A social committee, with Marilyn Mellinger as chairman, was appointed by the president. This committee is planning a party in the near future in order that the members may become better acquainted.

The club has plans for a varied program of sport activities this year, beginning with volleyball. About seventy girls have signed up to participate in the games after school.

The leaders in the various sports are:

- Volleyball—Betty Cosgarea.
 - Kickball—Betty Zimmerman.
 - Basketball—Janice Sell.
 - Baseball—Camille Entriiken.
 - Bicycling—Betty Whaley.

Salem-Leetonia Pep Rally Held

A pep rally for the Leetonia game was held on Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the field next to Reilly Stadium.

The program consisted of a few numbers by the SHS band, speeches by Mr. Cope, Mr. Barrett, John Plegge, Danny Smith and Louie Juliano, and various cheers by the cheerleaders. At the end of the rally, the SHS students formed a long line and did a snake dance through the downtown section.

Although the rally was not planned until the preceding day, and the students did not know about it until the afternoon of the rally, it was a great success and the attendance was larger than expected.

Hobbies Displayed In Library Case

The series of hobby displays is being conducted by the Library. The first was contributed by Mr. J. Hagadorn, featuring stamps and coins from all parts of the world.

The display now in the case is the possession of Dick Walken, who is interested in Entomology. This collection consists of over one hundred different types of insects. The vivid coloring and queer shapes of the different bugs make a very attractive display as well as an interesting hobby.

Dick first became interested in this hobby while attending Culver summer school. Most of his insects were collected at Culver, but he has also found many in the woods near his home which have been added to the collection.

1945-46 Debate Tryouts Begin

Tryouts were held last Wednesday for the debate team under the direction of J. C. Guiler. The subject for the year is "Compulsory Military Training" and was also the subject for the tryout speeches.

The speeches were of the argumentative nature and were to be from two to three minutes long. There was material in the library on reserve about this subject from which the persons trying out could get material for their speeches.

Those trying out were Carolyn Butcher, Phyllis Greenberg, Collin Helm, John Herman, Nettie Housel, Lucy Ellen Huston, Lowell King, Irene Kupka, Raymond Matsiey, Naomi Ovington, Bill Schmidt, Sara Serbanta and Jo Ann Whinnery.

The team will be chosen from this group in the near future.

Pep Assembly Held For Game

A pep assembly for the Salem-Leetonia game was held at the end of the fourth period in the auditorium last Friday, Oct. 5. The assembly was in charge of the cheerleaders, and the football squad.

The assembly was started with representatives of the band playing "On For Salem" with the student body singing under the direction of Tom Williams, drum major. Then the cheerleaders led the cheers and more school songs were sung.

The highlights of the assembly were talks by Mr. Barrett, Mr. Tarr, Dan Smith, Louis Juliano, and Johnny Plegge.

The program was ended by the singing of the Alma Mater with the cheerleaders, majorettes, drum major, and the football squad on the stage.

First Six Weeks Ends Today

Today is the last day of the first grade period, according to the calendar of B. G. Ludwig, principal. The grade cards will come out next Wednesday, Oct. 17.

The Hi-Tri initiation will be held Thursday, Oct. 18.

Next Friday, a pep assembly for the Salem-Struthers game will be held in the auditorium.

Biology Classes Possess Black Widow Spider

A very unusual and interesting specimen was presented to the Biology department two weeks ago when Mr. Leon Davis of the Georgetown road discovered a black widow spider near his home. He recognized it because of its shiny black body with a small red spot, shaped like an hourglass, on the underside of the abdomen.

The black widow is a female spider, so named because of the color of her body and her habit of eating her mate. She is one of the most poisonous members of the spider family, killing 10 persons from over 100 authentic cases and causing very serious illness for the rest. She is very seldom found in this section of the country, being most prevalent in the Southern states.

Although the spider remained in school for only a few days, all of the students of Mrs. Cox's and Miss Weeks' classes were able to observe it.

Sophomores Take Charge of Stand

The Sophomores under the supervision of Miss Redinger had charge of the stand at the Leetonia game Friday, October 5. They were Margaret Sommers, Mary Jane Bergman, Jeannette Matter, David Messersmith, Betty Ployer, Nellie Lotterman, Marge Lutsch, Kieth Scott, Ted Sobona, Shirley Sarbin, Sally Lou Ziegler, Genevieve Sczymczyk, Joan Wedmer, Bill Weber, Faye Hilliard, Rose Kalbfell, David Barckhoff and Miriam Bauman.

