Be-bop - - What Is It? Your Guess is Good, Too

Are you be-bop happy? Or have you escaped this craze-of-the-day and are, therefore, truly happy?

What is it? Music? So they say, while others call it "esoteric noise," "wild-eyed stuff," "discordant, off-beat jazz," and anything but music. One definition states: "If the tune is unrecognizable, it's be-bop."

Rumors have it that it all started at Minton's Playhouse on Harlem's 11th Street in the late thirties. Through an entire decade this sound and fury has progressed. But only today have people become really aware of it. Critics say it won't last. It must be remembered, however, that the same was said about jazz and swing.

This new rhythm—making fad is being ushered in by such artists as Charlie Parker, Dizzy Gillespie, and Thelonius Monk. Gillespie is the crafty showman whose timing and clowning have landed him in the money, due to be-bop. From coast to coast he is heralded as Mr. be-bop.

Like all new trends, be-bop has to grow on you. At first it sounds strange and scream. Once understood, it becomes extremely pleasant to the ear.

Musicians like Benny Goodman, once aloof, are already playing the new art. Goodman heard Wardell Gray and went into hysterics. They say he exclaimed, "If that's bop—I'm for it." His new band will have some top flight boppers.

What gave rise to bop? Ross Russell, boss of Dial Records, Inc., and one of the authorities on bop, writes, "The new music can best be understood as a revolt against the large, complicated music that reaches its peak with Launceford."

Teen-agers have identified themselves as avid fans of be-bop by donning the blue berets and bop glasses which are now associated with them as the zoot-suit identified the jitterbug.

College kids all over the nation are be-bop happy. With them it has become a part of their dress, talk, and music.

However, they have yet to prove to many cynics that be-bop is danceable.

Town Hall Speaker

COMDR. DONALD B. MACMILLAN

Arctic Explorer To Discuss North

Commander Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, will address the Town Hall audience tonight in the high school audience on the subject "North—Far North with MacMillan." He will illustrate his discussion with natural colored movies.

For over 39 years, Donald MacMillan, has maintained his active work in the Arctic.

In 1929, he built and equipped the Mac-Millan-Moravian Eskimo School at Ain, Laborador, which he and Mrs. MacMillan continue to maintain at the present time, caring for 70 Eskimo children.

He has authored a number of books on the Arctic and the Eskimos and he is considered the leading authority.

He has just returned from a cruise to New Greenland where he again visited the Polar Eskimos. He was accompanied by students and scientists from 10 different colleges.

In keeping with the established policy, the admission is free.

Jerry Rice Is Chosen All-around Thespian

Senior Jerry Rice was chosen the most all-around Thespian of the year by a popular vote of Thespian, Miss Irene Weeks, adviser, announced recently.

Jerry earned this recognition in high school dramatic work by his participation in the class plays and various one-act plays, as well as by his cooperation, character portrayals, stage crew work and other off-stage assistance.

Flo Maier and Nettie Housel, seniors, will be initiated into the local Thespian Troupe 358 when that organization meets next Tuesday evening. The privilege of a late initiation such as this is extended only to seniors who have recently acquired the necessary points.

A dramatized radio script will also be presented by members of the dramatic classes.

The dramatic classes are beginning a study of theatrical make-up, using Max Factor booklets as a guide.

Naval Reserve Open House Being Planned for Students

Beginning in March, an "open house hour" will be observed at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, 315 E. La Clede Ave., Youngstown, each Saturday morning for high school students, Cmdr. John A. Stansbury announced last week.

The commanding officer of the Youngstown Naval Reserve Battalion said the plan has the two-fold purpose of educating young men in the functions of equipment they would not see outside of a warship or naval station and in interesting them in the naval reserve.

Open-house Held At Buckeye School

Parents and interested citizens of Salem visited the elementary Buckeye School, located at Buckeye and W. Twelfth Streets, when that building recently held an "open house" evening.

Buckeye School is a unit of the Board of Education's new building program to meet the coming increase in the enrollment in elementary schools. The new building houses a kindergarten and grades one through six. It also contains a music room, a visual education room, and a combination gymnasium and auditorium. All the seats and desks are movable so the seating arrangement can be readily changed to accommodate any type of program or activity planned for the room.

The heating and venting system is of the single-unit type which takes fresh air from the outside of the building for each room.

The lighting is of the Fluorescent type with three rows of ceiling lights in each room.

