

Quaker Gets All-American Rating

For the first time in the history of its 30 years of publication, the Quaker weekly has been awarded an All-American rating in the critical service judging conducted annually by the National Scholastic Press association, as announced in a communication received from N.S.P.A. this week by Miss Betty Ulicny, editorial adviser.

The All-American award is the highest rating that a student publication can attain. According to N.S.P.A., "those staffs which receive All-American awards are literally 'the cream of the crop' of the papers entered in the critical service."

Three Receive Award

The Quaker is one of only three senior high school weekly newspapers from all over the United States to win this "Superior" rating, competing with other such papers which are printed commercially and whose school enrollment ranges from 700 to 999 students.

The rating was based on a complete file of the first semester Quakers which were mailed to N.S.P.A. for analysis and evaluation by the association judges.

In the service all papers are classified according to method of publication, type of school, enrollment, and frequency of issue. Each publication is graded on its news coverage, news writing, headlines, typography, make-up, department pages, and special features.

The honor rating is determined after all the papers in each group are judged by standards set by the papers themselves. Each award is given after a careful study of the group as a whole and as a result of conscientious judgment on the part of the critics and the supervising judge.

The judges' comments included the following:

Judges Comment

"All of the important angles of school life seem to get adequate coverage — and balance between the various departments is suitably maintained."

"Your features cover a pretty good variety of material."

"Appraisal of news values is satisfactory."

"Your heads are clear and feature good word choice."

"Page 3 is sprightly and always has something of interest in it."

"Editorial subject matter is well chosen and well handled and your page features good diversity of material."

"Lots of life and sparkle in sports copy in all issues — and page layouts are good."

"You're putting out a fine paper this year."

Begun in 1920 as a high school student paper, the Quaker was published monthly until 1926 when it was issued bi-weekly. It has been printed weekly since 1931.

Future Disney Worker?

Berger Aims for Cartooning

It's the usual Saturday night occupation. The theater lights dim, the curtains open, and a mighty fan-fare blares forth from the movie sound projector as the cartoon precedes the feature. But, what's this? Why, it's not a Walt Disney at all! It's by a new artist under the supervision of Mr. Disney. Let's see now—his name cars" to Ava Gardner and Danny Kaye, while Groucho Marx is his favorite listening material. Glenn Miller's old orchestra, now under the direction of Tex Beneke, suits him fine, especially if the orchestra plays the "Third Man Theme."

Oh, yes! His favorite foods are milk and pickles. He does agree, though, that these two are better if partaken of separately.

Who says Seniors don't have embarrassing moments? Paul thinks he pulled this most embarrassing one out of the hat by walking through the girl's dressing room thinking it was a short cut. "The worst part of it," Paul recalled with agony, "was that I got caught."

Girls who smoke and people who are conceited don't rate very high with Paul. A good sense of humor and being a good sport are qualities that he requires of the people who are "in" with him.

Paul, like most other Seniors, is looking forward to graduation though he knows he will miss the school, teachers, and friends. "Not the work, though," he assuredly stated.

Paul Berger

ought to be on the screen somewhere. Ah — yes, Paul Berger! Hm-m-m. Sounds familiar. Wasn't he the boy who graduated with the Salem High class of 1950

Coming back to the present, Paul, as he is known around here, is a rather stocky senior with light brown hair (butch-cut, of course,) and friendly blue eyes. When Paul graduates, he will leave behind a football, track, and cross country record and a membership in the Varsity S club.

Paul's ambition is to become a cartoonist and to study under Walt Disney. Preparing for this future, Paul works a great deal in the art department, acting as treasurer of the Art club. Also active in the Student Council, he is completing his second year in this organization.

Paul awards his private "Os-

Advanced Chorus to Participate In Celebration of Music Week

The advanced chorus, under the direction of Thomas E. Crothers, will sing Sunday, at the Methodist church on a program in celebration of National Music Week.

Scheduled to appear twice, the high school choristers will first sing "Salutation" by Samuel Richard Gaines, "Master of Human Destiny" by C. J. Hillman, and "My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land" by Edward Elgar.

The second group of songs will conclude the program with "Deep River" arranged by Rengwald, "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top" by Rodgers, and "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" from "Sleepers Wake," by John Sebastian Bach.

Ben Bailey will accompany the group.

