Bob Musser Selected As 1945-'46 Business Manager; Replaces Fred Gaunt

Duane Yeagley Appointed To Post of Assistant Business Manager; Will Choose Members Soon

Bob Musser, a Senior, and a very active member in school activities has been appointed by Mr. Hilgendorf to be business manager of both the Quaker weekly and of the annual. Musser is a member of the Thespian Club, had the lead in the Junior play last year, was a member of the Slide Rule Club, and has been a member of the business staff for three years. He will replace Fred Gaunt, who, due to the fact that he is employed after school, cannot assume the duties of manager to which he was previously appointed. Duane Yeagley was chosen as the assistant manager. Virginia Jugastru, David Messesmith, Janet Robinson and Ted Sabona make up the rest of the staff. More members will be appointed later by Musser.

Jr. High News

Mrs. Shafer has been absent since Sept. 10th, and Mrs. Beeler has been taking her place.

The first 7th period assembly was held on Sept. 7th. It was a "Get Acquainted With Junior High" assembly, and clubs, extra classes and etc., were explained.

The choir, under the direction of Miss Tetlow, was organized during the past week. Miss Ruth Emery is assisting Miss Tetlow in the direction of the choir.

The Arts and Crafts classes under Miss Alabaugh are now working with clay.

The geography classes saw the film, "High Spots of the United States."

The eighth grade saw the film, "Man's Best Friend." Miss Cameron's English classes are using this film as a basis for an English unit.

The eighth grade monitors are, Fay Cabbage, Jean Branner, James Coy and Ruth Stratton. The last period monitor has not yet been chosen.

Mrs. Cline is well started on the organization of her classes in remedial work.

Jay-Teen Active During Summer

The Jay-Teen held its first annual "Youth Welfare Week" during the summer. Some of the attractions of this week were Movie Night, Formal Dance Night, Hobby Night, Amateur Night, Community Sing Night, Sport Dance Night and Field Day. The highlights of field day were the flag raising and dedication, and two baseball games. The Jay-Teen played the Fairmount Children's Home team and the Jay-Teen All Stars played a well known all-girls' team. Both games were won by Salem. The Fairmount Children's Home band played during the afternoon and then attended a supper held by the Jaycees.

Several Community sings, a square dance, a gold diggers' dance and several other dances rounded out the summer schedule.

Miss Gertrude Harris who took over the supervision of the Jay-Teen's during the summer, is to be thanked for all the fun packed hours spent at the Jay-Teen during the summer. Miss Harris planned all the extra activities, and started the members on redecorating all the rooms.

Miss Harris held a farewell party on August 31. "Gertie" provided entertainment and door prizes in the early part of the evening, and then brought out the punch bowl. To top the evening off, there was dancing to Ty Swartz's orchestra.

New English Text Adopted by Board

An entirely new text in English from Freshmen through Juniors has been adopted by the Board of Education. The book by J. C. Tresler is English in Action—Course I, II and course III. A handbook by the same company was gotten for use in the last semester in fourth year English.

A revised edition of the New Plane Geometry book (Mallory) was also purchased because of the poor condition of the old books.

Band Is Busy At Lisbon Fair

The Salem High School Band attended the Centennial celebration of the Columbiana County Fair.

During the early part of the morning the band played in the bandstand to draw a crowd for the pulling contest. Later in the morning the band played at various spots on the fairway. The music consisted of marches, fox trots, and novelty numbers.

In the afternoon they played on the bandstand by the judges' stand, between the races, and for the trapeze and novelty acts.

Between 6:30 they performed in front of the bandstand, and at 7:00 they headed the antique parade.

Bill Scullion, Dick Theiss, Gene Shafer, Walt Krauss and Art Cutcliff rode on a Tally-Ho wagon in the parade. These boys took part in the parade Thursday night also.

The band members performed for the first time in their new uniforms at the Cleveland Rhodes game.

The band made an R. H. S. in front of the Rhodes stands, and then played the Rhodes Alma Mater.

Cleveland Rhodes' 85 piece band, attired in blue and white uniforms, played and made several formations in front of the stands.

The routine and formations for the Ravenna game are not yet completed, but the lights will probably be used.

Library Features Popular "Up Front"

"Up Front" was written by 23-year-old Bill Mauldin, thought by some to be one of the greatest American cartoonists of this war. Text and pictures together make up one of the finest books to come out of the war.