All in all the building is perhaps the most modern and adequate for school purposes in the Eastern Ohio School area.

Junior-Senior Prom To Be Held In Temple

Breaking the custom of having the annual Junior-Senior Prom in the gymnasium, this year's committee has received permission to stage the gala affair in the local Masonic Temple, Friday, June 2.

The "Shively Yates" orchestra of Massillon, Ohio, has been engaged to play for the dancing.

Further plans will be announced as they are completed stated Mrs. Maxine Ryser, adviser.

Marietta's Career Lecturer Advises Work Before College

Want to make a success of college? Then get a job first—and if you have to work your way through school, so much the better.

That advice was given young people by Warren Bruner, former professional management consultant for 30 years and now lecturer on career determination at Marietta College.

Bruner joined the Marietta faculty last fall after three years at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.

A minimum of one to two years of work before entering college is Bruner's recommendation.

"This gives a young person insight into the problems he must face after graduation," he explains. "He then knows why he's getting an education and what he'll do with it. His work experiences will be even

"We say frankly," said Commander Stansbury, "that we seek intelligent youth for reserve recruits, both to maintain the high efficiency of the Youngstown battalion and to do our part in keeping up the reserve military strength of the nation."

"However," he added, "there are no strings attached to this open house hour. High school men are welcome. They will be shown the navy's finest equipment. Their questions will be answered and they will be under no obligation. If they evidence an interest, we shall explain the reserve program. If not, we feel we have accomplished something in familiarizing them to some degree with military equipment."

Advanced Chorus Presents Program

The advanced chorus, under the direction of Thomas Crothers, Music Supervisor, presented a program of musical selections to the faculty and students in assembly yesterday.

Included in their repertoire were "With a Hey, and a Hi and a Ho, Ho, Ho"; "Winter Wonderland"; "O Lovely Heart"; Fred Waring's arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; and "Father William" from the "Alice in Wonderland Suite."

The quintet, singing "Shine on Me" and "While Strolling Through the Park" was composed of Rolland Herron, Jack Leipper, John Schmid, Jim Cosgarea and Bob Hill.

A song fest for the entire audience was directed by Mr. Crothers. "I've Been Working on the Railroad" and "Far Away Places" were selected by the chorus for this part of the program.

more valuable if he has picked his future career and fits those experiences into a plan for achieving his objectives."

Two of Bruner's three sons have followed the pattern he recommends.

"Suppose you are a few years older than other college students," he tells his classes. "You have experience that puts you way ahead at graduation time, when you must scramble for jobs and answer that embarrassing question: 'What experience have you had?'"

He recommends participation in varied extra-curricular activities.

"Don't forgo them to spend all your time on studies," he says. "They are a definite part of the education you're receiving. They teach you important lessons on how to get along with people."

New Voting Machines Demonstrated at Bank

A large number of Salem adults and students inspected two voting machines which were demonstrated in the lobby of the Farmers National Bank last week.

The county election board arranged the demonstration as part of an investigation to determine if the machines should be installed in the county's 121 precincts. They were on display earlier this month in Lisbon and East Liverpool.

If the machines of this type were installed in all towns, they would speed up voting, eliminate spoiled ballots, and insure accurate counting.

Voting machines are easy to operate and afford each voter the privacy he desires.

Germ Spreaders Caught in Survey

Within the last week or so 950 students were seen chewing pencils or other objects. This was revealed in the germ-spreading habits survey conducted by the biology classes.

Nine hundred and six people were seen sneezing or coughing without the use of a handkerchief, 647 were found chewing their finger nails, 449 were guilty of picking their nose, 360 were caught taking a bite of another's food or drinking from someone else's glass, 317 were using towels that had been used by others, and 74 were borrowing lipstick and vanity cases.

This survey was made to illustrate how easily colds, measles, or other infectious diseases may be spread.

Waves Can Offer Undecided Girls Interesting and Promising Career

Yes, the Waves can truly offer a very substantial career for any girl who is yet undecided as to what she wishes to do. Women of the Waves are now working side by side stations, and bases throughout the nation.

In order to qualify for enlistment in the Waves, a candidate must meet certain requirements. Then if she passes the aptitude test successfully, she is sworn in.

Upon arriving at the training center she is given her quarters which, in most places, have double decker beds, with two to six girls in a room.

During indoctrination training, most of the Waves' time is spent in studying or classes. There is also a certain amount of marching and drilling, as well as sports and recreation.

