

1,014 Tickets Sold For Senior Class Play

Most Sold Since 1937; Also Large Profit Made

A total of 1,014 tickets were sold for the senior class play, "Don't Take My Penny!" presented Nov. 18-19.

These are more tickets than were sold since before 1937. The only time since 1937 that sales of tickets were near this record was the junior class play in 1940, "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," which sold 1,007 tickets. Total profits were also much larger than those for "Jeannie" in 1940.

One thousand-fourteen adult tickets were sold, 676 Senior High Association tickets, and 325 Junior High Association tickets. Miss Winifred Ospeck was director of this year's senior class play, and Miss Viola Bodo director "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair".

Extend Sympathy

The students and teachers of Salem High school wish to express their deepest sympathy to Mr. Ludwig, principal of Salem High school, whose wife died Dec. 5.

Mrs. Ludwig was a native of Martins Ferry, O., and a graduate of Muskingum college. She was formerly a librarian in the Cuyahoga Falls High school, and had substituted for various teachers at Salem High in the past. She is survived by her husband and one son, Kurt, at home.

The contest will be between the various home rooms with a chairman in charge of each. The chairmen chosen were: 301, Charles Alexander; 303—Shirley Doyle; 305—Eileen Guiler; 306—James Jensen; 307—Thad Lora; 308—Betty Rayniak; 309—Marilyn Schaefer; 310—Don Wright.

First Basketball Assembly Held Dec. 7

The first basketball pep assembly was held Tuesday, Dec. 7, in the auditorium.

Mr. Herbert Brown, basketball coach, introduced the members of his 1943-44 basketball squad.

The cheer leaders also contributed to the assembly by leading the students in several yells.

Biology Classes Begin Dissection of Worms

The biology classes under the direction of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Matthews have begun to dissect earth worms. The object of the first lesson in dissection was to remove the ten hearts and brain of the worm.

During the dissection, Lieut. John Paul Olloman, a former biology instructor at Salem High visited the class.

Quaker To Conduct Student Opinion Toll December 13th

Poll Made by Editors Of Scholastic Magazine

A poll for high school students on questions directly affecting them has been prepared by the editors of Scholastic magazine and ballots will be distributed Dec. 13.

The following statements are contained on the ballot, only one of which should be checked.

"If you could begin your career in any of the following and obtain the same income at the start, which would you choose?"

(A) Government or public service.

(B) Working for a large business or industrial corporation.

(C) Working for a small business or industry.

(D) Owning or managing your own business.

(E) A profession such as medicine, law, teaching or nursing.

(F) Farming or some branch of agriculture."

Immediate results of the poll will be published in the Quaker.

Important Revisions Made In Air Force Training Program

Important revisions are being made in the Army Air Forces training program with the following principal objectives:

(1) To coordinate training activities.

(2) To provide standardization and continuity of instruction.

(3) To bridge existing gaps.

(4) To insure maximum use of equipment and manpower.

(5) To correct shortcomings indicated by operational experience.

On Sept. 20, at Colorado Springs, 260 officers engaged in various phases of A. A. F. training met to re-examine the program, convening by committees for studies of specific problems. Brig. Gen. Robert W. Harper, assistant chief of air staff training, returned to Washington with a stack of committee recommendations.

Most important of the changes are those affecting flexible gunnery instruction. These revisions are being made in all air forces and commands. Flexible gunnery instruction is being started in the first and fourth Air Forces, which now are undertaking bombardment training as well as fighter training.

To make sure flexible gunnery training progresses smoothly from one phase and one agency to another, schedules and curricula of the Training Command and the training air forces will be closely coordinated.

Further to standardize gunnery teaching, a manual is being prepared for use in all schools. It will become the bible of gunnery instructors.

Revisions also are in progress in the training of navigators and

Rationing Taken In Stride By People In Second Year Of War

As the second year of war comes to an end, most persons find that they are taking things pretty well in their strides.

Everyone thought it would be terribly difficult to put up with rationing. Now, as it becomes almost a habit to ask how many red points or brown points or blue points or green points or airplane or tank or "Spare" stamps a thing is. Persons find that it isn't such a hardship at all. Everyone is as healthy now as before the war, except, perhaps for the wholly carnivorous man or animal.