Girls to Present Gala Prom Planned By Third-Year Students

Barbara Hughes, Shirley and Joan Robusch, Marge Greene, Helen Schuller, Joyce Cosgrove, Carol Steffel, Peggy Baltorinic, Norma Alexander, and Lois Firestone will present awards at the Salem Night Relays tomorrow evening at Reilly field. They were selected by members of the local track team.

The girls will give about 80 different medals, cups, and awards to winners of the various events following the completion of each event.

Every year since the relays were first begun, track queens have been elected by the team to serve in this capacity.

For the District A meet, the County meet, and the District B meet the queens are selected by the coaches.

Kenneth Jacobs is in charge of arranging the presentation program.

Ah, School, Where Is Thy Ending??

Time is drawing nearer and nearer.

Time? Time for what? Why for school to be out. After all, it's May 5 already and that means about one more month of school. The year really progressed at a fast pace because it seems only yesterday that we were getting used to being back in school again after summer vacation.

May is usually the nicest and the busiest month in the school year, especially for the excited Seniors making preparations for graduation day.

Recognition assembly, receiving Quaker annuals, election of class officers, announcements of the Quaker King and Queen and the 1950-51 Football girl are features still to be looked forward to. Gee, May is a nice month!

Students Receive Awards In 'SPIC' Poster Contest

Awards in the poster contest advertising the "Operation SPIC" campaign which was sponsored by the Salem Business and Professional Women's club were presented to the winning students by Gov. F. J. Lausche when he appeared in a special assembly program here last week.

Annual Social Affair Will Feature Typical Night Club Supper, Entertainment

To the music of Harry Woodfield's 13 piece orchestra, including a male vocalist, the Juniors and Seniors will dance at their spring Prom which is scheduled for Friday evening, June 2, from 9 until 12:30 in the ballroom of the local Masonic Temple.

An added attraction to the annual gala affair will be a full buffet-supper which will be served in typical night club style at the Elks immediately after the dancing. The atmosphere, food, and entertainment are all to be reminiscent of the best of even Broadway's supper clubs.

The aim of the various prom planning groups is "a boy for every girl and a girl for every boy." To this end a student Date Bureau has been established with headquarters in room 305 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Jim Tausch, Marge Greene, Cliff Greenisen and Marie Vender are in charge. It is the hope of the bureau personnel to have the attendance at this prom surpass all previous records.

Final plans for the June hop are being completed by the various committees which were announced this week by Mrs. Maxine Ryser, Junior class adviser, as follows:

Decorating: Barbara Ross, chairman; Bob Hill, Gerry Van Hovel, Tom Trebilcock, Mary Hollinger, Jack Hochadel, Dick Brautigam, Jay England, and Jennie Taflan.

Dance Programs: Katy Umbach, chairman; Jean Wachsmith, Elizabeth Fultz, Martha Cain, Joan Domencetti, George Huston, Rolland Herron, and Don Coffee.

Food: Dick Brautigam, chairman; Lee Wolfe, Gary Greenisen, Joanne Probert, Bonnie Layden, and Paul Colananni.

Entertainment: Bob Zimmerman, chairman; Don Loutzenhiser, Ann Rufer, Colleen Kirby, and Helen Gottschling.

The Prom Planning committee has two representatives from each Junior and Senior homeroom.

Band Plans Concert; Rates 'Excellent'

The Salem High School band is preparing for its annual spring concert which will be presented next Thursday evening in the auditorium under the baton of Howard Pardee, director.

Plans for the evening's program have not been fully completed, according to Mr. Pardee.

An "Excellent" rating was awarded the band Saturday at the state contest finals of the Ohio Music Education association of Ohio Wesleyan university.

The 60 bandsmen presented the "Conqueror" march and "Vanguard" and "Youth Triumphant" overtures. The band won a "Superior" rating at East Liverpool which qualified it for the state finals.

Buta, Askey Place First in Assembly; Karasiewsky, Second; Tarzan, Third

Dolores Buta and Darrell Askey, vocalists, won first place in the second Student Council talent assembly held recently. Helen Karasiewsky, vocalist, was second; and Bob Tarzan, vocalist, came in third place following a vote taken in each homeroom.

Dolores and Darrell sang "Make Believe," Helen gave her rendition of "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," and Bob sang "How Deep Is the Ocean?"

