THESPIANS HOLD FORMAL INITIATION FOR ABSENTEES

A special formal Thespian initiation was held for those members who were not present at E. Liverpool. President Bill Ward called the initiation together in Room 207. The members who were sworn in were Minnie Maroscher and Velma O'Neil. Refreshments were served afterwards.

Joe Steffel, James Koran, Cast Of Draft Board Blues Top Talent Revue Winners

Tom Williams, Peggy Pritchard, Room 106 Sextette

Joe Steffel, Jim Koran and the cast of Draft Board Blues (Joe Ferreri, Louis Gojkovitch, and John Herman) received the greatest number of votes as the most popular entertainers of the Student Council's assembly programs.

E. LIVERPOOL AND NEWARK ADVANCE IN STATE STANDINGS

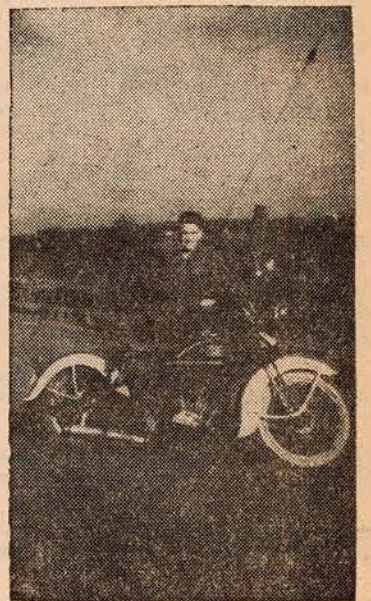

Although the four state leaders held their respective places, there were several noticeable changes as East Liverpool and Newark took large advances and Columbiana, another drop. East Liverpool jumped from eighteen to ninth, and Newark from sixteenth to fifth. Neighboring Columbiana was still on the way down, going from thirteenth to eighteenth.

The Salem Quakers were rated thirty-fourth—just ten places behind Ravenna which had a weekly increase of 8.6 points. Lowellville, probably underrated, stood in twenty second, six places behind rival Columbiana. Canton McKinley was the only other district team left besides those mentioned which held a spot in the top twenty.

Culoids Studied In Chemistry

The chemistry classes have been experimenting with colloids and colloidal dispersions. Colloids are small electrically charged particles invisible under the most powerful microscopes.

The students have also been studying the importance of colloids in industry. Manufacture of many substances (such as cement, soap, paints, etc.) could not be thoroughly understood without a knowledge of colloid chemistry.

Joe Steffel who sang, "If I Could Tell You" has been taking vocal lessons for two years from Frank E. Fuller, a Youngstown teacher.

Jim Koran has taken accordion lessons for four years. Neither boy had appeared before the high school previously.

The skit, "Draft Board Blues," an original comedy act concerning a draftee's physical examination was written by Joe Ferreri, a junior in 201.

Tom Williams and Peggy Pritchard, vocal soloists; and the sextette from home room 106, received second place honors.

MISS THORP TALKS TO HI TRI ON HER HOBBY, "ANTIQUES"

The Hi-Tri club held a meeting Thursday, Feb. 28 in room 206. After the minutes and regular business session, a very interesting and instructive talk was given by Miss Helen Thorpe on her hobby "Antiques."

She explained different types of antiques which included pressed glass, overlay, old decorated tin, old clocks, furniture and woods.

She also exhibited many of her own articles.

She related one of the interesting and humorous experiences she and her partner had while trying to obtain antiques from the city dump.

In concluding her talk she illustrated the practicability of antiques in the home.

PEP ASSEMBLY HELD FOR EAST GAME BY CHEER LEADERS

A basketball pep assembly in charge of the cheerleaders was held last Friday in the auditorium. It was held to arouse spirit for the Salem-Youngstown East tournament game.

The assembly was opened with three "Hi-Coach" yell. This was to show appreciation to Coach Miller. Several new cheers were learned one of which was "Chickery Boom Bah," written by Betty Whaley, one of the cheerleaders.

The "Alma Mater," "Rah Rah for Salem," "Quaker Drive on Song," and "Salem's Going to Win That Game" were the songs sung by the student body.

The assembly was dismissed by Donna Lopeman.

"13 AGAINST ODDS" NO WIN LIBRARY

"Thirteen Against the Odds," by Edwin Rogers Embree is a fascinating book about outstanding figures of the Negro race. It makes each one a hero in his own way. The book tells how through struggle and achievements these Negroes have made themselves outstanding today.

