

Nominations For Class Officers Scheduled For Tuesday Morning

PRINCIPAL BEMAN G. LUDWIG ANNOUNCES NOMINATIONS WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY MORNING

Students of Salem High will nominate class presidents and secretary-treasurers on Tuesday morning. At that time, each sophomore, junior and senior will be given a list of the entire class enrollment on which he will circle two names. Opposite one name he will put "president" and opposite the other, "secretary-treasurer."

Each home room will take its votes and then send the total to the class adviser.

Any nominee who receives a majority of votes will be automatically declared elected.

In the final elections, the candidate receiving the second largest number of votes for president will become vice-president.

The editors of the Quaker weekly and annual, Mary Byers and Herbert Hansell, respectively, and Bill Dunlap, business manager of the weekly and annual, are not eligible for any class offices.

The freshman class, however, will use a different method. Each home-room will select one candidate for each office from that homeroom. After the votes have been counted the nominees will be presented to their class at an assembly. Candidates for the presidency will give short talks pertaining to the school.

In the election, the same method as that in the three upper classes will be used.

Psychologist Is School Visitor

Dr. Wilda Rosebrook, psychologist from the bureau of special and adult education at Ohio State University, spent all of last week in the Salem schools.

As consulting psychologist, Dr. Rosebrook's services to public schools were made available by Ohio State University.

On Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Rosebrook addressed Salem teachers of grades one to three on the subject, "Pupil's Readiness to Enter School." Among other things, she emphasized the fact that because a child is six years of age is no evidence that a boy or girl is ready to start to school.

Practically all of her time in Salem schools was spent in consulting with pupils and teachers as to how the school can best serve pupils' needs.

PRINCIPALS ATTEND AUTUMN CONFERENCE

A number of principals of the Salem schools attended the sixth annual autumn conference on education called by the State Department of education, and held at Columbus last Friday and Saturday.

Among the speakers were Mr. Kenneth C. Ray, director of education, and the honorable John W. Bricker, Governor of Ohio. The theme of the conference was, "Education for Defense."

Debaters Chosen By Coach Guiler For New Team

Tryout speeches for Debate were held Tuesday night by Debate Coach Mr. Guiler. Judging the speeches were Mr. J. C. Guiler, Miss Jean McCarthy, and Mr. A. V. Henning.

To be eligible for the debate team it was necessary to write a three minute speech for the debate topic and in debate form.

Because of the large number who tried out this year, Mr. Guiler has decided to make the squad larger than ever before.

From those who gave tryout speeches, Mr. Guiler has chosen as his debate team this year, Herbert Hansell, Ruth Sinsley, Mary Ciricosta, Herbert Gross, Maxine Everstine, Irene Oana, Dick Chessman, Joe Kupka, and Dick Butler.

The question that will be debated by the team is, "Resolved: that every able-bodied male citizen in the United States should have one year of full-time military training before attaining the present draft age."

Salem High Alumni Active; Keys Transferred To Africa

Gordon Keyes, graduate of Salem High in 1933, has been transferred from his post as aerial "truck driver" at the Middleton Air Depot, Middleton, Pa., to the employ of the Pan American Airways. He is one of a number who will leave the United States sometime in the next few weeks to fly to "somewhere in Africa", where they will establish an air base for the airway company. They will fly to Africa via a southern route on the giant four-motored clipper pictured on the front of this week's Life magazine.

Lt. Keyes was graduated a year ago from Kelly Field, Texas where he received the rank of second lieutenant in the United States Reserve Army Air corps. While attending Salem High he was captain of the football team and president of his class for all four years.

Jane Metzger is now working in the Editorial Consumers Union, New York City. She is a graduate of Smith college, class of '41 and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa,

Journalists Attend First Tri-County Meeting At Niles

Quaker Editorial, Business Staffs Hear Fiction Editor

At the year's first meeting of the Tri-County Journalism association, which was held at Niles on Tuesday evening, October 14, Mr. Burton Benjamin, a fiction editor of the National Editorial association in Cleveland, spoke to the members of the staffs of high school papers concerning his work. Mr. Benjamin related a number of interesting incidents connected with newspaper work. Of particular interest to most of the delegates was the story of how comic strips are written and published. Mr. Benjamin also told some stories of different reporters he had known, and of their experiences.