Women and girls didn't see how they could get along without Nylons, but they are getting along.

The kids at the local hangout yell some about "Victory Cokes" and the absence of candy bars that's the girls. The boys are satisfied. Rationing helps their pocket books and the girls figures.

Mom and Pop's main kick was gas rationing. Mom didn't see how she can do without her weekly visit to the city or why the rationing board shouldn't give Pop gas to take her to her biweekly Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoon and night clubs and once in a while to a breakfast or a supper. It really would do her a great injustice, she thought. But what does she now think of walking a mile to the swingshift assembly line where she rivets planes. By the way, since Mom walks, Pop has to walk too. He wouldn't dare take the car out of the Garage. We all know wifey would have no ulterior motive other than—patriotism.

But all in all, everyone is taking things as they come, complaining a little, praising a little, and getting a-long very satisfactorily.

Two Years Ago

Remember the Monday when we came back to school after that December 7 two years ago? Sure, we all do. A great change came into the lives of everyone. If it hadn't been for that day there wouldn't have been such a thing as rationing; our brothers and friends would have been with us now; our holidays would be what they should be.

Now there is another December 7, and two years have gone by since the first December 7. For a while things looked pretty tough for the Americans, but now we really have the Axis on the run. This to a considerable extent is made possible by the bonds and stamps we buy. Let's slap those Japs back by buying a bond or at least a few stamps at the beginning of our third year in the war.

Greetings Goons! It's amazing how time stumbles on! Oh, what I could do with a few extra hours per day. I'll try and dish you a few heaping portions of fads, well flavored with styles and garnished with the latest in glamour.

Oh! Lay, that pistol down, Ruth! Lay that pistol down! Ruth Baltorinic was overjoyed when I did not mention the fact that she uses a little (?) coloring matter to add that reddish tint to her golden (?) locks. All's fair in love and war!

This month all the fashions mags. are featuring early tips on Christmas gifts. Perfumes, colognes, powders, lipstick, etc., will be scarce this year. Here are a few tips I've gathered up and I'll pass on to you.

Try giving: Personalized linen handkerchiefs. Felt suspenders to help hitch up skirts and slacks. A Dutch cap of plaid taffeta, velvet, or quilted satin. Brightly colored aprons with enormous patch pockets. A giant cloud-mist scarf of pure wool. Super-duper fur bunny mittens for a snow-fiend friend. Hatpins that come straight from the Arabian Nights. They turn the plainest lid into a date confection. They come in all sizes, shapes and colors. A drawstring bag that combines well with all kinds of togs.

For around the house get a pair of cutie booties in white wool with red or green pompons.

Something new! Quilted housecoats at a neat-knee length, now are smashing all the headlines.

Year by year the boots become scarcer. Now, a new "Stadium Boot" is out. From all appearances it's swell! They say it's out of the cockpit and onto the campus. A high-riding new fad borrowed from America's flying heroes. They're completely sheepskin lined, with a half-inch insulated platform and heavy rubber soles. They slip over your shoes and keep your tootsies warm.

Phyllis Gross has the right idea on how to brighten up a sweater or dress. Just paste small stars on your sweater, etc. and it looks super. You can get the stars in practically any color.

A slick idea on how to make your hair beautiful for an extra special date. They do it in Hollywood too. Take Christmas snow and sprinkle it on your hair. It looks like star lights glistening.

Several guys have asked me why I never write about men's fashions. Fellas, as soon as the latest "Esquire" comes I'll leaf through and see if there's anything worth while. (That is besides Vargo.) I can make this statement though! It's a gal's world! So scram to the sport's page until further notice.

An up and coming color in fashions is slate grey. Others on the list are dull green and luggage. Orchid is still as eye appealing as ever. Even though winter is here, white is still a popular color.

My eyes are bleary, my fingers numb, so I'll leave you chillun to fiddle you're thumbs. Here's a little corn that doesn't require ration points. Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow, with silver bells and cockle-shells—and three darn petunias?

Hope you tune in next week for some more leary bleatings.

By now.

That bag o' wind is blowing your way again, studes, so sit down and take heed! I'm a bit rusty after a short vacation from this journalistic mishap, so you'll just have to suffer the consequences. Anyway, here goes!

