

Kilty Trumpeteers Appear Here In Association Assembly; Works Of Classical, Modern Type Played

Kilty Trumpeteers Present Assembly at Salem High School Yesterday; Group Composed of Four Girls with Trumpets, Trombones

Dressed in the kilted costumes of the Scotch Highlands, the Kilty Trumpeters, a group of four girls, presented a program of spirited marches, comedy and novelty numbers, present day compositions, and classical selections, men as Strauss, Verdi, Victor Herbert, and many other well-known composers, at an association assembly held in the Salem High school auditorium yesterday morning. The works of Strauss, Verdi, Victor Herbert, and many other well known composers were represented at the assembly.

The girls were Dorothy Flaucher, 1st trumpet, manager; Marian Stone, 2nd trumpet, pianist; Mary Jeanne Kirby, 1st trombone; and Esther Swers, 2nd trombone.

Their program was arranged and coached by Herbert Petri, director of the Petrie Summer Band camp, Winona Lake, Indiana, President of the International Lyceum Association and director of the nationally famous Petrie White Hussars and the Petrie symphonic octette which was featured at Salem High school two years ago.

This assembly program of the Kilty trumpeteers has also appeared at the Senior High school in Helena, Mont., State hospital, Yankton, South Dakota, Mediapolis Chautauqua, Mediapolis, Iowa, and many other schools and hospitals throughout the country.

Horned Toad From Arizona On Display

A horned toad from Phoenix, Ariz., at present in the biology laboratory, was recently sent to Harry Long, Sophomore, by his mother.

The specimen, although it is called a toad, is really a lizard, and belongs to the reptilia, a class of vertebrates. Its name derives from two sharp horns that point backward from the back of the head.

Harold Morrow, sophomore, who formerly lived in Texas, reports that these horned lizards may jag a person with its horns and then inject a little poison, never enough to kill a person, though sometimes enough to cause a person to feel sick.

The specimen has rather odd pink and blackish markings, over a groundwork of sand color. This makes it very hard to see on the sand of the desert.

Attempts to feed the lizard dead flies have succeeded, and the biology students are hunting for this insect.

It was announced that the biology department will welcome any visitors who care to see the horned lizard.

Our Sympathy

The Quaker on behalf of the students and teachers of Salem High school wishes to express its sympathy to Arthur Scheib, junior, whose mother, Mrs. Walter H. Scheib, died Tuesday in a Pittsburgh hospital.

G. A. A. to Sponsor Second Penny Hop Feb. 8 In Gym

A Penny Dance, sponsored by the G. A. A. is to be held February 18 in the gym, as has recently been announced by Miss Sarah Hanna, G. A. A. advisor.

Records will provide the music for dancing that will last from 4:00 to 6:00.

The admission will be 5c, and 1c for each dance afterward.

The committees for the dance are as follows:

Ticket sellers — Shirley King, Maria Vissers.

Refreshments—Eva Vissers, Dorothy Greenawalt, Jean Dixon, and Rose Oana.

Machine — Mary Skorupski and Donna Rice.

Band Practices New Music For Concerts

Mr. C. M. Brautigam, head of Salem High music department, recently announced that both the band and the orchestra are practicing new music for various appointments which they have for playing around town.

The members of the band have been preparing for their annual concert which will be held in the near future. Solo and ensemble groups are also being organized.

The orchestra played for the Farmer's Institute play on Saturday, January 24. It is now preparing music for a future assembly.

Monitors Selected To Aid In Office Duties, Assist Secretary

Seven girls were chosen by Mrs. A. V. Henning, secretary to the principal, to serve as monitors and assist her in the various duties of the principal's office.

Each period one of these girls is stationed in the hall outside of Mr. Ludwig's office ready to deliver messages, direct visitors, or perform any one of the other duties that are performed by the monitors.

The girls who serve as monitors

Coy, Ruth Sinsley Snag Leads In Junior Class Comedy of School Life

Other Parts Filled By Dan Reardon, Dorothy Haldi, Paul Evans; Robert Moore Cast As Conceited Football Captain; Virginia Snyder, Teacher

Upon completion of tryouts last Tuesday, Miss Jean McCarthy, Salem High dramatics director chose Howard Coy and Ruth Sinsley to head the cast of the junior class play, "Ever Since Eve", a three act comedy by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements.

Principal Feted At Surprise Birthday Party Last Thursday

A surprise buffet tea was given in honor of Mr. Beman Ludwig in the new home economics dining room late last Thursday afternoon.

Chocolate ice cream cake roll, peppermint patties, hot tea and lemon were served to the forty-five guests who attended. The cake was decorated with twenty - one candles and bits of fern arranged about it.

