

Band Presents Students Look Over Colleges Patriotic Music In Concert

School Band To Play Next Friday Night; Tickets 25c

Featuring a program in keeping with the times, a patriotic program has been planned for the annual Salem High school band concert to be presented next Friday evening in the high school auditorium at 8:15. The highlight of the program will be the panorama of American war music using the arc lights purchased earlier in the season and used at the football games.

It will be opened by the playing of Raymond Overture followed by Morning, Noon, and Night and Susa's Stars and Stripes. A program of marches will follow. Included among these will be Adoration, a number introduced by the theme America the Beautiful, and Colonel Bogey.

A medley of old-time favorites Long Long Ago, Darling Nellie Gray, Rocked In The Cradle of The Deep, Last Rose of Summer, The Old Oaken Bucket, Annie Laurie, and Oh, Dem Golden Slippers will be played.

This part of the program will feature a number of the solo and ensemble groups that will participate in the district contest at Bellaire later in the year.

A panorama of American war music will then be presented beginning with the "Death of Custer", a novelty number. A medley of World War I songs and of World War II will also be played in this group. The arrangement of World War II melodies including, "Modern Design," "Remember Pearl Harbor," "We Did It Before" and "Keep 'Em Flying" was arranged by the director, Mr. C. M. Brautigam.

This concert is sponsored by the Salem High school band and the band mothers organization.

Hi-Y Plans Informal 'Sweater Swagger'

Plans for a Hi-Y informal dance to be held on the evening of April 3 were made at a recent meeting of the club.

Sidney Simon, president, has appointed Robert Entriiken and John Botu members of the committee in charge of securing an orchestra for the dance.

Plans were also made to have an exchange of Hi-Y members with the Kent Hi-Y of Kent High school. Three boys from Kent High school will visit Salem High on March 11, 12, 13, according to the present plans.

At this meeting Patrolman Nerr Gaunt spoke to the boys. He told of arrests, convictions, murder cases, robberies, petty thievery and explained the new two way radio, recently purchased by the Salem Police department.

Ohio State Offers Many Courses To Undergraduates

Editor's Note—This is the first in a series of articles written by Marie Kastenhuber, senior, concerning colleges and universities in Ohio and vicinity.

Ohio State university, the largest state school in Ohio, presents to a prospective student a wide variety of courses. The university, located in Columbus, has almost 1400 acres of land with nearly 400 acres in the campus. The valuation of its land, buildings and equipments is $25,882,288.59.

DIVIDE INTO TEN

Because of its size the University is divided into ten organizations called colleges for convenience of administration. These colleges are as follows: College of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Commerce and Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Pharmacy and Veterinary Science.

All freshmen students meet at the University sometime in September before the official opening of school for a special Freshman program. This is commonly referred to as "Freshman Week" and permits new students to become better acquainted with the campus. Lectures placement examinations physical tests, and intelligence tests are also a part of the Freshman Week program.

EXPENSES LOW

As state and national appropriations support this university, there is no tuition fee for Ohio students, but other expenses which include room and board and miscellaneous items come to little more than $500 per year. A student is not compelled to live in a dormitory, but if he is living in doubtful surroundings the President of the University has the power to force him to move to a more desirable location.

CHANCES FOR WORK

There are a few opportunities for employment near the University, but school authorities try to discourage a student who is carrying a full time schedule from trying to work his way through college. However, anyone who wishes part time employment should communicate with the offices of the Dean of Women or the Dean of Men well ahead of the time that his schedule is made out to avoid unnecessary

Science Students Plan Dream Homes

In a contest on the drawing of plans for their dream homes, the seventh period general science class drew models for homes, spacious, small and medium, that they themselves would someday like to have regardless of cost.

Some plans included large indoor swimming pools, rumba rooms, libraries and many other things that help to make luxurious homes.

An outside judge selected the plans drawn by Betty Cibula for first place, those by Stella Kot for second, and those by Ruth Zeck for third.

Cooking Class Holds Pie-Baking Contest

Having completed the lessons on pastry and milk desserts, the girls in the cooking classes held their annual pie baking contest, this week.

