the great aurora of September 18 two days before it occurred, replied that the accepted explanation is that the atmosphere surrounding the earth is bombarded by electrically charged particles from the sun. The north and south magnetic poles attract the particles so that the large portion radiates toward the poles.

He further stated that: "Only when the earth is bombarded by unusually large quantities of such corpuscles do we have an opportunity to observe aurora in the central or southern part of the United States." Such northern lights originate about eight miles above the surface of the earth.

The stripping of the atmosphere atoms and molecules of the outer electrons causes the color displays, according to Mr. Wells.

GLEE CLUB HOLDS INFORMAL MEETING

The Salem High gymnasium was filled with the aroma of cider and doughnuts last Thursday night when the Boy's Glee club had a social get-together for new members.

This year's club is considered to be one of the best ever formed here, according to club advisor Mr. J. P. Olloman. Approximately 27 new members attended the social meeting. The boys decided to have a similar meeting every year.

Orchids To The Band, Directors

Last Friday night the Salem High school band presented a spectacle at the football game that would make any resident of Salem proud of the school band.

This has been accomplished through patient practice by band members and the efforts of Mr. Brautigam, director, and Don Beatty. The Band Boosters also deserve credit for their efforts at raising funds for buying the new equipment.

We believe Mr. Brautigam, band members, and the Band Boosters should be praised on their accomplishment.

Gee, Gerty, Ain't This Fun?

"Come on, Gerty, we can get out this way. Oh, did I knock your hat off? There it is. I'll get it. Sorry I stepped on it. Here, crushed, but the dry cleaner can take that out. Am I obstructing your view of the game?"

Have you ever had this happen to you? You may enjoy the game this way, but most people do not. To have someone interrupt you in the most exciting play is very discouraging.

If you intend to leave before the game is over, sit in a place so that you will not disturb anyone that is watching the game.

Signal When You Turn

If you want to make ours a better school, try to help the other fellow.

You're running through the halls, just to get to your room before John or Mary does, and bam! You crash with another student. Books fly in every direction.

"Why don't you watch where you're going!" you growl, and pick up your books and walk away, leaving the bewildered student to pick up his books, papers and what-not.

If you had apologized and helped the pupil with his books you would have been better liked and have set a good example toward making our school better.

You, Dear People Are Inspirations

Dear Upperclassmen:

We greatly appreciate the help extended to us in the first weeks of school. However, many problems come up about which we need advice from you experienced fellows.

A freshman followed a senior to the curb in front of the school, preparing to cross the street. The senior rushed out in front of a car traveling south. The car obligingly stopped and let him pass. The freshman, supposing this the thing to do, darted out in front of another car, but this driver was not so obliging, and when the freshman finally reached the other side he found himself missing some coattails. His reception at home was nothing we can dwell upon, but we want to ask you the correct procedure for getting to the other side of the street, and what explanation should be given to "Mom" when you don't quite make it.

We always will strive to act as you act, and do as you do, just as we appreciate the spirit you use in being our examples.

Freshly yours,

Collegiate Touch Seen In Newest Salem High Fads

As we gaze around the stately portals of S. H. S. we notice the collegiate pattern observed by many of the boys and girls.

Terry Atkinson quickly grasped the school spirit by wearing a corduroy hat representing Salem's colors. Herb Hansell's v-neck sweaters add a collegiate touch to his rather flashy shirts. Bill Hannay adds the original note by wearing Ginny's sweater and Pat's suspenders.

This year the girls sweaters are longer than ever before. We note with interest the v-neck sweaters and gayly plaid skirt worn by June Wolford. Mary Byers seems to have been a "goner" for these v-neck sweaters as she has almost every color imaginable.

Outside the school we see Carol Jaeger adding the girlish touch to her outfit by wearing one of the brightly colored hats with the braid down the side.

Also noticeable, are the hair styles worn by the co-eds. "Bangs" seem to be the most common with Sis and June making them an outstanding favorite.

"To be in style, look a little untidy and yet well groomed," seems to be the motto of every high school boy and girl.

