

Committee For Prom Appointed

Officers Choose Committees for Prom To Be Held May 22

The committees, which have been chosen for the Junior-Senior Prom to be held May 22 are as follows:

Decorating; Miss Martha McCready, advisor; Dick Culberson, Paul Evans, Marion Davidson, Emma Bauman, Mona Cahill, Ralph Davis, Gene McArtor, Ruth Fidoe, Virginia Snyder, Howard Coy, Janet Taylor, Frank Snyder, Art Scheib, Harold Shannon and Betty Merry.

Intermission program; Miss Jean Kingsly, advisor; Dorothy Haldi, Edward Fisher, Elizabeth Benedetti, Bill Haessly, and Harvey Stiffler.

Dance Programs; Mrs. David Hart, advisor, Mary Byers, Herbert Hansell, Robert Mitchell, Faye Cozad, and Walter Vansicle.

Former Salem Athlete Graduated

Among those to be awarded degrees at the University of Dayton's 92nd annual commencement May 10 will be Charles McCloskey, former Salem High school athlete. McCloskey's graduation will be perhaps one of the most unusual in the history of the school in that he has been ordered to report to the United States Marines Reserve Candidate school on May first.

McCloskey has made special arrangements with the university authorities to take his examinations early so that he will be able to attend the officers school. McCloskey will spend three months at the Marine school and at the completion of the course will receive a commission as a second lieutenant.

McCloskey is the son of Mrs. Catherine McCloskey of 238 N. Rose ave. He will receive a bachelor of science in business administration degree. He played three years of varsity basketball at the university and was named co-captain of the team in his senior year.

Language Club Presents Latin Play "Saturnalia"

A number of Latin students presented a play, "Saturnalia," a Roman feast day in honor of the God Saturn, to the Latin Club at a meeting held last Tuesday evening. The main characters were: Geta, Eugene Mueller; L. Calpurnius, Lowell Hoprich; and Hector, Bill Byers.

The play was given in Latin.

Annual Sent to Printer Is Editor's Report

Herbert Hansell, editor of the Quaker Annual, announces that the first portion of the year book is now ready to be printed. The work has proceeded more slowly this year because of the difficulty in securing the necessary materials and therefore the exact date for the distribution of the annual is not yet known.

Battle of the Sexes Settled Today at Salem High

In the high school auditorium this morning, the Quaker editorial staff staged its "Battle of the Sexes." Twelve boys and girls chosen earlier in the week by their classmates were the participants. Mary Byers was in charge of the program and Herbert Hansell was the master of ceremonies.

The contestants were as follows: Seniors, Rita Claire Pottorf, Maybelle Huston, Homer Asmus and Basil Karlis; juniors, Gene McArtor, Ruth Fidoe, Paul Evans and William Beardmore; sophomores, Vera Janicky and Robert Cibula; freshmen, Vivian Stowe and Jim Kelley.

A prize was awarded to the contestant receiving the highest score.

Judges for the quiz were Mary Byers, Dorothy Haldi, Marie Kastenhuber, Emma Bauman and Robert Mitchell. Charles Lind was time keeper.

S. H. S. Student Receives Honor

Miss Deborah Beery, senior in Salem High school and a member of the Junior Music Study club, was awarded superior rating in the soprano division of the junior music competitive festival at Cincinnati last weekend.

Miss Beery competed with 15 sopranos in the state finals of the festival, held at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Her numbers, chosen by the federation rules for the competition, were "The Star" ((Rogers) and one of her own choice, "The Lord's Prayer" (Mellott).

Her sister, Priscilla, received the "very good" rating in the contralto division, the highest rating awarded in that group. She sang the federation number "Firelight Lullaby" (Grant) and "I Heard a Forest Praying" (DeRose).

The sisters, voice students of W. Wentz Alspaugh of Damascus, are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Beery, N. Ellsworth ave.

Friday evening, prior to the competitive festival, Deborah Beery appeared on the pre-festival concert program in the conservatory auditorium, representing the mid-

Sugar Rationing Cards To Be Given Out Here May 4-7

Last Tuesday and Wednesday the stores, restaurants, and institutions which handle sugar, came to the Salem High school to register for their rationing certificates. Principal B. G. Ludwig was in charge of the registration. He was assisted by fifteen registrars, most of whom were recruited from the High school teaching staff.