DEFINITION

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, it is absolute bliss for two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it, and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask. To a young girl, Faith; to a young woman, Hope; and to an old maid, Charity.

JOHN, THE ARTISTE!

You have all undoubtedly heard of the Senior class gift to the musical world. I am speaking of none other than John Cone. Not long ago this package of vocal chords and wavy hair favored the fifth period English IV class with a solo. He chose "I Love You Truly" as the selection and Alma Alton as the victim. The said class of English Literature Observers had begged our hero for days to give out with something solid, but the kid just wouldn't oblige. Finally, after he was nagged to shreds, he consented. It was Miss Alton who requested the said number, so he gave in only on the condition that he could hold her hand and sing into her big blue eyes. Well, that's the description. You take it from there. I'm sure you can all imagine the rest. Anyway, Johnny, you did a great job so we'll take our hats off to you!!!

CUPID'S CHOICE

"Flick" and Mollie are the victims of that deadly arrow this week. Entriken and Schmid are the last names of the lovers but I think they are well-known enough to forget them. (The last names, I mean.) They certainly have some good times. Well, I guess we all could if we were crazy! Good luck, bugs!

CONGRATULATIONS!

A great deal of thanks should be thrown in the direction of the decorating committee for the Junior-Senior party. It was really swell, kids. The old gym quite magically took on that old Christmas atmosphere. The band was in the groove and rarin' to go. From all reports, the attenders had a gay time, but next time let's have twice as many people there. What is the matter with the "men" of S. H. S.?

DISAPPOINTMENT

Before I heard the doctors tell
The dangers of a kiss,
I had considered kissing you,
The nearest thing to bliss.
But now I sit and sigh and moan;
Six million mad bacteria,
And I thought we were alone.

ON BEHALF OF THE FRESHMEN!

Yessiree, some of these little mites do get around and make places in the world for themselves. Especially Jo Wise and Joan Hardy. These bundles of charm have nabbed some men! Yes, girls, I said "men". I admit that they are very scarce recently. Anyway, the two lucky victims are Frances Lanny and Jay Leach, respectively. I don't know how deep these affections are rooted, but the kids are seen together quite often. I can say, though, it must be nice.

CORN OF THE WEEK

A private walking down the street with his sweetheart met a sergeant belonging to his regiment.

"My sister, Sergeant," said the bashful young man.

"That's all right," said the Sergeant, smiling; "she used to be mine."

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Since Wednesday was another one of those fatal days, namely report cards, I want to extend my sympathy to all you hard-working, slave driven, mistreated students. I know exactly how you feel, believe me. Better luck next time!

I'm going to turn off the steam for this time.

The thought for the week is: A kiss that speaks volumes is seldom a first edition.

See ya' next week.

Army Doctor: "Now I'll examine your throat. Open your mouth and say "Ah."

Recruit: "Au"; "No, 'Ah"; "Noah"; "No!"; "No".

Army Doctor: "Never mind—next!"

Little Brother: "What's etigquet?"

Little Bigger Brother: "It's saying, No, thank you, when you want to holler, 'gimme!'"

Quakers Play Host To Columbiana Clippers In First Home Game

Six Lettermen On Columbiana Squad Coached By Merle Etkins; Varsity Game to Start at 8:45

The Salem High school basketball team will play host to the Columbiana squad tonight. The reserve game is scheduled to start at 7:30 and the varsity at 8:45.

The Columbiana team, coached by Merle Etkins, has six lettermen left from last year and will be showing all their power tonight. These six lettermen are Dickinson, Case, Laughlin, Newl, Evans and Peck. Case has proved to be the high point man for the visitors by scoring 23 points against Salineville as Columbiana won, 53 to 31. Columbiana also played Fairfield last Friday night. Hollinger, a new addition to the squad, stands six feet three inches and has played well in their first two encounters at the center position.

The Salem team will probably use a fast-break offense and a man-to-man defense. The Quakers have three lettermen to Columbiana's six and have played only one game while the visitors have played two.

Four Boys Lost To Armed Services From Metal Classes

"The metal industry classes are working right along on the same projects as before and will continue until the second semester begins," stater Mr. Reader and Mr. Swanger, class instructors.

