Mrs. Leah Strain Retires From Faculty Position

"I have thoroughly enjoyed all my associations with the faculty and students alike." This was the statement made by Mrs. Leah Strain, Home Economics instructor, as she announced that she was leaving the teaching profession to become "just a housewife."

Mrs. Strain was born in Punxsutawney, Pa., and lived her early life there attending that high school. She then pursued her education at Thomas School of Home Economics in Detroit and went on to receive her degree from Kent State University at Kent, Ohio.

She taught previously in Portage County Schools and at Ravenna, Ohio, before taking up teaching here. She also served as a dietitian at the Central Clinic during the war.

As a member of the Salem High faculty, Mrs. Strain served five years as chairman of the social committee and has been in charge of the Junior Red Cross for the past two years.

No substitute has yet been engaged to teach her foods classes.

The many parties and teas she has supervised for various organizations will be missed very much as a part of Salem High school life, but they will be missed no more than will be their hostess, Mrs. Strain.

Thespians Initiate Sixteen Candidates

Sixteen students, fulfilling the requirements for membership in the Thespian organization, were initiated November 29 in room 112 by the regular members of the high school group.

During a formal banquet on the evening of November 30, at the Parkview Inn in Canfield, the initiates were instructed in the aims and purposes of the club by a candlelight service. Bob Askey, club president, led the meeting at which 28 were present.

Miner, Zeigler Get Knights' Trophies

The annual Knights of Columbus award was presented to Tom Miller and Ken Zeigler at the football banquet Thursday, December 3. The presentation of the trophy is made each year, during the Salem Booster's Club banquet for the Quaker gridders, to the player most outstanding in football and scholastic achievement.

Tom and Ken had been competing for the honor since entering high school and the contest between them, grew greater as their high school careers went on. Both have high standing in class ratings and have proven their worth on the gridiron this year. Tom held the spot of first string quarterback this season, and Ken held the right tackle position.

The Knights of Columbus trophy, designed to create and increase interest in both the athletic and academic work in high school, was first presented in 1945 when it was given to Bill Ward. The honors in 1946 went to Ray Snyder, and last year's trophy was given to Danny Crawford.

The Kiwanis Club each season gives a medal to the player chosen "most valuable" by his teammates. This award was given to Ken Zeigler this year.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

G. A. A. members announce that they still have Christmas cards for sale at five cents each or one dollar for a box of 21.

Janitors Reveal Hidden Grievances In Proposed Letter To Santa Claus

Salem High School janitors, it seems, have decided to write a letter to Santa Claus this year. They put first on their list of desired articles a blonde secretary. They agree that they really aren't overloaded with paper-work, but insist that a secretary would be a great improvement in their environment.

Secondly, they would ask that Santa strike dead the next guy that writes on the walls. They would also like the chance to quietly strangle the girl who keeps a huge box under her locker so that they have to dust it off.

Sweeping the floor is exercise, dusting is a pleasure, but oh! that snow! Charlie Fineran dislikes shoveling the tons of snow that pile up in front of the school each winter. Do we blame him? Not at all!

Jim Thomas, one of his colleagues, brings forth another pet peeve, the complicated switchboard in the boiler room. If the little office is ever remodeled, he suggests a change in that direction.

Most of the students miss Jack Circle since his night shift doesn't begin until 4 o'clock. He likes his work here at SHS, but one particular task he does not enjoy is washing windows! He says it's bad enough on the inside, but the outside!

The rookie of Salem High is William Englehart, who has been working the night shift since August. Although he has no pet peeve, we find that he is our own Eddie Cantor. Why? Well, believe it or not, he is the father of five darling girls.

Choruses To Present Annual Noel Concert

Thespians To Assist Production Of Traditional Tableaux Scenes

The Salem High School choruses will present their third annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 19, at 3:30 P. M. in the auditorium, under the direction of Thomas E. Crothers, vocal music instructor and director of the choruses.

The tableaux portraying the Nativity will again be presented in cooperation with the dramatics department and Miss Irene Weeks, dramatics director.

The program will consist of religious vocals by the combined choruses of 124 students, selections sung by the Boys' Quintet, and the Girls' Ensemble, selections by the advanced chorus, a piano solo by Dorothy Pozniko, and a series of Christmas hymns by the combined choruses.

Ben Bailey is the accompanist for the advanced chorus and Dorothy Pozniko is pianist for the junior vocalists.