Freshmen Girls Learn Volleyball

Along with the regular exercises the freshmen girls have been learning how to play volleyball, under the guidance of the sophomore girls and the instruction of Miss Edith Cope, the girls gym teacher.

Following the Senior class play try-outs last week, Pat Loutzenhiser was selected for the leading role by Dramatic Coaches Mrs. Tarr and Miss Cope in the production "And Came the Spring," to be presented November 15 and 16.

Majorettes Give Performances

The highlight of the SHS band performance was the special routine of the majorettes. The performance of the majorettes was greatly applauded by the spectators of the football game.

The band will accompany the team to the Wellsville game this evening. They will form a WHS on the Wellsville side, and an SHS at the Salem stands at which time the majorettes will be featured in their special twirling routines.

The band is working on formations which will be used in a colored moving picture, being taken by the Booster's Club. This picture will enable the band members to see themselves as the spectators at their performances do.

New formations and fluorescent displays are being planned in preparation for a band show to be presented to the public at Reilly field late this month.

Three New Pupils Added To Latin Class

Miss Redinger, supervisor of the Latin classes and club, has stated that three new people have entered her Latin classes. Marjory Wiley from California, Craig Clark from DesMoines, Iowa, Dorothy Davis from Uniontown, Penna.

The next Latin Club meeting will be held on Tuesday.

Hi-Tri War Stamp Goal Is $3,000

The Hi Tri has undertaken to sell $3,000 in bonds in the current Eighth Bond Drive. The $3,000 which they hope to raise will go to the War Finance Committee to aid Purple Heart heroes back to health.

The Drive starts October 22, and will last until Christmas vacation. If this amount can be sold Salem High School's name will go on a plaque which will be placed on a hero's bed. A plaque will also be sent to Salem High to be hung in a hall. The money will be used to buy the hospital equipment necessary to provide for one wounded man.

Following the senior class play tryouts held last week, Pat Loutzenhiser was selected for the lead role by dramatic coaches, Mrs. Tarr and Miss Cope on the production "And Come The Spring," to be presented November 15 and 16.

Heading the cast of male parts is Harvey Walken while other major characters are portrayed by Mary Catherine Scullion, Robert Musser, Velma O'Neil, Duane Yeagley.

The complete cast is as follows: Midge Hartman, Pat Loutzenhiser; Virginia Hartman, Mary Catherine Scullion; Elliott Hartman, Robert Musser; Mrs. Louise Hartman, Velma O'Neil; Mr. Jeffrey Hartman, Duane Yeagley; Buzz Lindsay, Harvey Walken; Carolyn Webster, Esther Hagarty; Keith Nolan, Walter Ibele; Freddie Nolan, Tom Williams; Edna, the maid, Phoebe Anderson; Clancy, the gardener, Edward Maxson; Mrs. Ecelia Fields, Esther Jean Mayhew; Mr. Link Fields, Ray Brandt; Alan Fields, Clyde Covert; Messenger Boy, Russell Loudon; Christine Myers, Irene Kupka. As yet, the role of Gabby Allen has not been filled.

Play practice has started after school, while later on practices will also be held at night.

"And Came The Spring is a warm, humorous comedy, which revolves around Midge, the youngest of the Hartman family, who is always in trouble. She almost wrecks the social and love life of her sister, Virginia, and the future of brother, Elliott by trying to impress Bugg Lindsay. When Carolyn, a New York glamor girl, comes to visit the Hartman household, Midge is right there to involve her, too. In the end everything turns out for the better, with Midge settling down to a normal (?) life.

N. E. Entrance To Be Gift of Seniors

At a meeting of the senior class on October 5, President Danny Smith presented the idea of changing the class gift. The idea was met with almost unanimous standing approval of the senior class.

The gift decided upon was a northeast entrance to the school, provided that this meets with the approval of the Board of Education, and provided that the class has sufficient funds.

FADS 'N FASHIONS

By LOIS AND NIKI

Hi Everybody,

Have you seen Minnie's new creation? It is a reversible purse, one side is plaid, turn it inside out, and the other side is a solid dark blue. Gee, is it ever cute. To go with another skirt she had made a plaid pouch bag. Minnie is really a whiz at thinking up new ideas.