Winners of the first talent assembly were Steve Navoyosky, first place, and the Starlighters, composed of John Litty, Ralph Firestone, Gail Brown, Don McCormick, Bill Ward, and Bruce Snyder, in second place.

The winners of the two assemblies will appear in a program for the Junior High.

Others on the program were Gerry Van Hovel and Barbara Ross playing a piano duo, "Mountain Concerto," Eileen Crawford who gave an electric guitar solo, "Jealous Heart," Selma Riddle with a flute solo, "Thais Meditation," and Nancy Bailey with a violin solo, and Galen Rich singing "Glory Road."

A Road-Map or Something should be bequeathed to Phil Hunter, who is always getting his time and place mixed up. Last week, when the band took their excursion down to Delaware, Phil, who was driving, decided to take a few short cuts. He ended up in Columbus, (which is always nice if you like to come home by way of China.) Phil didn't have any good excuses. His explanation: Well, he couldn't think of any good stories to tell, so he just explained to everybody he likes the food down Columbus way.

Only 27 Days More

from today until the Junior-Senior Prom will be rearing its pretty head. Already Mrs. Ryser and the appointed committees are busy as bees making the arrangements down to the last detail. This year, the Juniors are determined to have one of the best proms that Salem High has ever had. So you boys who don't have dates had better speed up! (P. S.—You Sophomores and Freshmen don't have to feel too left out. Remember, it's only a year or two away until your big night. And maybe if you're real good, we'll even let you peek through the ball-room doors on June 2.

"So I Said—Dah"

Joe Nocera was listening with rapt attention to another one of Mr. Jacob's famous jokes in health class. The joke started with, "Once there were two morons,"—and ended with, "And so the other moron didn't say anything." Joe, with a twinkle in his eye and trying very hard to keep a straight face asked, "Well, what did you say then?"

This Week's Mystery

Who stuffed the 203 class bell with paper so that it doesn't ring anymore? It's not a federal offense or anything, but for those of us who like to doze off in a class, it feels rather awkward to wake up in somebody's English class with that 'somebody' sitting in your seat!

Hey, Fellas -- Read This, Look Around Then Choose Date for the Prom!

(Editor's Note: According to the feminine half of the Junior-Senior classes (which met Tuesday, May 2), the boys have got it all wrong. Hence, the Quaker has agreed to print the following open letter to the stronger of the upper-class-men.)

Dear Jr. and Sr. Boys,

You've got us all wrong when it comes down to this Prom business. All we want is to have a good time with you!

In a meeting of the Jr.-Sr. girls, polls were taken covering the following ideas: manner of dress, type of corsage, mode of transportation and what to do after the Prom.

And boys, you'll never guess what we decided! It was agreed that we girls weren't going with your clothes, but with you! The Prom has never been pronounced as "formal," (in other words, for the boys to have to wear a white coat). So, where in the wide world did you ever get the idea you were compelled to go "formal?" If you have a white coat—O.K.! But don't break your necks trying to get one!

Secondly—Talk it over with your date about the type of corsage she wants.

Anything Goes

By Lawrence Vasilevich

SADNESS! ART EDLING and "Lige" Alexander appeared to be very sad this week when the report cards were issued. The gloom wasn't brought on by poor grades, but by the thought that this was the last time the fellows would take reports home to be signed from S.H.S.

TROUBLES! THE CHAIRMAN of the inter-communication system, Ford Joseph, is in hot water. He was stalled for quite a while by Mr. Ludwig. Mr. Ludwig thought that there was still hope for installing the communication system even after the board of education couldn't assist with the necessary funds. Now if Mr. Ludwig doesn't come through, Ford's report to the Senior class gift committee is going to have to be buttered up.

CASSANOVA! WHILE MANY open mouthed fellows watched, Dana Rice and Bonnie Layden asked Dick Reed to visit them for dancing lessons. It's surprising how many fellows have suddenly forgotten how to dance. Of course you must She'll prefer one that goes well with her dress—something different, attractive, and inexpensive.

Third, the girls will be glad to co-operate in any plan you boys have for transportation. Taxis would be fine; we'll even walk if it isn't too far from the Masonic Temple. And if neither of these ideas will work in your case, we like double or even triple dating!!

And last, but not least, is the problem of what to do after the Prom. Most of us agreed that we'd rather stay in town and go to the Elks' supper-banquet. Going out of town can be done some other time, but our Prom comes only once a year. Since it's a school affair, why not go to the Elks with the rest of the gang!