When she finishes her indoctrination, one of two things may happen. She may step directly into a position as chauffeur, mailroom clerk, librarian, information girl, messenger, line assistant, escort, waitress, or mess cook without further training. Or on the basis of tests and her personal choice, she may be sent to a Navy service school for specialized training in some particular field.

Musical Dates

Mar. 9—Girls Octet—(Lenorian Book Club).

Mar. 22—Marie Burns Auditions.

April 9—Muskingum Solo Ensemble.

April 20—Vocal Solo and Ensemble at Dover.

April 25—Advanced Chorus.

April 26—Junior High program

May 21 East Liverpool Jr. High Festival.

May 27—Chorus Concert.

Shirts 'n Shirts

By Marcy Vaughn

On Students Day a week ago, all teachers-for-a-day got togged out in their sharpest. The Askey brothers, Bob and Darrell, could be seen miles away in their identical dark green corduroy jackets. Ken (Mr. Penner) Schrom also sported a corduroy jacket; his is an inspired shade of brilliant rustbrown.

Joe Bachman lived up to his standard of what a sharp dresser wears by being the first to appear in the new men's colors. His contribution to fashion is an eye-catching shirt in a delicious pink color. It is made with spread collar and French cuffs and can be gotten in any number of new shades.

Nettie Housel wore a Valentine gift, a pretty pink blouse with frosty lace down the front. She looked especially sweet and feminine.

Leafing through the "table section" of an etiquette book the other day, I discovered an interesting item. Did you know that soup is the only liquid spooned to the far edge of the plate, and that with all others the spoon is dipped to the side of the plate closest you?

Gazing onward, several other facts came to light. For instance, baked potatoes should always be eaten directly from the shell, and not scooped first onto the plate. Artichokes are one of the few foods which may be eaten partly with the fingers. Chicken should be cut from the bone with the knife and fork and eaten with the fork. Except for small tea napkins, never unfold a napkin more than half-way, and never tuck it in anywhere. Remember not to crumple it into a ball after the meal.

A girl's gloves and pocketbook should be placed on her lap and not on the table. In public places, and this will be a relief, it is perfectly proper to ask the waiter to explain menu terms with which you are not familiar. This should be done without embarrassment because it is better to ask than not to know.

Editorially Speaking . . .

Give Others a Chance

Every so often someone shows by his behavior that he is almost completely self-centered. Whether he knows it or not, he is branded as "selfish" by his gang.

If a selfish person is pretty, talented, or well-to-do, his selfishness may be tolerated by his pals. But the chances are, unless he rids himself of this fault, he will never win any real friends. A selfish person is usually rude and ill-mannered toward others.

The time to curb any tendency toward selfishness is when you are young. The best and quickest approach is to put others before one's self; to see things from the other fellow's viewpoint. Be thoughtful of others. Be willing to make generous overtures to other people. A refusal to go out of one's way to help someone else is a glaring indication of selfishness.

An unselfish person has no desire to wallow in the limelight of every social gathering, but is interested in what others have to say. We are told that the bore is the one who talks about himself when we would rather be talking about ourselves.

The great thing in the world is not so much our social standing, but what we are—the way we act toward others. The quickest shortcut to unselfishness is to develop thoughtfulness and generosity. Kindness is the basic trait of unselfishness and gracious living.

No wonder the nations cannot live at peace together; there are too many selfish people running around. Unless we can learn to be thoughtful and generous to others, instead of being so self-centered in ourselves, and wanting everything our own way—then we cannot expect others to be thoughtful and generous toward us.

Even if we have to work hard to develop unselfish behavior, the effort should be made. What is certain to happen, even if the effort is forced, is that the emotional satisfaction which comes from being generous and thoughtful to others will be so rewarding that soon unselfish impulses are apt to replace the usual self-centered reactions.

Quaker Quips

To be happy ourselves is a most effectual contribution to the happiness of others.

To speak kindly does not hurt the tongue.

Remember that when you are in the right you can afford to keep your temper; and that when you are in the wrong, you can't afford to lose it.

An idle rumor seldom is.

Wisdom is to know what is best worth knowing and to do what is best worth doing.

It's a sure sign of summer when a Scotchman throws his Christmas tree away.

Swans sing before they die. 'Twould not be a bad thing

Should certain persons die before they sing.

Pert Patter

SURPRISE!

