Musicians' Assembly Set for Next Friday

Howenstine, Pardee, Crothers to Offer Instrumental, Vocal, and Piano Solos

According to Mr. Crothers, he and Mr. Howenstine will present the serious part of the assembly to be held next Friday while Mr. Pardee will do the comedy part for levity. This assembly, requested and encouraged by the faculty and students, will be a musical program given by these three members of the faculty.

Art Classes Design Comic, Sweet Valentines

Mr. Howenstine, who, at the present, is studying voice at Mount Union, will furnish the vocal selections; Mr. Crothers, who has studied piano at Kent State, Southern California, and Northwestern, the instrumental; and Mr. Pardee, who has studied instruments (mainly French Horn) at Dana's Music Institute, Kent State and Ohio State, a surprise novelty. Each will present three or four numbers.

Art Classes Design Comic, Sweet Valentines

The art classes have spent the past two weeks working on valentines, both comic and sweet. Each valentine has a verse under it written by the students.

The comic valentines illustrate a person's bad habits and the verses tell about these habits and how to correct them.

The sweet valentines are of a more serious nature. These are for sweethearts, mothers, and friends.

The main idea of the valentines is to teach the students more about design and lettering.

Biology Aids Club Chooses 'Formaldehydes' as Name

Wednesday the Biology Aids club held a meeting after school and chose the name "Formaldehydes" as the name for members of the club. Biology aids, who attended this meeting, dissected three white rats purchased for that purpose.

'Spin It Again, Mable, It's Not Even Begun to Melt Yet'

By Barbara Cameron

Mr. I. M. Cracked trudged wearily up to the back door of his home. Holding his breath, (he was afraid Ima was making supper) he walked into the kitchen. To his delight, Ima wasn't home. "Ah," he said to himself, "now to settle down by the radio and doze to the background of lilting music!" He took off his shoes and settled comfortably in his easy chair. He turned the radio on and a voice somewhat resembling that of a vulture blared forth:

Welcome all you lucky? (here he laughed insanely) people to—"Spinner Sanctune." Now here is your favorite disc jockey—Al Van Rethskellington, better known as Van Rethskellingington."

Mr. Cracked waited to hear no more. He quickly flipped the dial to another station. A voice that reminded him of a sergeant he once knew commanded, "Don't touch that dial!" Mr. Cracked jumped back from the knob as if it had been a hot burner. The voice continued, "Stay tuned for your favorite disc jockey, Joe 'Windy' Blowhard and his Hour of Harm, brought to you by your favorite drink, 'Old Mortgage Payment.' One drink and you begin to lose interest! Joe! Take over!"

"Our first request is for my old flame down Smudgepot way, who was always burning me up. Signed Scorched!"

"It's also going out for Snookie, Pee-Wee, Froggie, Muscles, and Beepy from Toodles, Duke, Slick Sam and Electric Chair Ernie, also—" Mr. Cracked was slowly turning purple in the face as he hastily searched the dial for a musical program. He kept muttering Beepy, Pee-wee, Bah!" As he searched frantically for some music, someone knocked on the door. Mr. Cracked opened it to see a dapper little gentleman with a brief case under his arm, standing patiently on the step.

"May I come in, Sir?" the man said in a very conservative tone.

"I—well come on in," Mr. Cracked said, "what are you selling?"

"Oh," the little man looked surprised, "I'm not selling anything. I'm taking a poll. Would you be so good as to tell me your favorite disc jockey?"

A few seconds later the little man was seen hurrying down the front walk, saying, "Dear, dear. What on earth is the funny man banging his head with a meat cleaver for? Oh well—it takes all kinds of people to make this world!"

When Mr. Cracked regained his senses he dragged himself into the living room and sank into his chair. He noticed he hadn't turned the radio off but he felt that he didn't have the strength to do so. Maybe now there would be some nice, soothing music to quiet his somewhat jumbled brain. He leaned back and closed his eyes. The strains of the beautiful Blue Danube Waltz floated out and Mr. Cracked smiled peacefully. Suddenly there was a blare of automobile horns, cow bells, washboards, and other undecipherable noises and a voice blared "Welcome to 'Musical Mess-Ups' the only program that can take a perfectly beautiful song and make it sound like an annual party at an insane asylum. Here with the platters and chatter is your favorite disc jockey—"

Nothing but a little verse can describe Mr. Cracked's present condition.