Girls' "Suitcases", Alias "Purses", Are Amazing Specimens

Have you noticed those odd colored suitcases the fairer sex have been dragging around school lately? If you want to get technical they can be classified as oversized pocketbooks.

In case you want to get a "sneak preview" of the contents in general, pull up an ear and listen. One of the more conspicuous articles is a "hula" dancer some sentimental associate won at the Apple Festival. She still carries around her Roosevelt and Willkie campaign buttons. Willkie was so handsome and Roosevelt had such a sweet voice, she was impartial during the last election. Also to be found is a miniature "coke" bottle with a cake of artificial ice to keep it cold.

Mickey Rooney and Spencer Tracy's pictures have choice positions in the mirror-pocket. The latest copy of True Confessions featuring "Why I Left the Farm" by Hilda Sticks is folded up in the bottom of the traveling bag. Of course, she has those essential beautifying aids crammed in somehow.

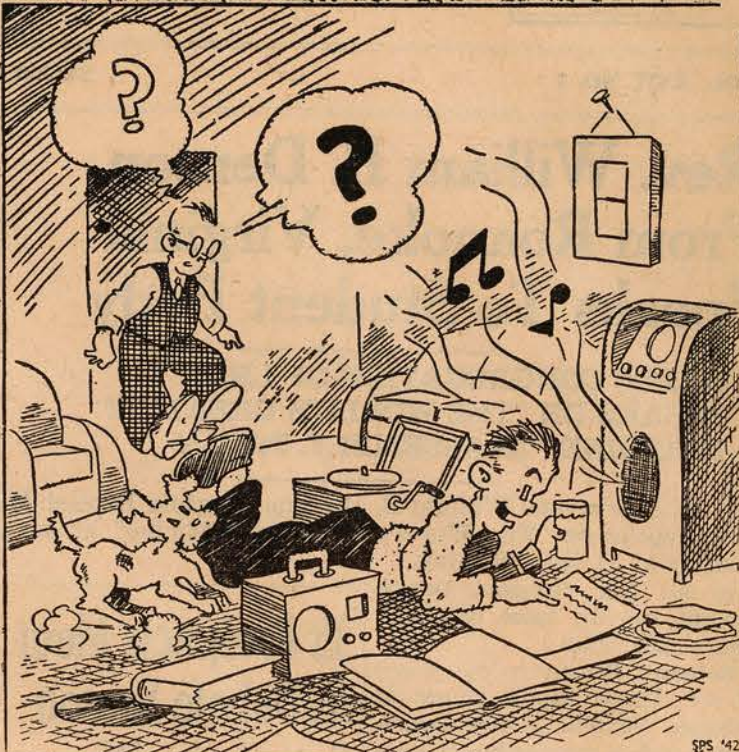

But try as you may, however, you'll never find any practical article such as a combination jack knife, bottle opener, screwdriver, and compass stowed in the depths of their purses.

tions, and language of the ancient Romans", said Miss Helen Redinger, club supervisor.

The students who participated in the club work last semester and wish to continue are eligible for membership this year.

"First year students with A or B average will be allowed to join the club at a later date," announced Miss Redinger.

How To Bring Up Those Grades

The Hoover Sweeper

I GET ALL THE DIRT

By Lois Hoover

If all of the blackouts in the world were as beautiful and as peaceful as the one the Band gave last Friday night at the football game we would not have war.

PRESS MANAGER???

I wonder who the press agent for the football players is. They had a marvelous write-up in the Salem News and it said that they played like professionals. Truer words were never spoken. We really have something to be proud of in the team if they win, lose, or draw. The upset of the week was Liverpool being beaten by New Philadelphia. After they play us they always seem to lose. This always makes Mr. Cope happy.

WHAT AGAIN!!!