The plan of the meeting was centered around the idea of a draftee camp. The entire program was carried on in military form.

During the meeting, round table discussions were held for each phase of staff work. After these discussions, a delegate from each group reported what had taken place during each discussion. Mary Byers, editor of The Quaker, was appointed to tell what took place in the discussion of "Editor's Problems".

After the meeting, "mess" was served and dancing was enjoyed in the gymnasium.

Those attending from Salem were Charles Gibbs, Wayne Steffel, Jean Warner, Irene Fratila, Dick Burcaw, Sidney Simon, Bill Dunlap, and Ray Corrigan from the business staff; and Walter Vansickle, Steve Hart, Lois Hoover, Mary Byers, Jean Reeves, Herbert Hansell, Arthur Hoover, and Art Scheib of the editorial staff, and Mr. Lehman, adviser of the editorial staff.

Schools Close For N.E.O.T.A. Meeting Held Tomorrow

"EDUCATION'S ROLE IN THE DEFENSE OF DEMOCRACY" IS THEME FOR TEACHERS CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

"Education's Role in the Defense of Democracy" will be the theme of the 72nd annual N. E. O. T. A. convention to be held in Cleveland, tomorrow. Salem public schools and public schools throughout northeastern Ohio will be closed to enable all teachers to be present. The purpose of the meeting is to promote a more general understanding of teaching methods now in use and acquaint members with new developments in the field of education.

Band to Perform Under New Lights For Second Time

The Salem High School Band will present another performance using the newly purchased ultra violet light, during the period between halves of the Salem-Youngstown South game tonight.

Mr. Brautigam, director, announced that the uniforms will be trimmed differently, and that the decorations will continue to be changed for each home game. Tonight, the band as a whole will be decorated in two different colors using horizontal stripes to give a somewhat solid effect in circle formations.

One of the highlights of the performance will be the band, led by Homer Asmus, drum major and the majorettes, Janet Taylor, Jackie Brown, Anna Mae Helman and Maxine Everstine, doing a waltz step to the tune of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Myths, Vocabulary Contests Featured At Latin Club Meetings

Myths and vocabulary contests are to be the main features of the Latin club for the next few meetings.

At the last meeting plans were discussed for decorations to be prepared especially for the interest of freshman. Dale Wykoff and Bill Benson will have charge of the bulletin board in 312. Deryl Stowe and Elizabeth Stewart will have charge of collecting sales tax, which is to be continued this year.

Miss Helen Redinger, club adviser, says, "This year's club will be very progressive, for the members are entering in with hearty cooperation."

Industrial Arts Classes Exhibit Work

In the library display case this week, the Industrial Arts classes exhibited the product of their first experiences in working with wood. The display consisted of jewel boxes of different types made by the boys in Mr. Wagstaff's man-

Dale R. Rice, president of the group, will open the convention with an address of welcome at 9:00 a. m. in the Cleveland Public Auditorium. Following the welcome the Cleveland orchestra under the direction of Rudolph Ringwall will play various selections. Dr. R. B. von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, will be the main speaker of the morning.

In the afternoon, numerous department meetings are to take place. The Singers Club of Cleveland, directed by Boris Goldovsky, will open the evening session with a group of songs by noted composers. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman of Christ church, New York City, will address the group later in the evening.

E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, and Helen Throp, English teacher, were members of the Committee on Resolutions which met at Hotel Cleveland a week ago Saturday. The function of the committee is to formulate resolutions to be presented at the convention for vote.

An estimated crowd of 14,000 is expected to attend.

Sophomores Sponsor Show

The highly publicized micro-variety perfected by Dr. George Roemmert was presented in an assembly by the sophomores last Wednesday morning at 8:45. The price of admission was ten cents, and those who did not wish to attend were scheduled to a study hall. The drive on the sale of tickets by the sophomore class was highly successful according to Mrs. Cox, class sponsor.

Having spent twenty years perfecting the equipment to display the wonders of his microscopic zoo, Dr. Roemmert gave an highly entertaining and instructive lecture.