Vases of snapdragons, daisies, daffodils, pussy willow, fern and small dishes of nuts decorated the table.

Mrs. Ludwig, wife of the principal presided over the table.

School Nurse Offers Suggestions For Care Of Winter Colds

In a recent interview, Miss Schroeder, the Salem Public School nurse, said, "The common cold is a very prevalent disease. Good health habits are the best insurance against colds. The following health rules may be given for the prevention of colds.

1. An adequate diet including milk, fruit juice, green vegetables.
2. Avoid close contact with persons who sneeze or cough.
3. Cover your nose and mouth when you sneeze or cough.
4. Avoid fatigue by getting more than the usual amount of sleep.
5. Drink plenty of water."

Miss Schroeder also informs us that many cases of pneumonia begin with a cold. If you have an elevated temperature, go to bed and call your family doctor.

Crothers Appointed To Junior High Faculty

Mr. Thomas Crothers, a graduate of Kent State University, was appointed to fill the position at Salem Junior High school vacated by the resignation of Mr. Walter S. Regal. He began his teaching in the Salem schools last Monday.

At Junior high, Mr. Crothers directs the orchestra and teaches seventh and eighth grade arithmetic.

He was in musical circles in Leetonia, for he was a member of a men's chorus, directed a choir and played the organ in a Leetonia church.

Coy will portray the part of Johnny Clover, editor of the Preston high school paper, the "Penguin." Susan Blake, who has her eyes open for Johnny will be played by Miss Sinsley. Sue obtains the position of assistant editor in order to be nearer Johnny by buying votes. This is just the beginning of the troubles which almost alienate Johnny and his best friend, Spud Erwin. Spud, who claims he has a way with women, will be enacted by Dan Reardon.

Mrs. Clover, Johnny's understanding mother will be played by Dorothy Haldi. The part of Mr. Clover, a somewhat henpecked husband will be filled by Paul Evans. The conceited football captain, Preston Hughes, will be Robert Moore. Spud's sister, Betsey, will be played by Irene Fratila. Fred Krause will be officer Simmons a likeable policeman, who has been on the school beat for years. The part of Miss Willard, the pretty journalism teacher, will be filled by Virginia Snyder.

The play will go before the footlights the evenings of March 26 and 27.

Hi-Tri Carries Out War Theme

Following the theme of a "High School Girl In Wartime," reports were given on the Red Cross and on nutrition during wartime, by Margaret Ann Jones and Dorothy Lutsch at a recent meeting of the Hi-Tri.

In the report on Red Cross functions, Miss Jones stated that among various things, the Red Cross is making infants' and children's clothes, surgical gowns, and knitted wear. Dorothy Lutsch's report on nutrition took up some of the foods Americans must learn to conserve, such as shortening and sugar.

Emma Bauman, chairman of the service committee, reported that the Red Cross needed knitted wear, and plans were discussed for teaching those girls in the club who do not know how to knit.

Devotionals were led by Debora Gross.

Plans are now being made for cabinet committee meetings. These meetings will be held each month and include the officers, committee chairmen and committee members.

A Defense Committee?

It happened nearly nine weeks ago at Pearl Harbor. That incident, which everyone knows about, aroused every real American. It put rich American blood into veins of citizens of the United States of America.

Innumerable American soldiers have given their lives for their country, already.

The big question on every person's lips is, "What can I do for my country?"

The most patriotic gesture at this time would be to have your blood typed as a donor.

If America is good enough to live in, it is good enough to work and fight for!

Saving paper and scrap iron is at present being carried on in numerous schools, and should be done in this school as well.

As in other schools an association can be organized for the purpose of saving the much-needed materials. Preferably, three officers could be chosen and they would be the ruling body of the association. Each officer might have an assistant, preferably an underclassman. These officers could confer with the principal and make all the necessary arrangements.

An association of this type would be one of the best ways in which the enthusiasm of our school might be shown.

No Dancing Classes

The attendance at the high school dances is good when it comes down to actual dollars and cents, but look around at, say the Band Dance? Yes, the floor is filled so it is comfortable dancing, a nice crowd, but where is that nice boy in your history, or the cute girl who's your chemistry partner? What about them? They should be at the dance, along with the hundreds of other students in this school who have never witnessed, much less participated in the class or club dances.

Look back several years. The couples were certainly greater in number at the school affairs. What's happened? Could it be that the students, even upperclassmen do not know how to dance? Definitely the Prom is not the place to learn, so many stay away from this and other school dances. In previous years, dancing classes have been held in the regular gym periods for both girls and boys. Together, in mixed classes, they practised so that when a school dance came around the boys and girls were not afraid of their dancing ability.