Nite-club entertainment, dancing, and eating are being planned for us. So who wants to miss this gala affair?

Well, there you have our opinions and views. Let's make this the best Prom yet!

Very truly yours,
The Junior and Senior Girls.

P.S. Our kind of Prom is easy on the budget! You'll be the guests of the Junior Class.

P.P.S. See you June 2. (We hope!)

N.S.P.A. All-American

In the attainment of an All-American rating in the National Scholastic Press Association's critical service judging, the Quaker has passed another milestone in its 30-year publication history, has captured a national honor coveted by all student publication staffs, and has established a standard to maintain.

Of these the latter is truly the most important resulting factor brought on by the winning of this top journalistic award which, in the world of the scholastic press, is the trade-mark of successful high school journalism. Therefore, the certificate of award which is to be Salem High's tangible recognition of the rating earned by the 1949-50 Quaker weekly will hang in the editorial office as a challenge to the present staff and to those of the future to strive to equal and maintain this record.

The Quaker personnel is proud of the honor that has come to them; however, they realize that more important in many ways than the score and rating the paper received are the judge's criticisms and suggestions which came with the announcement and which call attention to matters than can be improved.

Student newspapers of today are far superior to those of 10 years ago. Each year improvements are noted and as a result standards are higher. This constant improvement means that no matter how good a paper may have been yesterday, it is surpassed today unless it, too, has progressed.

Courtesy--What Is It?

—It's standing patiently in line while waiting for a drink of water.

—It's listening attentively in classes.

—It's helping a student gather books, pencils, or papers which have been dropped.

—It's holding a door open instead of letting it slam against other students leaving or reentering the same room.

—It's helping a girl on or off with her coat in a restaurant, movie, or whenever the occasion calls for it.

—It's never interrupting a student or teacher having a discussion with another student or teacher.

—It's remembering that there are other people on the road besides you and your car.

belonging to Dan Keister slipped just a little when Dan discovered with dismay that while brushing his teeth at home, he had dropped a bit of tooth-paste on his sock. He spent all history period trying to get rid of the long white streak that revealed his beauty secrets. (He'll only have that worry for another 50 years though. By then, all he'll have to do to clean his teeth is drop them in a glass.)

Couple of the Week

Daffodils, (since we're fresh out of orchids, and daffodils are so plentiful now-a-days,) go to a popular Junior couple. This pair has been finding each other pleasant company for about six months now, and are feeling pretty good about it. The girl is stationed in homeroom 201, and the boy is too, most of the time. (That is, if he can persuade Mr. Henning he has an important errand to do down in 201.) Who are they? Why, we thought you just naturally took it for granted that these two nice people were Martha Cain and Leon McKenzie.

Quaker Quips

The open mind is not the same as the empty mind.

It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness.

The best you get is an even break.

Man is the only animal that blushes, or needs to.

A lot of people know a good thing the minute another fellow sees it first.

Students' Fads Feature Hairdos, Jewelry, Hats, Shirts

Fads are continuously changing and forming and here in Salem High it is no different. Hairdos, clothes, hats, and jewelry all are being put to the test.

Many of the fairer sex are sporting the new short hairdos, while others are still holding out with the longer trend. Girls are wearing menlike shirts and silk neck scarfs in pastel shades with everything for animal scatterpins to boy scout knots being used to decorate the shorts and sweaters. Boys have been wearing caps and hats of all types, sizes and description—from a jockey's headgear to a miner's cap.

Cuff links are popular among the boys with some even keeping collections of them

Mammoth metallic necklaces, bracerlets, and pins, which look like some forgotten jewels from Tudor time, are appearing on sweaters and dresses, while some are suspended on velvet ribbon and knotted around the neck, leaving a choker effect. Also multi-colored watches which really tell time are being buckled on belts and worn dangling at the waist.

Denim and drapery material are fast becoming popular among the girls for full skirts, jackets and shirts. The boys still maintain their turned-up collars, shirts worn over T-shirts, and flashy socks and rolled up pant legs.

Polka dot shirts can be seen occasionally through the halls in bright and dark colors or maroons, yellows, greens, blues and reds.

A film, "Makings of a Yankee" was shown in assembly recently. Larry Stoffer and George Kubas were announcers for the seventh and eighth grades, respectively.