During the latter part of the afternoon and in the evening of Monday through Thursday, May 4 through May 7, the citizens of Salem will register at the five elementary schools for their sugar rationing cards. School principals will be in charge of registrations. The registrars will consist of members of the teaching staffs of the school augmented by some volunteer citizens of the community.

Volio Appoints Club Committees

At a meeting held last Tuesday in 106, John Volio, president of the Varsity S. club, appointed the following committees to make plans for a picnic, the date of which will be announced later. The committees are Food: Phil Cozad, chairman, Dick Culberson, Glen Weigand, and Frank Hagan; Entertainment: Salvatore Guappone, chairman, Bill Rance, and Bill Shoop; Transportation: Dick Greene, chairman, Bob Scullion, Bob Ruffing and Jim Berger.

A nominating committee for next year's officers was also named with John Volio as chairman, Carmen Nocera, Bill Beardmore, and Ray McGaffie.

Six Times National Champion to Appear Here In Association Assembly Next Wednesday; Russ Hoogerhyde Spoke to Seniors Three Years Ago

Six times national archery champion, Russ Hoogerhyde will speak at an Association assembly next Wednesday on "The Romance of Archery." Seniors witnessed a demonstration by Hoogerhyde when he appeared on a program here at Salem High three years ago.

Ancient Lamps On Display

A general science display consisting of different types of old lamps was placed in the biology laboratory recently. Jay Hanna brought a lamp which is several hundreds years old. It was used to light an ancient Scotch castle and has been handed down in his family.

Virginia Mick brought a small kerosene lamp and a large old one which was lighted for display purposes.

An old carbon lamp bulb similar to the one Edison first made was submitted by Cecil Scott.

These are members of Mrs. Marion Cox's general science class.

Eugene Mueller built a rheostat showing the gradual increase of light as the current was increased in Mrs. F. E. Cope's class.

"Vitamins for Victory" Displayed In Library

A Victory Vitamins display, arranged under the supervision of Miss Lillian Schroeder, was in the library show case this week.

The display followed a patriotic theme and named the necessary vitamins as well as the foods in which the vitamins are found.

The committee, members of Wednesday's sixth period hygiene class which was in charge of the "Victory Vitamins" exhibit, was Deborah Beery, chairman, Rose Marie Bates, Elizabeth Eppinger, Maxine Everstine, and Isabelle Lockhart.

In his lecture, Hoogerhyde discusses the story of the Longbowmen of William the Conqueror, the early Turkish bowmen whose power shots have never been duplicated, and the American Indian and his bow and arrow. Finally, he discusses the development of archery as an important sport in the physical education program for both men and women.

Among the various shots in his demonstration, Hoogerhyde does long shots, as long as the auditorium permits, backhand shots, power shots through heavy boards and metal, and trick left hand and two hand shots.

As a finale he uses an upside down overhead shot from a table top; in this shot he picks a long balloon off as his target.

Non-association members may attend the program by paying an admission charge of 15 cents.

Careerists Speak To Hi-Tri Girls

At a meeting of the Hi-Tri on April 22, seven women spoke to the group on their respective careers. They were:

Miss Leah Morgan, dietetics; Miss Lillian Schroeder, nursing; Miss Alice Gladden, librarian; Miss Irene Slutz, teaching; Mrs. Ersener, beautician and Miss Ala Zimmerman, tea room management.

They pointed out such features as preparation necessary, approximate cost of preparation, likely daily schedule, advantages, disadvantages, type of girl suited to occupation, and average salary.

The chairman for the program was Dorothy Haldi. Elizabeth Eppinger and Martha Coulson assisted her.

SCHOOLS IN WARTIME DISCUSSED AT MEET

A meeting of the Columbiana County Schoolmasters club was held in New Waterford, Thursday evening, April 23.

The speaker was Mr. Robert L. Fleming, president of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association, and principal of South High school, Youngstown. He spoke on "The School in Wartime."

Mr. W. H. Van Fossan presented his completed work entitled, "The History of the Columbiana County Schoolmaster's Club". Copies of this have been placed in both the High school and public libraries.

If One Stag Appears

So you aren't going to the prom? Or perhaps you're going and just aren't bothering to get a date. In either case, you should read of Bob's experience.