The students who to date have been selected to participate in the tableaux are Kings, Bob Askey, Gene Dean, and Nick Zantal; Angels, Shirley Smith, Martha Whinery, Eleanora Buta, and Polly Ailes; Shepherds, Bill Holzinger, Willard Stamp, Mike Silver, Paul Gartner, Ray Abrams, and Don Coffee.

It is hoped that the new choir robes will be available for the concert. Twenty-five maroon gowns were ordered recently for the ensembles.

There will be no admission charge for this program. All persons are urged to be in their seats by 3:30 as no one will be seated during the performance of any number.

Mount Union Opened To Seniors' Visit

When a group of seniors went to Mount Union last Saturday, they found out what a day at college is like.

They registered at the chapel when they first arrived, and then listened to informal talks given by some college seniors. The group made a tour of the college, going to the Music Hall, Elliott Hall, Lam-born Science Hall, Chapman Hall, Miller Hall, Memorial Hall, Clarke Observatory, and Student Union Building. At the end of the tour the group went to sorority and fraternity houses for lunch. After lunch they met again in the chapel where they participated in group singing and group discussions.

Dr. Ketchum, president of Mount Union College, addressed the visiting students, discussing their future life and college. At the end of the afternoon the seniors went to Morgan gymnasium for dancing and refreshments.

Salem seniors who attended the Mount Union High School Day included Bob Askey, Mark Miller, Jerry Miller, Ken Schrom, Barbara Barnard, Margie Kelley, Gwenn Krepps, Marg King, Caresse Krepps, Marcy Vaughn, Betty Hergenrother, Nick Zantal, Bob Baker, and Charles Bailey.

S. C. Noon Movies Now In Progress

Student Council members are again sponsoring movies as a part of their noon recreation program.

The first movie was "Hellzapopin" with Olson and Johnson. The second, showing Wednesday, was a historical western called "Stagecoach," starring John Wayne, Berry Fitzgerald, and Thomas Mitchell.

Tickets for each of the nine movies may be purchased for eight cents each, or a season ticket can be obtained through student council representatives for $1.20. This money is used not as profit, but merely to defray expenses. The primary purpose of the movies is entertainment for the noon pupils.

The movies are held Wednesdays and Thursdays at 12:10. If a movie is not completed on Thursday, the ending is shown free on Friday.

The movies are in charge of Leo Kline, chairman of the noon recreation committee. The operators are Rolland Herron, who has had a year's experience, Tom Trebilcock, and Ed Chaplow. Dancing, also a part of the recreation program, will be held Monday noons in the gymnasium.

JACK CIRCLE

Eileen Farrell To Sing At Community Concert

The first of a series of four Community Concerts will be presented in the auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Admission will be by tickets purchased last spring for the concert season.

This concert will be given by the Irish singer, Eileen Farrell, a radio performer since 1942.

Reash, Zeigler, Bailey Honored In Assembly

George Reash quarterback, was announced football captain for the 1949-50 season by Coach Ben Barrett in the assembly last Friday. His teammates selected him to head the squad next year on the basis of his playing ability, scholastic achievements, and their respect for him.

Ken Zeigler, right tackle, was elected this year's most valuable player.

Also receiving recognition was

Ring-ng-ing!! There goes that alarm again. It can't be that late; I've only been asleep a minute. The clock must be right though. I can see a faint glimmer of light.

Let's see now. Couldn't this be Saturday or maybe Sunday? No such luck. I distinctly remember that yesterday was Thursday, all of which would make this Friday. The clock ticks on...

Brrr! Who opened that window? I very carefully gave orders to Mother that when the temperature reached 72 degrees below zero, she was to close it. Looks like it's up to me now.

Bet I could win the Olympic championship with that broad jump I just made to shut out that cold demon. Even the bed is like a refrigerator when I get back, so might as well arise and shine.

Some hurried minutes later I sit myself at the breakfast table, fully clothed and eye with extreme distaste the oatmeal my dear beloved Mother places before me, when I see the first snowflake drift down.

No, Tommy. (That's the youngest "child" of the family), I absolutely will not get your sled from the attic. The snowflake isn't enough to slide on and it will probably melt anyhow. But another glance between Jack Frost's scribbles on the pane shows this to be false. A thin layer is already on the ground.

Where did I put my boots last spring? Mother what did you do with my mittens? Oh, I hate winter!

