Out Of Luck

Johnny felt he would be all set as far as girl friends were concerned this year. He had always been a little uncertain about girls liking him before, since he wasn't any heart thriller and he didn't have personality plus. He was just average like the rest of his gang. But this year was different. All the guys knew there was a man shortage and his gang had figured it out that any girl would jump at the chance to go with any of them at any time.

Considering this, Johnny decided he didn't have to bother to be extra nice to the girls this year. He forgot what few manners he had and made sure everybody knew when he was around. He didn't bother to dress right, either. He was more comfortable when his shoes were dirty and his pants and shirt were sloppy. He didn't car if some of the girls thought he needed ly darling. "What," you ask us? a hair cut; there was a surplus of females and there would be plenty who wouldn't care. The day before the school party Johnny decided to give some poor girl a break, so he decided to ask Jane Williams to go with him. Jane was pretty cute and was considered swell. Now that he thought about it, she hadn't been going out much lately so she's probably be glad to go to the dance with him.

So he asked her. Loafing at the hangout with the gang the next night, he tried to think what had gone wrong. He couldn't figure out why she'd turned him down to go with her girl friends. Funny, none of the rest of the gang had gotten dates, either.

Be Library Proud

The school library is a place that every one of Salem High's students should use and enjoy. In it are packed travel, education, adventure, love, mystery, and merriment. There you can travel all over the quite a few Salem Hi girls, we have play in the game tonight. That's world and meet all kinds of people.

Books can be entertaining and useful friends and can give many happy hours of pleasure. Also, there Her measurements are: are books that you can profit from by reading. In the library one finds records of achievements of heroes of all time. Also, there are books of men who have become famous, hints for you from people who have become successful in the vocation you have chosen.

There are books of dreams waiting to share their world with you. Those who have already discovered this wonderful world will tell you it is priceless-yet it doesn't cost a cent.

If you need help, there are always competent librarians willing to help you. Some night drop in measurements or a fraction of them, after school and look around. You won't regret it.

Hello everyone, well another week has rolled around and here I am again.

Boys and girls we have some professionals among us. What do I mean? Well the trio called the Pencil Marks, natch. The trio is composed of Ed Knox, Dick Theiss, and Dale (Tweet) Culberson. The boys have informed yours truly that they are going to make a recording of "Flamin' Mamie," which was written by Tweet, and the unforgettable "I'm Makin' Believe" -good luck boys.

Another lad who makes all the Freshmen scream is Gene Shafer. This little gentleman plays a sweet sax and baby does he send them. Be careful, Gene, or you'll be a second J. Dorsey.

Boone Brothers Versatile Athletes

Yes, the Boone brothers, Bob and Ted, certainly did shine against Of the 35 points which the Quakers scored 19 of them were scored between these two fleetfooted half- football playing from these brothbacks.

The Boones moved to Salem in 1942 from Uniontown, Penna., and made their home on East Pershing

Bob has been a standout in football for the past two years and is also a good high jumper when track season rolls around. Bob was on the freshman basketball team, but last year he played "Class A" ball for the Zions at the Memorial Building. This year Bob played in the outfield for the Salem News baseball team. During his freshman year he earned a letter in football; while a sophomore he received a letter in both football and track. Bob was made a member of the Varsity S Club last year.

Ted, a sophomore, just a year behind his brother is also an allaround athlete. Ted's sixty-five yard run against Palestine was the longest run made so far this year by a Salem player. Last year Ted played freshman basketball and was on the football team, and high jumped and broad jumped on the track team. Ted also was a leader in the athletic program in Salem Junior High.

We expect to see a lot of fancy ers for the remainder of the season. Good luck, fellows.