Mr. Cracked went slightly batty, And in rage he tore his hair, Now his head resembles heaven, For there is no parting there!

February 14, a Red Letter Date

The night before Valentine's Day Susan Ann was having a marvelous time playing with her dog Tuffy. During that day at school she kept thinking, I wonder what Valentine's Day really means?

That evening Susan jumped up, left her dog alone, and went into the front room where her Mother was sitting. "Mom," asked Susan Ann, "What is Valentine's day?"

"Why do you ask dear?"

"Oh, I was just wondering what it really meant."

"You sit down beside Mother and I will do my best to explain to you, Susan Ann."

"Once upon a time there were three martyrs. These martyrs were all called Saint Valentine. One, a Roman priest and doctor, was beheaded about 269 A. D. The second, a Roman bishop, was beheaded in Rome in 273 A. D. The third is an almost unknown martyr who died in Africa.

"The customs of St. Valentine's day have no connection with the lives of these saints, excepting their feast days. Among the several explanations for the sending of greeting cards and love tokens on February 14, is that St. Valentine's day is a survival of a Roman festival held on Feb. 15.

The custom was to decide which young men and women should be each other's "valentines" for the coming year. The couples would then exchange gifts and sometimes even marry.

"Do you understand now, Susan Ann, why we observe Valentine's day and look for the returning of it every year?"

"Sundown" is the title of next week's noon movie which is a Walter Wanger production revolving around a small group of British troops ruling over several hundred thousand blacks and in constant danger of annihilation by the semi-savages.

Lively Phone Conversations Heard on Valentine's Day

Can you studees who are about to become Valentines remember when it was a fight to the finish to get a box of candy or a card from a bashful "crush"? If you can, it would take you back five or six years to about this same time of year. It's just a few days from Valentine's day and a bunch of your girl friends are huddled around the telephone, trying not to giggle into the mouthpiece. This is what you said, no doubt, and this is what the boy (or boys) on the other end heard:

"Hello, is Tommy Watkins there?"

"Hullo, who is this?"

"A friend."

"Who?"

"Just a friend (suppressed giggle in background.) Say, Tommy, a person I know is very ill and she—"

"Who the heck is this?"

"Forget it. — Tommy, a certain party (giggle) is very ill because she's - er - it's been worrying about you."

"Me?"

"Yeah!"

"How come?"

"She - er - it's afraid that box of candy you bought at Betty's candy shop will go to waste," another giggle quickly hushed with a loud shhh!

"Oh, that?"

"Yeah, well, Tommy, are you going to?"

"Am I going to what?"

"You know."

"Say, who is this?"

"Guess"

"Janie?"

"No."

"Fat'y?"

"No, Tommy Watkins! And don't you call her that!"

"Joanie? Faye? Ruthie? Barbara?"

"Smith or Schultz?"

"Schultz"

"No! Ha! Ha! Guess I fixed you!"

"Aw, turn blue, soakhead!" another giggle and then new voice cuts in.

"Listen here, Tom Watkins! This call was made in the interest of science and the least you could do is cooperate!"

"Ok, what d'ya wanna know?"

"Who are you giving the box of candy to?"

"Mildred Glockenspiel. Satisfied?"

Slight gasping and moaning heard in background as the world comes to an end for several young girls, among whom is not Mildred Glockenspiel.

P. S. Mildred isn't allowed to eat candy . . . .

Ask Windy

By Bill and Darrell

Thanks!

To Tom Judge, Lee Cranmer and Don Getz; the boys who sponsored the dance in the gym Saturday night. All the kids liked it a lot so maybe we can have another one sometime. How about it boys?

Sharpsters

The sharpsters for the week seem to be the cats sporting dove-tail haircuts. The style is real gone and can be seen on Skip Long, Glen Bruderly, Walt Wisler, and "Roach" Roth.

Brrr!

