Last spring Mrs. Byers talked to Mme Chiang Kai-shek at Wesleyan College. Before beginning her book review next Thursday, Mrs. Byers has been asked to tell about her visit.

Before her marriage Mrs. Byers was an attorney and practiced law in Washington, D. C.

Sadness Results As True Friend Is Gone Forever

I am sad tonight. My heart is breaking because an old friend has gone forever. Never again will I hear your voice. Oh, how I will miss you! It is with deep sorrow I remember the times I angrily answered you when you spoke to me but you never gave me a cross word in your life. What I would give to have you back with me tonight!

Your place can never be filled. You never failed me and how often

Book Week is Coming!

BOOK WEEK, November 14-20, will be celebrated in our community under the leadership of librarians and teachers and throughout the nation, boys, girls and their parents will rally to the slogan, "Build the Future with Books."

In this war year, the aims of the observance—to bring young people and good books together—is even more vital than in peacetime. As the editor of The Horn Book states: "The children of today will tomorrow face great opportunities and tremendous responsibilities. The manner in which they face both will depend upon the imaginative spur received in these years of childhood."

The exhibits and programs planned in our community contribute to that "imaginative spur" and visitors to local libraries, schools and bookstores will find much to interest them, and activities to share during Children's Book Week.

War Stamp Sales Total Over $200 1st Week of Drive

The highest ranks thus far obtained by any student is that of captain, reached by Inez Jones, 204, Dick Mossey, 205, and Gene Shaffer, 309, with the purchase of $18.75 in stamps.

By buying $10.00 in stamps Robert Roberts, Marilyn Schaefer, and Shirley Smith have been advanced to first lieutenants. Pat Keener and Helen Rheinhardt have become second lieutenants by purchasing $5.00 in stamps.

Earthworms, Molds Culture Study by Biology Classes

The Biology classes, under the direction of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Matthews, have been collecting earthworms during the past week in preparation for dissection. Due to the late season few were found. Those bringing in earthworms included Russell Loudon, Byron Owens, Irene Fleischer, and Esther Jean Mayhew.

Another experiment in the form and study of a mold culture was exhibited by Munson Thorpe.

A new reference book on the study of Botany was placed in the Library recently entitled "The Text Book of Biology" by Transeau, Sampson and Teffany, published by Harpers.

"The Christmas Seal At Work" Theme for Tuberculosis Project

Entry Must Be Published In School Publication

The Ohio Health association is sponsoring a school newspaper project in health education. Any student may participate by writing an article on Tuberculosis to be published in the Quaker.

Participants may write either a news story, feature or editorial on the general theme of "The Christmas Seal at Work." Students should localize their articles by collecting statistics; as accuracy of medical and statistical information will be considered as important by the judging committee. The newspaper containing the printed article cannot be entered later than December 17.

The pupil submitting the best story in the state on tuberculosis will be awarded an all-expense trip to the Columbia Scholastic press meeting in New York in March. Last year a pupil representative from the "Student Prints," Struthers High school, received first prize. Certificates will be awarded for the second and third best stories in each class division.

Band To Feature Patriotic Program At Game Tonight

The Salem High school band will feature a patriotic program at the "half" of the football game tonight, Mr. Brautigam, director, announces. A huge fluorescent United States flag will be raised as spectators sing the National anthem. This will climax the performances this year, a different program having been featured at every home game.

Jackets and Sweaters Ordered By Varsity S

Members of the Varsity S club have recently ordered jackets and black sweaters with red letters mounted on them, announced Mr. Brown, club adviser.

The sweaters are also to have red rings around the arm. The number of rings depending on the number of years the member has been a letterman.

Having been overseas sixteen months, (six months in England, and the remainder in North Africa), Sergt. Thomas pointed out the inconveniences suffered by the soldiers. In June, 1942 he sailed together with 17,000 other soldiers, to England, aboard the Queen Elizabeth, overtaken by the army for military transportation. Since this was one of the first troop transports, many unnecessary hardships were endured by the over-crowded passengers, said Sergt. Thomas.