This is the story of Willie and Joe, two fighting men, with their unshaved faces, their damp, soggy fatigue suits, their shoulders sagging under rain-soaked combat packs. These are the fellows who have been up front in France, Italy, or Burma for a couple of months or years.

Mauldin knows these G.I.'s; their fears, their jokes, and opinions, because he has lived with them, through nightmares of terror and misery.

It is one book that every American should read.

Dolly Ferko

The editor has been chosen by Mr. Lehman, faculty advisor of the Quaker for the Quaker annual. She is Dolly Ferko, a senior this year. Dolly has been active all through her high school years having been a member of the Slide Rule Club in her Junior year and a librarian. She also was in the mixed chorus last year.

The taking of the individual senior pictures was started Sept. 14 and will be completed Tuesday.

All group pictures are to be completed by Oct. 15.

The staff will be chosen next week.

Miss Hollett Is New Senior Class Advisor

Miss Mildred Hollett has been appointed Senior class advisor this year, replacing Miss Ethel Beardmore, who was last year's advisor.

The Seniors who were in charge of the stand Friday, September 14, were Sara Serbanta, Virginia Bailie, Ruth Baltorinic, Joanne Butler, Lois Dunlap, Evelyn Nicklason, Cathie Scullion, Sammae Lockhart, Pat Loutzenhiser, Munson Thorpe, and Lois Tesmer.

New Biology Projects Begin

The biology students now have three aquariums in addition to the former fish aquarium.

One of the new aquariums contains turtles.

The second aquarium contains different types of frogs. The third has a field mouse as its inhabitant.

They are there to study their actions and note their peculiarities.

Chemistry Classes Study Volume

The chemistry classes under the direction of Mr. Tarr are studying the effect of temperature and pressure on the volumes of gases.

Laboratory periods have been spent getting acquainted with the different instruments to be used during the year.

"Touchdown", Mr. Barrett's Game Goes on Market

"Touchdown" is the trademark name for the new dartboard football game invented by Ben Barrett, Salem High football coach and faculty member.

It is different from other football games now on the market because it represents the actual playing of the game of football. The players need not be familiar with all the rules of football, because it is simple and easy to play, and yet a better understanding of the methods of a real football game can be gained through playing "Touchdown."

"Touchdown" requires a certain amount of skill, which can be developed through familiarity or practice. The game involves a certain amount of the strategy and tactics that are employed, by the players in a real football game.

Any number of persons may play "Touchdown" at one time, provided the number on each side is equal. The odd player may act as referee, and take charge of the marker, and settle any matters regarding the conduct of the game. When sides are chosen, the respective captains meet with the referee to agree on the length of the periods to be played and other conditions. A coin is tossed to determine who shall kick off or start the game, and who shall put the ball into play after the kickoff. A member of the team kicking off receives one dart and he endeavors to place that dart as close to the opponent's goal line as possible. (He should keep the dart away from "Touchdown" or it counts 6 points for the receiving team.) If the first dart goes out of bounds, the new football rules applying to a kickoff out of bounds goes into effect. The marker is placed on the kicking team's 40 yard line and play resumes.

Under conditions of the game, team A is kicking and team B is receiving. The dart lands on the 20-yard line. Team B then puts the ball in play on the 20-yard line. First down, ten to go. One player of team B then takes 4 darts, each dart representing a down, and he endeavors to advance the ball 10 yards or more in the four downs. If he doesn't, the other team receives the darts.

All the conditions prevailing in a real football game are at hand in "Touchdown" — forward passes, punts, end runs, line bucks, reverses, field goals and fumbles.

The Team Backers

The Salem Athletic Association is fortunate to have the support of the Boosters Club. This club last year had 324 members and was headed by Joe Kelley. The club has been in operation for four years.

During these four years they have purchased sideline jackets for football, electric heat lamps, films for home games, and six band uniforms.

They have also given three football and three basketball banquets. The first football speaker was Jack McPhee, prominent Eastern collegiate official. The second banquet speaker was Paul Brown, former head coach of Ohio State, and the third speaker, "Bo" McMillan, head coach of the University of Indiana.

At the first basketball banquet there was no speaker. At the second they had Don Gardner, popular WKBN sports announcer, and the third speaker was Mose Hole, head coach of football and basketball at Wooster College.