Bob Smith a junior in high school stood looking at the bulletin board where the date of the annual Junior and Senior Prom was posted. Jim Jones, one of Bob's classmates came up and said:

"Who are you taking, fella?"

"Oh, I'm going stag. I'm afraid if I asked Dorothy she'd already have a date. Anyway I can have a better time by myself. Girls are a bother.

So Bob went to the Prom stag. But when he saw all the other fellows with their girls, laughing and joking as they went in, he rather resented his decision.

When the music started and all the other boys were dancing with their girls, Bob just stood by the wall with the rest of the stags. There were no girls to dance with.

This went on all evening. Dorothy wasn't even there. "Perhaps she would have come with me after all," thought Bob.

When the dance was over as all the others got into cars ready to go and eat and have a good time, Bob silently walked up the street wishing he could kick himself.

Moral: If boys don't want to compete in an unpopularity contest, GET A PROM DATE.

Loon Digs Out Mis-guided Musicians

Hi! Ho! Chums I have heard remarks that Salem High has no dance band. That might be true in the sense that we have no organization, but this does not indicate a lack of talent. For the trumpet section we have "Slats" (Gabriel) Entriken and that boogie-woogie bugle boy (hot breath) Botu. Add to these the smooth saxes of Charles Lind, Dick Burcaw, and "Howdy" Coy and the withering rhythm of (Hide Slapper) Pales and we're on our way. Herb Hansell will make a good trombone section. Not only because he plays the trombone but because he has excellent time keeping equipment (and I don't mean a watch). The boys had a hard time at first to find a piano player, but they finally decided on "Tex" Bauman, the best beat-box virtuoso south of the Mason-Dixon line. Of course you all know the old maestro "Doghouse" Evans. Incidentally "Doghouse" will have to lead with his left hand for a while as he sprained his throwing wrist in a little game of Harlem Polo with a couple of Pullman porters. In the background we hear the lilting notes of a clarinet. (Lilting is the word as this is going to print.) You guessed it. It's the Beat Me Daddy, I Ate the Bar Whitacre. "Doghouse" tells me Whit will have to change some of his musical habits. Either he wears shoes to rehearsal or he has to sit in the back row. So if you want to hear five really musical fellows, just wait until this band comes to town. Then grab your best girl and head for Youngstown and all points east, west, north or south.

JUST BROWSING -

An unusually good story, "The Camp at Westlands" by Marjorie Hill Allee, is both interesting and amusing.

Written in delightful style, the story is centered around the young and spoiled daughter, Alice Scott, of The Scotts, who are quite rich in wealth but seem to lack the immaterial things which Alice wants. Although Alice has everything, she envies her friend Vicky, who is the only daughter of a poor, but respectable minister. Alice's family is dismayed when Alice, attending the University in her home town, decides to spend her summer at a work camp for the building of settlement homes, along with her friend Vicky.

Alice meets new people and learns that wealth isn't the only thing that counts. She also encounters romance while at camp and has many interesting ventures in her surroundings.

This book makes entertaining reading for boys and girls alike, because the problems presented are the same ones which boys and girls meet everyday.

Spring Comes In Swirl of Broomstick Skirts, Convertibles

Here we are in the midst of broomstick skirts (as popular as ever) and the ever-evident station wagon coats. All these things go to show that Salem high students have taken spring into their stride once more.

Believe it or not, that car (?) Sneezzy is driving, along with JOHNNY HART, JOCK HAGAN and BILL HAESSLY, is the new convertible which he has finally managed to put "back" on the road.

Speaking of convertibles, which seem to have it all over the other wrecks which are in evidence, FROSTY seems to have a merry old time racing his jalop with umpteen million studes hanging on the top, side, and even sitting in the rumble. None of these jalops are duly initiated until BABY FRATILA has properly exclaimed over the rattles and the rumbles. Which just goes to show that convertibles are "the things," whether they run or not.

Another case of 'spring fever' has struck the girls who at any time can be seen in their slacks, racing along on bicycles. TAY, BECKY, CAREY, DEE WEICHMAN and MARY LOU COPE just LOVE to go bike riding. CAROL JAEGER and JOHNNY BOTU find it great fun to get out their bikes and go trakkin' across the country side for a little exercise. And so it is that Spring has arrived with a gay old time for those who get on the beam.

Nobody ever sees his own face in the glass. What he observes there is a compound divided into three parts: one part himself as he really is, one part representing what he expects to see, and a third part, what he wishes to behold.

