Seniors Go to Palestine For Scholarship Tests

Those Ranking Among Top Ten Students To Be Offered County Certificates

Twenty-three Seniors will journey to East Palestine tomorrow to participate in the 1950 Ohio General Scholarship test, according to Prin. B. G. Ludwig.

They are Treva Bush, George Cusack, Norman Boals, Mary Esther Eells, Lois Firestone, Jerry Harroff, Rolland Hiscox, Lawrence Vasilevich, Herb Kelley, Danny Keister, Isabelle Kleinman, Leo Kline, Shirley McCave, Wanda Minser, Willard Stamp,

Committee Appoints Kerr as Chairman

Supt. E. S. Kerr has been appointed chairman of the subcommittee on school-community relations for the Ohio Commission on Children and Youth.

The function of the commission is to assemble pertinent facts about existing programs of education in the schools of Ohio, to appraise these facts in the light of modern trends in education, and to suggest what improvements might be reasonably obtained in the next ten-year period.

The material prepared by the commission will form the basis for Ohio's contribution to the 1950 White House conference.

"Stamped" as a Real Fellow, Willie Finds School, Kids Fun

Have you ever passed by the Central Treasurer's office during seventh period? If you have, you've probably seen Willie Stamp with a thoughtful frown on his face, striking the "thinker's pose." He is thinking over very carefully his job of being business manager of the Quaker publications. It's a lot of hard work, but Willie says he likes it.

Willie is hardly ever found at home. But if he is, he'll probably be reading his favorite author—Edgar Allen Poe. On special occasions, Willie's cow-lick can be seen standing stiff in fright as he finishes his favorite story, "The Pit and the Pendulum."

If you watch him very carefully someday, you'll undoubtedly discover Willie's favorite pastime of studying people and their odd mannerisms.

"Of course, thinking of my favorite movie star, Jane Russell, takes up a lot of my time, too," exclaims Willie.

Willie says that anyone who would like a date with him must be able to pass his test of making the most delicious steak dinner and conclude it with a tasty banana cream pie.

The four-star Thespian and treasurer of the Salemasquers and the Thespians has appeared in many plays. Outstanding among his dramatic portrayals is his star role as the bashful cowboy in "Tish." Being active on the Junior-Senior Prom decorating committee, and participating in Junior Red Cross, Slide Rule club, and Varsity S have made him a busy boy. Willie was also a member of the cross country and trackteams.

If the radio stations would fix it so that Willie could hear his favorite orchestra leader, Vaughn Monroe, play "Bamboo" and have Bill Stern and Horace Heidt's programs immediately following, Nancy Stockton, Bob Tarzan, Fred Theiss, Katherine Winkler, Christine Zeally, Harriet Worman and Janet Trisler.

The test will be objective and cover the essentials of the high school academic study course. It will consist of five subject groups including English, history, mathematics, science, and literature.

County certificates will be offered to the students ranking among the first 10. All others in the upper 25 per cent of the group will receive honorable-mention certificates.

District certificates of rank will be offered to the 25 boys and 25 girls who place highest in their district. Honorable-mention certificates will be presented to the highest 10 per cent in each district.

DO YOU?

Do you believe that Salem High School should offer a course in driving?

Page three of this issue includes a ballot for a Student Council opinion poll concerning this. All students are requested by the Council to mark the ballots and dispose of them as directed.

Willard Stamp

Willie would be an exceptionally happy senior.

This physics and trigonometry "genius" picks "Gone With the Wind" as the best movie he's ever seen. Remembering a little accident he had up in Canton last December makes him very uncomfortable.

Willie has no definite future planned, but he'd like very much to zoom over to Ohio State in a new Buick Rivera to study optometry next fall.

All in all, Willie is a wonderful person whom anyone would "stamp" as a swell guy on first sight.

Council Holds Students' Day

Students' Day, the fourth annual project of the Student Council was held yesterday with students taking over the administrative, teaching, and janitorial jobs of the school.

Each student's work was planned with the aid of the teacher whom he replaced.