The four best pies were selected by the girls in each class. Then these were narrowed down to four from all four classes and finally the winner was chosen yesterday.

The pies were judged as to shape, surface crust, filling and flavor.

Pencils To Sell For Three Cents

Miss Sarah Hanna, freshman class adviser, announces that the remaining two hundred basketball schedule pencils will be sold for three cents each. Previously, they sold for four cents.

The pencils may be secured from her in room 307.

Got A Coin To Flip?

During the football season the band of Salem High school was nearly as much a part of the game as the team itself. This year especially, the band showed marked improvement, the audiences in the grandstand and the citizens of Salem were proud of all that the band has accomplished. When, between halves, the lights on the field were turned out, leaving only the reflection of the mercury arc lamps playing on the fluorescent material of the band uniforms many "OH's" and "Ah's" came from the delighted crowds. This season indeed the high school students and citizens of Salem have been able to show their appreciation to the band organization and its members.

Now, once again, these same people have an opportunity to support the band.....that is, by attending the annual spring band concert to be presented the evening of March 13th in the high school auditorium. A bigger and better concert than ever before is being planned for this season.

Tickets, selling at 25 cents each may be purchased from any band member or from any of the Band Mothers.

Time Marches On Sans SHS

A radio bulletin on the radio, just the other day, informed Congress that the livestock of the country does not like the change of time.

"They're used to bein' milked at five," said one farmer, "and they're danged indignant when we go out and milk 'em at four."

We have not, as yet, been informed whether Congress is going to consider the matter but if it does, perhaps, at the same time, it will take into consideration the fact that Salem High school clocks are indignant. At no time, since February 9th, when the change occurred, has each and every clock in the school been correct.

The janitors set the clocks one day—the next day they're wrong again. Some of them just stop running altogether.

Several students decided to try using sundials so they could tell when classes would change but since there hasn't been any sunshine lately, the experiment failed completely.

We ask you, Mr. President, can't something be done?

Oh, For An Unholy Tire!

Whether we like it or not we are at war! This means that everyone must stick together through thick and thin and be saving and patriotic.

There has been much criticism of the way the high school students have shown their patriotism. Some time ago there was talk of the students not knowing the "Star Spangled Banner," but that, in some instances, has been remedied.

We have to save, save and save some more. The schools are now collecting old newspapers that have been laying around in peoples' cellars and plans are being made to collect scrap metal. We are now saving sugar for the boys in camp. And rubber! Hardly a tire to be had anywhere! There will probably be many more things rationed before the end of this conflict but we shouldn't and won't mind if it helps to win the war. In some places there will be shortages of even everyday things like water.

We should be as patriotic about everything as the woman, Mrs. Slobolinski, who wore not only one V for victory but THREE. When asked why she wore so many she replied that they also stood for "Vhy Waste Vater."

Why Directors Get Grey; Or Wiggy Can't Wiggle Out Of This

"Friends, Romans, and countrymen, Lend me your ears." (Reprinted: courtesy of William Shakespeare.)

Perhaps the young Thespians of the junior class can't compete favorably with the Shakesperian stars, but when it comes to ciruses they certainly take the "cake". In the first act of the class production the script calls for the picking up of Ruth Sinsley, chair and all, and carrying her off stage by Dan Reardon and Howard Coy. After completing their series of grunts the boys usually manage to upset Ruth's dignity by flipping her on the floor. There are rumors going around to the effect that Dan and Howard are muffing the scene in order to repeat it. My how untruths like these begin is beyond me!

At rehearsal the other night the various doors were chalked on the stage floor until the set could be constructed to familiarize the characters with their entrances. Everything went all right until Glenn Weigand made his entry and tore the imaginary wall down. Then, things came down with a bang! After Miss McCarthy explained to Glenn his mistake he replied reluctantly, "But the door's not wide enough." Miss McCarthy, not to be outdone, said, "You may as well learn to wiggle through it now, Wiggle."

Dorothy Haldi seems to know how to handle men. She certainly portrays the part of the henpecking wife well. Paul Evans serves as the matrimonial chicken feed. The height of comedy comes when Bob Moore has to be cautioned not to take Mary Byers out to the woodshed on making an exit.

Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped" is a thrilling, romantic story equalled only by the incomparable Treasure Island. David Balfour, sixteen year old son of a country dominine, is given a letter from his dead father which David is supposed to deliver to his uncle, Ebenezer Shaw. When he finally arrives at his uncle's home, his reception at the great half-ruined house is one of the weirdest and most blood-curdling ever given to anyone.

David is forced into a life of wandering, after his uncle makes a fiendish attempt to take David's life. His attempts to run away are intercepted and David is kidnapped and cast away on a desert island. After wandering for a long time he finally falls in with Alan Briek and other notorious characters. Much suffering and many adventures follow this friendship. After being pursued and hunted by both law and outlaw, he finally does turn the tables on his crafty uncle and come into his own.

"Kidnapped" is one of the best loved stories ever written. Its suspense and excitement make it a must-read book for the high school boys and girls.

Don't race trains to the crossing. If it's a tie, you lose.

COLD STORAGE

The jalopy fever has been hitting Salem high for quite some time now. . . . If a proud owner of a car doesn't have the car on the road he has it in cold storage waiting for spring to come so he won't get killed while on the ice . . . The latest addition to this clan of jalopys is Sneezy Snyder. He has a model A convertible roadster in the garage. All it needs is a paint job, a new fender, a flashy top, and new brakes. He will soon give a premier of the car and everyone should be on hand.

List Vital Statistics Of Salem High Basketball Team This Year

The Salem Quaker completed a highly successful season Friday evening when they downed the Sebring Trojans 39-35. Following are some figures on the Salem Varsity. None of the records below refer to any games played at the sectional tournament.

Ray McGaffick and Tut Guappone were the 2 leading scorers for the year. Scores for the year were:

- McGaffick—164
- Guappone—145
- Pridon—126
- Scullion—63
- Volio—58
- Capel—55

On the reserve, Frost had 21 points, Ruffing 9, Cozad 9, Fisher 7 and Culberson 5 points.

The Quakers' percentage was slightly over 50% in foul shooting. Johnny Volio held the highest record for free throws.

- Volio—64%
- McGaffick—63%
- Capel—58%
- Guappone—56%
- Scullion—55%
- Culberson had 50%, Fisher 50%, Cozad 50%, Ruffing 39% and Frost 30%.

The Salemites tossed 260 free throws to the hoops and dropped 141 of them through to bring the total percentage to 54%.

The Quakers concluded their season with 14 victories out of 19 starts. The local reserves record was identical with that of the Varsity's.

The Salem roundballers averaged about 36 points a game while their opponents scored about 30 markers per game.

Ray McGaffick acted as captain.

You're In the Army Now

Don't you wish you were in the army and able to do your part? Well, let's imagine ourselves at one of the numerous training camps. This training camp's name is, "Camp Up and At 'Em."

First of all, the boys are awakened at the crack of dawn by the "Bugle Call Rag." Slat's Entriaken, Gene Howell, Homer Asmus, Howard Coy, Bill Haessly, Iggy Moore, and umpteen million others grab their khaki uniforms and run for the showers. Sooner or later the boys finish their showers and proceed to the "mess" hall which is just that. Everybody looks a trifle tired and wan for a while but when food appears they all brighten up, especially when Wiggle yells, "three cheers for the 'grub!'"

Later that day, the boys are hard at work digging ditches. Johnny Botu, Terry Atkinson, Herb Gross, and Al Volio have finally learned

Bears Edge Locals In First Game

The Salem Quakers dropped their first game of the sectional tourney, when the Canton Lehman Polar Bears overpowered the Salem lads 45-40 in the spacious South High field house in Youngstown Monday evening.

This was the fourth year in a row that Salem has lost its first decisions in this tournament.

Salem was the first to tally with a free throw by Volio. The score seasawed back and forth the first quarter and wound up 8-8. The second quarter was the Polar Bear's, outscoring Salem by four points to take a lead at intermission, 24-20.