He arrived in England where the troops were inactive for several months due to the fact that American planes had not yet arrived. Thomas toured England during his stay there, and observed that the English people, especially the children were being influenced by the American way of life.

Several months later Sergt. Thomas and his outfit were transported to North Africa at the time of the first African campaign. While there Thomas noted the high temperatures prevalent throughout the year and also the abundance of fruit and vegetables.

It is Sergt. Thomas' belief that the morale of the American soldier is much higher than that of the citizen. He also declared that "life in the army is just what you make it."

Said Sergt. Thomas, "The appearance of the American soldier is rough and tough, but he is really soft-hearted underneath."

1918 to 1943

Another Armistice Day has come. Twenty-five years have passed since the first World War. Our government decided to honor its unknown soldiers, who had died to help preserve freedom. The body of one of these nameless men was brought back from "over there". It was buried under a simple block of marble in Arlington National Cemetery. This young man was but one of the eight and half million men who lost their lives in the War. To Americans he is the symbol of 26,000 sons of the Nation who made the greatest possible sacrifice for their country. The Unknown Soldier is one of the million who took up arms in answer to two battle cries: "Make the world safe for democracy" and "This is the war to end war."

On the first Armistice day, Nov. 11, 1918, those two battle cries seemed to be full of truth. Peace! Peace had come at last!

The Unknown soldier died before the first Armistice Day. If he could have seen it though he might have felt that he had not died in vain. Had the world been made safe for democracy? There was hope of it!

So much for 1918. What if the Unknown Soldier could awake and look out at the world today? He would have great doubts whether his sacrifice had been worth while. He would be saddened to see how democracy has fared during the last twenty-five years.

We are today in another war. A war that will probably shape the future of the world. Let us fight even harder to make this a lasting peace! So that the Unknown Soldier and thousands now on the battle field will not die in vain!

Dear Mom,

I know I promised you I wouldn't get married, but what could I do? She is a sergeant in the WAC and when she said, "We're getting married," according to army regulation, all I could say was "Yes, Sir!"

Your Loving Son,
REGGIE.

A German farmer was in search of a horse.

"I've got just the horse for you," said the liveryman. "He's five years old, sound as a dollar and goes ten miles without stopping."

The German threw his hands skyward.

"Not for me," he said, "Not for me. I live eight miles from town, und mit dot horse I haf to walk back two miles."

Fred—"My dear Dora, let this thought console you for your lover's death. Remember that other and better men than he have gone the same way."

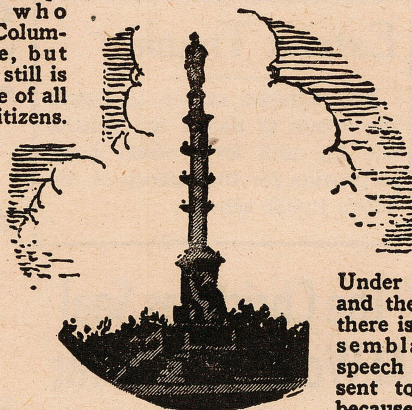

Bereaved one—"They haven't all gone, have they?"

The prospect of a good time will get almost anybody out of a sick bed.

Exchanges

Of McKinley High's graduating class of 1943, in Canton, only a very few are planning to enter college this fall. War jobs and the armed service rate first choice. A variety of courses are being offered for the service, or those going into war jobs.

This year has seen the loss of 15 members of the faculty, one who went to the Navy.

A former member of Lehman High school, Capt. Don Scott, has been killed in this war.

On Tuesday, Oct. 5, $1001.55 worth of stamps and bonds were sold at the Alliance High school. One of the rooms set a new mark by buying $3.25 in bonds and stamps per person.

The following mistakes in examination may convince almost anyone that there are some peaks of ignorance which he has yet to climb:

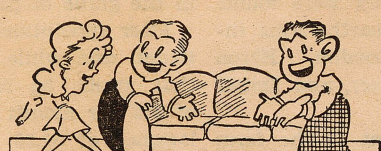

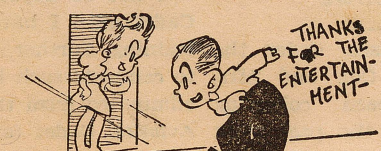

Magna Charta said that the King had no right to bring soldiers into a lady's house and tell her to mind them.