I went home late, removed by shoes
And played a sneaking game
Up the front stairs. But lo! Ahead
My mother was doing the same!

ARTEEST!

To avoid a colorless existence, keep in the pink of condition; do things up brown. treat people white, be well-read; and go put onto the golf green under the blue occasionally.

FAMILIAR?

"Does your radio make an awful chattering noise?"

"Yes, it's just like one of the family."

OH—BROTHER!

A young lady entered the stationery store and asked for a pound tin of floor wax.

"I'm sorry, miss," said the clerk, "all we carry is sealing-wax."

"Don't be silly," she snapped. "Who'd want to wax a ceiling?"

I HATE MEN!

I hate the fat ones,
I hate the thin ones,
I hate the handsome ones, too.
I hate the short ones,
I hate the tall ones.

And those who act like a shmoo.
But most of all (well—I stort-of hate)
The one whose eyes are blue!

HA! HA!

"What's worse than raining cats and dogs?"

"What?"

"Hailing taxi-cabs."

Students Reveal

Life's Proudest Moment - - -

There comes at least once in everyone's lifetime something that stands out as his proudest moment. The Salem High students give their opinions as follows:

Stella Jones—When I received a Brooks Contest award.

Lois Firestone—When I got on the Quaker staff.

Pat Faini—When I was nominated as head cheerleader.

Jean Huddleston—When I got my engagement ring.

Carol Johnson—The first time I received all A's.

Dave Jones—When I got an A in wood industries.

Barbara Johnson—When I got my class ring.

Frances Klune—When I got an A in dramatics.

Margie King—When I got my driver's license at the age of fourteen.

Jennie Mozina—When I became a senior.

Donna Neely—When I didn't drop my baton at the Lisbon game of 1948.

Jerry Smith—When we beat Lisbon and became County Champs.

Nick Zantal—First time I made a left hand hook shot in a basketball game.

Gene Steves—It will be my proudest moment when I graduate.

Antoinette Tempsta—When I got A in English in my Freshman year.

Suzie O'Donnell—My first and only job.

Don Silver—When I tore the door off the Dodge.

Jerry Rice—Curtain call for the Senior Play.

Ken Schrom—Job at the Stark's Funeral Home.

Betty Parker—When Dad gave me the car.

Jerry Miller—When I gave my first (and my only) orchid.

Carna Arbanit's—When I won the State Grange Essay Contest, and received a trip to Columbus.

Polly Ailes—When I received my engagement ring and my house as an engagement present.

Paul Althouse—When I started to drive.

Shirley Baldinger—When Allen asked me to the Sweetheart Dance in Columbiana.

Audrey Anderson—When Mr. Hilgendorf asked me to work in his office.

Bob Campbell—When Nettie accepted my engagement ring.

George Taflan—First time I ever lifted a bowling ball, I got a strike.

Kenny Zeigler—When I got the Knights of Columbus Award and my first football game.

The Junior High assembly program for next week is a surprise under the direction of Mrs. Hoppes, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Fitzsimmons, and Miss Ward. Mr. Fitzsimmons, with the help of the cheerleaders, will present the letters to the football team. Preceding this, the plaques will be presented by Mr. Phillips.

The All-Stars copped two victories recently, defeating the Northside Salem Class "C" 42 to 36 and Columbiana, 42 to 36.

The 7B's won the six week period contest of tax stamps with a total of $1,245.84. The 8B's, 8C's, and 7B's brought in over $1,000 worth of stamps. Rooms having over $500 worth, but less than $1,000, were 8A, 8B, 7A, and 7D. Rooms having over $1,000 will receive double the prize of five cents per person which the rooms having over $500 will get. The total amount $7,155.65 brought in is the biggest collection of any period contest this year.

Brief News from Salem High's Extra Curricular

G. A. A. Square Dance

G. A. A. members are reminded of the square dance to be held March 4 in the local gymnasium. Each member may bring a guest, a boy or a girl. If a girl is invited, one of the couple is asked to wear slacks or jeans.

A committee is working on amendments to the G. A. A. constitution concerning attendance at the meetings and the number of points required to be an active member of the association.

This committee consists of Shirley Bell, Jean Huddleston, Rose Nocera, and Donna Stoffer.

Frosh Pencil Contest

Homeroom 310 is still in the lead of the Freshman Pencil-Selling Contest after a week and a half of sales.

