

Pottorf, Rance, Asmus To Be Class Speakers

"The Americas" Theme For Commencement Exercises, June 4

Rita Pottorf, William Rance and Homer Asmus, first, fifth and seventh honor graduates, will speak at the commencement exercises to be held June 4 at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium.

The central theme of the commencement being "The Americas," Rance will speak first on "The Western Hemisphere." The second oration, "I Am an American Youth," will be delivered by Miss Pottorf. Asmus will speak on "United We Stand".

One hundred eighty-six seniors will participate in the 25th annual commencement in the present High school building, with enrollment falling several short of last year's graduating class. The seniors will be entertained at an upperclass prom by the juniors tonight in the high school gymnasium.

Books for Soldiers Is Library's Plea

Have you a number of old books lying around in your attic that no one will ever look at again? Why not get rid of them and at the same time be patriotic? For several months the public and school libraries have been collecting books to send to various army camps for the soldiers to read. Don't you think this is a good way to rid your homes of a great fire hazard as well as helping some soldier to while away his few leisure hours? You do? Then, when your mother cleans the upper premises of your house, be sure to save the books and bring them to the school library to be sent to the army camps through the Salem public library.

Wartime Atmosphere Enters Sewing Class

The wartime atmosphere is now entering the routine work of the Home Economics Sewing department as it is combining with many industries of today.

The girls of Miss Zimmerman's Sewing classes are showing the effect of the war on the "Styles of Miss Teen Age" and the result is slacks, slacks of every style and color along with sports dresses of many designs.

The last week of the school year will be spent on the care and repair of clothing.

14,268 REGISTER FOR SUGAR

The sugar rationing in the elementary schools closed Thursday evening, May 7. From now on, people who wish to register will apply to the Sugar Rationing board.

The recent registration showed 14,268 applications, which gives a pretty accurate number for the population of Salem.

Rev. Carl Asmus To Speak at Service

Reverend Carl Asmus, minister of the First Methodist Church of Salem, will preach the sermon at the baccalaureate service on Sunday, May 31, at 7:30 in the Salem High school auditorium.

The Salem Ministerial association will have charge of the order of the service.

Brooks Awards To Be Made

Winners of awards in the annual Brooks Literary contest will be announced next Wednesday morning in the Salem high school auditorium. The first place winners in the short story and essay divisions will read their selections. Finalists in the poetry and oration sections will also present their entries.

The Brooks contest was instituted by Attorney Charles Twing Brooks for the purpose of stimulating better English among the students of Salem high school. It is divided into four divisions: short story, essay, poetry and oration.

Preliminary judging in the contest was done by Salem high school teachers who have majored in English. Final judge in all four divisions was Dr. E. C. Ekler of Mount Union college, Alliance, Ohio. Dr. Ekler will also be present next Wednesday morning to judge the poetry and orations.

Poetry and orations will be judged on 90 per cent, content, and 10 per cent delivery.

Ten Years Makes Difference In Class

Many changes have come to the halls of Salem High school since 1942. This is now 1952. The school has been enlarged, and there is now a splendid cafeteria large enough to accommodate all of its two thousand students. After ten years let us see what the members of the class of '42 have accomplished during this time. A few representatives of the class have returned to pay their respects to the old Alma Mater.

There is Bill Dunlap telling a group of gasping Freshmen how he put over one of the greatest deals Wall Street ever saw.

Alyse Kuniewicz is explaining to an interested audience how she became one of the world's greatest brain surgeons.

Maybelle Huston has just returned from Los Angeles where she directed the University of California band as they paraded for the President of the United States.

Salvatore "Tut" Guappone, who during his four years in college was Notre Dame's star football player, is rambunctiously demonstrating some of his better plays.

Bill Rance is now the owner of the Salem Pirates and is bragging that they will take the pennant for 1952.