At last, attired in my winter regalia, I step forth into the cold, white world. Mmm—That snow looks like it would pack swell. There, that ought to be enough. Now to find a likely target. Ah, that high hat will be perfect.

Ouch! Somebody jumped the gun! Oh, well I always did look cute with a large blot of snow on my southern exterior.

Help the Student Council Help You

By Dick Tolson

DICK TOLSON

The range of our Student Council's activities are mainly within the doors of our high school with only a few exceptions. The success of our Council, great or small, is largely dependent upon you students outside the Council. How you use the Council to overcome your problems or to put into effect your suggestions or plans for better high school life and activities determines its usefulness as an organization.

Following are some conclusions worked out by the 1947 National Convention of Student Council on the discussion topic—What High School Students and Faculty Have a Right to Expect from the Student Council.

"The S. C. should be the connecting link between the administration and the student body." "A Student Council should be just what the name suggests—representative of the students." "The Council should do the things within certain restrictions that the majority of students would like." "Teachers should be willing to recognize the S. C. as a participating governing body and be willing to co-operate with the recommendations of the council." "The students should not expect the Council to do all the work but should share it."

Origin of Sundae

With ice cream plentiful again, you may be frequently going to the soda fountain for a "sundae." Perhaps you have wondered at the odd name. It seems that about 1875, Evanston, Illinois, passed a regulation forbidding the sale of ice-cream sodas on Sunday. Some one thought of serving ice cream with syrup, but no soda water. This "Sunday soda" soon became popular, and on week days plenty of customers asked for "Sundays." The city fathers objected to naming the dish after the Sabbath, so the spelling was changed—and "sundae" it has been ever since!

LET'S GET ON THE BALL!

Lately, it seems, everyone has been griping about how awful life in Salem Hig is. All the kids walk around looking dazed or half-asleep and groan about being bored to death and not having anything to do. No one really believes that he, personally, is to blame, or that he may be able to do something about it.

The gang starts shooting the breeze about the lack of interesting things to take part in around the school, and yet, when there actually IS a school-sponsored party, the turnout is very small. With a little more enthusiasm on the part of us, the student body, the faculty might give us the substantial backing we need when we ask for special privileges.

In a town the size of ours, there should be more places to go and some nice things to do, and maybe when we get older we can alter this situation, but until that time comes, there isn't anything to be gained by feeling sorry for ourselves, because no one has supplied us with a special place to go and a special thing to do.

In the meantime, there are several things we can do ourselves to improve conditions:

(1) We have had several nice dances at the Saxon Hall, maybe a club could arrange another one.

(2) It may not be considered perfectly sane to stay home a night or two during the week, but it is certainly relaxing to turn on the radio and eat a bowl of apples while you concentrate on a stack of funny books. When you DO go out again, you'll find you will have more fun because it isn't so routine.

(3) One of the most thrilling things you can possibly do is make new friends, become acquainted with them, and learn their ideas and opinions. Being able to carry on a conversation with a strange boy or girl is really easier than talking to your best buddy, because there are so many things to discover in a new-found friend. Not only are you breaking down the barriers of shyness now, you are preparing for the future when you may be completely alone and friendless in a strange city.

(4) Learn how to sit still and think things out for yourself. Take a walk through the woods or fields and discover the clean feeling you get out of it. Realize how interesting the things about you are. You are your own best friend, for no one else knows exactly how you feel.

"His" and "Hers" on Your Gift List

By Carol Johnson

Howdy, kids! This is your own personal Christmas shopper broadcasting from station S. H. S., bringing you hints and suggestions for your holiday shopping. Do you realize there are only twelve more shopping days before Christmas?

For those who go steady, the present for "Her" or "Him" is usually first on the list and uppermost in the mind. To you boys who want to buy something special for your One and Only, right now the biggest things in her life are those formal dances given during the holidays. After buying that divine evening gown to make herself utterly devastating for you, her funds are probably at lowest ebb. She just can't buy that super evening bag that's almost a MUST for evening attire. They come in silver or gold mesh, and in pastel shades of beads.

Girls simply adore necklace, bracelet, and earring sets. The greatest favorites are the pearl sets, simulated of course, which have necklaces from the single one strand affair up to the bib style with as many as seven strands. Lovely sets also come in costume jewelry.

Another gift for the girl friend, and she will love it, is he tinkling musical powder box. Some of these play one tune and some play two.