This year since, a great amount of stress has not been laid on the mixed dancing classes, the next best thing is to attend the afternoon Penny Dances, sponsored by the G. A. A. and get your partner down on the floor and really practise!

At the next scheduled Penny Dance held February 18 in the high school auditorium, show up and find a partner. You'll have a glorious time!

Varsity S Club Presents Jacket to Phil Cozad

A Varsity S jacket was presented to Phil Cozad by some of the Varsity S club members at a meeting held last Monday.

Mr. Brown, club advisor, stated that all the boys in the club before this last initiation had decided to buy the jacket soon after Phil was hurt during football season.

Hair Styles Of Studes Terrify One and All

Here we are gathered together again in one of our local "hang-outs". This time let's take a gander at the hair do's.

Well, well, here comes a group of the Weaker(?) sex now. First there's the type that doesn't comb her hair at all, and as a result it fairly resembles the old kitchen mop that was discarded months ago. Then there's the lassie who has just completed a wash job and has her head wrapped in a turban. In other words she resembles a housewife on washday.

The next candidate seems to have been the victim of one of these famous "torture machines". That is, she has just purchased a permanent. How do we know? Elucidating, her face is as red as fire, as the result of the drier, and her hair is short and as curly as sheep's wool.

In strolls the gal that was out late last night, and she is followed by the girl who wasn't and should have been. Interpreting, we mean that the former was too tired to put her hair up and so she came to school with her pride as straight as a pin ever was and ever will be. As for the girl who should have been out late, her pride (?) is sort of hump here and curly there. You see, she put it up too tightly.

Turning now we encounter one of the Stronger (?) Sex, as he reclines in one of the favorite booths. He's the type that can't control that cow lick in the back. Sitting opposite the "Dagwood" we observe a "Slick Nick." This example of manhood holds his head under a faucet at least 15 minutes each morning and then slaps it down until every hair is on the right track.

Lounging in the adjoining booth two other specimens are reclining. Both are the lazy type. One just doesn't comb his long bushy hair, while the other doesn't bother as "Swift Rivers" by Cornelia Meigs starts beside the great forests of what was to become Minnesota, where a settlement of sturdy Swedish farmers worked the rich lands of the Goose Wing River Valley. Spurred by the suggestion of a wandering Eastern boy, Stuart Hale, and by the poverty of his own grandfather, eighteen-year-old Chris Dalburg cut some of his abundant spruce, pine, and walnut, and determined, even though it had never been done before, to try floating the logs down on the spring floods to the Mississippi.

This is a swift-moving and exciting story, dependably true to life on the Mississippi as it was a hundred years ago. It is filled with the sweep of great waters, and the hazardous, colorful life of raft hands and river pilots. With never a dull moment, this book is interesting to the very end.

Cornelia Meigs, the author of "Invincible Louisa", which won her the Newbury prize, has written many stories which have delighted boys and girls of High School age and "Swift Rivers" is no exception.

WHAT? AGAIN

After the gruelling experience with the lost piston ring one would think Jim (I love my car so) Berger would not fool around with cars anymore. But last week the wagon simply would not make the hill in front of the school. So the student body standing in front helped him push it up, and it is now hitting again on all 4 and a 1/2.

Quakers Face Highly Rated East Liverpool Squad Tonight In Gym

Quakers to Face East Liverpool Tonight; Predict Hard-Fought Game for Evenly Matched Teams; Salem Floor No Disadvantage

Tonight the Salem Quakers face a highly rated Liverpool High School five on the local hardwoods.

The Quaker opponents look as though they will offer Salem an even match, as the Potters have a highly impressive record.

Playing on the East Liverpool floor, the South lads were defeated 54-25. The Potters had somewhat of a tough time subduing Girard, as they downed them by just two points and Salem overwhelmed the Indians by three markers.

Probable starting lineup for Laughlin's five will be Dick Tvelevan, Joe Chan, Albert "Jeep" Schaffer, Robert Brown, and Robert Cunningham.

The Salem floor will not be much advantage or disadvantage for either team as Liverpool's floor is smaller than Salem's.

The outlook for the Reserves tonight is not so bright, as Liverpool defeated the Youngstown South Reserves 29-19, while the Salem lads were defeated by South by the margin of three points.

The preliminary game to the Reserve game will most likely be the Liverpool Freshmen, Salem Freshmen tilt. The local yearlings defeated the Liverpool beginners earlier this season 36-25.

Frosh Whip Aviators 26-22 In Return Game

The Salem High frosh squad defeated Alliance in a return game last week after trailing the entire game, 26-22. The Junior Aviators jumped off to a 7-4 lead in the initial frame; expanded it to 13-7 at the half and kept it at 20-14 at the end of three quarters of play.