Along with these duties the club assumed the responsibility of the local soldiers' "send off". During the past years they have presented gifts to 2,400 boys with the total expenditure of $3,600.

The new flagpole at the north end of Reilly stadium was also a gift of the club.

Plans for the coming year include the building of wooden bleachers in one of the end zones for the bands. This will save a lot of space in the main bleachers. In which end zone they will be built is not yet known.

In all, this club is working for the teams and is a great asset to the school and to its students.

Have Fun

Whether this year is your first or last in school, make the most of it!

Have fun, go to the football and basketball games, see the track meets, attend the pep rallies and yell and scream with cheerleaders. Or better still if you're a boy, go out for football and track and both boys and girls try out for cheerleaders. Join a club if possible; after all if no one takes interest in school activities they can't be a success. This is your school and the sports and games will only be what you make them.

Take notice of what's going on around you but don't neglect your studies. School work isn't so tough when you get down to it and dig right in. Remember when your school days are over, you will wish you were going back, so make the most of school while you have the chance.

FADS 'N FASHIONS

By LOIS AND NIKI

Well, well, it looks like fall is really creeping up on us. We can put our summer cottons back and bring on the skirts and sweaters. Now maybe we'll be able to wear our fall clothes to school without roasting.

Some of the lassies' wardrobes seem to be increasing with all sorts of new, darling clothes. In the line of suits, Barb Paterson has a chick-looking wool melon-colored one; Nancy Hunt is the proud owner of a navy blue trimmed in yellow plaid blazer-suit. And last, but not least, comes Martha Flickinger with her terrific, eye-catching, tiny blue and white check suit. The figured sweaters are still on parade by some of our local fems. Joyce Wachsmith and Joyce Lowry have joined the parade with reindeer figured sweaters. Next comes Marge Theiss with a bright, and we do mean bright, green V-necked sweater. A new skirt or two always comes in handy, and Marge Willis and Esther Hagerty seem to be sporting new plaid ones around. Guess that just about covers that for this time.

BOW-TIE BOYS

Yep, we've got several gents (???) in our school that simply adore "Frankie Sinatra". To prove their admiration, "Juicy," "Locke," "Bubbles," "Louie," and "Zeck" dressed up in white shirts and blue BOW-TIES to see "Anchors Aweigh" Sunday night. You'd be surprised as how much they all look like "Frankie," and Oh so . . . cute with their little blue ties.

If you wondered why some of our big he-man guys were all decked out in suits, shirts, and even ties, this last week, it wasn't just that they decided to show up that they could look like gentlemen, but that they were getting their Senior pictures taken.

You really saw the wildest descriptions of ties on some of them, but they did look plenty neat, regardless.

SOMETHING NEW . . .

Yes, sir, something new has been added to . . . Ann Helm, Bea Taylor, and Marty Bennett. You've guessed it, or if you haven't noticed, you need them, too. It's glasses! They are all the turned up rim style, which are very glamorizing. Marty's are a little different from the other two pairs in that they are a bright shade of red, which adds color to her clothes.

PICTURE YOURSELF

Do you look like a girl with any of these difficulties: Dull-looking hair, lips caked with lipstick, blotchy powder or pancake, too tight or too loose-fitting of clothes, uneven hem, run-over heels? Or do you smell of not being too clean or of too much perfume? If you do have any of these faults, take care of them and you will be more popular with boys and girls and have a much neater appearance.

IDEAL SOPHOMORE GIRL

Hair—Dolores Wright.
Complexion—Sally Hurlburt.
Eyes—Nancy Probst.
Nose—Barb Wilson.
Mouth—Pat Neely.
Shape—Joy Chessman.
Clothes—Shirley Stamp.
Personality—Gayle Greenisen.
Dancer—Betty Hill.

All good things must come to an end (plug, plug). By that we mean we're ending this poor excuse of a column 'til next week.

LOIS and NIKI.