Don Beegle of 8C was the Junior High winner of the "Operation SPIC" poster contest. Several other students received honorable mention.

Homerom 7-B is ahead in the beanie selling contest. They have sold 18 beanies.

Homerom 8A was the winner of the weekly tax stamp contest with $289.50. The total for the school is $412.50. The winner of the six weeks contest is 8A with $588.00. The total for the six weeks contest is $2202.

Hi-Tri Sells Tags In 'Operation SPIC'

Twenty-seven girls from the Hi-Tri participated in the launching of the "Operation SPIC" campaign last Friday by assisting the Quota club with their tag sales to provide money for remodeling two children's rooms at the Salvation Army headquarters.

The girls were Isabelle Kleinman, Joanne Bova, Mary Eells, Lela Graber, Shirley McCave, Lois Firestone, Rosalee Hrovatic, Virginia Sabec, Connie Probert, Marilyn Lesch, Joan Domicenti, Janet Cunningham, Helen Schuller, Kathryn Lippiatt, June Brunner, Marge Greene, Carol Steffel, Gerry Van Hovel, Rose Marie Albert, Barbara Hughes, Anna Sweeney, Marie Vender, Joyce Vaughn, Wilma Firestone, Elizabeth Fultz.

Varsity S to Hold Dance

Members of the Varsity S will hold a dance in the gymnasium Saturday, May 13, from 8:30 to 12:00 p. m.

Couples only will be admitted and admission will be $1 per couple.

Jim Callahan is in charge of tickets; Paul Berger and Vic Lake form the advertising committee; while Bill Pasco and Don Loutzenhiser have charge of entertainment.

Class Officers to Be Chosen

Officers for the various class offices will be nominated next Tuesday and voted upon Thursday in the respective homerooms, according to a recent announcement by Prin. B. G. Ludwig.

Art Class to Make Posters

Art class members are working on posters for the Varsity S dance to be held in the gymnasium May 13.

Specifications set up for the poster making by Mrs. Ethel Headrick, instructor, include the following:

All unnecessary words, colors, and lines are to be omitted. The posters are to have only one color on the letters and no outline around the figures. They should be easy to read, look at, and make, she said.

Carolyn Rowlands entertained a few out-of-town friends Friday and Saturday at her home. Various activities were enjoyed.

George Reash was host to Tom Pastier, Don Loutzenhiser and Skip Greenisen Sunday afternoon. Television was enjoyed.

Jeanne Cocca entertained Joan Robusch, Lois Smith and Dana Rice last Sunday afternoon at a fudge party. Canasta was also enjoyed.

Bob Martin was host to a group of Freshmen girls and Junior boys last Tuesday evening. Various activities were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Bob Lepping entertained Jim Tausch, Jim Layden and Bob Hinchcliffe, Saturday evening at his home. Television was enjoyed.

Night Relays to Be Held Tomorrow at Stadium

Cleveland East Tech Expected To Take Top Honors Again

The 16th annual Salem Night Relays will open tomorrow afternoon at Reilly stadium with the prelims beginning at 2 o'clock, followed by the finals at 7:30. F. E. Cope, director of the Relays expects 25 or 30 teams to enter the competition.

Invitations were sent to 50 teams throughout Ohio along with a lone Pennsylvania entry. The list includes:

Austintown Fitch, Louisville, Barberton, E. Palestine, Boardman, Columbiana, Struthers, Youngstown Rayen, Girard, Akron (South, Central, Buchtel, Garfield, North and East), Dover, Campbell Memorial, Euclid, Sebring, East Liverpool, Elyria, Cleveland (Cath. Latin, Shaw, Benedictine, East, Lincoln, Rhodes, East Tech, John Adams) Canton (Lehman and Timken), Cuyahoga Falls, New Philadelphia, Sandusky, Leavittsburg, Lorain, Martins Ferry, Salem and New Castle, Pa.

Due to the fact that the Ohio Scholastic Track meet is on the same date, the Relays will lose three fine competitors in Mansfield, Warren and Canton McKinley.

Experienced men will be in their places to help run the meet, according to Cope. F. P. Mullins and Springer will be honor referees along with head referee, Dave Williams.

The pole vault, high jump and weight events are to be headed by Lowell Allen, Ray Sweeney and Bruce Hamm, respectively. John Russ will serve as starter, Ralph Zimmerman, clerk; Larry Brown, head track inspector; H. C. Wagner, head finish judge; and J. M. Kelley, head timer. These men have all worked in former Relays and have passed the State Track exams required of them.