A cute little trick, stunning welcome gift for any girl, is a gold plated perfume or purse atomizer, about two inches long, which looks just like a lipstick, sprays perfume which lasts a long time.

Flowers delivered on Christmas day are always thrilling. A huge box of chocolates is enjoyable, but be sure she is a girl who doesn't have to watch her figure.

Ideas for girls in buying gifts for their "DREAM MAN" are next on the list. There is a neat little number out now that will surely please him. It is wristwatch band, a combination stretch band and identification bracelet in yellow or white gold. You can have his name and address engraved on this band for a small additional charge.

There are several gifts within the means of a girl who has a part time job and can afford to spend more money on gifts. A good photo camera will delight her boy friend. A screen for that home movie outfit he is just getting started, a small table model radio, or binoculars are ever welcomed.

HARMONICATS, IN PERSON

Why bother to pay ridiculous prices to see celebrities perform on the "mouth organ" when our own Nicky Cosma and Kenny Zeigler can play nearly as well? All they need now is the little tin cup.

THE GOOD SPORT

He puts himself into each action done
While others loiter, idly looking on,
In spite of all unwisdom's willing tools,
He plays the game according to the rules.
And when he wins a game, he always shows
Complete consideration for his foes.
Never courtesy does he refuse.
He knows it may be his turn next to lose.
And if he loses, as one sometimes will,
He recognizes his opponents' skill,
Takes his defeat, and never shows a trace
Of bitterness in either heart or face.
Whether he wins or loses in the game,
His manliness and courage are the same.
He knows that in the fever and the test
Of action he has done his human best.

DEDICATION

For three years now, a certain junior lad has been anxiously picking up the Quaker weekly hoping against hope that his name would appear therein, but until this week his ambition was never attained. Pleast take notice that KENNY BAKER and BEVERLY HILLIARD, frosh, are the couple of the week.

AND THEY'RE UPPERCLASSMEN, TOO!

Though the turnout for the Junior-Senior Party wasn't as large as anticipated, there were enough kids there to make the dance floor look like a huge waste basket after intermission. Paper cups and drum stick wrappers were thrown wherever the person happened to be standing. Here's hoping the underclassmen had a little more respect for the gym floor and the safety of the dancers.

STARS IN THEIR EYES

The sparkle in their eyes almost matches that of the sparkle on the third finger of the left hand. Naturally, we're referring to those lucky senior girls who have become engaged lately. You probably all know by now that Polly Ailes is promised to "Si' Sidinger, but did you hear that Nancy Bates is betrothed to Bob Coffee, Jeanne Huddleston is sporting the ring given to her by Ferman Dillard from Lisbon, and that Barbara Young has given an affirmative answer to one of Salem's alumni stars, Flick Entriken? Wishing you girls and your fiancées the best of luck, we'd like to extend our heartiest congratulations.

WHOOPIE!

With a dreamy voice like Bob Tarzan's, would any of you girls willingly kick him out of a room he happened to enter? Well, the cheer leaders did just that when innocent (?) Bobby walked into their dressing room. He says that he didn't know they were in there. We wonder.

THE SILENT HUNTER

Frances Kline was hostess to a party Saturday night with these couples present: Pat and Shirlee, Gwen Krepps and Don Silver, Frances and Bill Pasco, Martha and Jerry, Betty Parker and George Cusack, and the stags, Leo Kline and Jerry Harroff. Entertainment, naturally, was furnished by La Rice in the form of magic tricks and impersonations, one of which was the Silent Hunter.

Faculty, Students, Mourn Death Of John T. Burns

Teachers and students of the Salem Public School's mourn the passing of John T. Burns, president of the board of education, who died suddenly of a heart attack last Thursday morning.

Mr. Burns had been a member of the board of education for nine years and had served as president since June 2, 1946, when he succeeded A. E. Beardmore who resigned.

Although the students of Salem saw very little of Mr. Burns, his absence from the board will be keenly felt by all.

More directly, he will be remembered in Salem High as the founder of the Marie Burns Memorial music awards for outstanding Salem High School musicians, which he established in memory of his wife, Marie Brogan Burns, who preceded him in death October 23, 1943.