Money received from the sales will be used to help sponsor an assembly which will be held in the near future.

French Club Party

A Valentine cake decorated with the words "J'aime Vous" (I love you) was the center of attraction of the party held by the French Club last week.

Miss Evelyn Johnston, adviser, gave a report on French explorations in the New World, illustrated with maps, which was well-received.

Boys' Quartet Sings

The Quaker City Four, boys' vocal and instrumental quartet of Salem High school, presented an entertaining program at the Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting Thursday noon in the Memorial building.

Bob Tarzan sang a solo entitled "For You." Ben Bailey contributed a piano selection, and Bob Zimmerman played a number on the suzaphone. The quartet then harmonized on several old-time songs and finished in entertaining fashion.

The quartet is composed of Tarzan, Bailey, Zimmerman, and Dick Dougherty.

'Going on Sixteen,' by Betty Cavana, Introduces Julie as Unhappy Heroine

"Going on Sixteen," a story of a backward teen-age girl whose life's ambition was to be an artist, was written by Betty Cavana. Renowned for her previous dog stories, Miss Cavana now proves her understanding of human relationships.

The story centers around Julie

Feurgeson, motherless and an only child. She lives with her father on a farm just outside Philadelphia where he boards and raises champion dogs for people living in the near-by city.

When Julie is caught in the net of disappointments at school and lack of companionship at home, she turns for comfort to Sonny, a small collie pup staying at her father's farm. She and the dog become great friends and their separation plays a major role in Julie's life.

How she overcomes her shyness in school and learns to take part in the various activities provides not only an interesting tale, but also gives numerous hints about achieving these goals in real life.

The reconciliation of Julie and Sonny and the romantic angle injected by Miss Cavana complete a story no one should miss.

morning program will extend from 10 to 11 A. M. and open late in March. The exact date is contingent upon completion of installations at the training center.

Recently received at the center and of great interest to school youth is a link trainer used for the schooling of naval flyers. This unit is assigned to the Volunteer Naval Air Reserve squadron.

Also of interest to students is the twin 40 m. m. anti-air-craft gun, the weapon which knocked hundreds of Jap planes out of Pacific skies, and the 20 m. m. gun which was the basic anti-aircraft weapon on small craft.

Already installed is the sonar gear resembling the conning tower of a submarine in shape and being one of the most useful pieces of equipment in the navy's destroyers. Still of interest also is the radar with its revealing screen which shows planes far in the sky. The reserve is equipped with powerful radio transmitters and receivers, as well, and holds periodic radio drill.

Debate Squad To Enter N. E. District Tourney

Salem's debate squad will enter the Northeastern District tournament at Niles next Tuesday. The winner of this tournament will be eligible for the State Tournament at Columbus.

Other schools which will participate in the meet include Niles, Struthers, and Youngstown (North, Chaney and Rayen).

Ken Zeigler, senior, has been added to the local team as first affirmative speaker.

Sportively Speaking

By Dick Brautigam

The Salem Quakers will play their first 1949 tournament game at the South High Fieldhouse, Saturday, March 5, against the "Bulldogs" of East Palestine.

This game will mark the second encounter of the two teams, with East Palestine winning the first on their own floor, 54 to 44.

However, Salem's prospects for revenging the loss are much better than might be expected. Despite the lop-sided scoring the former game was anything but a run-away. Further, it is generally agreed that the Palestine squad was in better form that night than in any preceding game or for any of their following matches.

Another item concerned in the game was the floor advantage the Bulldogs held over the Quaker five.

In the Fieldhouse both squads will be battling on comparatively strange hardwood and will thus be under more nearly equal circumstances.

Salem's draw made by Coach Bob Miller, puts the Quakers in a group with some of the teams they have met throughout the season. The other games on schedule for the Saturday evening are Youngstown East and Canton Lincoln, Canton South vs. Brookfield, and Warren Harding vs. Lisbon.

Wednesday, March 9, at 8:30 P. M. the winner of the Salem-East Palestine tussle will play the victor of the Warren-Lisbon game.

Salem's outlook for these games is not too discouraging if the Quakers can overcome East Palestine in their opening game.

It is generally agreed that the Salem squad has shown marked improvements since their first loss to Lisbon and they may be up to par with that team. Warren lost some of its varsity at mid-year graduation and was weakened considerably. Also an encouraging factor is that Alliance beat Warren 39 to 36 and they turned around and lost to Salem 45 to 29.