Art Scheib To Head Thespians

Seven Juniors Admitted By Dramatic Club At Meeting Monday

Art Scheib was elected president of the Salem High troupe of National Thespians at a meeting Monday night in the High school auditorium. Howard Coy was chosen vice president and Irene Fratila, secretary-treasurer. They will serve the club for the next school year. Retiring officers are Charles Lind, Wayne Steffel and Jean Carey.

Seven juniors were also admitted to the club at the initiation held the same night. Having earned 12 or more points for outstanding work in dramatics, the seven took part in both the formal initiation and the informal, a form of slow mental torture.

Those elected to membership were Faye Cozad, Irene Fratila, Mary Byers, Gene McArtor, Virginia Snyder, Marjory Fredericks and Herbert Hansell.

A picnic to be held June 3 at Mill Creek park in Youngstown is being planned by the new members.

S.H.S. Students Give Vacation Tips

About this time every year the studious studes start thinkin' of how they are going to spend their vacation. Of course there won't be any names mentioned but for the sake of those who don't know what to do, it might be possible to follow these examples.

One of the luckier lads with a leg for sprinting has decided to move a tent near Reilly stadium and then race around the track night, morn and between meals.

A certain lovely lady has decided that she will practice singing lessons every single day no matter what the neighbors say—they don't say much, really.

A couple of other co-eds have decided to go to summer school and continue their precious education, instead of diverting their time to lighter things.

Then, too, a journalistic-minded coed has decided to try her hand at the art of newspaper work, right here in our fair city. More and more of the lads have decided to take their "converts" and just roam around the countryside with fishing tackle on one side and a friend on the other. All in all, though, almost everyone has managed to come to the conclusion that there is work to be done and they're goin' to do it.

First Aid Film Shown at S. H. S.

The First Aid committee of the Salem Red Cross Chapter showed a film in the auditorium of Salem High school Thursday evening, May 7. This film was entitled "Before the Doctor Comes" and demonstrated proper methods of first aid in case of injuries.

Students Favor New Program

Almost half the high school students in the United States favor an accelerated college program which will enable them to complete their educations more quickly, as called for by the present emergency.

This is revealed in the results of a recent survey conducted by Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, among 9,354 high school students throughout the country.

Forty-eight per cent of the students queried said that they preferred one of three types of accelerated programs to the traditional four-year course with annual summer vacations. Percentages ranged from 35 per cent on Chicago's North Shore to 54 per cent in the western states.

Fifty per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls favored acceleration, but indications were that many boys voted against speedups because they must work during the summer vacations.

Most popular of three suggested faster programs was one calling for three regular years and two summer quarters, averaging sixteen or seventeen hours each, with graduation coming in June of the third year. This was selected by 20.6 per cent of the students who voted, or 43.5 per cent of the students who favored acceleration.

The second choice among speed-up program was one calling for three regular years and three summer quarters, averaging fifteen hours each, with graduation in August of the third year. This was chosen by 17.3 per cent of the students who voted, or 36.2 per cent of those who favored changes.

Only 9.6 per cent of the students voting favored the third suggestion, involving two and one-half regular years and two summer quarters, averaging eighteen hours each, with graduation coming in March of the third year.

Varsity S Picnic To Be June 3

The date for the Varsity S picnic has been set for the afternoon of June 3 and will be held at Mill Creek park in Youngstown.

The committees are: Food, Phil Cozad, chairman, Dick Culberson, Bill Shoop; transportation: Dick Greene, chairman, Bob Scullion, Glenn Weigand and Frank Hagan. Entertainment: Salvadore Guappone, chairman, Bill Rance and Bob Ruffing and Jim Berger.

Amid icicles, penguins and other decorations suggesting the Arctic, approximately 300 juniors and seniors will tonight dance to the music of Bob Pattie and his 13 piece orchestra at the annual upperclass prom. Dancing will be held in the high school gym from 9-12.

Refreshments will be served from 10-11:30 to dancers. A group of sophomores will serve. Committees for this work are: Mr. Herb Brown and Miss Myrtle Cratty, faculty advisers; Bob Cibula, Bill Benson, Jack Rance, Jim Primm, Dick Scullion, Martha Hollinger, Claire Hicks, Ina Mae Getz, Dorothy Galchick and Jean Dilworth.