"Lanky" Walt Brian was high point man for the tilt with 11 markers, although he was held scoreless, the first half. Snodgrass paced the Alliance five with 10 points.

In a game played earlier in the season on the Salem floor, the Salem squad copped the verdict, 30-13 over the Aviator five. It was the fifth win of the season for the freshman quintet.

Tommy—"Pop, what is a free thinker?"

Pop—"A free thinker, my son, is any man who isn't married."

S. H. S. Quintet Adds Girard To Victims After 27-23 Game

Quakers Come Back In Last Half to Take Game From Scrapy Girard 5

The Salem High roundballers added their 10th victory of the season to their slate as they edged a scrapy Girard High five 27-24 Friday night.

The Salem five faltered in the initial frame as they were outclassed 15-9. Sam Pridon led the Quakers with five of these nine points.

As the half ended, the locals were still trailing by the narrow margin of one point, 17-16.

The third stanza was the least entertaining of the four, as only five points were tallied the entire period. Both teams showed good defensive play.

Salem found the bucket for three points as Girard totaled but two, to deadlock the score at the end of the third quarter—19 up.

Salem finally pulled away from their victims in the last quarter, scoring eight points to their opponents' five. This was the first time they led at any stage of the game.

For the Girard Indians, E. Aho and Savic were the leaders as they tallied nine and eight points, respectively.

Calling Doctor Kildare & Co.

What do you want to be... doctor, nurse, librarian, teacher? The library has just received several vocational fiction books. The first, "White Coats", by Dwight B. Fishwick, M. D. is the story of Tom Nelson and his colleagues, their adventures and studies while going to medical school, and their trials and triumphs while working to get their M. D.'s.

"Marian-Martha" by Lucille F. Fargo is the story of two girls who were librarians in high school and volunteered for public library work after their high school days. They both go to college and library school and are finally launched on their separate careers in different geographical locations.

"Take It Away Sam", by Paul Wing relates the experiences of young Sam Hubbard as he progresses from a job as a clerical assistant to the Chief Announcer of a big radio network to manager of one of Transcontinental's associated radio stations.

Lastly, "Sue Barton, Student Nurse" describes Sue Barton's year of nurses' training, with its dormitory life, hospital life and work in the hospital wards. Sue is an engaging young lady who seems to have a talent for nursing and holds

There are many other illustrations of the hair of the younger generation, but let's not think of them as they are now. Let's think of them as they will appear in the future when all the appliances for hair are gone as the result of the defense. That's a picture worth looking into.

Sam "Fox" Pridon swished 10 points for Salem despite being relieved in the fourth period for too many personals.

"Tut" Guappone hooped eight markers, followed closely by Goose McGaffick with seven.

Calling the Girard Reserves' winning streak at 11 consecutive games, the Salem second stringers chalked up their ninth win of the current season, by the margin of 28-21.

Paced by Swegan with seven points, the would-be undefeated Girard five couldn't seem to get rolling as Salem messed up their passes time after time. D. Aho, the "Gun" for Girard, sank a mere three points in the course of the game.

Larry "Buddy" Frost racked up a high score of 16 markers to pace Salem. Greene assisted with five.

Frosh Team Defeats Leetonia Quintet

The Salem frosh basketball team defeated a rangy Leetonia team 29-25 in the prelims to the varsity game in the Salem High school gym last Friday night.

Harry Lodge led the Salem squad with 10 points with Dyke and Appedison proving important factors in the win. The Leetonia team was paced by Dominic who managed to slip 18 points through the bucket.

The two fast teams on the floor played a tight game all the way, but the Salem team came out on top to win 29-25.

Captain's Chatter

By "Captain" Rance

..... Sweet Revenge
Oh happy day, revenge is so sweet. That South game was one of the sweetest shellackings ever handed out by the Quakers. We can not forget that humiliating 57-6 defeat handed the Quaker gridders by the powerful Red and Blue football squad last fall. The Quakers' smashing win came on the heels of South's three consecutive victories over Alliance, Canton Lehman and Campbell Memorial. It looked like a tight ball game until "Goose" McGaffick started to spray the hoop. The second team took over in the last quarter and rang up 16 more points.

Tonight the Quakers are hosts to the powerful East Liverpool Potters. Tuesday night the Wellsville Bengals invade Salem for the Quakers last Columbiana County tilt. A win over both of these outfits will give the Quakers the County championship. The game tonight stacks up as a real thriller. Both teams have had two common foes, Youngstown South and Girard. Liverpool trimmed South 54-26 and edged Girard 28-26. Salem drubbed South 49-25 and nipped Girard 27-24. Wellsville, due to midyear graduation, lost its five regulars but even though greatly weakened they are not expected to be a push-over. Wellsville beat Lisbon 48-44 while the Quakers trampled the Blue Devils 36-16.