More School Spirit Needed

Before last Friday night we all had heard and read the pre-season reports on our football team. Namely, that it was composed of inexperienced players light in weight. Thus it was the general opinion that the team would lose to the Cleveland Rhodes. On the contrary they did not lose or win, but fought hard and show promise of a good season. However, it appeared to your writer that the student body didn't show their appreciation and thanks to the team for the job they did and are doing. That is, they didn't give the boys on the field enough backing. There didn't seem to be any red-hot school spirit present in the stands. Regardless of what you may think, this spirit means a lot to the players. It gives them a little extra spark of fight if they know their classmates are behind them, encouraging them. So, in the next game, don't be afraid to voice your school spirit. Really give out with those Salem High cheers. Let's prove to the team that we are with them every minute of the game, win or lose.

Don't allow yourself to be carried away by enthusiasm; you may have to walk back. —Snyder.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Just what is the great attraction in 312, sixth period, for Puss Myers? He's in 301 that period, and can gaze right over into 312. And gaze is what he does. But just let him catch you watching him, and he blushes a fiery red. Come on, Puss, who is she?

TROUBLES

Dick Jones has got that eternal trouble, a triangle. And the three points on that triangle are Salem, Massillon and Minerva. Now, you put two and two together and figure it out yourself.

COMPETITION

I think maybe Mr. Jones ought to be writing this column instead of yours truly. I'd certainly like to know how he finds out what all his physics class studes have been up to, when and where they've been, and who they've been out with. I COULD cite some examples from his first and sixth period classes, but I don't dare mention any names if I value my skin. (And I do!)

MYSTERY

The band members must have had quite a time at the Lisbon Fair last week, from what I've been hearing about it. Seems Bob Little had nine pictures of himself in his band uniform. But at last count he had only one left. Don't crowd, girls; it's hard to tell where that one is now. But quite a few of the other eight may be seen in certain feminine wallets around school, especially in that of a certain Junior majorette.

FOR WARD MARCH!

And that same certain majorette, quote, "goes weak in the knees," unquote, whenever she sees a tall, dark-haired Senior left halfback. But he won't need nine pictures. I'm sure just one will do, won't it, —?

HERE CHICK, CHICK!

Anytime you're having a party, and you need someone to do imitations, especially an imitation of a chick, I'm sure Jean Headrick would be glad to oblige. Jean practices her "technique" by talking to a penful of chickens that she passes on her way to school every morning. They answer back, too, so she must be pretty good.

SPEAKING OF CHICKENS—

Reminds me of a joke. Do you know why a chicken walks across the street softly? Because it can't walk hardly. My, it's quiet, isn't it?

RIDDLE

A week ago last night, there were three people sitting on Helen Pike's front porch. One possessed a masculine (?) voice. Question: Who were they all?

SPIN THE MILK BOTTLE

Quite a shindig at Gloria Hannay's house after the game last Friday night, I'm told. There were Glo and Jerry, Si and Connie Petrucci, Betty Hill and Tom Miner, Dolly Ferko and Jerry Shasteen, Helen Pike and Phil Cahill (hmmmm, maybe it was Phil!), and oh, I forgot who all else. Phil spent more than a little time in the closet. Was it because the Pepsi Cola bottle had Phil's initials on it that it kept pointing to him all the time?

MANY BIRTHDAYS

Belated birthday greetings to those who had birthdays last week: Paul Althouse on the 16th, Ed Edling on the 17th, Dolly Ferko and Kenneth Fultz on the 18th, and to the four who had birthdays yesterday—Mary Garlock, Norma Mae Honk, Beverly Stowell, and Dorothy Wild. There are three who have birthdays today: Mary Helen Endres, Mary Lou Haessley, and Lois Hill. And many people have birthdays next week. Helen Arbanitis and Jack Lozier on the 22nd; Helen Wright has the 23rd all to herself as far as I know; Pat Finn and Ike Ibele share the honors for the 24th; Eileen Sanders, Caresse Krepps, Bob Dressell, Art Frazier, and Thomas Yuhaniak on the 26th; and Ella Fultz, Donna Panzott, Barb Lane, all on the 27th. Happy Birthday to all of you, and many more.

THRILL!!!

One final item before I sign off for this week. What was the big thrill that caused Cathie Scullion to become so excited that she forgot to put the telephone receiver back on the hook, so that the phone rang busy for almost two full hours last Saturday afternoon? Purdue certainly is a nice place, isn't it, Cathie?

Well, see you all at the game tonight. Be good 'til next week. JO.

