Choral Groups Elect Officers

Elections of officers were recently held by the school's three choruses according to Thomas E. Crothers, chorus director.

Those elected for Beginner's chorus are Jay Althouse, president; Sue Hill, vice president; Ruth Rae Moun'z, secretary. Girls' Glee club officers are Mary Ann Comanisi, president; Peggy Suggett, vice president; Bruce Snyder, secretary. Officers for the Advanced chorus are Darrell Askey, president; Dana Rice, vice president; and Sally Scullion, secretary.

Accompanists, the same as last year, are Lois Getz, Beginner's chorus which totals 54; Bruce Snyder, Girls' Glee club, totaling 30; and Dorothy Pozniko for the Robed choir of 92 voices.

Undefeated Quakers Face South Battle

Changes Made On Faculty

Chester Tetlow, geography instructor, and Dolores Ferko, algebra and plane geometry instructor, have been added to the faculty at Salem High for the 1950-'51 school year.

Also back on the staff is Alton Allen who returns after a two year's leave of absence. Mr. Allen is teaching biology.

Mr. Tetlow is a graduate of Bluffton College and formerly taught at Goshen and Reilly schools.

Miss Ferko has taken over the job vacated by Mrs. Maxine Ryser, who has a year's leave of absence in order to be with her husband who is a military instructor at Camp Knox, Kentucky. Miss Ferko graduated from Ohio State University and taught the fourth grade at Buckeye school last year.

Deane C. Phillips has taken over the job of Truant officer vacated by the late C. R. Reich. Mr. Phillips takes excuses for absence and confers with pupils and parents in matters of absence from school. He is a graduate of Wooster College, and he is working on his master's degree at Kent State University.

Everett "Bud" Dean, former science instructor and football coach, is head coach at Coshocton High school, and Mrs. Ella Thea Cox, former biology teacher, has a year's leave of absence to work at revising her biology textbook and laboratory manuals.

Baseball Proves His Doom; So Clancy Lowers the Boom

By Barbara Cameron

Listen, you workers and you shall hear,

A tale that will sadden you all, I fear.

'Tis the story of Clancy who worked at a shop,

(Though Clancy usually refers to a cop.)

He got a day off—so he and the "dame,"

Took off for Cleveland to see the ball game.

All had gone well for about twenty miles.

Then an incident happened which took off their smiles.

They heard with much grief a bang from the back,

A flat tire! Oh no! For a spare did he lack!

A half hour later Clancy returned, With a tire—but his temper and face had been burned!

The tire all changed, they went on on their way,

And reached the Big City without more delay.

But to their dismay, (and how Clancy roared)

Not a place could be found for their Model T Ford.

After hours of searching they were forced to take

A place in a junk yard down by the lake.

So eighty blocks later they arrived at the gate,

Weary and angry and one hour late.

"At last!" Clancy sighed as they ventured inside,

"There for a while I was fit to be tied!"

So struggling and pushing and pretty near beat,

They started to find the locale of their seat.

After much sweat and toil they arrived at their goal,

Two stories up and in back of a pole!

'Twas nothing to do but to see what they could,

They thought they would see more if just simply stood.

Then an usher appeared and with flourishing hands,

Motioned them farther back into the stands.

From their too lofty perch they discovered with grief,

That the men on the field looked like bugs on a leaf.

The players were now trotting off the green,

Clancy wondered which inning was next to be seen.

He waited, but no one appeared on the field,

The fans now arose, and Clancy's head reeled!

"The game isn't over! Oh no! It's not so!

We no sooner get here and now we must go!"

But alas! It was true! What a horrible break!

They began the trip back to the "lot on the lake."

Reaching the lot they looked all around,

But nowhere could their trusty old auto be found.

The attendant then told them he'd misunderstood,

The car had been junked, clear down to the hood.

The walk back was hard... (You see, they were broke),

They were foot-sore and angry and neither one spoke.

The sun was quite high when their house came in sight,

Poor Clancy then slept 'till midnight next night.

Thus ends the story of Clancy (and dame),

Who wanted so much to see a ball game.

He's back on his job 'n collecting his pay,

Without a "day off," thus, without an "off day."