Students participating in the activities of the day and the positions they assumed are as follows:

Willard Stamp, B. G. Ludwig; John Votaw, Ben Barrett; Bill Vogelhuber, Miss Ethel Beardmore; Shirley Robusch, Miss Claribel Bickel; Vic Lake, C. M. Brautigam; Jerry Harroff, J. R. Callahan; Carol Lee Aiken, Miss Edith Cope; Nick Cosma, F. E. Cope; Art Vaughan, Mrs. E. T. Cox; Wayne Ickes, Bud Dean; Virginia Sabec, Miss Sarah Doxsee; Janet Altenhof, Mrs. Bessie Lewis; Lawrence Vasilevich, J. C. Guiler; Dusan Sobec, J. O. Hagedorn; Donald Getz, Miss Ada Hanna; Donna Schoss, Mrs. Ethel Headrick; Eva Rae Hannay, T. V. Henning.

John Brantingham and Bill Dickey, Glenn Swanger; Collen Kirby, Mrs. Beryl Tarr; Donna Marple, Mrs. Pearl Taylor; Paul Colananni, Miss Helen Thorp; Barbara Ross, Miss Betty Ulicny; Donna Stoffer, Miss Irene Weeks; June Brunner, Miss Ala Zimmerman; Wayne Darling, C. R. Reich; Nancy Bailey, Richard Howenstine; Carol Steffel, Mrs. Clara Riddle; Dorothy Cibula, Mrs. Frank Thompson; Catherine Spack, Miss Marjorie Willis; Toby Jensen, Charles Fineran; Tom Pastier, Jim Thomas; Bob Theiss, Frank Stoudt; Ben Bailey, Thomas E. Crothers.

Shirley McCave, Kenneth Jacobs; Dana Rice, Miss Evelyn Johnston; Bob Tarzan, Herbert Jones; Catherine Winkler, Miss Lois Lehman; Galen Brandt, Cyril Lipaj; Leo Kline, Miss Martha McCready; Jean Garlock, J. Robert Miller; Nancy Stockton, Mrs. Helen Mulbach; Jeanne Cocca, D. W. Mumford; Marilyn Lesch, J. P. Olloman; Fred Theiss, Howard Pardee; Joanne Wilms, Miss Helen Redinger; Jack Hochadel, Mrs. Maxine Ryser.

Heading the committee in charge of the day were Walter Mayhew, chairman, and Miss Helen Thorp, adviser.

Barton Emcees Vocal, Instrumental Program

Robert Barton, county probation officer, surprised the students with a mock speech on law in an assembly program Wednesday morning which also featured two out-of-town musicians.

Capt. Douglas Bethune of Youngstown played several piano solos as well as a duet with Mr. Barton. The two presented a similar program before a Salem High audience in 1945.

Fred Elliot, a Warren G. Harding high school student, presented a euphonium solo.

Galen Rich and Mary Lou Loudon sang "Please Don't Hate Me For Loving You," an original song composed by C. M. Brautigam, Salem High instructor. They were accompanied by Mr. Barton.

Assembly Features Trampoline Artists

Exhibition-Lecture Presentation Is Second Association Program

The Trampoline Stars, an acrobatic duo, will render a combined exhibition and lecture program in an Association assembly Feb. 10 in the gymnasium.

Students will be chosen from the audience for demonstration purposes.

The Trampolines will appear on the stage in a program which will include discussion and demonstrations of four different types of tumbling, hand-balancing, and health training. Other special tumbles and twists, such as triple somersaults, jack-knives, and aerial maneuvers, will be featured.

The talented team does a routine of acrobatic hand-to-hand balancing and tumbling, a comedy tumbling act, and a trampoline exhibition.

Although it is new and not yet widely known, it is said that the trampoline in the future will be featured in every gymnasium. This type of act has already rated a perfect score in the entertainment world, according to the School Assembly service.

During the war the trampoline, invented by George Nissen of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was used with great importance by both the Army and Navy in training pre-flight cadets.

Cheerleaders to Purchase Megaphones for Students

Tiny megaphones are being ordered by the cheerleaders for the use of the students at games, it was announced by Miss Weeks, coach.

Picture-Taking Contest Offers Chance to Win Fame and Fortune

A wide-open opportunity for high school students to win national recognition and cash prizes up to $500 for fine photos has just been announced by the Eastman Kodak Co. for the fifth consecutive year the company is sponsoring the National High School Photographic Awards and offering $3,500 in cash prizes for fine pictures.

The 1950 contest opened January 12 and closes April 14, 1950. Any picture taken since the close of the 1949 awards—on May 7, 1949—is eligible for entry, except color pictures or retouched black and whites or "trick" photos made from more than one negative.