An informal skit will be presented at intermission by juniors on the entertainment committee. Those participating in this will be Barbara Brian, Paul Evans, Glenn Weigand, Mary Byers, Debora Gross, Louise Hanna, Betty Merry, Virginia Snyder, Herb Hansell, and Fred Krauss.

Biologists Find Rare Flowers On Hike

Several wild flowers, including a dark red trillium, were found on a biology trip taken by Mrs. Marion Cox's fourth period class, Thursday, May 14.

The class took their lunch and during the course of the trip found over forty different wild flowers, some of them very rare. The transportation was furnished by Mrs. Cox, Charles Myers, Terry Atkinson, Dick Greene and Don Lania.

S. H. S. Gym Gets New Backboards

The Ohio High School Athletic association has prescribed a new type of backboard for basketball next year. These new boards are much smaller than the ones now in use and have a butterfly shape. Being made of steel, they will give a different quality of rebound to the basketball striking against them.

These new steel backing boards have been installed in our gymnasium. Students wishing to try them out will have ample time to do so between now and the 1942-43 basketball season.

Glee Club Practices For Baccalaureate

Under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite the Girls' Glee Club has been practicing for the baccalaureate exercises to be held on May 31. The girls are working on a new song, "The Lord's Prayer", for this occasion. Mrs. Satterthwaite states that the club will prob-

It Can't Happen Here

It can't happen here. So say many citizens in this vicinity who with smug complacency are deliberately ignoring air raid precautions and other safety measures advocated by our government. Not much effort appears to have been made in and around Salem to protect ourselves if the worst should come.

A movie shown to the high school students several weeks ago on air raid precautions was regarded as a humorous incident by many. Such indifferent attitudes and complete disregard cannot protect us if the bombers should come.

And why shouldn't they? Our town lies in the vicinity of a number of vital defense industries and bombs intended for these could easily fall astray. Also, we should never forget the residential town of Coventry, England which was reduced to a mass of smoldering ruins by Axis bombs.

We'll Never Forget

In a few weeks the school year 1941-42 will have come to a close. With it will go memories that will be cherished for years to come. Also it shall be remembered that during this school year we saw the entrance of our country into war. We must never forget this year; to the end of our lives we must keep it in our minds and tell it to generations yet to come.

After we have seen to it that all peoples are free and happy, we must pledge ourselves to keep life that way. The generations yet to come must be instilled with the knowledge that if not guarded carefully the democratic way of life can be threatened and this it must never again be.

Tempus Fugit

Have you ever noticed that there are some people who always seem to have time to accomplish most of what they wish to, and there are always those people who are rushing around trying to do something at the very last minute? Then if they don't manage to slip in under the wire they use the stock excuse "I didn't have time".

Perhaps you are one of the latter type. If you are, here is a thought for you to ponder over. Everyone has just twenty-four hours each day. But of course some budget time and others let it flit by, accomplishing nothing.

Try budgeting yours for a change. It really makes a great difference.

Hoover Sweeper

I GET ALL THE DIRT

By Lois Hoover

Now, that June 4 is in the offing and all of the seniors are very happy that there is only one more week of school, they have decided to offer their last will and testament. (Of course they don't know about this)....This is the last column of all the dirt and leavins. (No applause, please!) Most of the things that are left are the secrets that the seniors have kept over a period of four years. Their success will be handed to the lower classmen.

The entire class leaves the school, the old lockers, the senior homerooms and their new TROPHY CASE to the oncoming class.

And then, Bill Dunlap leaves the Quaker office and all of the bills to the next manager. Sorry, boys, Dee graduates this year, too.

Jean Carey leaves a well-worn French book with lots and lots of notes and some translation to anyone that feels they need the knowledge.

Stretch Ware leaves with an ache in his heart. It took him four years to be president and then he has to graduate. He is seriously considering taking a post grad course.