At a press interview granted by "Bullet Bill" Shoop's manager, it was revealed that the kid is restlessly awaiting spring. His pilot stated that W. R. has worn out five files on his spikes and that he examines the local "cinders" daily.

If anyone is in need of a few stray pesos, contact "Shotgun" Mayhew. S. H. S.'s leading sport will convert almost anything and take the Quaker's foes. It is rumored she has been taken to the cleaners frequently lately.

For those of you who can't make the trip to Akron West, there will be two tilts at home. In the feature attraction the powerful Hi-Y engages the Quaker reserves in their annual tussle. In the prelim the Salem freshmen will tangle with a team which is unknown at the time of this writing.

The Salem Hi-Y. came through with its third win of the season. They spanked Austintown Fitch 33-11 to grab first place in the suburban Hi-Y league at the "Y".

S. H. S. has an up and coming young business man in its midst. He is none other than "Snapper" Vansickle. If you notice a jar of the kid's peach preserves prominently displayed in the window of a well known drug store, think nothing of it. Merely enter the establishment and ask for a jar of Vansickle's peach preserves. If you are alive in three days your money will be cheerfully refunded. "Snapper" is also losing heavily on his wagers and has entered the packing business in an effort to make up for his losses.

"Break In" To New D.S.T.

It's mighty dark this morning, can't even find the sidewalk. Ouch, what did I step on? Sounded like a cat, well, I'm sorry, kitty, blame it on the clock or somethin'.

Well, here I go again. I guess I can venture into the street now. Uh! Oh, I bumped into someone. "Pardon me, I didn't see you standing there!" "Oh, hi, Jake, are you jivin' towards school? If you are, do you mind if I hep it up a little, right along side you? I'm afraid that I'll get lost if I go much further without a partned. This new "day-light savings time" really has me on the spot. I forgot to set my clock an hour ahead last night and this morning I was all bawled up. Couldn't imagine why it was so dark when Mother called me. I thought it was the middle of the night and told her to go away and let a man dream in peace. But, that's beside the point, Guess I'll have to learn. It's kinda late, at least I can see now, so I guess we had better hurry.

spare the time required by a monitor's duties.

In past years, about 40 or 50 monitors were used, but their jobs have all been combined and are now handled by these seven girls. Consequently, the job of monitor involves a great deal of responsibility and work in carrying out the necessary duties.

Jr. High Students Asked to Donate Books to Soldiers

Salem Junior High pupils are asked to bring all books that they have at home for which they have no further use. From the school they will be taken to the library through which they will be distributed to soldiers for entertainment during their free time.

Word has been received from Mr. Walter Regal, former Junior High teacher, that he is having a very pleasant trip and that the scenery is beautiful. He expected to be in Arizona about Wednesday, January 18.

After, "She Saved and Sews," shown to the Junior High girls Tuesday, January 22, Mrs. Betty Kennedy, a representative of the American Legion auxiliary gave a short talk after which she asked the girls for volunteers to sew one evening a week for soldiers. A large majority of the girls were interested.

Julia Edwards has entered the Junior High from Columbiana. Caroline Butcher has been added to the assembly committee.

The Junior High welcomes Mrs. Roth, mathematics instructor, back after an absence of approximately all of the first semester. She returned Monday noon, January 26.

When a man has a birthday he takes a day off, but when a woman has a birthday she takes a year off.

Students Have Set Times In Library

Due to the fact that the library is overcrowded certain periods and to eliminate the necessity of sending students back to the study hall when the library is filled, a new system has been worked out by which each student will be assigned to the library two periods a week. Students will be given regular seats and the roll will be checked each period. It will no longer be necessary to send library attendance sheets to the study hall.

If a student wishes to use the library more than two periods a week, he may go to the library after school. Bus students will find the library open at noon.

Miss Lois Lehman, librarian, says that this plan will give everyone a chance to go to the library the same number of times, and it may also make some persons more library-minded.

FROSH, SOPHOMORES, BEAT SENIORS' RECORD

Due to the fact that not enough seniors volunteered to work at the candy stand at a recent basketball game, Mr. Keller asked his 207 study hall, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, if they wanted to take over the stand for that game. They were enthusiastic and turned out en masse. That night a profit of $23.58 was made from the stand.

At the last game, the senior class officers and a committee sold candy, ice cream, etc. This time a profit of $23.47 was taken in.