A resident of Salem for the past 25 years, Mr. Burns was an active citizen. Besides serving on the board of education, he was secretary-treasurer of the Church Budget Envelope Co., a member of the Salem Country Club and the Masonic Lodge, and a former commander of the local American Legion post. He also was a former state Legion treasurer and a director of the Boys State program.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge, Rotary Club, and a member of the pulpit committee of the Presbyterian Church. He was a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are a daughter, Marilyn, a sophomore in Salem High; a son, Thomas, 10; a brother Herbert of Columbus; and two sisters Miss Nellie and Miss Elizabeth Burns, both of Steubenville.

Here's What Girls First Notice, Boys

The last edition of the Quaker ran an article on "The first thing a boy notices about a girl." This week we reversed the charges and asked the girls, "What is the first thing you notice about a boy?" After asking 30 some girls this question, we came up with these answers:

Nine girls preferred clothes. So boys, the girls may tease you about buying sharp clothes, but, as you can see, it really pays off 'cause that's what they go for.

Eight said they look at the eyes first. Which only means to us that you can consider yourself lucky if you happen to have a pair of "baby-blues."

The face got three votes. Then came lips, nose, neatness, height, and physique.

Here are a few specific answers:

- Stella Jones—hair
- Jo Ann Whinery—eyes
- Shirley Baldinger—face
- Barb Burson—teeth
- Judy Gregg—clothes
- Nancy Stockten—physique
- Nettie Housel—neatness
- Bobbie Altaugh—height
- Millie Maier—smile
- Marge Kelly—nose.

Student Opinion Survey Reveals Interesting Facts About Pupils

In the Institute of Student Opinion health survey recently taken by the Quaker among a group of Salem High students, quite a few interesting facts were brought to light. For instance, it was discovered that over 20 per cent of the students do not eat breakfast before coming to school. The main causes for this seemed to be "Got up too late," "Didn't have time," and "Not hungry in the mornings."

Of those who did eat, the boys, on the average, spent more time at the breakfast table than did the girls.

Of the three most selected foods, bread, butter, and milk, 57.7 per cent of the boys had bread or toast, while only 18.8 per cent of the girls did. Thirty-seven per cent of the boys used butter with only 12.7 per cent of the girls doing so, and 31.4 per cent of the masculine side of the student body drank milk, as compared with a feminine total of 5.4 per cent.

If better grooming is a result of more time spent, man, look to woman. Thirty-eight per cent of the girls get up an hour before leaving for school, while only 20 per cent of the boys do this and 16 per cent of them have only 15 minutes to get ready.

One of the most startling facts disclosed by the survey is that 14.1 per cent of the girls do not brush their teeth, and a total of 33.3 per cent of the boys' toothbrushes are idle. It was also found that a few students had not taken a bath within the past week, and that 11.5 per cent of the boys had not shampooed their hair in a period of two weeks. Most of the girls had had two shampoos in that time.

Spanish Club Members Plan Refreshment Stand

Members of Los Conquistadores will be in charge of the refreshment stand at the Alumni game, December 28, according to a decision made at a meeting last Friday.

Entertainment for the members was given in the form of Spanish crossword puzzles, with emphasis on Spanish proverbs.

The next meeting of the group is scheduled for next Wednesday.

Quakers To Encounter Bengals Here Tonight

Millermen To Meet Wellsville In First Home Game Of Season

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

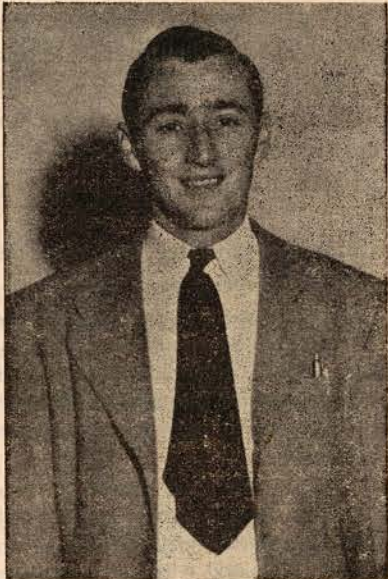

The Bengals from Wellsville will be the visiting club tonight as the Salem Quakers pay their initial home game of the 1948-1949 basketball season. Both teams, however, have one game under their belts. Tuesday Salem met Lisbon, while Wellsville entertained Springfield.

Coach Miller is now in his fifth season as head mentor of basketball at Salem High. In the four completed seasons his teams have left little to be desired. They have racked up the enviable record of 55 wins and only 15 losses, excluding tournament games. Of these 55 victories, three have come over Wellsville. They were also the direct cause of one of the 15 losses, winning the 1945 game 32 to 28. Salem victories came in '44, with a score of 53 to 27; in 1946, 48 to 30; and last year Mr. Bob Pager and Company really poured it on 52 to 24.