Betty Alexander leaves that locker of hers to any one that will take as much care of it as she did.

Homer Asmus leaves so that he can go to college, where he will meet lots of pretty girls. Luck boy....

Barbara Flick leaves the ability to heckle to anyone that would like to make a career of it.

Bill Rance leaves that prizewinning column to the next boy. They better be an Indian rooter.

Twila Yates goes so that she can see more of that ex-grad.

John Botu leaves Carol. "Hands off" is what that big sign says on her back.

Sara Knepper, hops on her hobby horse and away she goes. It is rumored that she is going to the coal fields of Pennsylvania.

Sid Simon leaves with all of his camera equipment. No pictures next year, sorry.

Donna Haessley, leaves but she is taking along that voice that has filled the auditorium so many times.

Glenn Whitacre, is very sad that he has to leave. He can't follow those poor unsuspecting freshmen and heckle the teachers, and call special meetings.

Marye Skorupski and Donna Rice leave the the ability to crack gum to any one that can chew gum next year.

Phil Cozad leaves the ability to love 'em and leave 'em.

Virginia Mayhew leaves the ability she has to win a bet. The secret of her success is to always soon.

Marie Kastenhuber leaves the ability to act in the Senior play to any junior that cares to undertake such a tremendous task.

Dick Burcaw leaves with Maybelle.

Miriam Seeman leaves, but she goes every afternoon anyway.

"Goose McGaffick leaves the ability to root for the Yankees to any loyal junior that will stand by them like he did.

Rose Marie Bates leaves the comb that she always using on her raven locks to "Tooter" Lozier.

Bob Ruffing leaves Hazel, and the ability to always have to spit out the gum in English IV to any junior that wants the job.

Mamie Equize leaves all of her nicknames and other names to anyone that wants to lose on the average of 10 pounds a day running up and down stairs.

"Beanie" Tinsley and Buck Ritchie leave vacant holes on the Hi-Y basketball team.

Maybelle Huston leaves a very empty chair in the Band, but she is very happy to have anyone that wants it take it.

"Zeke" Steffel leaves that lovely blonde head of hair in the sophomore class to anyone that wants his head beat in.

Dee Weichman leaves with not even a backward glance.

"Slats" Entriaken leaves all two of his Fan Club, and also a very empty place in the Band.

June Wolford also leaves and takes her camera with her. No annual without snaps next year.

Dick Chessman leaves a year too soon, but he worked for it.

And last but not least I leave this column??? to the poor unsuspecting victim that gets sucked in to take it. It will need a complete change of scenery. O. K. Juniors, it's all yours. . .

Prom Trotters

Sadie Goes To the Prom

Well, here it is the big night of the Prom and here I am all tangled up in yards 'n yards of this beautiful new formal. I'm tellin' you, it's just elegant—lavanderish green with the most gorgeous big red poki-dots you've ever laid your lamps on. I'm so nervous I can't even rake my golden locks. What's that Mother? You want to know what that sickening smell is? Mother! how could you?! That's my new perfume, "Green Meadows" or better known as "Cow Pastures". Ain't it grand? I do hope Horatio will like it. He's calling for me at 7:30. Yes, Mother, I know the Prom doesn't start till nine, but Horatio and me are being patriotic. We're going to walk and we figured that since the school bus ain't running tonight and we only live 12 miles from town, if we start real early we can make it. What did you do with my corsage, Mother? Oh, here it is, ain't it beautiful—Johnny jump-ups and skunk cabbage—I was never so thrilled in all my born days. Ah, hah! There's Horatio at the door. I'll let him in, Mother; just relax. Hello, Horatio. Why, what's the matter—you're tired! Why, the evening's just begun. Come on, let's get started—it's only 12 miles.

Spring, Spring, beautiful Spring. Who was the nut that said that? Here it is May already and what does it do but rain all the time. Tuesday—We were going on a hike, it rained. Friday we were going on a hike, it rained.