Last week's big snow and zero weather brought out the fiendishness in S. H. S. kids who spent about four hours in a free-for-all snow fight. It all started when certain Junior and Senior boys picked off certain Sophomore girls one-by-one as they came out the door of the "Corner" at noon. Then the girls tried to get even after school and then again that night, but they didn't and the men showed them as usual that they are the masters. All anyone succeeded in getting was cold and some snow in their shoes and down their neck.

Something New

If you haven't already, be sure to see the new "Gentleman John" Rottenborn. Wearing a long overcoat, flattened out porkpie and smoking a long black cigar "Gentleman John" is quite the man and can currently be seen in his role at the Town Hall diner on Friday and Saturday nights.

Wanted!!

By any boy that has been to the "Corner" in the last two weeks: A way to keep the girls from singing (at least that's what they say they're doing) along with the records of "Roving Kind" and "So Long." They must be stopped before every male in town goes crazy. It's even worse than last year's "Love-sick Blues" or "I Never See Maggie Alone." Any remedies will be greatly appreciated.

Ode to Chemistry

Sing a Song of Sulfide,
 A beaker full of lime—
 Four and twenty test tubes,
 Breaking all the time
 When the cork is taken out
 Fumes begin to reek—
 Isn't that an awful mess
 To have five times a week?

Cheer Up!

Just a word of consolation to all you broken down wrecks of humans called students.

Just 80 more days of school; that's just 16 weeks, 480 hours, 28,800 minutes or 1,728,000 seconds. So you see it's really not very long and after all you've already survived 100 days or 20 weeks, or 600 hours, or 36,000 minutes or 2,160,000 seconds. So cheer up!

Joke

"What is number 2679995438 laughing about?"

"He just caught the seven year itch."

"What's funny about that?"

"He's being hanged tomorrow!"

There Used to Be Days When A Little Valentine Did the Trick

Hey there, guys and gals, have you heard what next Wednesday is? What, you don't know! Why it's Valentine's Day, of course.

Don't tell me you haven't gotten the box of candy or that pretty lace Valentine card yet. Speaking of Valentine cards, do you remember way back when we were mere infants in grade school?

Why yes, those were the days, no worries, no cares, no homework. And do you remember what it was like around Valentine's day then? The preparations first started with the teacher's choosing a group of girls to make the Valentine box. Being this group was always a big thrill. About three days before Valentine's day the Valentine box showed up. It was usually an old hat box decorated with white crepe paper and red hearts.

When the box appeared, we all went down to the dime stores after school and fought to get the Valentines we wanted. The best kind were those tricky ones that moved or did something. Then, of course, there was that "special" Valentine you had to get for the cute kid in the seat behind you.

For the next few days everyone stuffed Valentines into the box until it was bulging. Soon the big day came, the box was opened, and little cupids were appointed to deliver the Valentines. As they passed them out you hoped and prayed you would get that "Special" Valentine. Then it came, and you looked lovingly into the eyes of the girl you would forget about by next week.

When it was all over you put all your Valentines in a bag and carried them home. After you got home you took them all out and considered the possibilities.

Well, that all happened seven or eight years ago and it's a lot different now. Now that you've matured some, things have changed. The boy goes out and spends three or four dollars for a big heart shaped box of candy; the girl goes out and spends a quarter for a pretty Valentine with lace on the outside and mush on the inside. This leads one to think that girls aren't so dumb after all.

So, if any of you boys have taken the fatal step and fallen for some girl, you better rush out and peel off some of that hard earned money for a box of candy. Then, if you're lucky, she might send you a pretty little Valentine that she coyly smeared with lipstick. Yes, it's a hard life for boys, but considering girls, it's worth it.

Locked In

Those phones would have to work!!! If it wouldn't have been for them, there probably still would be a class in 205.

Skip Long a tempted to open the door and with his "strong muscles" accidentally pulled the door knob off. Jim Cosgarea came to the rescue by figuring out how to use the phone. Brain!

The Cause

"New Pennies, please, and we'll consider old ones." Jim Hurlburt and Tom Pastier are asking this of any likely prospect. No one knows what the "cause" is, at least they didn't when they did their donating. But they were assured they will get to use whatever it is.

A Feast

A group of Helen Dora Copacia's girl friends were entertained royally at her home Monday evening. Tons of food and entertainment on the drums was furnished by her Roosevelt, and of course Helen Dora, on the trumpet.