Picture takers can submit as many photos as they desire in any of the four classes of entry. In each class a first prize of $100, a second prize of $75, and a third prize of $50 will be awarded. In addition to these prizes, and the $500 Grand Prize for the best picture in the competition, twelve special prizes of $25 each, 48 honorable mentions of $10 each, and 264 honorable mentions of $5 each will be awarded.

Pictures of school life and school activities and pictures taken to show life around town, sports, and for fine art purposes are the types wanted.

Official entry blanks can be obtained from the Quaker office.

Bands Plan Concert For Mid-February

A concert will be presented by both the high school and Junior High bands Feb. 15 in the auditorium.

Parents of the members are invited to the performance.

According to Howard Pardee, director, the performance will enable parents to see how the students may fit into an experienced musical organization for the future.

The Band Mothers will serve refreshments following the concert.

County Teachers Meet, Discuss Public Education

The Columbiana County Schoolmaster's club met in Lisbon Thursday evening. This group consists of all men connected with public education in Columbiana county.

A Job Well Done

Many a future teacher was born yesterday as students themselves took chalk in hand and proceeded to run the school.

Duties of the principal, deans, the truant officer, nurse, and janitors—all were skillfully maintained throughout the day.

The routine was broken for the students both teaching and participating, the teachers were given slight rests, and a little knowledge of what goes on behind a teacher's desk was gained.

The Student Council, its special committees, and their chairmen are to be extended a vote of thanks for their excellent sponsorship and planning of this fourth annual Students' Day.

Try, Work, Win!

The only thing several students had to look forward to last semester on report card days was the fact that they would get out five minutes earlier those mornings.

Many of these "under C" students don't seem to realize that they need not be presented with these "hard-to-take-home" type report cards each grade period. There are very few pupils in Salem High who absolutely can't do better than failing work. It's not because they don't want A's and B's but, because they think they can't do better, that the dreadful flunker's complex is acquired.

If these students would make a second semester resolution to gain a little confidence in themselves and maybe even take a book or two home each week, the chances are that two-tone report cards will be a thing of the past.

Sign Your Letters!

The Quaker would like to repeat its policy in regard to the publishing of the "letters to the editor" that it receives.

Because the staff would like the paper to be definitely the voice of the students, such letters with their criticisms or suggestions are always welcome. However, as has been announced before, no letter that does not bear the writer's signature is ever printed. Only signed letters that find their way to the Quaker office are published.

The Quaker is no more "afraid" to print critical letters than the writer is "afraid" to acknowledge his criticism.

Warm Weather Spells Spring Fever

The recent warm weather spell played funny tricks on the students of Salem High. Four out of five were reported to have had spring fever.

It seems Marilyn Miller was waiting for Marty Alexander, all prepared to carry her to school, since she had just returned home from the hospital following an operation, when Marty came bounding out of the house and across the street.

A few students reported the sounds of gruesome gasps and groans in and about school last week. There was, however, no real cause for alarm as it was just Joe Nocera and Walt Wisler returning from the Student Council noon movie, "The Wolfman!"

A couple of the "fairer" sex found Fourth Street school playground a dilly. Judg Gregg and Stacy Paparodis, on their way home from school, took a whirl on the giant strides, a quick swing over the bars, a few spins on the merry-go-round, a swish down the slide, and then continued their homeward journey. Whew! What a trying day!

After all the students had their fun the big freeze arrived. Ah, well, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

Barbed Wire

By Barbara Ross

Spring Fever Already?

Yep! Hate to admit it, but it sure looks as if all this warm weather we've been having has got everybody down. It wasn't uncommon to see studes yawning every other word, and the study halls were especially 'un-lively.' Some kids believe that Spring is really here to stay, though.

To prove it, they cut their hair in the becoming new styles that the spring fashion magazines display. Jane Stoudt, Isabelle Kleinman, and Chris Zealley all got 'snip-happy' and their results aren't bad at all.

It seems as though short locks are really here to stay, and you fashion conscious people better go and get your butches now. However, to the pessimists of Salem High, we advise that you keep your long manes. It might be 20 below zero soon, and how are you going to keep your ears warm?