There are now, just twenty-two boys in the classes. Five of the boys have withdrawn from the class—four to the services. Dick Greene to the Army, Bill Stratton and Bill Martin to the Marines, and Bob Zeck to the Navy.

Greene, Plegge Placed On 2nd Team; Wise, Cain, Kupka, Juliano, Lanney Receive Honorable Mention

Flick Entriaken, speedy left half-back, and Walt Brian, rangy end, pulled down two berths on the first team of the mythical all-county eleven, which was selected by coaches and sports writers throughout the district.

Knobby Greene, captain of the Quaker eleven, who is now in the U. S. Army, was placed in the back field of the second all-County team.

Johnny Plegge, scrappy sophomore Quaker guard, was also placed on the second team.

Those of Salem receiving honorable mention are as follows: Francis Lanney, a fine offensive and defensive player; Lou Juliano, fast charging tackle; Fred Cain, a capable mainstay in the Quakers' line; Ben Kupka, a tough line-backer as well as center; and Butch Wise, a hard driving fullback, as well as a tough defensive player.

Entriaken was elected for his post by every coach who saw him play.

Gregg Arbaugh, Wellsville speedster, just barely nosed out Knobby Greene, scrappy Quaker right half.

HUDDLES WITH HOOVER
Tomorrow evening the local basketballers will play host to the Columbiana Clippers. The latter having quite a number of veterans from last years quintet and are by no means expecting a setback. Last season the Columbians trounced the Brownmen in the dying minutes of the tussel to the tune of 31 to 34.

At Ravenna it was Wise, Entriaken, Brian, Smith, and Lanney that started the skirmish. It was a highly exciting ball game, with both teams playing excellent offensive ball.

Did you notice the new uniforms that the Quakers were sporting in Ravenna? The team has a choice of two jerseys; they have both red and white ones, the trunks are red satin, with sweat jackets of black which makes quite a colorful spectacle.

Last week Coach Dodez made his choices for the freshman basketball squad. He has some 18 boys on the team at present and expects to eliminate it to a smaller number soon. It looks as though there is some talent in the way of roundball in the Freshman class. Columbian sixth grade stars seem to be the most numerous, with a few crafty individuals from McKinley.

Joe Kelley, the veteran basketball league organizer is at it again. Yes, all entries must be in by yesterday. There is no report on the number of teams entering, but from rumors there will be no scarcity.

"Hats off" this week to the Great Lakes. The sailors handed to the high flying Irish from Notre Dame a defeat in the last 26 seconds of the final period. It was bound to happen when a team like Notre Dame gets too over-confident. That final play that defeated them was called by sport skeptics the most spectacular play of 1943. If the Irish would have gone undefeated it would have been the first since 1930, the days when Knute Rockne was in his prime.

Wartime Item Acquires Fame In Course of Year

The letter below was written by Fred Krauss, who graduated from Salem High school in the class of '42, to his brother, Walter, who is now a Sophomore.

Dear Walt,

I have a little spare time on my hands now, so I thought I'd write. I wanted to give you some advice. It seems out here that the smarter fellows, or the hardest working; go to school. The rest just are in Air Corps. Not that I'll go to school. (Probably won't).

But, if you make the best of your school work, your lessons, and advice of your teachers, you'll be O.K. and better off. You fellows probably call B. G. Ludwig a dictator. You ought to be in the Army where an order is an order that must be obeyed. In your school, they only ask you to do the logical and most needed things to help you progress.

Out here if the Sarge says "Walk ten miles on a hike, you lazy blanks blanks," you do it without asking "why?"

Make the most of the band and other school activities. Try track and basketball. If you still smoke try to give it up if the sport requires it.

Try to get into anything that increases your knowledge and thinking power. I only see now, even if I did do average in school, that loafing and gold bricking only harms you. No one else. I'll end this letter.

Bye now,
"Blitz".