The Quakers' record now stands at five wins and 12 losses. East Palestine has won and lost eight games.

Sebring Trojans Drop Millermen

The salem cagers ended their season going down in defeat at the hands of the Sebring Trojans, 38 to 33, last Friday night.

The defeat of the home boys occurred almost entirely in the final quarter. They were behind by one point going into the second, but were ahead at the half, 21 to 20. The score skipped back again by that one point, 27 to 26, going into the fourth.

Most of Salem's field goals were made in the first half, only one bucket being made in the third and one in the fourth.

Don Brown was high point man in the game with 17 points for Sebring. Salem's Jim Callahan placed second with 12 points.

The game proved to be really rough, 40 fouls in all being called.

This loss made a total of 12 out of 17 games for the current season.

Reserves Also Lose

Making it a double loss for the Quakers in their closing game, the Red-and-Black Reserves bowed to the Sebring Reserves 27 to 20 that same evening.

The Salem boys were behind all the way: 7 to 4 at the second, 16 to 10 at the half, and 21 to 14, going into the fourth quarter.

Leading the pack in scoring was Meeks, scoring 13 points for the Trojans. Bush and Coy led Salem with five points each.

Salem Freshmen Enter Struthers Tournament

Alliance State Street Freshmen handed the Salem Frosh cagers a 38 to 25 defeat at Alliance, February 14.

The Salem Freshmen have entered the Struthers Tournament along with 30 other district teams. Salem has drawn a by for the first round, which will give them an easy trip to the second round where they will play the winner of the Youngstown orth-Struthers game.

Quakers Will Face Bulldogs March 5

First Tournament Tilt To Be Played At Youngstown Fieldhouse at 8 P. M.

Winning only five of 17 games isn't much to write home about, but the 1948-49 basketball season produced its share of thrilling plays and outstanding players.

The game of the year took place at Warren where the Quakers surprised everybody. Trailing by 11 points, with only three minutes left in the game, the Miller men swished the net for 17 markers and a 50 to 49 Salem triumph.

The upset of the year was pulled off at East Palestine. Chuck Martin's five played their hearts out to win from Salem 54 to 44, the first time in 13 years.

The outstanding individual scoring performance of the year was put forth by the short senior forward, Tom Miner. Tom dropped in 23 points in a futile attempt as Steubenville's Big Red trounced the Quakers 60 to 41.

East Liverpool dumped the Salem boys twice. This was the first time in the last five years that the two teams didn't split two games.

The best team on the schedule was Youngstown Chaney. This club that downed the Quakers 71 to 52 was seeded number one in the District.

The most promising player was sophomore center, Jim Callahan. His rebounding and scoring ability won him praise from many corners.

The season's scoring leader was again the senior scoring whiz, Tom Miner. Tom poured 189 points through the hoop for a 17 game average of 11.1. This was somewhat off the record of 350 marks garnered by Big Bob Payer in the same number of games last year.

Eddie Bozich was close behind Miner with 172 points for an average of 10.1. Captain Biggie Faulkner picked up 123 and an average of 7.2 points a game. Jim Callahan was the fourth boy to smash the hundred mark as he accounted for 114 tallies. His average was 6.7. Next in order came George Reash with 69; Bob Theiss, 36; Don Abrams, 24; Nick Cosma, 3; Lige Alexander, 3; and Fritz Roth, 3. Bob Coy, the other varsity member, failed to break into the scoring column.

Tournament Slants

East Palestine hasn't improved too much since their last outing against the Quakers. In their latest game they were drubbed by Columbian 67 to 37. However, the Bulldogs played without the service of their star, Bill Alerich. The Miller men meet East Palestine in their first tournament try Saturday, March 5, at 8:00 P. M.

In the opener at 6:00 that evening Canton Lincoln goes against Youngstown East. Seeded Canton South will be tested with Brookfield at 7:00 and after the Salem game Warren and Lisbon will tangle in the night's final.

Coach Miller may take Bob Bush to the tournament games. Each team is allowed 12 players, and Bob is most likely to be the number 12 man.

If Salem should win their first game they would meet the winner of the Lisbon-Warren game on Wednesday, March 9, at 8:30 P. M.

The tournament starts Monday night and in a game that could decide the whole upper bracket, top-seeded Youngstown Chaney will clash with Canton McKinley, a team which many expected to be seeded.