Salem, Rhodes Battle To 0-0 Draw

Local Offensive Stopped By Fumble, Wet Weather; Barretmen Show Spirit

Quakers Hold Heavier Team On Even Terms; Boone, Smith Pace Red and Black Attack

Coach Ben Barrett's Salem High School Quakers gave 4,500 opening game spectators a pleasant surprise last Friday night as they battled a highly-favored Cleveland Rhodes squad to a 0-0 tie, on a muddy Reilly field.

The Quakers, who were at a great weight disadvantage, showed much promise as their defense time after time smothered the Rhodes ball carriers, while the Quaker backfield, running from the T formation, consistently cracked the heavy Rhodes line for gains.

The first quarter of the game was a kicking duel between Roland Marrick and Dan Smith, with neither team making any impressive scoring bids.

In the second period the Rhodes team made one scoring bid driving to the Salem 42 yard line. However, here the Quakers held and the drive ended.

The opening of the second half showed the most determined Rhodes drive of the game. Starting on their own 14 yard line the Rams drove to the Salem 7 yard line. This drive featured a 40 yard run by Jack Rhohrback, Rams quarterback, who plowed through or out ran the entire Salem team only to be caught from behind by Bob Boone on the Salem 46-yard marker. However, this drive bogged down and Salem took over on their own 27 to end the threat.

To open the fourth quarter Smith fumbled on the Salem 49 yard line, but the Quakers recovered the ball as Juliano recovered a Rhodes fumble on the very next play. From then on it was a see-saw affair until, with five minutes to go, Marrick went back to boot from his own 19-yard stripe. Four Salem players promptly joined him in the backfield and the kick was blocked. Salem recovered on the Rhodes 12, where a penalty moved the ball to the seven, first and five. Unfortunately the slippery oval was fumbled in the Salem backfield and Rhodes recovered to end the threat.

The remainder of the game saw sawed back and forth, with Rhodes in possession of the ball as the game ended.

Activities Numerous, Join What You Can

Now that school year is under way the next things that will begin are extra-curricular activities.

Of course the band got under way at the first of the year and has already played at the Lisbon Fair and the football game. Although it is composed of 70 members, still more pieces are needed.

The Glee Club will probably start soon, and will need members. A school of this size should have a larger active Glee Club.

The Hi Tri is always an inspiring thing to work for. At least a "B" average for Juniors is required for entering this club.

If you have a touch of drama in your soul, the Thespians Club would make up a good, worth while goal to reach for. They require at least 12 points from acting in plays, serving on committees and helping back stage.

For Freshmen particularly the Latin Club is open every year to students who have at least a "B" average in Latin.

For Second year Algebra mathematical geniuses is the Slide Rule Club. In this one learns many uses for the slide rule.

The French Club is reorganizing this year, so all you French I students should take advantage of it.

Next comes athletics of which the Varsity S Club is a part. In the past we've had some wonderful football, basketball, and track teams and it's up to you, the students, to keep it up.

Last, but not least is this paper. We cover the news, (or at least attempt it) and try to bring you a school paper you can be proud of.

Don't be afraid to join things. The clubs need you and you can benefit by the experiences.

Candid Shot

Small boy (running into a store): Quick! help me, my father is being chased by a bull!

Clerk (excitedly): What can I do?

Small boy: Put a film in my camera—hurry!

Dallar and Sense

Teacher: The sentence, "My father had money," is in the past tense.

Now Junior, what tense would you be putting it in if you said, "My father has money?"

Junior: Pretense.

Walken Along The Sport Scene

BY HARV

"The bigger they come, the harder they fall." That old adage was once more upheld last Friday night when the supposedly weak Quakers outfought and for the most part outplayed an over-rated Cleveland Rhodes eleven.

Although hampered by wet grounds, the locals showed up as a well-coached, well-conditioned outfit.

For the Red and Black, Dan Smith, who hot-footed the Clevelanders into hot water all night with his kicking, Bob Boone, and John Szymczyk were outstanding, but the entire team, as a whole, were "on the ball."

Rhorhback (more like Roarback) and quarterback Reis Spead headed the Rams offensive. The little signal caller who weighed a mere 138 pounds gave the locals plenty of trouble before the battle ended.

I admit (put that down, Edgerton) that I didn't think Salem would trip the visitors, but I doubt if there were too many souls who differed from my opinion. Anyway, games are not won on paper.

Tonight the Ravenna Ravens appear here to do battle. Another close game is expected. To be on the safe side, I'll say Salem 13—Ravenna 13. (I should have tried this last year.)