Hot Plate Returned

"Thanks to the article in the Quaker last week the Senior hot-plate came back Monday morning," stated Miss Ethel Beardmore, senior class adviser. It seems the Hi-Y ran the stand last year and the stove had been taken to Mr. Herbert Jones' department after the field meet and it had been

Glory Or Gloom

Once again a new six weeks rolls around, and with it comes another chance for redemption. As you look back over the past six weeks, are you proud of the record you have made? of your accomplishments? Or must you hang your head in shame at the thought of your failure?

Starting a new grade period is just like turning over a new leaf—a blank one with no bad marks on it. It offers a chance for all who really want to bring up low grades to do so.

So regardless of your report card this week, whether it spelled glory or doom, take advantage of this new period and resolve to do better.

Green Eyes That Haunt Me

Jealousy is one of the most dangerous destroyers of happiness and of friendship, yet it is perhaps one of the feelings most frequently felt by all of us. It is natural to want to be as good as something as someone else, but it is not natural for us to want to get back at a person just because we do not surpass him in our work. When we feel the pang of jealousy, we are apt to say and do things which we are sorry for later, but which hurt those to whom we say them. A person who has learned that he can curb this feeling if he wants has taught himself a valuable lesson which most of us have not yet learned.

If you are one who is subject to jealousy and wishes to overcome it, try the following rule: Do your best at each thing you try, then if someone surpasses your work you will have, instead of a feeling of jealousy, a feeling of satisfaction.

Familiar High School Custom

"Jeanie, do you have your history questions finished? You do? May I copy them?"

Does this remind you of anything? Many boys and girls depend on the person next to them for all their work, never realizing that in this way they are cheating themselves as well as the person they have borrowed from. Later on in life, when you are doing an important job there won't be any one who can do your work for you. Why not start good habits now and acquire self-respect which will set you apart from the common cheater? When the time comes for you to do your job, you'll be able to do it alone and be the better for it.

Guess He Forgot His Staff Of Life

The Doorwayman

The wind was a torrent of darkness among the gusty trees,
The moon was a ghostly galleon tossed upon cloudy seas,
But all Butch could think of were his poor little bruised knees.

Again he tried opening the window,
Again it was locked and barred;
He then tripped over the garbage can,
And both clattered and crashed in the yard.

And dark in the dark old inn-yard
a Stable wicket creaked,
If Butch had looked at his face,
He would have seen it dirty and streaked.

His eyes were hollows of madness,
His hair like moldy clay,
Oh, why hadn't he washed it?
He'd had hot water that day.
Ah, he was in, but where was it?
It should be there by the cot,
He had come forty miles to get it,
And that was sure walking a lot..

He searched the room and the hall,
He looked and looked, and then some,
There it was on the wall
He'd forgotten his chewing gum.

Lingo Puzzles Parents As Witches Go Shin-Cracking

In Mexico it's "yo te quiero," the French say "je vous aime," and the English whisper, "I love you," but when a wolf calls his witch "goon-child," that's pure unadulterated American. But definitely!

Simple adjectives of the past generation, such as "nice," "pretty" "swell" "good", didn't satisfy the modern youths so they literally coined their own.

Today "swell" has given in to "smooth", "super", "adequate", or "genial", "witch", or "hag" correspond to girl; while other odd expressions have become obsolete since the advent of "drool", "mugbug", "drip", "B. U." and "zombie".

These are just a few of the many that baffle parents and cause teachers to wonder. This lingo belongs to today's youth just as much as "hot stuff", "swell", and "skip it" were part of the high school in the twenties.

So if you really want to please the younger generation just say, "Come on, cookie, gab your whing-ding and let's go shin crackin', that band is sendin' but good, and I ain't hummin'."

I GET ALL THE DIRT

By Lois Hoover

Oh happy day. . . . No school tomorrow and that means that everyone can get out and rake the leaves and have one fine day to rest up from all the tests that we have been having.

CAN YOU HELP???

Miss Irene Schmidt of 210 had a lovely angora kitten, one of those soft lovey ones, but Sunday it disappeared and has not returned yet. If any of you have an angora kitten that is still in the cuddling stage Irene would appreciate it very much if you would tell her about it and perhaps you could make some arrangement.