Every week there is a football game "Percy" Vansickle seems to be in some sort of a mess. If he isn't leading the cheering section he is trying to get donations for something or other but last Friday his actions took the cake. . . . He bought an ice-cream cone and started to eat it. Bob Moore took it and crushed the cone and the ice-cream fell on the floor. A loyal fan bought Percy another one and he proceeded to eat it. It was crushed again but the ice-cream stayed in his hand, and so he sat on the edge of a car and finished the ice-cream, calmly licking it out of his hands. Just because it was Sanitary Ice-Cream he thought he was justified in eating it in such a way.

OUT OF ESQUIRE?????

The other day I saw Bill Hannay walking up the street with a lovely girl's sweater on. Then over the sweater he had on a pair of Tyclean suspenders that he had borrowed from someone else. By this time I imagine that everyone has signed his name in Bill's new phone book. If you haven't, you should at least ask to see it. You can get them at a premium somewhere or other for 10 wrappers of lye soap and a note saying that you have used this soap all of your life. Try it. . . .

Tomorrow is "Apple" Bloor's birthday and so this morning in home-room "Zeke" Steffel and "Buck" Ritchie walked into "Apple's" room with a large box all decorated. When it was opened it was a large red apple with the loving sentiment of . . . With all our love to "Apple" from "Zeke" and "Buck." Now that "Apple" is seventeen he will soon shave.

Lots of the upper classmen have their Prom dates but it is a little early for them to be published. But come on and get dated-up so we can have a bang-up affair. Everyone looks forward to the Prom and it will be the last one for the seniors so we don't want to have anyone left out.

In a certain study hall "Zeke" Steffel, Buck Ritchie, "Apple" Bloor, "Mouse" McGhee, Bill Rance and "Iggy" Moore have a set of hand signals that they use. Every so often you see a hand dart out and some signal is made and then someone answers it, with some more wig-wagging. Maybe they are practising to be railroad men or surveyors.

By special request I am mentioning the names of two junior boys that seem to be creating quite a stir in S. H. S. since they have become acquainted with everyone and everyone has become acquainted with them. They are none other than Arthur Schieb and Calvin Smith. If you haven't met them or seen them, see that you do. Smith comes from good old Lisbon High and Schieb was the mayor of his class in the old school. Too bad he wasn't mayor of Boys' town.

Salem Gridders To Tangle With Wellsville 'Tigers' In Annual Fray

QUAKERS, FRESH FROM STRUTHERS VICTORY, WILL MEET WELLSVILLE UNDER MAZDAS OF NICHOLSON FIELD

Coach Raymond Overturf's highly improved Salem High football eleven will meet Wellsville's gridiron squad tonight at Wellsville under the lights. Fresh from a 24-6 win over Struthers, the Quakers will have a slight edge over their county rivals. Wellsville will be seeking revenge for the 6-0 setback at the hands of Salem they received last yar.

Holdovers from last years first team include Jackson, a lanky all-county end, and Culp, who plays a bang-up game at center. It is unknown whether Coach Jasper, the Bengals' new coach, uses the fast reverses of last year's grid-ders or a driving game.

The Quakers proved themselves to be a team of high calibre last week when they came back after the defeat at the hands of East Liverpool mighty Potters to wallop the Big Red of Struthers. Linking a steady defense with a sensational running and passing attack the Quakers looked as if they were ready for any and everybody. Scullion and Volio made consistent

Quakers Trample Struthers, 24-6, In Friday's Game

Scullion Leads Scoring Against Struthers Big Red

Playing their best game of the year so far, the Salem High Quakers unleashed a vicious attack as they walloped Struthers 24-6 last Friday night at Reilly Stadium. Presenting Salem fans with a truly great offense, the Salem gridders completed 15 of 25 attempted passes which netted them 314 yds.

Bob Scullion led the scoring for the locals, tallying 3 of their four touchdowns. Salem's opening drive went to approximately the 20 yd. stripe and when the Quakers failed to gain, Glenn Weigand attempted a field goal which was low and no good. After the ball was returned to Salem they drove to the 28 yd. line and Scullion took a lateral pass from John Volio and scampered over for a score. Weigand's try for the extra point was no good. Scullion also scored the second "six pointer" when he took a pass from Volio in the first quarter and hit pay dirt. Weigand's attempted conversion was no good.