SHORT AND TALL TALES

A rainbow effect preceded the tilt which was matched by the color of the game due to wet grounds.... In the "Battle of Reilly Sea" no passes were thrown nor was anyone run out of bounds.... The Indians are currently residing in fifth while Pittsburgh has moved to fourth (ha! ha!).... Ohio State is expected to be tough again this year with Dick Fischer set to rejoin the "Battling Bucks" and Paul Sar-ringhous, Bill Hackett, Russ Thom-as, Warren Ambling and Ollie Cline around.... Mo Hollinger, last year's manager and this year's first string center, was about the dirt-iest looking individual ever seen on a football field. Yep, Mo's name was mud.... Leetonia with a nucleus of last fall's squad on the roster is ruff again this season. Yes, they still have a Duco, Stumpo and Beltempo. (What happened to Man-go?).... The Leetonia left guard is none other than "Lem" Todd, who graduated from eighth grade with our present Senior class....

East Liverpool was "slightly" out-played Friday night by Steu-benville Central, 6-6. But they are expected to start rolling in good weather.... The Potters' line averages a mere 484.823.2 grams per man, (187 pounds to all of you who are not being in-troduced into "Everyday Physics" by Mr. Jones.... I guess it's about time to mention the work of those two ace batterymen of the Columbians who won the class B softball title last week. The pair is none other than Dom Armeni and Anzio (Beachhead) Ciotti, those two little gems from the "Little Gem" who really helped to polish off the Youth Center.... For the benefit of the Notre Dame fans around the school, it must be admitted that the Irish (?) will be mighty tough this year, but a pair of squads from the East known as Army and Navy are also known to possess a "little" talent. In fact, the service elevens should be one and two in the nation again.

POEMS OF THE WEEK

(Mr. Barrett to the team)

"You'd better be ready
When your opponent starts,
Because you can't score
By tossing darts.

—Paper Wadsworth
The Timid Type

"Just follow me!" the lineman said.

To the left halfback coming through.

"I'm mighty tough this year,
I'll open holes for you."

Said the halfback to the line-man,

In a very timid tone,
"I don't want to bother you,
So I'll just go alone."

—Wordswoth Nothing

One thing's sure
It's easy to see.
That the Quakers
Use water in their T.

QUAKERS FACE RAVENNA UNDER LIGHTS TONIGHT

Ravens Flash Scoring Pace In First Game

In an attempt to keep their season's record unmarred by defeat, Coach Ben Barrett's Quakers, fresh from their impressive 0-0 tie with Cleveland Rhodes, will tackle the Ravenna Ravens at Reilly Stadium tonight.

Ravenna's coach Gilcrest will bring his team to Salem hoping to avenge a 20-6 defeat suffered by the Ravenna squad last year.

The Ravens, as the Quakers, will be trying for their first win of the season having tied Rocky River 33-33 in their opening fray.

The Ravens displayed a top-flight offense in scoring 20 points in the final quarter, coming from behind 21-13 to tie the game. Halfback Dick Soroboro led the Raven squad with two long touchdown runs.

The probable starting lineup for tonight's game is:

Higher Education Encouraged In Salem High School

Whether the students of S.H.S. know it or not there are many things being done during our school life to encourage us to aim for a higher education.

Every year the Salem High School Alumni association gives scholarships to two or three seniors.

The C. Brooks contest to encourage literary efforts is open to the entire school. Cash prizes are awarded for poems, short stories, essays, and orations.

The Marie Burns music award aims toward better appreciation of music and the encouragement of it. Cash awards are presented.

Cash prizes are also given for the American Legion Essay Contest.

In the field of science the Bosch Lomb Award is given for the most advancement in Science in four years. An honorary certificate is received by the winner.

Aid for four students in a five-year engineering course at the University of Cincinnati is given by the Mullins Co. with no expense to the parents.

Surely Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors should all keep these fine awards in mind and work toward them all through their high school careers.

Personalities Of the Week

The personality choice this week belongs to a Junior girl with long blond hair and big blue eyes. She has a very enticing personality that has helped to make her popular with all the studes of S. H. S. Besides all of that she is a good dresser. One of her favorite songs is "Tampico. Her favorite subject is Spanish and a certain Senior. A favorite pastime is horseback riding.