Students Sacrifice To Aid War

As a person gazes out over the vast sea of Salem High school students, he can see a change taking place. Yes, they're learning to sacrifice along with the rest of the country. John Botu and Don Beeler can be seen sporting their new cuffless victory pants. Their efforts to brand Harvey Stiffler a "slacker" have failed. Harvey was able to procure two witnesses to collaborate the story that his cuffs were not "bootlegged." Al Volio, Dean Tice, and Alec Yuhaniak are eyeing timidly the shortened dresses in front of the school. Winter flabbiness and tire rationing have produced the bicycle brigade. Dale Wycoff, Bill Stratton. Sis Mullins, Shirley Mangus, Bill Haessley, and Alma Alton are charter members of the organization. Jean Carey is explaining to Buck Ritchie that the new victory tennis balls have a wicked bounce. In the Dean of Boys office, Mr. Jones is worrying about the effect that the golf ball shortage will have on his game this summer.

Sunday we were going on a hike it rained. It took all day Monday for it to dry off, by Tuesday the weather was fine but I wasn't feeling so well. Wednesday I came down with the measles. All this week the weather has been perfect, that is, up until today. We were going on a picnic and it rained. There just ain't no justice. Akron East Nabs Northeastern Ohio Track Meet

The Akron East thinclads came through with a first place last Saturday to win their second straight North Eastern Ohio district meet. The Eastsiders trailed throughout the meet until the latter part when they nosed out Akron North, 43½ to 36.

Hornutovsky took individual scoring honors with six points in the shot put and in the discus classic. The locals garnered five points during the meet, with Scullion placing fourth in the shot put while Ruffing also took a fourth place in the "platter toss." Hagan, Beardmore, Charnesky and Boughton teamed to finish fifth in the mile relay.

Alumna Acts In K. S. U. Play

Ruth West, graduate of Salem High in the class of '40, has been given one of the leading roles in the Kent State university production of "Heart of a City," World War II's greatest play. The play concerns the chorus girls of the famous Windmill theater of London during the bombing blitz of 1940. It shows their courage, bravery, and sacrifice under fire. The play is now running on Broadway and has just completed six weeks at the Cleveland playhouse. The entire proceeds of the show will go toward the purchase of United States War Bonds.

Ruth has also appeared in the former University productions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin", "Abe Lincoln in Illinois", and "George Washington Slept Here".

Former Teacher Tells of Army Life

Private James Campbell, former Junior High teacher, gave a talk to the students concerning army life after which he answered questions which the pupils wanted to know about.

The hygiene classes are sponsoring a safety campaign for the Junior High. A committee has been appointed to put posters and cartoons in the hallways so as to remind the pupils to practice safety rules.

The promotion assembly for the A film was shown, "We Drivers", to help encourage the pupils arrive safely. The entire student body has been asked to make posters about living safely. The six best from each home room will be chosen by a committee of the hygiene classes and the winners in turn will be given uniform size cardboard on which to make a final copy of his poster. These posters will then be judged and the winners will receive free tickets to the State theater.

At a recent Manual Arts assembly William Ward, president of the Manual Arts club, presided over the following program based around the building of a house. La Moyne Told gave a talk on the use of the different instruments used in mechanical drawing used in making the plans of a house. Ansley Mitchell presented a talk on the choosing of plans in the light of the kind and price of house you want. Bruce Mellott ended the program by showing a model Defense home which he built. He left parts of the house uncovered so the pupils

Quakers Topple Struthers, 5-2

The Salem High netters chalked up their fourth win in five starts when they toppled Struthers, 5-2, on the Volney Rodgers courts in Youngstown last Wednesday evening.

Carl Capel downed Wilson, 6-1, 6-3; while Ritchie defeated Herman 6-4, 6-4. Both of these boys showed a powerful attack against their opponents. Wayne Laughlin tripped Hill in a two out of three set, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3; Bob Ruffing won from McPhee, 3-6, 6-1, 10-8; and Bob Moore bowed to Burke, 7-5, 2-6, 6-1.