In the second period Scullion added his third touchdown to the Salem score by running 60 yards for a touchdown behind the beautiful blocking of several Quakers. Salem attempted a trick pass for the extra point but it was no good and the score remained 18-0, Salem.

Struthers made their lone tally in the third quarter when Volio fumbled deep in Salem territory and the visitors recovered. A twelve yard dash by Novotny put the ball on the 9 yd. marker. The

TIME OUT

By TYKER

Last Friday night some 5,000 fans came to Reilly Stadium for two purposes. The first was to see Salem High's Quakers perform against the Big Red of Struthers and the second was to watch the newly acquired lighting system of the S. H. S. band. Both performed credibly. The Quakers won 24-6 and the band received the greatest ovation ever awarded a local high school musical organization.

"Golden Toed Glenn" Weigand who played a good game in his first starting assignment this season, got quite a "ribbing" and of all the people by a 6 year old neighbor boy. It seems as if "Wigs" young friend attended the game Friday night and cheered him on to greater heights to no avail for the hefty lineman failed to convert any extra points. Saturday morning who appeared at "Wigs" home but the young fan with a can of spinach in his hand and said, "Here, Glenn, eat this before next week's game and you'll make some of those kicks good." (My comment, ha-ha!)

Salem, in the game against Struthers, combined the strong offense displayed in the first two contests with the defensive punch used against East Liverpool. Almost the entire Quaker squad saw action in last week's contest. Completing 15 of 25 passes attempted, the Overturf squad showed considerable ability to gain on aials. Volio to King was heard of frequently and it even hit pay dirt once in the fourth quarter.

When Scullion ran 60 yd. for a touchdown, "Bird" Culberson presented the fans the blocking gem of the game.

Let's see—25 minus 24 equals one, plus 6 equals 7, incidentally that's the closest I've come this year. Now that I'm getting warmed up I'll just tell you the exact score this week. Salem 18. Wellsville-7

Wellsville has as center, Culp, a small griddler but a vicious tackler. Along with Culp they boast Jackson an all-county end and a holdover from last year's squad. Campbell, left halfback of the county rivals, is not the star back that played last year. Last season's star is playing first string halfback for Youngstown college.

Youngstown South and Alliance lost over the weekend, and Lisbon won. In case you're wondering who beat the Aviators it was none other than Massillon High Tigers. Another game over the weekend was an upset by New Philadelphia over East Liverpool. Alliance takes New Philly on tonite. This should prove to be a good game.

The center of Struthers, Gordon, sure was a tough defensive lad. Ray Reasbeck, who announces the Quaker home games, should have got accustomed to saying the lineman's name for he made the great majority of tackles for the Big Red.

Well until next week, if you Quakers play the way you did last week, we'll make it two years in a row.

Reflections Of A Lighter Note

Mystery Mr.

Tall, dark, n' handsome is what they call him. This weeks S. H. S. lad is a dignified? senior and seems to have that certain something about him that scores him as a little bit of all right. Being the possessor of many friends, he can usually be found with one of the gang either at school or in one of the local hangouts.

This kid toots a mean trumpet in the S. H. S. band once again this year and has an incurable habit of "hangin on the notes," that sends chills up n' down the backs of everyone in general.

His secret delight is dating a certain very popular junior lass whenever he can get a night off from "work," tho it's a proven fact no one has ever seen him working.... or is it.

We all agree on one point tho, and that is ..you're O.K. Mystery, Mr. Johnny Botu.

The Mystery Miss

"The gal with the classy chasis" is the description this junior lass answers to.

Bubbling over with vim n' vigor n' stuff is the way she usually is when we meet her at the hangout. She's one of the "Modernettes Mob" and when she can't be found with them she's on a date with one of her numerous heart throbs.

Being somewhat easy to look at, she rates pretty high 'round town and...out of town too, we hear. It's just been flashed thru the grapevine that she's been seen with this week's Mystery Mr. a good bit lately and we wonder.