The last half of the tilt Salem marked up 20 points and the Bears

For Salem Ray McGaffick once again led the Quakers' attack hitting 4 field goals and 3 free throws for 11 points. Guappone and Scullion each hit 9 and 8 points respectively.

Kloss from Lehman did not start in the ball game but during the last stanza he garnered 8 markers to help the cause considerably.

Kloss and Trenary were the high point individuals racking up 9 and 8 points apiece.

The Lehman Polar Bears will now tussle with Newton Falls, and the winner of that game will play Canton McKinley.

the swing of the thing (thing: the pick) and are making a little headway.

Bill Rance waves his shovel at a tank in the distance. Chuckie Gibbs pokes his head up from the tank and yells to Bill in reply, "I'm in the army now...."

In the afternoon, the monotony is broken when Betty Gibbs, Sally Campbell, Audrey Welsh, and Helen Louise Theiss arrive at the camp and invite some of the boys for dinner. Oh Happy Day. Real food!

When asked what the boys thought of camp life Tommy Rolands said, "It's great, from taps to reveille, but all we want is a chance at the Japs."

Fightin' Quakers Ride Over Trojans By Four Points

Salem Winds Up Season With 39-35 Win Over Sebring

The Salem Quakers overpowered the Sebring Trojans last Friday evening on the local hardwoods 39-35.

The Brownmen exhibited fine team work throughout the entire fray, the thing which has been lacking the past two or three weeks.

The visitors also displayed team spirit among themselves and appeared to be no slackers as the score indicates.

The first quarter ended with Salem ahead 11-10; the second stanza the Salem quintet extended their margin 23-18. The third quarter was a hectic one for the Salem lads as they scored but two markers to the Trojans 7. This deadlocked the score at the end of three quarters 25-25. The final chapter was close and the Brownmen displayed a fine fast break to put the Quakers ahead to stay.

As a whole the Quakers played a high brand of ball all through the evening.

High point honors went to Pridon and Guappone who registered 11 and 9 points respectively.

Scullion, McGaffick and Volio turned in equally excellent performances.

Thus the Quakers concluded their '41-42 regular season with 14 victories against five losses.

The Salem Reserves chalked up their 14th win of the season as they set back the almost invincible Sebring second string five 44-28. The Trojans had lost but one decision out of 27 starts but added another loss to their record Friday night when the locals hit it hot and heavy in the final stanza, netting 17 points to ice the battle.

The locals led the way each quarter but the third when the Trojans deadlocked the score 25-25.

"Flick" Entriaken "pelted the nets" for 10 markers to lead the locals.

"Pee Wee" Hethrington appeared most sensational for the visitors as he totaled 12 points for the evening.

The Reserves played their last game of the season, winning the number of games as did the Varsity.

Captain's Chatter

By "Captain" Rance

Well, it's all over but the "shoot-gins March 18 at the Y. One of the finest Salem High school basketball seasons in the Quaker's long history has ended. Last Friday night the Quakers brought a successful season to a successful conclusion by edging Sebring's fine Trojans, 39-35, in what proved to be a real thriller. Many fans, not knowing the facts, rated Sebring as a pushover, but the classy Trojans proved to be anything but one. Twice, the Quakers pulled away from the Blue and Gold, only to see their leads twice slashed to blistering Sebring rallies. However, "Scub" Scullion and Carl Capel applied the clinchers in the dying seconds. Thus the Quakers ended their season with a record of 14 wins in 19 trips to the post.

I'm sure you'll all be glad to hear that our old pal "Tyker" Hart is slated to be the editor of next year's Arington Hi-Life. With Tyker at the reins Arington should have a sheet to be proud of. Good luck, fella.

The battle for the scholastic Class A basketball championship began last Monday. In the Youngstown district the Quakers engaged Canton Lehman, one of their previous conquerors. At the time of writing the result is not known but if the Quakers did down Lehman they meet Newton Falls tonight. The Falls outfit drew a bye, which automatically sent it through the first round.