In the line of skirts and sweaters, Ella Fultz has an eye-catching red skiing figured sweater. Mary Jane, better known as 'Freddie Fredericks' has lo-o-ng and we do mean long yellow sweater. Dutch Votaw's new multi-colored pastel skirt is really a knockout. That little black and white checked skirt that Bab Wilson wears is adorable, Joyce Wachsmith has a red and green plaid skirt that looks heavenly with her dark green sweater. Margie Willis is the owner of a brown and blue plaid skirt that is "sugar and spice and everything nice." Have you seen Salem Hi School's twins? Well maybe they aren't twins but they do have dresses alike. The girls are Joan Hardy and Gerry Ellis and their dresses are tail button-down-the-front dresses which are really figure-flattering.

Jewelry Junk

Lately have you noticed the dreamy look that comes into Bueda McCammon's eyes when she looks down at the bracelet on her right arm? The bracelet is from her favorite man in the Navy. It is a beautiful heavy gold bracelet with a heart in the center, some people have all the luck.

Some of the cutest pins are being worn in the well traveled halls of S.H.S. Esther Hagerty has a neat pin that is a swan made of shells and gold trim. Elaine Abe has a stunning gold flowered pin which looks just right on her winter coat.

Rain Checks

Sammae Lockhart has the trickiest idea for keeping her locks curly during a rain-storm. It is a little plyofilm scarf that folds into a tiny pickage that is easily carried around in one's purse or rain-coat pocket. If you want to keep your hair neat in such weather as we are having now and will be having, try Sammae's method.

From all four classes of "The Ideal Girl" we have chosen the features of

MUSICAL HA - HAS

BY MINNIE

Well kids here I am again, and here's hoping that my critics like this week's column. If you don't like something about it I wish you would let me know 'cause you have to read it and I don't.

Number one on the Hit Parade is "Till the End of Time," and number two is the beautiful ballad "If I Loved You." Both are played by a variety of musicians. Next we have the song, "Love Letters" from the movie of the same name.

Kitty Kallen does the vocal chorus of "Oh Brother!" which she recorded with Harry James. "Apple Honey" by Woody Herman has been quite the rage in the large cities and I think that all disc grabbers like it here, too.

One disc that sort of "hits the spot" is Jose Iturbi's performance of Liszt's immortal "Liebestraum" which is recorded by Victor on a 12 inch (11-8851).

Erskine Hawkins and his orchestra recorded the disc, "Prove It By The Things You Do" with the vocal refrain by Carol Tucker, and "Drifting Along."

Count Basie and his band record, "Feather Merchant" and "Ain't It The Truth." The Count's treatment of these two fox trots in rhyhm and orchestration demonstrates the technique that has numbered them among the top bands of the country.

Kay Kyser and his orchestra do a nice and screwy recording of the "Choo Choo Polka" with the flipover being "That's For Me."

Hats off section this week go to majorettes for their performance Friday night at the game. Girls you can't be beaten.

Well, I guess its tme for me to close, but before I do I'd like to say that when your worried about something just sing or whistle the worries away. Check!!!

BIRTHDAYS

Three seniors, Joyce Long, Maxine Wheeler, and Dean Gordon; and two freshmen, Rose Ann Loutzenhiser and Bob Campbell, celebrate today. And here are next week's:

October 13—Ronald Vignon.
October 13—John Yuhaniak.
October 14—Nancy Callahan.
October 14—"Puss" Myers.
October 14—Whitey Thorpe.
October 15—Virginia Burson.
October 15—Norman Zimmerman.
October 16—Ennio Clotti.
October 17—Jennie Carmello.
October 17—Bubbles Edgerton.
October 17—Lloyd Harroff.
October 18—Sara Serbanta.
October 18—Harvey Lottman.

I'm sorry if I miss anyone's birthdays. I have what I thought to be a complete list, but some are missing. I don't know just which ones they are, so if I DO miss you, won't you please come and tell me? Thanks.

You know, I wonder just what that person or those persons from Leetonia took us for when they sent that telegram to Louie Juliano last Friday. Certainly wasn't very sporting of them, was it? And, by the way, dear Editor has made up the cleverest song about that same Leetonia team. It's too long to put in here, but it'll be well worth your time to have Harv tell you the words. It's to the tune of "Tampico". . . . Anybody got an extra pack of gum? Joan Hardy is getting pretty hard up for some. The other day she reached into her pocket for a chiclet, and APPARENTLY didn't notice that she grabbed a button instead. What did she have on her mind that she swallowed it rather than chewing it?