The law allowing only one wife is called monotony.

Queen Elizabeth rode a white horse from Kenilworth through Coventry with nothing on, and Raleigh offered her his cloak.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

The long arm of sympathy is outstretched to the fellows on the football team. Maybe they didn't lash Liverpool but they certainly played a good game. All the luck in the world for tonight's game, Kids!!

MOLES

"Moe" Hollinger, one of our famed football managers, is one in a million. He has the habit of calling everyone and everything a mole. If you're short, you're a mole, if your tall you're a mole. Besides this unusual trait, he's quite a lady killer. If even one syllable of a girl's name is mentioned his face turns as red as that red sweater he is usually found inside of.

"Rip" Hellman another member of the mole crew, had quite a jolt the other day. He was entering the dressing rooms at the football field and was cordially greeted by subtle hit on the head. The object of this jolt was a 17-pound door compressor. It left him rather startled and he obtained about a minute and a half of sleep without even asking for it. Poor "Rip", he always gets the worst of things!!

ANOTHER ONE!

Yep, another of those famed parties happened along the way last Saturday night. This time Peg Roose was the genial hostess. Everyone and his sister was there and they all had a gay old time. Especially "Handsome Raymie" Wise. He always has a good time when there is chow to content his stomach which, incidentally, has no bottom. He started to feed himself before anyone got to the food and he was still throwin' it in when everyone else had contented himself and had gone back to previous activities. There he was, up to his ears in sandwiches and potato chips. What a happy sight!

Another character was Danny (just call me "Lover") Smith. He says he can't dance but just give him a good hot tune and he'll shake all over. The kid does all right when it comes to boogie on the piano, too.

Everyone loved that little game called "Peejie Weejie" which someone ingeniously manufactured with his own two brain cells. Paula Kerr got the worst of it. She looked like an Egyptian mummy with all that black stuff spread on her fair face.

All in all, Peg, you gave a darn swell party! Thanks loads!! It's those kind of shindigs that keeps the morale up on the homefront.

Here's one dedicated to the majority of the members of the male sex:

Mother: "What have you been doing all afternoon?"

Son: "Shooting crap, mother."

Mother: "That must stop. Those little things have as much right to live as you have."

Well, 'nuff said for this time, drips. Have a good time and above all, don't work too hard!

Quakers Defeated 26-6 By Powerful Liverpool Squad Last Friday

Salem, Gaining More Yards and First Downs,
Fail to Capitalize On Scoring Positions

Failure to capitalize on several scoring opportunities brought the Salem Quakers their first defeat of the season at the hands of the East Liverpool Potters at Patterson field, last Friday night, by the score of 26 to 6.

The Quakers, outweighed 18 pounds per man had much difficulty in trying to stop the Potters fast backfield. The statistics show that the Red and Black gained more yards than their opponent and made more first downs. The Salem Squad missed three scoring opportunities from inside the Potters' ten yard line. Once they were stopped on the one-half yard line and lost the ball on downs.

The Potters' score in the first quarter was made by Bob Ward who skirted through the right side of the Salem line and past the secondary. The conversion for the extra point was low.

The Potters came back in the second quarter to score thirteen more points. Henry Pack scored from the ten yard line and John Plegge blocked the place kick for the extra point. After intercepting a pass the Liverpool squad drove over the goal line for their third touchdown. The placement was good and the half ended with the Ceramics leading the Quakers 19 to 6.

The Potters dominated the play during the third quarter with the Quakers in possession of the ball for only four downs. The Blue and White made their final score in the fourth quarter when Jackson plunged over the goal line from one yard line. The conversion failed for the extra point. For the rest of the game the Quakers took to the air, but to no avail. They reached the six yard line twice but couldn't get the ball across the goal.

This was the Salem squad's first setback of the season and it is the ninth straight year the Potters are unbeaten by Salem.