Homeroom 208 Keeps Callahan to Advise Council Activities

Association membership at the close of the annual drive on Sept. 21 totaled 613 which is 75.3 per cent of the student enrollment, according to the reports of the school's office.

Home room 208 obtained first the 100 per cent membership which entitles it to receive the trophy to be retained until another room wins a drive. Three consecutive wins by the same room retains the trophy for that room. Room 101 also had 100 per cent.

Student Council members, elected from each of the 27 homerooms in the school, met this week with the new council adviser John Callahan, dean of boys, to discuss several plans.

The council was first established six years ago and has increased the list of services for students and faculty alike. The representatives are as follows:

Millie Maier Crowned Football Girl of '51-52

Millie Maier was crowned the Football girl of 1951-1952 by Marie Vender, last year's queen, during a half-time ceremony of the Salem-Bellaire game.

Millie selected for her attendants, Dana Rice, Barbara McArtor, Susan Menegos, Alberta Nannah, Shirley Hilliard, and Joan Robusch.

Pleasantly Surprised Frosh Survives Initiation Torture

By Terry Moore

"Read this, my greenies, and learn your fate From the cruel upperclassmen who initiate."

You can stop trembling now, lowly Frosh, it isn't as bad as it all sounds. There may be a few terrifying night rides through the country, or you may walk home some night with your pants mysteriously missing, but it won't kill you. (At least it hasn't very often before.)

In "ye olde days of yore" initiation was quite the thing, but it has more or less died down. Initiation now consists of nothing much more than settling a few personal grudges. One such grudge might be against that dear little brother you have. You could also have the urge to kill that darned so-and-so pest your girl calls her brother.

Lipstick the most common initiation tool, may have been greatly improved by the coming of "Hazel Bishop." It's always fun to see a poor embarrassed greenie thrashing his way from the arms of a group of girls. (The fool!) and blushing so much that the lipstick hardly shows.

Walking haughtily through the halls can be seen a future persecutor of Freshmen. He is called a Senior. He may be thinking, "Heck, this is the same as last year." Also to be seen are a species called Juniors. They may be thinking, "It's about the same as last year, but gee, next year I get to be a Senior." Another creature to be seen ambling down "Lover's Lane," somewhat less romantically named "the Halls of Old SHS," is the Sophomore, who takes a very dim view of the Freshman. He may be thinking, "Look at those silly little Freshmen. Gee, it's great to be an upperclassman." Last and least are those characters who are always bumping into people in their constant great rush. They always hurry because they haven't learned to time the three minute period yet. This lowly, humble thing is a Freshman, about whom this whole silly story was written. In case you are wondering what the Freshman might be thinking, so are we—or do they?

Students to Select Cheerleading Squad

A different plan has been adopted in the way of choosing cheerleaders this year. Under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Lewis, the new cheerleading adviser, a tryout was held for all students interested in this activity. From the group of tryouts the new adviser with a committee of teachers chose ten students they felt were best suited for the position. These selected students are to perform before the student body in an assembly. The student body will vote in their homerooms for the girls or boys they would like to have lead them in cheers. Those receiving the most votes will become the Varsity cheerleaders.

Hi-Tri Discusses Projects for Year

Senior members of the Hi-Tri discussed the various charities they should undertake during the year, when they held their first meeting recently. Officers elected for the year are Stacy Papparodis, president; Dorothy Pozniko, vice president; Susan Menegos, secretary; and Vonda Lee Sponseller, treasurer. Miss Ada Hanna and Miss Betty Ulicny advise the girls.

Committees appointed are: Pins: Joann Copacia, chairman, and Nancy Weidenhof. Invitations: Vonda Lee Sponseller, chairman, Dorothy Pozniko, and Marge Umstead. Initiation: Dana Rice, chairman, Mary Althouse and Joanne Wilms.

The Hi-Tri had charge of the football stand at the Bellaire game.

Colleges Near and Far Enroll Many SHS Graduates of 1950-51

With the opening of colleges and universities all over the nation, Salem's June graduates have disappeared temporarily into learning's gates. College registers in Ohio and surrounding states are filled with these familiar names:

Jim Callahan has set up his tent at Cornell University where he will major in agriculture.