Do to the fact that Wednesday is St. Valentine's Day, we want to publish a few Valentines for some of our S.H.S. couples.

Dear Berny,
 Everyday I think of you,
 When your not here
 I feel so blue,

I hope your love will always
 Be true,

Because you see I love you too.

Love,

Agnes

Dear Chuck,
 Around my neck I wear your ring,
 To show the happiness that you bring,
 And now I'm hoping time after time,
 That you will still be my valentine.

Love,

Colleta

Dear Billy,
 Roses are red,
 Violets are blue,
 It's an old poem,
 But it still holds true,
 'cause I'm so glad to be going
 With you.

Love,

Janice

Dear Donnie,
 We may be young and gay,
 But when that card comes my way,
 There's nothing more that I can say,
 Except hurray, hurray, hurray.

Love,

Ronnie

Deadline for cheers today. We've only got five. So come on get that spirit!

So Long !!

Lincoln's Logic

Abraham Lincoln, whose Feb. 12 birthday is being celebrated next week, contributed to his country, wise leadership and judgment. In his letters, speeches and conversation Lincoln displayed a fine sense of humor and philosophy. Some of these sayings and phrases will live on through the years:

Friend, the Lord prefers common-looking people. That is the reason He makes so many of them.

It is true that you can fool all the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.

Truth is generally the best vindication against slander.

Nobody has ever expected me to be president. In my poor, lean, lank face nobody has ever seen that any cabbages were sprouting.

As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy. Whatever difference from this, to the extent of difference, is no democracy.

I shall try to correct errors where shown to be errors, and I shall adopt new views as fast as they appear to be true news.

Human nature will not change. In any future great national trial, compared with the men of this, we shall have as weak and as strong, as silly and as wise, as bad and as good.

Let us have faith that makes might, and in that faith let us to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it.

If you call a tail a leg, how many legs has a dog? Five? No, calling a tail a leg don't make it a leg.

I don't s'pose anybody on earth likes gingerbread better'n I do — and gets less'n I do.

As thin as the homeopathic soup that was made by beating the shadow of a pigeon that had been starved to death.

Out of Bounds

By Skip Greenisen

Well, after a hazardous weekend the Salem Quakers started February with two wins. First hazard of last Friday was the snow and ice covered roads which had to be traveled over to play at East Palestine. Many district tilts were called off but the Red and Black boarded their bus and were on the way. Seeing the many trucks and cars stuck between Columbiana and the Bulldog city, the bus was forced to detour through New Waterford.

The varsity game finally got underway at 9:30, just an hour and a half later than the scheduled time. It was just a little late!

Saturday night the team proceeded to their dressing room to prepare themselves for Chaney. Disaster was there too as the new white uniforms that were just washed were found to have shunk. Everyone finally got into them and onto the floor when it was noticed that Chaney also was wearing white. So the Salem cagers trekked upstairs to slip into their darker suits, sighing with relief as they donned the fitting uniforms.

But there were some good things to look at, too. George Alek made a successful debut of varsity basketball as he started both games as a guard in the Salem lineup. In his first night, he only caged one field goal but hit for 5 of 5 foul shots. On the home floor Ju-ju hit two from the floor while canning four foul shots. That's fifteen points for the weekend along with a beautiful floor game from the pint-sized lad. Speaking of pint-sized, Ju-ju resen's the fact that "The Quaker" printed his height as 5'7". Through an accurate measurement, George was found to 5'7 13/16". He hopes that on one else makes that huge mistake.

Switching from small to big we'll see what Jim Callahan got for himself last week. Jim was as hot as a red poker as he hit for 21 points on the Bulldogs' floor and then came back home to better himself by hooping 22. That called for some fancy shooting and that's just what Jim did. He missed only 2 chances to score at Palestine in his three quarters of playing time. Coach John Cabas wanted to save him for the Chaney tilt and with a good lead, he rested the Senior lad.

Bob Coy, the other half of the pivot hit for 12 at Palestine and doubled the count on Saturday night. He played two bang-up games as he and Jim controlled all the backboards with great rebounding.

The playmaker of the Quakers, Bob The'ss, racked up eight and 12 points for the two games.