NUMBSKULL???

At one of the football games one of the boys missed a pass thrown at him. Ray Greenisen (believe it or not a junior) said, "If he had only caught that pass he would have made a homerun." Maybe he was thinking of the poor Dodgers at the time.

DRESS PARADE. . .

For the past week all of the boys and girls have been dressed up in their Sunday best and it has worried a few of the underclassmen. They were all rather astonished to see suits and dresses after the usual baggy pants and saggy sweaters. The real reason for the dressing up is that senior pictures are being taken and everyone wants to make the birdie smile.

NEED GLASSES. . .

If at sometime during the last week you have walked through the hall and seen spots before your eyes don't rush down and get glasses. All it is, is young Jay Hanna, a freshman, with his pants that have every color in the rainbow in them.

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK. . .

Probably a lot of you have noticed cute little Grace Pales, a freshman, by now, but if you haven't you should. She has brown hair and adorable bangs. Her clothes are those classic sweaters and skirts worn by the casual high schoolers. She plays the piano, and is a drummer in the high school band.

NEED ANY POINTERS???

The cooking classes have been studying a unit on school lunches and what to send to soldiers when they have a brother or otherwise in the army. If any of you need some lessons in this just come down and watch us. We pack the boxes to the soldiers and then eat them. Many of the girls are looking for the nearest recruiting station.

REMEMBER???

Probably a lot of you remember Bob Thompson. He used to live in Salem but now he is in Youngstown. He is drum-major of South's band and can really step. He and Homer Asmus are both Methodist ministers' sons and they are both drum-majors. Must be something they have.

Quakers To Face Youngstown South In Game Tonight

YOUNGSTOWN SOUTH SQUAD INVADES HOME TERRITORY FOR GAME AT STADIUM; STAR PLAYER, JEFFRIES, BACK IN LINE-UP

Salem High's Quakers will play host to a strong Youngstown South grid squad at Reilly stadium tonight under the lights. The Quakers will be on the rebound from a 24-0 upset at the hands of the Wellsville Tigers. South notched an 18-6 win over Girard on their fine season's record last week.

The visitors will bring a team which they boast as one of the best to come from South High in recent years. In spite of the absence of Rouse, star back of the team who is out for the rest of the season due to injuries, the South lads will present a strong running and passing as well as a good defensive team. Weighing on the average of approximately 175 lbs. per man, the Youngstowners will have the edge in weight over the Salem eleven.

Three of the starting backfield men for South are passers. They run their plays from a short punt formation and occasionally use the double wing back. De Micheale, one of the ace backs on the squad, has the ability to pass on the run very effectively. The invading squad has an excellent punter.

It was thought for a while that Jeffries, who has run wild in previous games, would be unable to play because of injuries, but he was kept out of last week's encounter and will be in shape for tonight's game.

Salem will present a slightly revamped starting line up after the Wellsville defeat. Ruffing may get the call at tackle over either Wei-

Quakers Lose To Wellsville Tigers In Friday Contest

Weight Disadvantage, Blocked Punts Cause Quaker Loss, 24-0

Coach Ray Overturf's Salem High eleven suffered its worst defeat of the season at the hands of the Wellsville Tigers last Friday night in Wellsville, 24-0. Despite gains early in the game, Salem, failed to threaten seriously throughout the later part of the game. This was probably due to the fact that Scullion, whom the Quakers depend on for the greater part of their yardage, was out of the game with a leg injury. He is a leader on defense as well as offense. The absence of the leading ground gainer seemed to dull the play of the Salemites.

One bright spot of the game was the bang-up game played by "Tubby" Shasteen. He has showed top form so far this season and also in last Friday night's contest. Presenting the locals with a fast and hard charging line and a smooth working passing attack, the Tigers looked very impressive. Wellsville's first score came on a blocked punt which Kraft fell on in the second quarter. This and other blocked punts proved to be the main factors of the Quaker defeat. Wellsville also had a heavy weight advantage over the home team.