A trio consisting of John Votaw, Jim Ferrence, and Tom Pastier left for Heidelberg University a few weeks ago.

Joyce Vaughn has spent the summer at comptometrist's school in Syracuse, New York.

studying at Miami University, in Oxford, Ohio.

Lee Leprich was recently shipped off to Ohio University in Athens. Lee's another agriculture major.

Lois Bruckner and Nancy Stephenson are planning to room together at Kent State University. Another graduate, Don Loutzenhiser, who arrived at Kent in August to try out for the football squad, landed himself a center position on the varsity squad.

Dick Brautigam and Barb Röss are attending classes at Ohio Wesleyan University this year.

Bowling Green is the headquarters of Jay England, one of Salem's former gridiron stars.

Bob Zimmerman has enrolled for some education at Baldwin Wallace in Berea.

Tom Judge is a student at Michigan State University, while Rollie Herron has packed his "uke" and trotted off to a pre-med course at Ohio State.

Gary Greenisen, who won the Electric Furnace scholarship, is putting it to use at the University of Cincinnati.

Art Herron drives to and from daily classes at Youngstown College.

Granville, Ohio is the home of Dennison College where Wilma "Bee" Firestone is living.

Jim Hurlburt is a Freshman at Duke University, while Pat Swogger and Janet Lehman are enrolled at MacMurray and Wittenburg College, respectively.

So there you have it. The alumni of Salem High are on their own for four quarters, countless exams, placement tests, dinks, and the beginning of a new and exciting adventure.

Information, Please

To a Senior the start of the new school year marks the beginning of the end. To many it is the end of twelve long years of formal education; to some the years of hardest study are yet to come. Whatever the case, there is not a Senior who, during the rush of day to day activities, has not paused a moment to peer into the dimness of the future to see what lies ahead.

A few are happily confident of an awaiting job, or a place in some college or university where they will prepare for a chosen career; but the majority are undecided and somewhat fearful. To these students it is important that they choose the correct vocation, career, or college. But the question is, what is correct for the individual?

To guide these people there are, in Salem High a Dean of Boys, a Dean of Girls, and a teaching staff who are able to advise them and to help place them in a position suitable for the individual. Sometime during this year, each Senior would be wise to talk over with one or more of these people, his interests and abilities. Their guidance may prove valuable in fitting him into a useful, interesting position where he will take his place after graduation day.

Another "collegian" who spent the summer out of town is Phil Hunter, who has been

P. S.—I heard this conversation in the hall yesterday.

Junior: "I'll have you know I'm related to the Boones."

Senior: "Oh, yes, now I remember Your grandmother's name was Bab."

Call it hard, groovy, smooth, or cool; but whatever you call it, it still adds up to one thing (or rather two things) Ardora and Lucius: (Spooky) Huddleston, the boogie woogie twins from Junior High. If you didn't see their real gone style of jitterbugging you really missed something; but there is a chance that they'll be at the Elk's dance again tonight, so try to get down there.

Greetings

Once again bewitched, bothered, and bewildered Freshmen are strolling through the halls of dear old SHS. Most of them are usually looking for the "soda fountain," or the teachers who give away free candy to the new "greenies." We have news for you, there is no "soda fountains," and the teachers who are supposedly giving away candy are either off their rocker or just plain "NUTS."

Some Rainbow!

It seems that Dick Gleckler couldn't make up his mind about the color of shirt he wanted, so he solved the problem by acquiring one that has every color of the rainbow in it; plus the ones not in the rainbow.

P. S. It looks rather sharp on!

Idea!

The girls have come up with a new idea concerning the Junior and Senior Prom this year. Since it will be 1952 and since '52 is leap year, the girls are giving much thought to the idea of asking the boys. Just think of the money you can save boys!

Pepsi Bounce

If you happen to be the lucky one to see Sally Mayhew go bouncing merrily down the halls don't be alarmed; she is just trying to see if her "Pepsi-bounce" shoes really do bounce!

Going Up?

The whole truth, and nothing but the truth, etc.