The thirteen persons characterized are Mary McLead Bethune, Richard Wright, Charles S. Johnson, Walter White, George Washington Carver, Langston Hughes, Marian Anderson, W. E. B. DuBois, Mordecai W. Johnson, William Grant Still, A. Philip Randolph, Joe Louis, and Paul Robeson.

George Washington Carver went to college only to be refused a room in the dormitory and to be told bluntly he could not eat in the college dining room. Just to get an education he put up with this, too.

This is just one of the interesting incidents told in this book. It is available now in the library.

Movies will also be shown during class periods illustrating good dental care, nutrition of teeth and other points which will prove instructive to everyone.

"Carvers" Beware!

Did you ever stop to realize how many hundreds of names are carved or printed on the desks here at school? No doubt you have had an opportunity to sign your name or your best friend's name on one of these desks. And if you did, did you ever ask yourself this question: "What good will it be a few years from now?" I suppose you never thought about it, but your name or initials will mean nothing, absolutely nothing, in a few years. Of course, your friends may recognize your name and remember you now, but after graduation, then what? Your friends won't be there any more and you will be entirely forgotten.

Help To Make Halls Passable

Everytime one tries to walk through the halls to a room in the morning and afternoon it seems an eternity before he gets there. Gossipers form a ring in the middle of the halls and won't budge until one minute before the bell rings. This proves very unsatisfactory to people who are in a hurry to go to some homeroom.

The next time you have something to say to your friend, stay close to your locker, leaving the halls clear. This avoids having people bump into you, and much time will be saved.

Spring Fever

This last week the weather has been so nice and the students of S. H. S., being no different from students of other schools, have done the typical thing; they've all caught spring fever. When the sun shines so bright outside and the weather seems so warm, one thought comes to all; it's spring. But this is only March. There is another month before spring will really be here, so don't stop working yet. After all, there are two more six weeks periods to school and it would be very easy to fail a whole course in this length of time just because you got spring fever early.

Nail Polish Hints

As we all know the putting on of nail polish is a very tedious job, but in the long run it always looks better and lasts much longer.

Here are a few hints for nail "doing":

- 1. Be sure nails and cuticle are perfectly clean and dry before applying polish.
2. Use a colorless nail polish base. It helps polish to adhere better and also eliminates the stain from darker polishes. Then let dry well.
3. Apply two coats of polish letting the first dry completely before adding the second.

New and Different Bedspreads

Everyone at one time has a great urge to change her bedroom to something that every fem would simply drool over, but then the discouraging thought of money enters in, and the whole beautiful idea is given up for lost. This grief need not be. The looks of a room can be completely changed by adding a little color here and there. For instance, try this on your bedspread. If you have a dull plain bedspread, make it look new and alive by dyeing it a startling color and then add a few bright flower appliques. Another plan is to cut the bottom and sides from your spread and add a bright flowered ruffle instead. If your purse is a little bit fuller you can carry these ideas further by making drapes, dressing table skirts, and chair cover to match. A lot of Fems are even getting ambitious enough to put up their own wallpaper. Well, anyway you might try it sometime.

But it really is a darling dress. Well, that's all for the week, take it easy and be good. As ever, Niki and Lois

BIOLOGY CLASSES STUDY BEHAVIOR

The biology classes have been studying the behavior of living things for the past week. They have been studying two different reflexes, inborn and conditioned reflexes, as the basis of human behavior.

Dick Jones has reported seeing a herring gull and Therman Baker, a killdeer. Several students have seen blubirds.

Miss Weeks reports that Jerry Callahan has been doing some magnificent work removing the vertebrate brains of a new-born pig and four day old calf. This work, especially that of removing the brains of the calf, is very unusual for a sophomore; and Jerry deserves a lot of credit.

FADS 'N FASHIONS

By LOIS AND NIKI

Hi There,

By this time we know that everyone is in a state of mind, wondering what they are going to wear for Easter. It's terribly hard to find a nice suit (if this is what you want), within a reasonable budget. So why not try to make over last year's suit? You might add different buttons to the jacket, or add a horizontal strip of a different color if your jacket is plain. Of course, a new blouse and different accessories always make a suit look new. You could also, if your skirt is fully pleated, take the pleats out and cut your skirt completely straight. Or you might have the suit dyed a different color; presto-chango, you have a completely new and different suit which no one will guess was last year's model.

4. After this is dry add your final coat of colorless polish.

5. After this is dry to the touch use one of the new oily polish dryers.

6. If it is possible, keep hands out of water several hours afterward. If so, you will find that the polish will last much longer and look loads better.