Salem to Play Host to 13th Annual Night Relays Sat. at Reilly

Girls' Running Team To Be New Feature of Annual Salem Track Classic; Cleveland East Tech Again Favored

The local thinclads will be gunning for a place in the 13th annual Night Relays tomorrow night in Reilly stadium when the great Salem classic gets underway.

The Cleveland East Tech track squad appears to have another championship team, having won the Ohio Wesleyan relays Saturday. The Clevelanders were the winners of the '41 Night Relays.

The entries for the Relays are estimated between 25 to 30 teams. Some of the schools will be Alliance, Louisville, Youngstown Rayen, East Palestine, Cleveland East Tech, Warren, Canton McKinley, Akron Buchtel, Akron North, Akron East, Boardman.

Cleveland East Tech is again the most favored of any teams yet entered, and is expected to come through with first place.

Last year Akron North and Akron East tied for second. It looks rather doubtful that either of these teams will place too high up tomorrow, since they have not shown up too well in their dual meets so far this season.

The newest addition to the Night relays is the girl's running team with the eight girls in the quarter mile relay with each girl running fifty five yards. Their opposition will be eight Salem Junior High boys running on the same basis.

These girls attend a rural school in the outskirts of Warren and have held the Trumbull county record for three years.

Dodds and Rice, scheduled to run exhibitions at the meet, will not be able to appear.

The coaches' meeting will be held at 1:30 p. m. The preliminaries will follow that meeting and start at 2 p. m. The finals will then be run off, starting at 7:30 p. m. Only those wearing "official" badges will be admitted on the field.

Various trophies and medals will be awarded to the winning athletes and teams.

Quakers Nab 2nd Victory, 67-51 Over Louisville

Bingham Gets First In Broad Jump

The local thinclads nabbed their 2nd victory of the season by turning down Louisville last Friday 67-51.

Bingham shone in a beautiful 19 foot 7½ inch broad jump to take a first place for Salem.

Gulling of Louisville appeared to be the most outstanding athlete of the meet registering 15 points for the home tows.

Entriiken and Ruffing collected 8 points apiece to share high point honors for Salem.

Darwin Charnesky and Ed Ferko, sophomore teammates, both took a second place in the half mile and one-fourth mile respectively.

Both Salem relay teams came through with wins as they have before. The chances for Salem to make a good showing in the county meet looks better and better due to the increasing victories chalked up for the locals.

other Quaker wins. Hart tossed the platter 120 feet, 5 inches to cop, while Ferko pulled from behind to win the 440 grind in the stretch by just inches. His time was 55.3 seconds. Frank "Jock" Hagan, Salem's other outstanding 440 man, finished second. Bob Ruffing, Quaker weight man, copped second in the shot put and third in the discus while Gerald Bingham tied for second in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet, 11 inches, and Bill Shoop and Bill Beardmore placed third in the mile and 100-yard dash, respectively. Frank "Flick" Entriiken placed third in both hurdles races.

With the night relays coming up Saturday, Coach Overturf is preparing his squad for the highlight of the Quaker track season each year.

Quakers Go Down Before Boardman

Failure to live up to past standards cost the Salem High thinclads a possible victory in a dual meet against Boardman yesterday at Reilly stadium as the Youngstowners walked away with the meet, 71½ to 46½. This and a little tough luck tells the story of the locals' overwhelming defeat at the hands of their worthy opponents.

Dan Kleon, Quaker pole vaulter, suffered a bad reversal of form and was eliminated before the event was hardly under way. His elimination dropped the load of carrying-on to Bob Scullion who came through in fine style to win at 10 feet, eight inches. The half-way relay team suffered a stroke of bad luck when they lost their race by several yards after doing a juggling act with the baton in the second leg of the event. Other Quaker dependables failed to come through as expected, some of them even failing to place in their respective events.

Bob Scullion scored wins in the pole vault and the shot put to take high point honors for the Quakers, with 10 points, while Boardman's ace hurdler came through with wins in both his events and helped win the mile relay for a total of 11¼ points. Dick Boughton's win in the 100-yard dash and second in high jump gave him runner-up honors to Scullion.