Freshie: "This must be the third floor."

Soph: "It can't be. As long as there is another pair of stairs going up it isn't the third floor."

Cabas vs Nyberg

Embarrassed was she! By "she" we mean none other than Inkie Nyberg, when Mr. Cabas gently yelled from the front of 209 to the back, "Ingrid, please turn around."

Oh, well, anything for a laugh!

Get Hard

If you happen to hear a voice calling "get hard" it will either be Wayne Harris or Benny Roelen. These two Senior lads seem to think that wearing their collars up makes them look "hard," so if someone yells "get hard" don't forget to get your collar up!

Do You Mind?

Sam Jennings and another upperclassman were having a friendly conversation in study hall the other day (before the bell rang) when all of a sudden a voice cried out, "Shut up!" The voice turned out to be that of a Freshman known as Paul Tetlow.

Take Notice

If you haven't already seen the majorette's new uniforms, please take notice. They are white corduroy with a Scotch-plaid sash which adds to their beauty. The girls look like beauties in them, too.

I'm A Teacher

That was Mr. Tetlow's answer when a stude came up to him and asked, "What do you do up here, are you a teacher?" Mr. Tetlow meekly answered, "Yes, I'm a teacher, what did you think I was? A janitor?" The inquisitive stude quickly answered, "No, a floor-walker."

Nick-names

Many studes are not known by their real names, but by their nick-names, here are a few we managed to find out.

| Samuel Jennings | "Sad Sam" |
| William Crookston | "Crazy Legs" |

Quaker Mailbox

To the Editor:

Are the shoes too big? . . . since the beginning of the present school term the Senior class has consistently been compared to last year's graduates, the class of '51. In each instance the present Senior class has been assigned to the bottom half of the comparison.

We would be the last to strip that class of their well earned laurels. However, we are the first to see our own. Perhaps through the lack of expression or publicity on our part, we have failed to display our honors. The general opinion of the faculty forces us to bring these to the attention of the students.

Athletically—two members of our class received Varsity letters in football in their Freshman year. Nine of the present starting eleven footballers are Seniors. In basketball the Seniors of '51, as Reserves won seven games and lost seven. Following through, the '52 Reserves won seven and lost six. To back up the boys, four Varsity cheerleaders were from '52 while only one member represented the '51 Seniors.

Scholastically—When we were Freshmen 36 members of the present Seniors made the honor roll. The past class had 26. We went on in the Junior year to overshadow them by three members, 36 and 33.

Socially—We got a bad start when we were not permitted to present our Junior class play which would have netted us approximately $300. Our attendance at the prom over the Seniors of last year shows our support of social affairs.

We hope this proves that we are very well fitted to take our role as the highest upperclassmen, and live up to the standards set by any graduating class of Salem High.

These figures were taken from the last six weeks (5th) honor roll printed in the Quaker Weekly from 1948 to 1951.

Showcase Displays New Book Covers

On display in the library showcase last week were the jackets of some of the many new books purchased this year. The books cover almost everything from sports, to life in India.

Two of the most popular books are "Keystone Kelly," by Jackson Scholz, and Shiela MacKay Russell's "A Lamp is Heavy."

"Keystone Kelly" is the inside story of Bill Kelly, a high school second baseman, who signed with the New York Titans for a dazzling bonus of twenty-five thousand dollars. Bill got along fine, but when he was called up to New York to play with the Titans, he suddenly realized that he was an expensive piece of property. The story of his problems and trials, overcoming his spike shyness, and the bonus bugaboo make worth while reading for any sports fan.

The story of Susan Bates' experiences in nurse's training school is humorously and gaily related in "A Lamp is Heavy." The reader is taken through three years of the emotions, excitement, and friendships of the "Incomparable Twelve" who entered the spring class with Susan. Their unity of spirit in the first meeting with the classroom skeleton, making a bed with a "real" patient in it, the interne who smiles, night duty, and countless other events, will delight and thrill the reader.

These and other new books are available now in the school library.

Monteleone Assists In Spanish Classes

Tony Monteleone, 1950 Salem High graduate, recently assisted Miss Mildred Hollett, Spanish instructor, in her classes as a part of his course at Ohio State University.