In the doubles Ritchie and Capel teamed to stop Wilson and Herman of Struthers 6-1, 6-2 while in the other match Laughlin and Ruffing were beaten by Hill and Lowry, 6-4, 6-4.

The Quaker netmen faced a big week starting last Monday. They faced the Alliance team Monday, May 18, Rayen on Tuesday, May 19, and Warren on Thursday, May 21.

All three schools are close in the standings and wins in these matches by the Quakers could give the locals the title. The Quaker went to press before results of these matches could be learned. But results of the school's standing in the Mahoning Valley league tournament will be published at the close of the season.

Captain's Chatter

By "Captain" Rance

Well, Salem High School's sport season is over except for a few tennis matches. Probably the highlight of the year was the fine Quaker basketball squad which had a season's record of 14 wins and five losses. The football and track outfits were somewhat inexperienced but if the war doesn't curtail Ohio's sports, great things are expected of them next year.

The last two big meets of the season, the county and N. E. O. district meet, are both over. East Palestine copped the county meet for the second straight year. East Liverpool showed unexpected strength in the county meet. Salem was hampered by a lot of bad breaks. Akron East had no trouble in outdistancing Akron North and Canton McKinley for the district title.

East Palestine's "great" track team pulled one grand flop in the district meet here last Saturday. Kell, their star (?) weight man failed even to qualify for the finals in both weight events. Roberts, the vaunted Bulldog miler, dropped out midway in the last lap. Burris "My Hero" Hunston was completely boxed for three quarters of the 440-yard dash.

Ed Ferko, the Quaker's sophomore 440 ace, was spiked while attempting to pass a man. He limped through the rest of the race but was unable to run in the mile relay.

All the boys are getting "blitz" haircuts these days. Some of the lads look very becoming. The latest addition to the outfit is "Baldy" Stratton. His head looks as though a panzer division just swept across it. Well fellows, that's one good way to keep out the cooties.

This edition is my swan song.

I'd like to take this chance to wish next year's Quaker athletic teams all the luck and success in the world. Get out there and hang a few on Alliance and East Liverpool and last but not least, cut that East Palestine Bulldog down to a toy fox terrier. That's his right size anyway. It's up to the underclassmen to return to Salem the athletic power it once used to have. Everyone wants to see the old days again—the days when the powerful Red and black ruled northeastern Ohio. You're the fellows who can do it.

Spring Mutilates Study Habits

Have you ever tried to study on one of these perfect spring evenings? In case you haven't, which is the most logical run of things, here's usually the way it happens.

At 6:30 p. m. after finishing a mammoth dinner, you read the funny paper to see what step Dick Tracy is taking. When this business is completed you decide to recline on the sofa and think about how to do your studies.

The next minute it's dark and you haven't thought about your studies. But you did accomplish a nice siesta. The hands on the time-piece are grasping 8:30.

Screeching of bicycle tires is heard out in front of your dwelling and when investigated is found to be "a bunch of the gang."

Without much coaxing you are on your "two wheeler" peddling like mad on the road to the favorite "hangout." You arrive safely, by some meager chance, after dodging those "can-opener" convertibles and their maniac drivers.

When the cokes are devoured and "The Jersey Bounce" and "I'll Take Tallula" are taken in, the gang decides to migrate.

Now, at the chime of 9:30, you've migrated and are home again.

The coke wasn't filling so you raid the ice box for every little thing you're hungry hands can pick up.

The time is now 11:00. Don't ask how it went so fast. All we know is that you decided that you couldn't study on a full stomach so you listened to Bob Hope and Red Skelton.

Now you're on your way to bed because you can't study when you're sleepy. You'll think about them.

Well, this is usually the run of things on a perfect evening. Don't ask us if we examples got the studies done. You ought to know because you probably do the same thing five nights a week.

BAND MEMBERS CHOOSE PROGRAMS

From now until the end of the school year Mr. C. M. Brautigam, band director, has asked every member of the band to arrange a program for one daily rehearsal. Each day a different student hands in his choice of numbers to be played during the band period. In this way each pupil will have the satisfaction of hearing his favorite songs as well as having the opportunity of trying to work out a balanced program.