Salem fans will get a look at a different brand of basket ball this year. Much of last year's scoring punch came from down under the basket as Bob Pager needed only to stoop, sight the basket, and let the ball drop for two points. In practice this year Ed Bozich and Tom Miner have kept the nets swishing from a little farther out.

Captain "Big Boy" Faulkner frightens all opposition, swipes the ball from them, and has the ability to score from practically anywhere. George Reash was a bright star in last year's Reserve squad, and Jim Callahan was the "Tom Miner" of last season's Freshman team. These five boys along with a few other promising players compose a speedy well-rounded team.

Coach's Preview

Coach J. Robert Miller

Bob Miller, Salem High's basketball coach, does not predict a great season this year, but, as he said in a recent interview, fans are not to get the idea that Salem isn't going to make a good showing. In spite of the loss of Bob Pager's 6' 6", the coach doesn't seem to worry about height. He thinks his boys can make up for that with their superior fighting spirit.

Coach Miller won't know just who the first string will include for about two weeks, but he declares this to be the best all-around team he has coached in at least five years.

"Hey," he called to his lab partner, "put your hand on one of those wires!"

The partner did as he was told. "Feel anything?"

"No."

"Good," said the electrician, "I wasn't sure which was which—don't touch the other wire or you'll drop dead."

Lisbon Upsets Salemites 53-31

The Lisbon Blue Devils, obtaining revenge for last year's 46 to 33 trimming, stopped the Quakers in no uncertain terms Tuesday night at Lisbon. This defeat marked the first time that a Miller coached Salem team had dropped their opening game of the season. Lisbon picked up a quick ten point lead in the first quarter and held it until the final period when they pulled away and the game became no contest.

Bud Woods was the spark plug that enabled Lisbon to their 53 to 31 victory and Ed Bozich found the hoop for 17 of Salem's 31 markers.

The game was slowed down considerably by fouls. Captain Faulkner picked up four fouls early in the game and saw most of the second half from the bench. The Quakers seemed to have trouble with the foul markings on the Lisbon court as many times they were caught crossing the little black line with the ball in their hands.

Reserve Cagers Taken By Blue Devil Quintet

The Lisbon Reserves helped make it an all Lisbon night Tuesday as they downed Salem 29 to 26. The Blue Devils overcame an early Quaker lead to make the Sophomore's first start a losing one. Jim Cosgarea dumped in three long goals for six points to pace Salem.

The Quakers substituting was on the line of that of the Michigan football team, a new team for every play. It worked until the final quarter when they ran out of new teams.

As I See It

By Tom Miner

With football a thing of the past, basketball moves in to steal the spotlight. Salem's combination this year will be high in talent and short in height.

Heading the list of recruits is, of course, "Biggie" Faulkner, captain elect. Biggie, a ball hawk on defense and a good shot, has a starting post cinched.

Second is Ed Bozich, a letter winner last year. Ed has developed a good eye for the hoop and will no doubt be one of the Quaker's point getters.

This year's team, unlike those Salem has had in the past four years, has no individual standout. It is just a team, working together to win.

Coach Miller has been using "Sam" Reash at one of the forward positions so far this season. "Sam" is an outstanding rebounder and a good shot. He is also a great team player.

Due to the lack of experienced talent, Coach Miller has decided to look ahead to the future and has placed four sophomores on his varsity; namely, Jim Callahan, Bob Coy, Bob Theiss, and Don Abrams.

Callahan, perhaps the most outstanding of the four, has won himself a first team job. Jim is a good shot and a clever ball handler. Add that to his team work and rebounding and you have a good player.

Coy, Theiss, and Abrams will see a lot of action during the season as will Lige Alexander and Nicky Cosma. Nick is the smallest guy of the varsity; but he is a terrific competitor.

Tuesday of this week "Boob's Boys" opened the season at Lisbon. Tonight they meet the Wellsville High Bengals on the home court.

ALL-COUNTY QUAKERS

Salem placed five men on Columbiana County's first team. Walt Ehrhart repeated to win a half-back spot, and Tom Miner the Quarterback position. Jerry Smith moved up a team this year to grab a place as guard, and Ken Zeigler another line spot. Fredrick Roth, a sophomore end, completes the selections for Salem.