The two outstanding features of this week are - (1) Ruth Baltornic's beautiful hand painted head scarf. It has figures of men and women in grotesque, but beautiful costumes. An alumni, Tom Rowlands, painted this for Ruthie. Just ask her to let you see it and she will be only too glad to display it. (2) Sammae Lockhart's cute red dress with the sixty-four white buttons on the front. If you don't believe us just take a look for yourself.

RUTHLESS COMMENTS

BY RUTH B.

RUTHLESS COMMENTS

Hello, people (and students, too). How is everyone this lovely day? I hope everyone is busy doing things for me to write about. . . . Hm !

YEAH, TEAM!

We'd like all the basketball boys to know that we think they're pretty swell. The first tournament game was really exciting, and even listening to it on the radio was thrilling. And I don't like to listen to some of those games on the radio, usually.

COUPLE OF THE WEEK

This week we have a Senior and a Freshman who have been struck by Cupid's arrow for a long, long time. In case you haven't guessed who it is, I give you Ben Bruderly and Patty Thompson. Keep it up—you're doing swell!

A surprise birthday party was given for Joyce De Wan last week. . . . Joyce's favorite man brought her a gardenia corsage, which was quite the thing for Joyce. Some of the guests were Elsie Hughes, Margaret Cabbage, Georgianna DeRhodes, Janet Youtz, Irene Harp, and many others. From the sound of things, everyone was really having a swell time.

FOOD, FOOD, AND MORE FOOD

Marty Brian had a dinner out at her house Friday night. Joan Hardy, Jinny Baillie, Corky Butcher, Jean Redinger, and Donna Ward were among the femme fatales present. Everyone brought something to eat, and it didn't quite agree with Jinny. She certainly has one weak stomach. Darn good Pepsi you've got, Marty.

For those of you who are wondering why Cathie Scullion wears a bandage, she was burned with sulfuric acid in chemistry class one day not so long ago. My sympathy certainly goes towards her, because I know what it feels like.

GREETINGS, GUYS

Well wishes go to Rip Helman and Boob Shea, who were home recently on furloughs. Booby is in the Air Corps, and is the older brother of the one and only "Little Booby," as you all know.

Bill (he always gets a raw deal) Schmidt hasn't had his name in this column for some time, and so here it is.

Recently, I was asked why some different groups of you kids don't get your names in here. Criticism is flowing thick and fast on this score, so all I can say is: TELL ME when you have parties, when you hear cute jokes, poems, etc., and anything else that's of interest to the school. This is your column, so contribute to it and make it a good one. And the next person who gripes without giving his little contribution goes out on his ear! (Joke!) But, drop your suggestions and such stuff in the Q. O. or tell me about anything you want in here. O. K.?

Well, this isn't a very long column this time, but I'm hoping that I'll be getting a LOT of news from all of you for next week's issue. How about that? For now, though, be good and don't forget me.

RUTHIE.

What Do You Think?

What are the sources of those wonderful aromas that come drifting out of 107? Toward the end of the third period everyone begins to feel very hollow. Some refreshments would be welcome. Now, Mrs. Strain's classes like to cook. Salem High pupils like to eat. Why don't we get together? Mrs. Strain's classes could prepare mid-morning lunches and serve from 11:00 to 11:20. Then the classes would be happy; the pupils would be happy; they could work better, and so the teachers would be happy! Everybody's happy! Why don't we try it? (As if I didn't know!)

Life At S. H. S.

The bell rings promptly at 8:45, and if a few students can not make it at that time, it still rings.

As every school has rules and regulations, so does our alma mater. The rule most confusing to the Freshmen is the one about the stairs. Even yet, a few of the other students forget, and must be reminded. And then there are times when people sometimes go to the lockers during classes. Many a time a character is tapped on the shoulder and must be reminded.

And last, but not least, is the law pertaining to gum. It may be food, but it's far from that to the unfortunate one who has to listen.

All in all, life in S.H.S. is swell.

Quakers Gain Control Of Game In Third Period To Defeat East 46-42

Hollinger, Martinelli, Pager, Myers Lead Salem Attack

Although Salem was heavily favored to defeat East, they had to come from behind to do it. Not until late in the third quarter did Salem get things firmly in control, and then the Quakers had to stave off a late rally to win, 46-42.