Coy, Callahan Spell Doom for Chaney

Bob Coy and Jim Callahan teamed up for 46 points last Saturday as the Salem Quakers under Coach John Cabas rolled to their eleventh victory 64 to 48 over Youngstown Chaney in a game played on the Salem boards.

Salem's two co-captains were as hot as fire crackers as Coy's 24 point total outdid Callahan's efforts by two markers. Chaney's Frank Magda, held to six points in the first half, came back to lead his team's scoring in the second half with 10 more.

Salem as usual took fewer shots than their opponents but hit a better percentage; Salem hit 22 of 68 shots or 32.3 percent while Chaney was hitting only 20 of 76 shots or 26.3 per cent.

Reserves Lose Alek But Continue Winning

Playing without the aid of George Alek who has been moved up to the varsity, Coach Ken Jacobs' reserves chalked up victories number 10 and 11 last week-end at the expense of East Palestine and Youngstown Chaney.

The Quaker Jaycees haven't lost a game since Jan. 5 when East Liverpool edged them by seven points. The other loss was by a 39 to 37 score to Lisbon in the first game of the season. The East Liverpool loss was later avenged when the Jacobmen handed the Potters their initial loss of the year at East Liverpool.

In last week's games the victories were 39 to 28 over East Palestine and 49 to 25 over Chaney. Rangy Fred Baker paced the Salem attack against the Bulldogs with 10 points and 6 1/2" Wayne Harris dropped in 14 tallies to lead the locals on Saturday against Chaney. Nelson Melinger collected nine markers at East Palestine and 10 on the Salem floor against Chaney.

Pregame Prophecies

AKRON GARFIELD

Mr. Jacobs—Salem High reserve coach—This Akron team is known to be tall but the home floor should make the difference. Salem 54, Akron Garfield 46.

Donna Stoffer—President of the G. A. A.—Akron Garfield should lose the tilt by about seven points: Salem 57, Akron Garfield 50.

Skip Greenisen—Sports columnist for The Quaker—The Quakers are bound for two more wins this weekend. With good defensive work and accurate eyes, we think the Cabasmen will pull through a couple of tight games. Salem 66, Akron Garfield 57.

Jim Callahan—Co-captain and leading scorer on the Salem team—Alliance will be tougher than Akron Garfield but our offensive power and scoring punch will be too much for either defense. Salem 62, Akron Garfield 49.

Bob Coy—Co-captain and number two scorer on the varsity—They're mammoth creatures, but it will be a very close game. Salem 54, Akron Garfield 50.

ALLIANCE

Mr. Jacobs—The boys are always after this one and the score shouldn't be as close this time as last. Salem 58, Alliance 40.

Donna Stoffer—Salem will walk off the floor with a victory to the team's credit. Salem 62, Alliance 47.

Jim Callahan—Salem 55, Alliance 42.

Skip Greenisen—Salem 62, Alliance 51.

Sam Williams—Sparkplug of the Salem Reserves—Alliance can't play on a small floor and our's isn't the biggest one in the district. Salem 54, Alliance 30.

Salem High's Leather-Slingers

Two Salem High Seniors who are making names for themselves in the fistic world are Louie Quinn, left, and Paul Provins, right. Both boys are veteran Golden Glovers.

Lou Quinn and Paul Provins Excel in 'A Man's Game'

By Sandy Hansell

The manly sport of boxing isn't, for the most part, very popular in the city of Salem. However, we do have at the present in our midst, two boys who are very proficient in the art of beating one's brains out and both of them are seriously considering turning pro after their high school days are over. The two boys of whom we are speaking are none other than Paul Provins and Louie Quinn.

To get a little more personal, we'll start with Louie. Louie has been fighting for three years and has been in 40 fights, winning 27 and losing just 13. Included in the 27 wins, there is a string of 11 K. O.'s which is pretty good in anybody's league.

Louie entered the Youngstown Golden Gloves tournament and won the 147 pound title. Then he proceeded to Cleveland where last Friday they made him fight twice in one night. He won his first fight, but while doing it, he hurt his arm. However, they made him fight anyway, and Louie just couldn't overcome the double handicap of fighting with a bad arm, and fighting for the second time that night, as he was defeated.