Quakers Face Lisbon In Last Game of '43; SHS After 7th Win

Eight Seniors End
SHS Grid Careers

The Salem Quakers play their last football game of the season tonight when they meet the Lisbon Blue Devils here at Reilly Field. Eight seniors on the Salem squad will play their last game for "Old Salem High." They are, "Flick" Entriaken, "Knobby" Greene, Ray Wise, Bob Shea, Fred Cain, Jack Smith, "Pete" Davis and Tom Ryan. "Benny" Kupka, another Senior will be unable to play in the game tonight, because of a broken knee, which he received in the Salem-Struthers game.

The Quakers will be after their seventh win of the year and are determined to make a good showing in their last game of the year since no post season games will be scheduled.

The Lisbon Blue Devils have a poor record because of their lack of reserves. They have won no games and have tried one in seven starts. The tie was with the Sebring squad which lost to the Quakers 45 to 6. The Blue Devils are out to nullify the 30 to 0 Salem victory of last year.

The Salem High band will also give their last performance under the florescent lights tonight.

Huddles with Hoover

By Tony Hoover

Well, it looks like the Fighting Quakers will end up their season with a win of seven engagements and the loss of just one, proviling the Blue Devils from Lisbon dro ptheir tilt tonight.

Salem Played good ball Friday last, mut the Potters excelled in scoring punch. From scrimmage, the locals out-distanced their opponents with fine passwork, but none took place over pay dirt.

If the Red and Black would have emerged from the gridiron victorious, it would have meant the county championship. The decision no wrests in the outcome of the Liverpool-Wellsville game on Thanksgiving Day.

A cacancy now exists in the Salem Varsity Basketball team, since Richard Greene leaves for the Army in two weeks. "Knobby" has been a member of the roundball squad for three seasons and will definitely be missed in the future. The local track team will also have to grant a leave of absence to William Stratton, who will depart to the U. S. Marines in the near future. Bill was a veteran manager and his services will not be easily forgotten.

The Basketball schedule for the current season calls for two games with Liverpool. One to take place in the home town and the other to be staged at Liverpool. Salem can get sweet revenge in both tilts and thus make up the loss suffered last weekend.

Salem had a good rooting section at Liverpool and really a large number of fans were present. Bill Han-nay had a flat tire and that was about the extent of the fatalities.

Well! Everyone is just about to witness the Senior play production "Don't Take My Penney". Olin King is in it, portraying the father. John Cone also stars in the performance with a French lingo.

Liquidate Lisbon!

Did you ever stop to think of the things that annoy you? You really have quite a lot after stopping to think of them. Among them you might include:

1. Tests of any kind.
2. Pencil sharpeners that leave you with a mere stub.
3. Rain at football games.
4. Little brothers and sisters who turn on the radio when you're studying.
5. People who hide your books.
6. Locked doors that stick.
7. Students who chew gum (and won't give you any).
8. Teachers who don't give you the benefit of the doubt.
9. The band music that can be heard (and I mean heard) in library.
10. People who copy someone else's paper and won't let you see what they copied.

Personalities In Salem High School

The female section of the personality sketches this week is Grace Pales, a studious junior who is 5 ft. 2½ inches tall and weight 130 pounds.

Grace is very enthusiastic about music, and hopes to be a music teacher in the future.

Her favorite hobby is music, her sport is football, and her favorite subjects are English and band.

Grace, who is in the junior music club and the band, enjoys listening to and playing "Begin the Beguine."

Olin King is the jolly fellow chosen as the personality boy of this week, so tune up your ears and listen.

Olin is 5 ft. 5½ in. tall and weight—oops, sorry folks, but Olin is very, very touchy about that subject.

He is president of the Thespian Club, has a part in the senior play and his hobby is playing classical music.

Olin, who likes dramatics and German especially well, would like to become a teacher of modern European history.

His favorite disc is Tschaiakovsky's "Concerto No. 1 in B flat minor" and his favorite orchestra leader is Wayne King.

Olin likes to dance, and is well-liked by all who know him.

Willie on the railroad track—
The engine gave a squeal.

Turn about is fair play they say.
When eight, Johnny loved soldiers and Mary was crazy about painted dolls. Now, at eighteen, Mary loves soldiers and Johnny is crazy about painted dolls.