Tomorrow, if they emerge victorious from their tilt with McDonald, the Salem Hi-Y will capture the Suburban league championship in the Mahoning Valley league at the Youngstown Y. The Hi-Y round robin tournament be-

For the rabid Cleveland Indian fans who sing the Tribe's famous battle cry, "This is the year." things look blacker than ever. With Bob Feller in the Navy, and the Indians' front office and Heff Heath unable to agree on a contract, prospects seem none too bright. However, other teams have lost players to the Army, also. For instance the Philadelphia Athletics lost Benny McCoy. Ted Williams, slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder, was granted a deferment. From where I stand it looks like another Yankee year.

Red Cross Scissors For Those Who Are Patriotic; Want News

Those Wednesday afternoon working gals should be really on the beam by now. These little Red Cross workers are really progressing, making first aid bandages with Mrs. Arch Harwood, Mrs. G. F. Keyes and Mrs. Fred Campbell supervising.

Dorothy Lippiat, Sally Campbell, Rora Martinelli, and Claire Hicks, led by Miss Leah Morgan, Salem High home economics instructor, can be seen skipping happily any Wednesday afternoon to the Red Cross center to spend a couple of hours.

Madly working their mouths as well as their fingers are Lois Hoover, Sis Keyes, Jean Carey, Betty Gibbs, and Isabel Lockhart, all trying to get words in at one time.

Miss Morgan's cooking classes are certainly in there pitching, headed by Ina Mae Getz, Martha Hollinger, Donna Rice, Marilyn Flick, Eva Vissers and Eleanor Schuster. Helen Grove, Rose Oana, Mildred Miller and Gerry Paxson have surely helped to bring the quota of bandages up over the mark.

Don't look now, but I believe I see Katherine Gartner, Dolores Steffel, Velma Hinton, and Helen Oana at the far end of the room huddled together making the latest style of bandages.

"It's fun to help like this," say some of the girls, working to see who can accomplish the most. Virginia Mayhew, Virginia Equize, Mathilda Martinelli, June Chappell, Catherine Cosky, Betty Thiel, and Elizabeth Iagulli are gathered together once again for the usual work and talk.

Why don't some other girls try meandering out to the Red Cross center some sunny Wednesday afternoon. You might like it!

306 Has New Home Room Programs

In home room 306 a new program has been inaugurated, designed to provide a more useful home room period, by Mr. Ramon Cobbs.

Under this plan students learn parliamentary procedure, check attendance, read announcements, and are provided with entertainment. Every three weeks a chairman is elected who plans the program of entertainment to be presented during his term. The program consists of musical numbers, current events, and speeches by members of the faculty. At a later date it is hoped that other speakers may be obtained.

According to Mr. Cobbs, the plan is progressing successfully, and has been in operation for the past six weeks.

Classes Enact Play Of "Julius Caesar"

The sophomore English classes, under the direction of Miss Helen Thorp, have finished the projects that they have been working on during their study of the play, "Julius Caesar," by William Shakespeare.

The classes, divided into committees, made notebooks, models of the Elizabethan stage and sketches of Roman dress. They memorized lines from Shakespeare, acted scenes, Shakespearean and modern versions, made posters and kept a bulletin board.

Having completed the projects, the classes have begun study on a new unit of grammar and composition.

Journalists To Attend Press Convention

Mr. H. C. Lehman, English and journalism instructor, attended a meeting held Feb. 19th at Kent State university, Kent, Ohio, where plans were made for the coming Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press convention to be held May 9.

As the number of delegates to attend this convention has been limited, five members of the editorial staff and five of the business staff will probably make up those who will be able to attend this year, it was announced by Mr. Lehman.

Approximately 25 members of both staffs attended the convention last year.

Juniors Select Two Types of Rings

Two different patterns of class jewelry for the class of '43 will be in the library show case at the beginning of next week. These rings can be had this year with either a gold or onyx background for the traditional Quaker head.

Miss Martha McCready, Junior class adviser, reports that a class meeting will be held early in the week to explain the good and bad points of the jewelry and to explain how it will be ordered. Then at the end of the week the class will vote on their choice of rings. They may then be ordered through a local jeweler.

"Matrimony," said Eddie Cantor, "is not a word, but a sentence."

Somebody adds that it's a long sentence, with many words in it.