Paul on the other hand, is just starting his third year in the fight game and his record stands 15 fights won and 15 lost, although five of his 15 wins have come by the K.O. route. Paul had a little tough luck up in Youngstown, losing in the semi-finals to the boy who finally won in the 135 pound division in which Paul was entered.

When they aren't throwing leather in someone's mug you can usually find Louie at home in front of his T. V. set while Paul can usually be found at McBane's drug store behind the counter "jerking sodas." Both boys run track and cross-country, and Louie played a little football.

Both boys have traveled a lot with their boxing skills. They have gone all over Pennsylvania and Ohio (except Salem) and have gone up to Rochester, N. Y. a few times. Louie has been seen fighting as far away as Gary, Indiana.

The boys are going up to Rochester, N. Y. again on Monday for a tournament and up to Cleveland on the 15th for another.

So there is some information on Salem's two gifts to the "squared circle."

Bulldogs Fall 67-45 To Revised Quakers

With their revised line-up including little George Ju-Ju Alek at guard, Salem's high scoring round-ball aggregation had pretty much their own way last Friday night in East Palestine as they humbled the Bulldogs 67 to 45.

Although Alek cashed in on only one of eleven attempts from the field, he played a flawless floor game and dumped in five for five foul shots to keep him his job on the starting crew.

Jim Callahan, who missed only two shots all night, tallied 21 points including nine fielders. In all, 10 Quakers broke into the scoring column.

The game was an hour late getting started because the Salem team and the officials were held up by the icy road conditions. However, once under way the locals really rolled, scoring 21 markers in each of the first two periods. The quarters were 21 to 13, 42 to 26, and 55 to 31.

Nick Soldo was the sparkplug for the losers with 17 points.

Frosh Begin to Roll; Win Fourth Straight

Showing tremendous improvements each time out, Coach Frank Tarr's Freshmen roundballers chalked up their fourth straight victory Monday in the Salem gym as they overwhelmed the Goshen Frosh for the second time this season 41 to 20.

Coach Tarr used his complete squad in the triumph as the starting crew racked up the amazing total of 21 points in the first six minute period and then watched the rest of the game from the bench.

Stallsmith of Goshen was high man for the evening with eight points as the Salem scoring was well distributed.

Last Friday the Tarrmen coasted to an easy 35 to 21 victory over Alliance Broadway in the local gym after building up a 14 to 1 first period lead.

The locals will meet the Alliance Freshmen there on Monday and Alliance State Street here at 4 o'clock, Thursday, in their last regular season game.

Improved Alliance Five Faces Salem Saturday

If the Salem Quakers do manage to get by the rangy Akron Garfield crew tonight, they'll have another rough outfit staring them in the face tomorrow as the Alliance Aviators come to town for their second crack of the season at the highly rated Cabas quintet.

It will be a much tougher Alliance five the Quakers will meet tomorrow, than the last time the two teams clashed on the roomy Aviator Court. Salem won this game 42 to 39 but at that time still hadn't won any of their previous contests. However, since then Coach Mel Knowlton's boys have been winning with regularity and last Friday they surprised a strong Massillon outfit as they put their offensive in high gear to rack up a 65 to 59 victory.

When the Quakers and the Aviators met in January, Salem built up a nine point three quarter lead and then took only five shots in the final frame as the Aviators almost pulled the game out of the fire. Four boys, Callahan, Coy, Theiss, and Ball accounted for all the Salem scoring that night.

For tomorrow's game Coach Knowlton will probably stick to the five who started last month's tilt. That would be Capt. John Borton at center, 6'1" (he scored 15 points in the first game); Lou Davia 5'6" and Vic Domicenti 5'7½" at guards; and Pete Russell 6' and Candy Carroll 5'10" at the forward posts.

There will be two changes in the Salem starting line-up. George Alek who goes at 5'7 13/16" will be in there at a guard position replacing Jim Hurlburt and Tom Trebilcock, 6'1½" will probably get the nod over Jerry Ball at one of the forwards. The meat of the Salem team; Bob Theiss, Bob Coy, and Jim Callahan, are definite starters. Last year's captain, Theiss, stands at an even 6' while co-captains Coy and Callahan are 6'1½" and 6'4" respectively.