Captain's Chatter

By "Captain" Rance

Tomorrow is the day! The biggest sports event of the year comes off at Reilly Stadium. It is none other than the 13th Night Relays. The meet this year promises plenty of excitement. Cleveland East Tech, champion of the Night Relays for the last three years, is back to defend its crown. The Carpenters are fresh from capturing the Ohio Wesleyan Relays at Delaware last Saturday. Practically all of the district schools are represented and as usual the Akron schools. There will also be special invitational races but the contestants are unknown at the time of writing. Here's hoping for good weather.

My derision of the Indians must have done some good. At this time, they have won nine in a row. Hats off to rookie Orris Hockett. That means yours, too, "Mr." Raymond McGaffick.

I don't know if you read about him or not, but the celebrated Campbell Kane of the University of Indiana was one of the two boys who, as Indiana University freshmen, paced Don Lash here two years ago at the Night Relays in his attempt to set a new world's record for the two-mile run.

It is rumored that the local F.B. I. department will be absent from this year's Night Relays. Too bad.

The Quaker track team has turned in two wins since their initial loss to Rayen. They have dumped Warren, 73-44, and Louisville, 67-51. Nice going fellows. Don't forget what I said about the Quakers' juniors and sophomores. Those boys have been turning in some nice times and are really going to be tough. A few of the fine performances are: 11 feet in the pole vault by sophomore Danny Kleon; 19 feet 7 inches in the broad jump by sophomore Gerald Bingham; a 53.1 quarter-mile by junior Jock Hagan, a 2:12 half-mile by sophomore Darwin Charnesky; a 54.2 quarter-mile by sophomore Ed Ferko, and a host of others.

The tennis team lost its first match of the season to Youngstown Chaney, 5-2. My advice is to keep your eye on Warren for that Mahoning Valley Tennis League championship this year. They have defeated Youngstown Rayen, last year's champs.

Quakers Trample Warren, 73-44

The Salem thincladh came through with their first win of the season out of two tries, downing Warren 73-44 at Reilly stadium on April 22.

Majoring in the weight events Salem nabbed ten points garnered by Robert Ruffing in the shot put and discus throw.

Ed Ferko, sophomore, won the 440 in 54.5 seconds, barely beating out "Jock" Hagan also of Salem.

Beardmore copped first place in the 220.

Jr. High To See New Disney Film

Plans have been completed to bring the much discussed $800,000 Donald Duck film, "The New Spirit" to the Junior High to be shown to the pupils.

During next week, National Music Week, plans have been made to have a number of musical assemblies presented.

Helm Wins

The Junior High Book club under the direction of Miss Effie Cameron, held a contest for making up the best stories from book titles. The prize went to Ann Helm.

A home defense film, "Ready On the Home Front" was shown to the Junior High pupils Thursday and Friday, April 23 and 24.

Play Given

A play depicting a part of John J. Audubon's life was presented by the Audubon club under the supervision of Mr. William Baker, Tuesday and Thursday, April 28 and 30.

Miss Harriet Percival gave a book review before the seventh and eighth grades Wednesday and Friday, April 29 and May 1.

Party Held

The Junior High Association party held Wednesday, April 29, featured The Bell Family, a family group of novelty actors who present comedy acts, sing, give readings, and other novelties. After this there was dancing to the music of Vito Faini and his orchestra.

Girls softball was started last Monday. Each home room has elected a captain and will have teams. This activity will be in charge of two High school girls, Doris Ellis, Alice Eppinger, Doris Holroyd, Martha Hicks, sophomores; and Phyllis Safreed, Helen Rinehart, Betty Astry, Lorna Helmick, freshmen. The games will be played after school behind the Fourth Street building.

Never go out to meet trouble. If you will just sit still, nine times out of ten someone will intercept it before it reaches you.

Hints on speech-making: Be sincere—be brief—be seated.

Tornado Strikes

This map shows the northeastern Oklahoma area where tornadic winds struck, killing an estimated 100 persons at Pryor, war boom town, and injuring more than 250.

A man always has two reasons for doing anything—a good reason and the real reason.

Sewing Classes Begin Final Project of Year

Under the supervision of Miss Ala Zimmerman the sewing classes have started their final project for the year. Each girl will make either a sport or an afternoon dress and will keep a record to see how long it takes to complete the garment.

A man had been discovered dead, and the jury was puzzled as to what caused his death. Finally, they stated: "It was an act of God under very suspicious circumstances.