A Word to the Wise

Everyone has been troubled by the problem of removing lint from their dark clothes. Here's a quick trick that will take care of the situation pronto! Brush a wide piece of adhesive tape over the soiled area and presto! the lint is gone in no time. (This is an especially good tip if you've been dancing with a girl who has been wearing an angora sweater.)

Week's Specialty! (???)

Helen Dora Copacia is always informing us that we never put her name in this column. This just goes to show that she is a very mis-informed person.

Did 'Ja Notice.....

George Vaughn's stitched leather shoes? Mighty sharp!

Don Loutzensiser's sweater with the zig-zag marks on it?

Bob Theiss's plaid sweater. It's really different.

How much fun everybody had on Students' Day? Some of those kids are going to make really good teachers some day.

Cause and Effect

French Mademoiselle Encounters French Teachers, School Restrictions, Pleasures

January 23, 1950.
20 Rue du Colonel de Bauge,
Versailles, France.

Dear Salem-highers,
I'm back at the old grind after my long vacation. That's right. I've started school here at the Pensionna Voellmy, a small school of about 20 girls. It's run by a Mademoiselle Voellmy, who speaks just a little bit of English. All the girls are French except four. Two are English and there is one other American. But we English-speaking girls are not allowed to speak our own language. We are here to learn French, and if we speak a word of English, one of the teachers pounces on us and says, 'Parle francais, si'l vous plait!' Of course we speak English when Mademoiselle isn't around, but we are learning French quickly despite that.

The food here is surely very different from any I have ever before eaten. I'm having a hard time getting used to it, but at least I go home Sundays. That's a break! Then I smuggle in chocolate and other things, and we have a jolly time after "lights out."

One day last week Mademoiselle Voellmy entertained a group of Americans and English here. They were young students from a college in Switzerland. Imagine my surprise to meet a boy from Akron! And then I found that this boy had gone with a Salem girl I knew, and had been to Salem many times. It's a small world!

With this group we went to the world-famous chateau of Versailles and saw everything. We had a marvelous time. Our guide was very good and told us all the history of the chateau.

Then we saw all of the rooms of the kings of France. In fact, we saw some rooms, such as a beautiful private chapel, which are not open to the general public. We saw the room in which the treaty of Versailles was signed at the end of World War I, too. It was a wonderful afternoon, made perfect for me by the Americans. You don't know how grand it is to see folks from home 'way over here.

Yours truly,
Anne Montgomery.

Anything Goes

By Lawrence Vasilevich

If you haven't seen Delores Buta leaving her fourth period class yet you're missing something. She creates the funniest impression upon you. By this we mean that the stack of books, four wide and five high, that she carries appear as an attempt to graduate a little earlier than her fellow classmates.

The group of Junior boys that hold up the showcase by 205 bear a resemblance. Jay Volio, Walt Wisler, "Roach" Roth, and George Roher all wear pegged trousers, and have their shirt collars upturned.

Witticisms

To punish people for something they didn't do is wrong, but just try to tell a teacher that when you go to class minus your homework!

Would Sir Isaac Newton have discovered gravity under the apple tree if he had been in school looking at his textbooks?

An attic's toughest competition is a student's locker.

Joe wasn't a very good driver. He couldn't even "peal."

If you want to know the future, know today.

The pleasure of doing good is the only pleasure.

This is the only group of fellows that have gone completely be-bop.

Walt Mayhew just can't seem to keep the right front fender on his Chevie in a repaired condition. On a debate trip to Youngstown he banged it in while attempting to move a pick-up truck with it. Oh well, what's a little more lead!

Immediately following a recent party, we found Bob Hill and Frank Leone parked on Highland Avenue with their dates, drinking pop and eating sandwiches which they acquired in a hasty retreat from the party.

Art Edling, otherwise known as "The Spot Kid," was in a sad predicament last week when his Olds coupe stuck in the mud. His car couldn't have gone any deeper, for it was resting on the running boards. It was quite a task to pull the car out of the ooze, and Art still doesn't know how he managed to do it.

Have you met: Pat Parana's cousin from Warren, R. J. from Goshen, the new frosh fem stude from East Liverpool? No wonder the English teachers pull their hair out. Proper introductions are so few and far between that one can but nod to a stranger even accompanied by someone you know. Even a poor introduction is better than none.

Among the Eight Hundred

Lois Smith entertained a few friends at her home Saturday evening. Playing Canasta provided a very enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served.