A trophy will be presented to the team winning the meet and the teams placing second and

Locals Place Eleventh In Uhrichsville Relays

Salem's Quakers managed to score in three events at the annual Uhrichsville Relays Saturday, but wound up deep in the standings in 11th place.

The Tarrmen picked up 3 3/4 points when Jim Callahan, captured a fourth in the discuss; Paul Provins, a fifth in the mile; and Lige Alexander came out of the action with a four-way tie in the high jump.

Mansfield power-packed Tigers overwhelmed all opponents in racking up 100 1/4 points. In doing this they grabbed 11 of the 16 first places in the meet and tied for another. Cleveland Rhodes was second with 34 1/3 markers.

third will receive plaques. To the winning team in each of the five relay events goes a trophy. Ribbons will be given to relay teams finishing 2, 3, 4, and 5. Medals of gold, silver and bronze go to first, second, and third places in the individual events, while fourth and fifth will receive ribbons.

Warren Throttles Tarrmen 76-42 in Season's Opener

Warren Harding started the Salem cindermen off on the wrong foot last Wednesday night as they romped over the Tarrmen 76 to 42 on the Quakers' home track.

The Salemites managed to pick up only three firsts in their initial dual meet of the season. Vic Lake took top honors in the high hurdles while Jim Hurlburt eked out a close victory in the low hurdles. Paul Provins, a dependable Junior miler, came through with the other five-point job for the Tarrmen in the four-lap affair.

The results:
HIGH HURDLES — Lake (S) won; Hurlburt (S) second; R. Reed (W) third. Time: 18.8 sec.

100 YARD DASH — B. Reed (W) won; Willoughby (W) second; Ference (S) third. Time: 10.7 sec.

MILE RUN — Provins (S) won; J. ohnson (S) second; Glenn (W) third. Time: 4:57.1 min.

880 RELAY — Warren (B. Reed, Ealy, L. Reed, Willoughby) won; Salem second. Time: 1:38.6 min.

Sportively Speaking

By Dick Brautigam

Louis Quinn and Salem's human bruised spot, Paul Provins, are busy making names for themselves in the boxing world these days. Both boys won bouts in Rochester, N. Y., recently and are now talking about a return trip.

The boys fight out of Youngstown under the banner of the Chicago A. C., but Paul says he always makes sure that the announcers give the name of his home town Salem, Ohio. Paul's bout in Rochester was the main event on the card and was broadcast over the local station there.

Louie has won each of his last two fights in first round knockouts, but Paul always manages to catch his opponent's glove in the face a couple of times before he wins. It's easy to tell when Paul had a bad fight because he always comes to school next day with a discolored eye and nose. However, he always seems to win and encourages himself for the next match by saying "you shoulda seen the other guy."

Both boys fight in the 135-pound lightweight division and have a couple years of Golden Gloves experience behind them.

Salem's 1950 track squad is showing slow but steady improvement over last year's squad. Last season's basement minded team dropped a meet to Warren 91 to 27. Last Wednesday night the boys cut that margin down to 76 over 42. Last year Salem scored three points in the Uhrichsville Relays for last place. Saturday they racked up 3 3/4 markers for 11th place. However, the Quakers were without the services of three standouts—Jay England, John Votaw, and Lee Wolfe, who made the trip to Delaware with the band.

It's not likely that these boys could have made up the 96 1/2 points that separated the winner, Mansfield, and Salem but they would have had a good chance to break into the scoring column.

Salem's most famous athletic event, the annual Salem Night Relays is also set to get underway tomorrow. The list of perennial officials, headed by Youngstown's Dave Williams, will be back for the relays, Fred Cope's pride and joy. Cleveland East Tech, five-time winners of the relays, is again expected to take home the largest trophy.

Faculty, Seniors to Vie In Cage Encounter

Members of the Senior class and high school faculty will get together for a basketball game tonight after school in the gymnasium.

Playing for the Seniors will be George Reash, Danny Keister, Tom Cope, Bob Whitacre, Jerry Harroff, and Leo Kline. Everett Dean, Kenneth Jacobs, Coach Robt. Miller, Cyril Lipaj, Joe Boone, Ward Zellar and Donald Mumford will make up the faculty squad.