Speaking of embarrassing situations, Sarge Ware certainly got into one in chemistry last Friday morning. He picked up a bottle of sulphuric acid, and somehow or other it got spilled all over him. If you're taking chemistry, you know what it does to clothes. Certainly was a "holey" shirt and pair of trousers. No wonder he went home in such a hurry! . . . Why do most of the boys of Salem High, and especially the senior boys, refuse to sing the Alma Mater? Do you fellas think you're too good, or what? You've had many chances to learn the words, so you can't use that for an excuse. And you can always clip the words out of the paper you were given for assembly last week and keep it in your wallet. Now, next time there's an assembly, let's hear ALL the voices of Salem High. And at the games, too. . . . QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Just what were those freshies doing on the high school lawn last Sunday afternoon? There were Donna Neeley, Stella Jones, Marilyn Eberwein, Pat Thompson, Carol King, Bobby Albaugh, and Helen Liedler. Stella and Helen were having a VERY interesting time. And those pictures that Pat took of the whole procedure should prove very interesting, also.

. . . Belated birthday greetings to Helen Alek, in the principal's office. Her birthday was last Monday. . . . Welcome back to school to Elsie Hughes. She's been in the hospital since V-J day with injuries suffered then. . . . You girls who go to Cleveland tomorrow, don't forget your lunch, and be in front of the school at 8 a. m. sharp.

His Service Ribbons

To the man who has earned them, the service ribbons he wears are no bits of silk, splashing a neat patch of color on his uniform. They are symbols of doing a very tough job. They remind him of the kid in his outfit who was blinded by a shell fragment; a French child's body, weak and tattered by hunger; the civilian, on invaded islands, committing suicide. He realizes those long nights in the foxholes, the intensity of battle, the cries of his wounded comrades. He remembers the ankle-deep mud, the dense jungles, the infectious mosquitoes.

He's proud of these ribbons. They cost him a good deal. Surely the least you can do is to obtain a book somewhere telling about these ribbons and know what they mean.

Cheering Better

Although last week, while Salem suffered defeat in football, another victory was being accomplished. Yes, you could really hear the echo from our cheering section. Our studes of S. H. S. did themselves proud on most of the cheers.

At the beginning of the fray the cheering was a little weak, but as the Ravenna crowd began formulating and "yelling for all they're worth," the studes decided: "Now's the time to give our lungs a good airing out and show those Ravenna people we can cheer, too."

Of course, as at most games, a few "discontented" cheerers were making loud, smart cracks, but on the whole our lungs, and vocal chords, sounded pretty good.

Through our cheering we proved to our football players we appreciate them just as much in the face of defeat as in a "rip snorting" victory.

Leetonia Crushes Quakers 27-0

Visitors' All-Around Power Too Much For Red and Black; Passes Do Most Damage

Mancuso, Dominic, Duco Pace Blue and White Attack; Juliano, Crawford, Faini Lead Local Defense

The Leetonia Bears, coached by Charlie Mather, added a new word to the Quakers' vocabulary—lose. A big, fast, hard-charging line, combined with a smart backfield that worked like lightning from a T formation, beat Salem into submission by a 27 to 0 score.

Completely outdone in every respect, the Bears outrushed the Quakers 191 yards to 49 yards, and made 14 first downs to Salem's 2..... both made in the final quarter by the second team.

Leetonia scored in the first quarter after a Salem fumble on the Quaker 27. Duco recovered and after two passes, Stumpo to Beltempo and a power drive by Beltempo, Leetonia led 6 to 0. A dropkick by Mancuso was too wide for the extra point. Halfway through the second period, Dominic recovered another fumble on the Salem 31. Power plays by Dominic, right through the Quaker forward wall, stopped on the two yard line, from which Larry Duco carried the pigskin over. This time Mancuso booted a beautiful dropkick, which split the uprights perfectly, making the score 13 to 0.

In the third period, Salem lost two scoring chances and as the period ended Leetonia was relaxing on the Quaker 8. Duco went to the 2 and Dominic went over the second play of the final period. Beltempo cracked the line for the extra point, raising the total to 20-0. Minutes later the Quakers booted to the Leetonia 45. Duco and Dominic split ten assignments, on the tenth of which Dominic scored. Duco plunged for the extra point, making the 27 total.

The remainder of the game was played in Salem territory with the Quaker second stringers clicking off two first downs.

Salem To Battle Wellsville Tonight

Tonight Salem's battered Quakers travel to Nicholson Field to do battle with the thrice beaten, but improving Bengals. Coach Wally Ingall's boys finally won a game in their fourth start, beating Toronto 13-12 after being edged out by Youngstown North 6-2; Chester (W. Va.) 12-6; and Hopewell 19-13.