Bonnie Layden was hostess to a group of friends at her home Saturday evening. Dancing and card games were enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served.

Carol Steffel was hostess to a few friends from Liverpool and Lisbon over last weekend.

Kathy Hodge was hostess to a group of friends at her home last Friday evening. Everett Crawford provided entertainment. Rolly Herron played his guitar, while Mary Steffel sang. Refreshments were served.

Needham to Be Host
Aaron Needham will be host to members of the Coin and Stamp club at parties at his home Feb. 14 and 28. Games and refreshments will be featured.

Biologists Cross-Match Blood
Cross-matching of blood as done in preparation for transfusions was recently demonstrated to the biology classes with materials loaned by Miss Nancy Roose, Salem Clinic hospital technician.

It was discovered that no matching proved two persons to have the same blood type. The third-period class is ahead in the tax stamp contest with $1054.

Sportively Speaking

By Dick Brautigam

With only one more home game left on the Quaker basketball card after tonight and the East Liverpool Potters done away with for another year, the Miller men are toying around with the idea that they might end the season with a record of 11 wins and six losses.

They have already come to one conclusion, a little more of the Rayen brand of ball and a little less of the Potter type would be about the easiest way to cop the remaining five games on the schedule. Right now the return go with Alliance appears to be the toughest tilt left on the slate. The Miller men stopped them three weeks ago and should do so again, but the Aviators will have the advantage of their home floor this time.

A loss to East Palestine or Sebring certainly wouldn't be classified as a big upset, but on a good night the Quakers shouldn't have too much trouble with either.

Youngstown Chaney and Struthers were hit hard by mid-year graduation and have lost much of their early season sting. Chaney lost three starters, John Antal, Bill Proverbs, and John Haydu. Struthers fared no better. The Wildcats' record was rather on the pale side before graduation but now, without their center and leading scorer, Raybuck, plus two other starters the Struthers squad isn't too powerful.

If the Quakers should chalk up impressive victories in the remaining games with these five clubs, they just might find themselves getting a vote or two for the number four seeding spot in the tournament setup, come the latter part of this month. The recent loss to East Liverpool almost blotted out any such thoughts, but the impressive win over Rayen carried plenty of weight.

The number one team in the district is Canton Central Catholic and they are the only sure team to be seeded. Youngstown's annual representative will probably be Rayen, but East may also squeeze into the picture. McKinley is the only other Canton possibility, and Warren has a good chance if they keep up their present pace. Salem, Niles, Campbell Memorial, and South and Ursuline from Youngstown can't be counted out of the picture as yet.

Quaker Football Outlook For 1950

Salem's 1950 football schedule, released several weeks ago, shows that two new foes will appear in Quakertown Lake Erie league champions, Shaker Heights, will replace New Philadelphia in Salem's annual home opener, and Steubenville Central Catholic will also appear here in the spot filled last year by Akron Central.

Both elevens met rugged opposition last season and Faculty Manager, Fred Cope, is to be congratulated on inducing both squads to appear here.

These big name teams don't seem to bother the Salem fans too much for they know that Coach Barrett could field a winning team of 11 alley cats if material ever got that low. However, the 50 prospects remind a person of a possible undefeated season.

The boys have been putting on a little extra beef during the winter months that should come in handy. Jim Callahan is up to 187 pounds; Jim Ference, 178; Bob Theiss, 165; and Jay England, 174. England and Callahan were elected co-captains for the '50 season.

New Bus Needed

After Salem's recent victory over Girard even the bus which transports the players to the out-of-town games joined in the celebration. It lost a wheel. Fortunately the driver and the players were expecting such an occurrence and the bus wasn't going too fast.

The wheel had been making a strange sound but even Coach Miller and a garage attendant couldn't find anything wrong. The boys reported the riding in a three-wheeled bus as "rather bumpy." The contingent arrived home early the next morning via private cars.

Advances In Golden Gloves

Paul Provins, Salem's lone survivor in the Golden Glove boxing tournament conducted in Youngstown, has pounded his way into further competition at Cleveland. The Salem cross-country star is fighting in the 126-pound open division.

He won his first bout on a T. K. O. in the second round, then earned his way to Cleveland by the "luck of the draw," a bye. Paul was scheduled for another Youngstown bout earlier this week and the Cleveland eliminations got under way last night.