Nature Takes A Beating

It was proved that boys have all the brains and girls all the athletic ability. The boys of S. H. S. swept the "Battle of The Sexes" Friday morning and the Chalker High School girls' relay team cleaned the picked boys from Salem Junior High school in their special race at the Night Relays.

Students Support Sugar Rationing

Everybody is thinking that he will be half starved since the sugar rationing started. A few of the S. H. S. students have already begun fixing their opinions.

MARIAN MESSERSMITH thinks that it won't do much good because the government can't tell how much sugar a family has on hand. (Oh, yeah!)

DICK BUTLER plans on regaining his girlish figure again, he hopes!

ELLEN COLLINS is definitely for the idea since it meant getting out of school at 2:30.

TERRY ATKINSON doesn't bother about such trifling matters since his family forgot to register and he doesn't like sugar anyway.

JIM BERGER replied that it didn't matter to him in the least.

MARILYN PAGE: "I think it's a good thing. It is better to have a little now than none later."

ERNIE WARE says, "It's okay as long as they don't ration my sugar."

BETTY CIBULA says, "It's all right because war will teach us conservation."

WALT BRIAN thinks it is the very thing and is very much for it.

ESTHER FREET thinks it is strange to take the folder with you into the store but, "I guess that's what war is."

Students Do Some Wishful Thinking

Everyone in classes is exclaiming how hot it is to study. Most can be seen gazing longingly at the great open spaces. The thoughts that are running through some of our students' heads are such as these:

ALMA ALTON: "Ah, for a convertible coupe right now to darken my sunburn."

DOMINIC ALESI industriously spoke up and said he would rather be working in that nice cool store again.

BOB "SKINNY" SCULLION'S look went admiringly to two little boys playing baseball. Need more be said?

ROSE MARIE BATES cornered in her first period class, yawned and said, "Sleep, of course".

ANN BODIRNEA shouted, "Biking, swimming, boating, tennis—only get me out of this oven."

SAM PRIDON responded with, "Ah, to be free again."

ETHEL LOZIER'S thoughts turn to swimming about this time every year.

ED FERKO caught half asleep in his most interesting class, moaned and said, "Anything, sleeping or eating."

RAY MCGAFFIC seems also to long for the old swimming hole.

MARY ANTONIO wants to get out and exercise to lose some weight.

OLIN KING: "The heat doesn't bother me because I'll only be too sorry when school is out."

DOLORES ROSE would give anything to be just out, anywhere but school.

FAY LEE would like to be sleeping or eating.

BARBARA ROBERTS: "Nothing, I like school."

Germany has more intelligence per square head than any other nation.

Spring Brings 'Merchant of Venice' Studied by Class

"In the spring a young man's fancy," according to tradition, "turns to love." Perhaps it does, and perhaps it doesn't, that all depends on whether the young man's fancy has been occupied by that for several months previously or except perhaps to ask the one in the next seat for an assignment.

There, are, of course, other ways in which spring affects people. Some always have the excuse that they have spring fever and sit gazing out of the window sighing and cooing to themselves. Spring fever affects some by gently pulling down their eye-lids and making them sleep. Spring is just another excuse for this, too as everyone knows, they have been sleeping all winter long in study halls.

Then there is the poor little girl who tries to avoid the sun and spring wind because she is afraid she will turn up the next day with a fresh batch of freckles. She wants to put this off as long as possible, preferably until after the prom.

It is wonderful how much news there is when people write every other day; if they wait for a month, there is nothing that seems worth telling.

The "Merchant of Venice," comedy by William Shakespeare is now being studied scene by scene, by the Salem High drama class taught by Miss Jean McCarthy.

Each member of the class is given one major part, one minor part and is to direct a scene of the play. This is to give the students both acting and directing experience, explained Miss McCarthy.

Drama class members are also keeping notebooks on the play.

If a woman has been loved, hated and envied, her life was worth living.

But all I see is mine.