Out of his whole squad, Coach Ingalls has but one starter from last year who played against the Quakers in the mud of Reilly field when the Bengals were beaten 12-6. He is captain and left guard, Danny Clark. Around him, Ingalls has built a squad which averages around 155 pounds. His plight has been that of Barrett's; a light green team, inexperienced in football strategy.

In previous performances, the Bengals have lacked scoring punch and never packed enough power to penetrate a more than average line.

The saddest words of tongue and pen, recovered 7 (seven) Memorial fumbles and still was tied 0-0.

"Leetonia clipped us once again."
—Lear (tonia).

Well, as Lady MacBeth once said, "What's done is done." So there's no use rehashing the story of the game in a serious tone, so maybe a little joking wouldn't hurt.

Tall Tales

A little history even came to the fore. You guessed it. Daniel (Smith) and Boone killed by a Leetonia Bear. Bar, Bar. No offense, boys. (That was the trouble, no offense.) Just joking. . . . Oh-oh, oh-oh, what a team. Yep, Stumpo, Duco, Beltempo and Mancuso. . . . Dominic should change his name to Domino. (It would suit him to the letter.) . . . Both teams were T-totalers, but the Quakers weren't using enough sugar. You're right. Weak Tea. . . . The Red and Black and Blue Quakers just couldn't get going.

Marian Faini showed up well on the defense, as did Louie Juliano and Jack Crawford. . . . A new word was added to the Salem vocabulary last Friday night. . . . Just to prove Salem isn't the only one that fumbles, take a peak at the Warren - Campbell Memorial box-score of last week's game. Warren

Those two ends (of the line), Mancuso and Klingensmith (or should I say Clinging-Smith?) were really on the ball. . . . According to the Youngstown paper, the Red and Black quarterback was none other than Stan Smith. Someone must have cracked another rib, Dan.

A Word On Ohio State

The O. U. Kids are mighty ruff this year and should cop the Big Ten title. But watch the Minnesota Gopher (touchdowns). They are on this season, too. But don't worry. No one, including the Gophers, will be passing the Buck this campaign.

Tonight the Quakers journey to Wellsville to battle the Bengals. As for a prediction, I'll say Salem —, Wellsville —.

So long for now,
HARV.

The Indian sign was put on the locals by an old-time fan, Chief Rain In the Face, who suggested: "Sell-um Quakers." Maybe he wanted a little change.

District Boys Play With Noted Teams

Last year Salem athletes played against boys who are now shining on the gridiron for college teams.

Herb Gorby, star fullback on last year's East Palestine team, has been converted to an end and is on the second string Ohio State eleven. Sam Winters, rough East Liverpool tackle last year, is now giving the first string Ohio State tackles a fight for the starting assignment. Bill Biel, Canton Lehman basketball and football star, is also seeing a lot of action in the backfield for the Buckeyes.

Joe Barnard last year was Leontonia's defensive star, and this year is also showing his defensive as well as offensive ability at Miami university.

Although these boys caused Salem a lot of trouble, we wish them good luck for the remainder of the season.

Diner—"Two eggs, please. Don't fry them a minute after the white is cooked. Don't turn them over. Not too much salt and no pepper. Well, what are you waiting for?"

Walter—"The hen's name is Mary. Is that all right, sir?"

Knock-kneed patient — "Wot happened to me, Doc? I had bow legs when they brung me in here."

Doctor—"Bowed legs!?! H'm—the casts must have gotten reversed by somebody—somehow!!"

Jr. High News

The eighth grade English classes saw the movies, "Land of Evangeline" and "Sequoia National Park". The latter movie was particularly interesting because it showed the animal life in the park.

The orchestra appeared in its first performance of the school year at an assembly held on October 5. Two movies were also shown at the assembly. One was "The Boss Did Not Say 'Good Morning,'" a movie which showed how waking up with a morning grouch might affect large numbers of people. The other movie was "Voices of the Sea".

The Boys' club and Eighth Grade Girls' club held their first meetings October 3.

The Nature club had its first meeting on Friday, September 28, and its second meeting on October 5. During the last meeting, they studied the identification of leaves.

The Choir has begun practicing its music for the present school year. They have already made several engagements for during the year.

The first Junior High P.T.A. meeting was held October 8. The program was a "Get-Acquainted Program" under the direction of Mr. Ross.