Fudge sundaes seem her greatest desire for after school or any other time she can be found devouring one with a satisfied gleam in her eye.

What...you don't know who she is?!! Why it's our old pal Carol Jaeger, of course.

Wellsville has been defeated by New Philadelphia, Bellaire, and Toronto and has posted a win over Scienceville in games up to date. Their most recent game was against Toronto which they lost 2-0. Thus their record stands at 3 losses and 1 victory against Salem's 3 wins and 2 setbacks. The Tigers have racked up only 15 points in their 4 contests. While on the other hand Salem has scored 74 points in five games, being shut out only by East Liverpool.

By a series of comparative scores the Jaspermen are 19 points better than Salem, having been de-

Quakers Win Over Big Red

Quaker line made a gallant attempt to hold but then Renstrum scored from the 1 yd. stripe.

Salem's last score came in the fourth quarter when Frank King took a long pass from Volio and evaded two "would-be" Struthers tacklers to boost the total to 24 to 6 in favor of Salem.

Had the game been closer, the meant more. As it was, Salem Quakers which gave the Struthers-ites 95 charity yards may have meant more. As it was Salem wasn't in trouble but twice. The first when the Big Red drove deep into Salem territory only to be stopped by the game Quaker line. The second time netted the Struthers their only score. This touch-down came on the fourth down after the locals had held for three downs.

Acting captain "Pinky" King played one of the best games of his career both offensively and defensively. He combined with John Volio on offense to give coach Overturf's lads an always dangerous passing attack and also on defense together with plucky little Volio they linked to be the stalwarts on stopping the Struthers backs.

Because of the efficiency and spirit that the entire Salem squad showed it was very difficult to single out any one boy. From end to end and quarterback to fullback, the entire Salem eleven, both first stringers and substitutes showed up very well. Pass interceptions were numerous by the Quakers and proved that the early season pass defense which was termed weak is no longer faulty.

There were cheerleader tryouts for the home rooms last Monday. Today there was a seventh and an eighth grade assembly to choose two cheerleaders to represent each class.

There are 441 pupils enrolled in Junior High this year. Among them are 352 association members, and 186 bicycle riders.

At an assembly for eighth graders last Friday afternoon, a moving picture, "The Modern Football Fundamentals," was shown.

The Junior Varsity played Warren there Friday, October 10. Four Junior High boys made the trip. They were:

Munson Thorpe 8F, Don Mayhew 8F, Don Heim 8B, Perry Hilliard 8E.

J. V. Loses Game

The Jay Vees lost their initial football game to Warren East Junior high last Friday afternoon, 32-6.

Ed Koesich of Warren made the first touchdown after recovering a fumble made by the Jay Vees and plunged through center for the touchdown.

The six pointer scored by Salem was made by Dan Kleon who ran 55 yards around right end to pay dirt. Other Warren touchdowns made the score at the end of the half, Warren 26-Salem 6.

During the second half Warren made another touchdown which was scored by Elick.

This afternoon the Jay Vees will encounter East Liverpool at Reilly stadium. Coach Lehwald says that the squad will be in better condition this afternoon than last week.

What's Your Ambition?

INQUIRING REPORTER

Realizing that the students of S. H. S. are of a most ambitious type, your reporter decided to find out about some of their ambitions. For instance:

Dale Wykoff, better known as "Scoop", has decided that one way to get ahead in the world is to be a street-car conductor and—tell people where to get off.

Louise Hanna, questioned after a very trying chemistry period said that, at present, the foremost thing in her mind is betting with Prof. Jones and WINNING a milkshake. Gene McArtor, caught in the same position as the preceding victim, claimed that she would like to know a great deal about science.

Proving to be a particularly ambitious person, Herb Gross answered that he wants to be a doctor, but for awhile he'd like to concentrate on blowing a glass bubble in chemistry lab.

After several moments hesitation, Bill Haessly stated that he wasn't quite sure, but there is one thing he is sure he doesn't want to be—president of the United States—because there's no room for advancement.

"No! Old car, new top."