The other half of this column is a certain tall, handsome Junior with a butch, who has a wonderful disposition plus an itch for dancing polkas. He loves all sports, has many friends, and good sense of humor, and is always ready for fun.

Have you guessed who the two choices of the week are? Well, they're Barb and Doug Pedersen.

WORLD SERIES DRAWS NEAR

Chicago, Detroit Pennant Bound

As the World series' date draws nearer the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs are leading the American and National Leagues respectively as the race for the pennant gets hotter. The Washington Senators and the St. Louis Cardinals, the 1944 World series winners, are both 2½ games out of first place and are giving the leaders a run for their money.

Managed by Steve O'Neil, the Tigers have been league leaders most of the season, having been bolstered by the return of three war vets, "Hank" Greenberg, "Al" Benton, and Tommy Bridges. Roy Cullenbine traded for Don Ross and "Dutch" Meyer by the Cleveland Indians also has helped the Detroit batting column considerably. Again, O'Neil called on Lefty Hal Newhouser, however, has developed a sore back in the last week and has not been able to take his turn pitching.

Phil Cacaretta, Cub's first baseman and captain, and Hank Wyse, pitching ace, have been the mainstays on Charlie Grimm's starting nine. Overtaking the New York Giants at midseason time they have maintained this lead, although the Cards have been hot on their trail for the past three weeks. Old timers such as Claude Passeau, Bill Nicholson, Paul Derringer, Stan Hack, and Ray Prim are one of the reasons why Chicago is on top. Hank Borwy, traded by the Yankees, is also winning ball games for the Cubs.

Just remember that the pennant race isn't over yet fans, so watch your money boys.

Short Cut

"Willie," asked the teacher of the new pupil, "Do you know your alphabet?"

"Yes, Miss," replied Willie.

"Well," continued the teacher, "what letter comes after A?"

"All of 'em!" was Willie's triumphant reply.

MUSICAL HA-HA'S

BY MINNIE

Hi, all you happy morons and half-wits, how you'al this wonderful Friday afternoon? After a joyous week of school, I hope you're all feeling' good.

This week, on the going up list, we have Andy Russell's "My First, My Last, My Only!" and another favorite, "And There You Are". Also Jo Stafford singing "A Friend of Yours" and "On the Sunny Side of the Street". An old-timer that's a solid sender is "Are You Livin', Old Man," by Stan Kenton.

Columbia has six great albums of George Gershwin's music that will be heard in the motion picture "Rhapsody In Blue," and they are as follows:

"Rhapsody In Blue," featuring Oscar Levant, Gershwin's life-long friend; "An American In Paris" by the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra of New York; "Porgy and Bess" by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra; "Concerto in F Major" with Oscar Levant taking the piano solos; "Music of George Gershwin" by Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra; and "Duchin Plays Gershwin" with Eddy Duchin on the piano playing them with rhythm.

There seems to be some meaning in the next two songs. I wonder what it can be? They are: "If You Knew Susie" and "Milk Man, Keep Those Bottles Quiet". Oh, yes, they are F. Mangus' favorite tunes.

Before I go any further I want to take this opportunity to tell Tom Williams that his band did a very excellent job last week at the Jay-teen. In my estimation, it's the best you've ever played. Keep up the good work, boys. How's that for a plug, Buddy?

Say, guys and gals, watch the local and Youngstown papers for the name bands that are to appear there soon. I'll try to give you the dates of some of them next time.

Well, that's all for this time, but remember that music is the soul of happiness. So long.

Helpful (?) Hints To Salem High's Class of '49

This article is strictly for the Freshmen because, from the looks of their sweet and innocent (?) faces, they need a little warning. Frosh, if you DON'T want to get along in S.H.S. just follow these ten easy steps:

1. A good way to get any teacher mad is to chew gum.
2. Try being late in a couple classes every day and see what happens.
3. Always copy your lessons.
4. To really cause confusion, lead your buddies up the down steps and then down the up stairs.
5. Be sure to whistle in the halls.
6. Teachers just love notes being written in their study halls.
7. Talk in the library will help you get into trouble.
8. Go to your lockers between classes.
9. Don't pay attention to a teacher and talk all you want; after all, aren't you someone special?
10. Never prepare your lessons. Well, there it is Frosh. What are you going to do?