Sally Finds Pleasure In Radio Commercial

Sally plunked down on the soft, spacious chair in her bedroom, all set to listen to some favorite radio programs and do tomorrow's studies. First on the dial was Harry James. He played two pieces in 15 minutes and the rest of the time was used up by the announcer. He raved about "Chesterfields, the milder, riper, tobacco". Sally fumed and flustered all evening about it and decided to quit listening to the radio at all. Later when her American history just refused to register, she turned her radio back on and what happened? Yes, Kay Kyser blurring LS-MFT, LS-MFT! For a few broadcasts it wasn't so bad—it kind of made one curious, but now after 60 repeat performances, Sally was just a bit bored. She remembered the night before, Fibber McGhee was continually reminding listeners about "Johnsons Glo-Coat" and "Car Nu", and the night before Jack Benny and those old crispy, crunchy "Grape Nut Flakes."

Sally was at her wits ends, when all of a sudden, a recorded program of Glenn Miller discs. Oh

A year ago I was unknown, but as soon as people heard of me they all wanted me. As soon as they got me they commenced complaining and saying what a nuisance I was. The way they talked I was surely surprised when they brought home several of my little brothers and sisters and I suppose we were a lot of trouble as Mrs. B. always took us down town when she went.

One day Mr. B. came home and told Mrs. B. a particular friend would be in town over the week-end and he had asked him to stay with us and he was anxious that everything would be just right. Mrs. B. said they didn't have a thing in the house to eat so she would have to go to the grocery. Just as she was ready to go, her next door neighbor ran in to borrow a cup of sugar. They got to talking about me and my brothers and sisters. They said the most dreadful things—what a trouble we were and how glad they would be when they didn't have to keep us and they could burn us up. I was so scared and ashamed I just slid down off Mrs. B.'s lap and hid.

After the neighbor left Mrs. B. missed me and began hunting for me. The longer she looked the angrier she got. I don't know why she didn't go on down town without me but she didn't. She just tore the house up side down looking for me and seemed terribly worried when she couldn't find me. She called her neighbor in to help. She even telephoned her husband and said she couldn't have his friend. I don't understand yet why they wanted me and didn't want me. Maybe you can tell me. Oh! I forgot to tell you my name—a Ration BOOK.

An army officer decided to see for himself how his sentries were doing their duty. He was somewhat surprised at overhearing the following:

"Halt! Who goes there?"
"Friend—with a bottle."
"Pal, friend. Halt, bottle."

joy, relief, and happy Sally, under a spell of "Black Magic" and the French Revolution.

She hardly heard the announcer say, "This program was paid for and sent to you by the 'Record Shop!' Mail us your requests for your favorite recording." Sally closed her history book and began an order for six Miller tunes, deciding maybe she shouldn't be so harsh with the commercial advertisers after all.

Junior High News

The campaign in Junior High School to buy a jeep costing $1,105 in bonds and stamps was concluded on November 24. During the contest, which lasted from Oct. 15 to Nov. 24, each student selling averaged $2.17 per day while an average of $41.62 was sold each day by all the students. An application for a citation from the treasury department has been made.

On Monday afternoon Rev. and Mrs. Boron spoke to the student body. Rev. and Mrs. Boron were missionaries in Thailand and were prisoners of the Japanese. They came back to the United States on the ship, "Gripsholm."

On Dec. 3, Mr. Lou Boring, the county game warden, spoke to the Nature club under the direction of Miss Cameron and their guests, the Sports Club.

Home room 7A won the last tax stamp contest with a total of $372.79.

On riday the Sports Club saw a film entitled "Winter Sports in National Forests of California".

The art club, under the direction of Mrs. Pelly, has a display of painted clay models in the glass case in front of the library. Florescent lights have been installed above the monitors table in the hall.

During the first six weeks the following students received an all "A" average: Carol Kelly, Shirley Sarbin, Dorothy Starbuck, Carol Zerneckal, Doris Eyton and John Herman.

Personalities In Salem High School

The gal full of pep and sunshine to be written about this week is Doris Holroyd, a senior.

Doris likes dancing, Charlie Barnett's band, Boogie Woogie, and a certain ex-grad.

A slight description of Doris reveals a blonde-haired, blue-eyed girl who weighs 105 lbs, and is 5 ft. tall.

Doris's favorite subject is band and her ambition is to become a comptometer.

Cop: "Now what do you suppose I held my hand out for?"

Fair motorist (airily): "Haven't the slightest idea. Often do it myself".