Campbell, shifty left halfback of Wellsville, added the second touchdown at the start of the fourth quarter on a 39 yd. sprint to pay dirt. Two other Tiger drives in the final period were climaxed by short bucks by quarterback, Erwin.

TIME OUT

By TYKER

Today is a gala occasion, not only being Thursday and the last school day of the week but also the day when a certain football team is going to repent and defeat Youngstown South. Oh, but that's right, that prediction stuff is a thing of the past.

The highly underrated "clawless" Tigers of Wellsville looked "sharp as a razor" last Friday when they defeated the locals, 24-0.

Those Reilly field annex "round ball" courts seem to be the spot where several S. H. S. netters are rounding into shape. Ed Fisher and Luke Frost work out quite often. Along with them some of the boys include "Buck" Ritchie, "Sneezy" Snyder, and "Kootie" Kautz.

Lisbon won last Saturday afternoon in a really muddy game. You've all seen the pictures in life of the wrestlers performing in mud. Well, the Sebring and Lisbon teams looked as if they just finished a little bit of the same. Alliance added another victory to their string, over the week-end by walloping Cleveland John Hay, 33-0.

It was tough luck that "Scubby" Scullion got hurt last week. At this writing it is not known whether he will be able to play or not. "Toots" Nocera received some bad bumps on the ribs but he is expected to be able to go in top form.

The "5 and 10" ought to pay Dan Oana for displaying their merchandise. Did you ever see "Dangerous" when he didn't have 2 or 3 of those football pins on?

Mary Byers was watching the local gridders go through some of their plays one night at practise. It seems as if the boys in the team were talking it up a bit. Pops up Mary, "Who's this Harmon they're talking about on the team?" Some bright bystander enlightened her to the fact that it was "Harmon" Nocera just back from Michigan.

OPEN LETTER TO SOME SPORTS

Mr. Changeable Fan:

I didn't know that school spirit was booing the team after they get beat. If they win, it's swell, but if they lose it's just something to yell about. The team wants to win just as much as you want them too, so don't make it worse by booing them when they lose.

P. S. If your emotions run away from you, you better be more careful where you let them go.

Well until next week, Woodrow Wilson knocked South's appercart over once so that proves it can be done again, Quakers.

Jay Vees Defeated By Leetonia

The Salem Junior Varsity received its second set-back of the season at the hands of the Leetonia Jay Vees at Reilly field on October 16. The Leetonia squad showed powerful line drives and aerial attacks, and the backfield was shifty and fast.

In off-season, Duco, the versatile Leetonia backfield ace does almost everything from track to basketball. His shifty runs around end were good for 25 yards on two separate attempts to score their twelve points.

The Salem offense did not seem to click against the visitors so the final score was Leetonia, 12, Salem, 0.

The Junior Varsity lost a 33 to 0 decision from Salineville Friday evening. This is the same team that the Salem Quakers previously defeated early in the season 13-0.

Th J. V. were outweighed and out-played during the entire four quarters. The last half Salineville succeeded in tallying but once, and make good the conversion.

The Salemites threatened to score once, late in the third frame, when they gained some yardage up to the 13 yard stripe, but failed to advance again, and gave the ball up on downs.

The score by quarters:

Cheerleaders At Junior High Chosen This Week

The home room cheerleaders were chosen Monday, October 13.

They are as follow: 8A—Ruth Dales, Ed Maxson. 7A—Mary Bojnansky, Jean Headrick; 8B—John Sharp, John Stoita; 7B—Betty Rayniak, Joanne Wise; 8C—Jacqueline Troll, Dick Edgerton; 7C—Arnold Flick, Carl Wickline; 8D—Herbert Faxon, Olga Equise; 7D—Betty Cosgereia, Lee Sproat; 8E—Velma O'Neil, Keith Sidinger; 7F—Scott McCorkhill, Jesse Paxson; 8F—Dick Miner, Don Mayhew

This week the Quakerette subscriptions from other schools will be gathered by James Jensen and Donald Rosing.

Ohio Poetry Day was observed by the English classes last Friday. That day they discussed poems written by Ohioans.

Touch football began October 20. Home room Captains were elected.

While riding her bicycle Evelyn Schmid was struck by an automobile. She received a fractured leg.