Offensively, the Quakers were not bad, forty-six points being a fair total for a team used to playing on a small floor. The Salem scoring was well divided with Captain Moe Hollinger at the top with twelve; Martinelli and Pager, ten each; and Lowell Myers, nine. Hollinger was on the ball all evening, making his shots just when an East lead began to look dangerous. Martinelli wasn't up to par on his ball handling as was Pager who had been sick all week. John Pridon played a scrappy replacement game, often stealing the ball from an unwary opponent.

East took the lead early in the first quarter, and never fell behind until the final minute when Lowell Myers put through a basket and a foul to give Salem a 13-12 lead. East reversed affairs in the second frame. Led by Joe Malmisur and Jack McKenna, the East high Sunrises took a 23-22 lead by halftime.

The Quakers slipped out of their lethargy in the third period. Outscoring East 15-9, the Millermen took a 37-32 advantage by the quarter's end. Everyone contributed to the scoring spree.

Things looked safe throughout the fourth with the loss of Jack McKenna and John Bartos via the foul route. Myers notched five in this period to save the game. Gabe Appulgiere led a belated attack which stopped with the buzzer, ending the game.

QUAKERS TO MEET NILES, AS THIRD FOE OF TOURNEY

The Salem Quakers will meet their third tourney foe in the nine o'clock game at the South High Field House tonight. Niles will be the foe. The (Niles lads) have defeated Memorial and Rayen each by one point. Quaker tourney victories have come over Youngstown East and Louisville.

The winner of tonight's game—which ought to be a thriller—will decide the lower bracket champion. The victor will meet a strong, confident Youngstown South team tomorrow night to determine who goes to the regionals.

Delving into the statistics, Salem made 16 of 62 floor shots to 15 of 58 for East, and the Quakers clinched on 14 of 24 free throws to 12 of 25 for East.

Ah yes, somebody, Ah say, somebody Knocked. When I'm in Youngstown I go only to the South. (South that is) fieldhouse.

Yep, the tourney is in full swing, and at this writing the Quakers should be still there pitching. The win over Youngstown East was a little on the "brown" side, but still it was our first tourney game and things are looking up. We handled Louisville and are an even choice to beat Niles tonight. Then on to Youngstown South Saturday night if and when.

The Quakers with Moe Hollinger, Bob Pager, Puss Myers (he hails from Lowel-ville), and Tony Mart-inelli leading the scoring, looked good offensively in the tourney but their defense and passing looked a little sour.

Short and Tall Tales

John Stoita wants everyone to know he hasn't changed from weed-ies to wheaties. He's changed his entire diet. He likes among other things — Campbell's soups, spuds (potatoes, that is) and (old) golden corn. He's even a Ral(eigh)-ston straight shooter. . . . All kidding aside, John with track season right around the corner is now in training . . . Thorne and Hanna are in training too. They were zipping around in a motor scooter last week . . . Columbiana had a little trouble last week in beating Louisville 40-37. Bill Newell and Don Esenwein were sick, but Rein-er came through with 11 points to take up part of the slack . . . Even though two starters were missing the Clippers seem due for a fall in the Dunkel ratings . . . I never did think they were fifth best in State circles. If Warren Lehman, and Canton Township, etc. can't beat them then maybe they are fifth, but just the same you'd have tough time convincing Warren and Can-ton fans Mr. Dunkey!! . . . Boardman, paced by Tony Smith, figures to give the Clippers court Do you realize that a team only has to win not more than eight games to take a state championship?—Coach "Bo" Miller can still play plenty of basketball. He often scrimmages with the varsity —Chillicothe and Norwalk, both undefeated have already fallen by the wayside in the "A" competition —Middleton remains the hot fa-vorite to annex the crown again—Did you ever stop to think that even though Warren has the larg-est school in the state they have hardly ever gotten out of the Sectional tourney, whereas McKinley has reached the state finals some-thing like seven or eight times—None can say the locals don't have support when they play in the tour-ney—The fans really deserve a pat on the back, although some of the boys were a little disappointed by Salem's performance against East—yep, they couldn't enjoy the mid-night show. Oh well, maybe they can have a GRAND time some other night.—The Tarr Babies, otherwise known as the Forty-niners, are at this writing playing the Frosh N. E. O. Tournament at Massillon (no remarks!) I'm sure everyone wishes them the best of luck and win or lose, they deserve the heart-iest of congratulations for a won-derful season—Baseball and Track seasons are right around the cor-ner, especially track which really is right around thhe corner. Yes, "Cope's Antelopes" are really get-ting in the groove.