Lou Quinn, another Salem athlete, was stopped in opening round competition by a lad who later won his way to Cleveland. Quinn, like Provins, is in his second year as a Golden Glove. Both fought in the novice division last year.

East Liverpool Drubs Salemites 59-35

Showing a big disappointment in their play, the Salem Quakers were drubbed 59 to 35 by the East Liverpool Potters last Thursday night at the South High field house before a crowd of 1,200 fans.

Salem played even ball for the first quarter as they took the lead 11 to 9, but a 21-point outburst by the Potters in the second quarter blew out the fire for the Quakers as they fell behind 30 to 17 at the half. As the game progressed, the Quakers sank more behind and lost out at the final gun.

Don Abrams again led the scoring as he collected 18 points for the Quakers. Jim Betts, Potter center, and sharpshooting Bill Thornberry were high men for the Potters as they collected 17 and 16 points, respectively.

Reserves Lose

Outclassed all the way, the Salem Reserves fell down to the East Liverpool Reserves, 59 to 41, at the South High field house last Thursday night.

Liverpool took a 11 to 7 first quarter lead which reached 30 to 20 at halftime and 47 to 27 at the three-quarter mark.

Jerry Ball and big Martin Lutsch collected 12 and 9 points, respectively, to lead the Quakers. Jones and Maltarich led the Potters in the scoring column with 18 and 12 markers each.

Bulldogs and Chaney to Face Miller men Over Week-end

Still smarting from their recent loss to East Liverpool, the Quakers will attempt to get another winning streak rolling when they take on the East Palestine Bulldogs tonight in the local gym and tomorrow night when the Youngstown Chaney Cowboys play host to the Miller men.

Meek and Young are the two returning lettermen for the Bulldogs. Both saw action against Salem during the regular season last year and in the district tournament. They, along with Allard, Davis, and Hooles, make up the starting five.

Chaney, who lost three of their starting five through mid-year graduation, will give the Quakers their share of a good ball game for the night. Bill Proverbs, John Antal, and John Haydu played their last basketball game for Chaney last Saturday night and will be ineligible for tomorrow night's fray. Agler, Mayoras, Melago, Makda, and Fabian will probably get the starting assignment for the Cowboys.

Coach Bob Miller is expected to stick with his regular starters for both nights. They are Abrams, Theiss, Coy, Callahan, and Reash. Both games are rated as too-ups after Salem's bad showing against East Liverpool last Thursday night. The Reserve tilt will get underway at 7:30 tonight with the main encounter going at about 8:45.

Frosh Down Clippers To Remain Unbeaten

With Mike Paster and Nelson Mellenger combining for 18 and 16 points, respectively, Coach Frank Tarr's Freshmen quintet chalked up victory number seven without a defeat Monday evening on the Salem hardwood with a 50 to 40 win over Columbiana.

The little Quakers took on the Sebring Frosh here last night and are scheduled for a tilt with East Palestine at 4:15 Monday in the Salem gymnasium.

High-Scoring Don Abrams Leaves Opposition in Dither

"Who's the guy that is making all those points?" You might have heard a sorrowful Rayen fan ask this question during the recent Salem-Rayen game. Salem fans know this guy as Don Abrams, well-liked and talented forward who roams the halls of S. H. S.

"Abe," who claims he was nicknamed after Abe Lincoln believes that the Rayen tilt was his most exciting contest. While collecting his 28 points, he played the best game of his career. He recalls that he was the happiest guy in the world that night.

Basketball is Abe's favorite sport, but baseball and softball rank a close second. He likes to run the half-mile in track season when softball doesn't interfere.

Playing softball is a good pastime for him when the months are warm. Basketball practice takes up most of his time during the winter, but Abe thrives on it. The Corner is rated the best after a rugged game and his appetite usually is settled by a hamburger and French fries.

Desiring an enjoyable evening, Abe heads for the South field house to see a good college game or for a thrifty night around the town, he will hunt up "the boys" at The Corner and saunter down to the movies. The making of a good movie should have a cast of Virginia Mayo and James Cagney, according to Abe. He says "no girls" until after the basketball season is completed.

Abe rates Coach Miller as the best, adding that he has gained much experience under his teachings. He hopes to go on to college and continue with his roundball tactics.