Out of the funds raised from the paper and sales tax collection contests the Junior High is buying a dictionary for each home room. By doing this they feel that the pupils will be getting full benefit of their efforts in raising the money.

In the home rooms last week the Student Council members were chosen. They are as follows:

8A- Robert Roessler, Danny Smith 8B-Helen Cosgereia, John Plegge 8C-Jacqueline Troll, Martha Brian. 8E-Herbert Faxon, William Michaels.

8E-Velma O'Neil, Duane Yeagley. 8F-Martha Hippley, other member not yet decided.

7A-Robert Lantz, Mary Works. 7B - Caroline Butcher, Donald Wright.

7C-Phyllis Murphy, Ray Snyder. 7D-Betty Cosgereia, Peggy Roose. 7E-8G-Bruce Mellot, Earl Solomon.

7F-Gordon Field, Scotty McCorkhill.

Wednesday, October 15, a call was made for a Junior Varsity manager.

The Junior High boys wishing to caddy at the Salem Golf club must first have an O. K. from each of their teachers. Four out of eleven boys were permitted Wednesday, October 15, to caddy. They were: Gene Tullis, 8C; Walter Ulrich, 7A; Darwin Kintner, 8F; and Arthur Swetye, 8F.

G. A. A. Takes Over Stand For Tonight

At the Youngstown South game here in Salem tonight, the refreshment stand, scheduled to be in the hands of senior room 209, will be managed by the Girls' Athletic Association.

The organization volunteered to take charge of the stand for the seniors and a committee was chosen as follows: Shirley King, chairman, Eva Vissers, Maria Vissers, Mary Skorupski, Virginia Mayhew, Rora Martinelli, Donna Rice, Nina Cahill, Eleanor Schuster, Dorothy Greenawalt, June Kennedy, Margaret Stanton, Mona Cahill, Betty Theil, Jean Dixon, Martha Hicks, Marilyn Page, and Henrietta Hillard.

However, the ordering of the refreshments and the paying of the bills will still remain the responsibility of Miss Beardemore, despite the other changes.

John Evans is attending Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio. He is majoring in history and is a member of the Boy's Glee club. He graduated in 1939 from Salem High where he was first honor graduate and editor of the Quaker.

Lucia Sharp, a graduate of Salem High school in 1941 is now attending Northampton School for Girls, Northampton, Massachusetts, where she is secretary of the Christian association.

Nannabel Beardemore, graduate of Salem High school in 1941, has joined the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority at Randolph-Macon Women's college, Lynchburg, Virginia.

The Quakers are an unpredictable team, as they showed in the Wellsville game. Going against the Tigers with a highly favored team they took their worst defeat of the season. Tonight they will take the field as a slight underdog and may fair much better.

A style show in which each girl will wear the garments she has made, is being planned by the girls of Miss Zimmerman's sewing classes. This style show will be given before the class, members of which will criticize the clothes. Some of these garments will be displayed in the display window.

The girls' most recent sewing projects are skirts and blouses.

Quakers Loose

Wellsville did not get any of their four tries for the extra points.

The Quakers passing attack failed to click as it did in the Struthers game. Completing 6 heaves out of an attempted 17, they gained only 72 yd. via the air compared to approximately 300 in the Struthers contest. The Quaker receivers failed to take their proper cuts and were seldom open.

Stove Returned

Reporter Roves Through SHS

Each and every little S. H. S. stude is behaving so well nowadays, that we're having a tough time scraping together any news for ye old Q. O. But even under the circumstances we hear:

Young Mable Hostetler had a date the other night. That generous, kind-hearted Homer Asmus passed out lollipops to the band members the other afternoon for putting on such a swell show for the Struthers game.

That everyone's in the doghouse since the reports came out with the bad news last week

The Cheerleaders are really doing a swell job this year.

Art Shieb, new Junior this year, from Pa. is hitting it off pretty good with all the Salem lads and lassies.

That the G. A. A. is cooking up a dance for sometime in the near future.

That football players, Bob Ruffing, Bird Culberson, and many others are having a little trouble thinking about a football and a steady girl at the same time.

AND that all good things must come to an end so—

Be seeing you—'Bye now.