One hundred points will be added toward his Junior class standing at O. S. U. for the three weeks job. Although he has not decided on a career, Mr. Monteleone is planning to major in Spanish.

Debate Team

The Debate team held its first meeting recently with Coach J. C. Guiler. The subject for discussion was, resolved: "That all citizens should be subject to conscription in time of war."

The team will again belong to the Ohio High School Speech league of which they have been a member for the past two years.

Mr. Guiler stressed that 1/2 unit of credit will be given to those who receive speakers positions. Anyone interested in being on the Debate team should contact Mr. Guiler.

G. A. A.

Vonda Lee Sponseller was elected president of the G. A. A. when the club met with Miss Edith Cope, adviser, recently. Other officers are Connie Gillett, secretary; Audith Galchick, treasurer; and Helen Dora Copacia, vice president.

Leaders were elected for basketball, volleyball, and softball which will be the main sports for the season. Nora Guiler and Connie Gillett are in charge of basketball. Audith and Helen Galchick will be leaders in volleyball, and June Fitzpatrick and Shirley Grabigel will manage the softball. A square dance will be held in the gym on Oct. 12.

Chemistry Aides

A new group of laboratory aides has been chosen this year. They will assist in the chemistry laboratory. Barbara McArtor, Dean Horton, Arthur Vaughn, Bob Dunn, Jack Stallsmith, and Charles Sneddon are the students chosen for this work by Frank Tarr, chemistry instructor.

Sewing Class

The girls in the sewing classes are now starting their projects, which are at this time, skirts. The materials being used this year are cotton, rayon and corduroy.

The aides chosen by advisers Miss Ala Zimmerman and Mrs. Bessie Lewis are Pat Callahan, Ann Stowe, Barbara Brandt, Joyce Woodworth, Vonda Lee Sponseller and Helen Dicu.

Band

Gail Brown has been chosen to replace graduate Lee Wolfe as the band drum major, according to Howard O. Pardee, director. Nancy Bailey, Helen Dora Copacia, Glennalee Harris, Joan Robusch, and Lois Smith compose the majorette team.

The 54 piece marching band recently performed at the Lisbon fair on Salem day. The band marches during half-time intermissions at both the home and away football games.

THE SAME OLD STORY DEPARTMENT

Well, it's happened again! For the ninth time in nine years, Salem High school's football coach Ben Barrett has come up with another crack team! Before the season started, Barrett-coached teams had won 55 games, lost only 14, and had 3 ties. Already this year two more have been added to the win column and it's a pretty good safe bet that more than a few of the remaining games will also be racked up on the right side of the ledger.

The only thing is, Barrett had less to start with this year than in past seasons because 13 lettermen were lost from last year's great team, and of this year's returnees, very few of them had any Varsity game experience worth mentioning.

This was the unpleasant situation that faced coach Barrett and his staff, which includes Chet Tetlow, John Cabas, Ward Zeller, and Lou Juliano, when the call to "Mole-skins and Cleats" was first issued last Aug. 18. However, since that date, the coaches have taken the bunch of raw, green, and for the most part inexperienced, boys who answered the call, and turned them into a pretty fair football team. Oh, it wasn't easy by any means, it took a lot of hard work by the coaches and players alike, but they put their shoulders to the wheel, or rather to the tacklin dummy, and the results are obvious as proved by the first two games.

The team was put through seven rough, tough, and grueling scrimmages and one preview game in preparation for the tough schedule which faced it. Barrett wanted to give his boys all the actual game experience he could, and he did a good job of it. Oh yes, the team is far from perfect, and what team isn't, but the team is a "comer." The Barrettmen improve every time out and you can look for better play with each and every succeeding game.

THE DOCKET DEPARTMENT

On the docket tonight is the game with Youngstown South, the first really big game on the Quaker schedule. Coach Barrett has been pointing for this game all along, and it really promises to be a thriller. The "you all" boys from Youngstown are offensive-minded with good blocking and passing, and plenty of speed and skill in the backfield. However, their defense is seive-like.

Tonight's game ought to be a "doozy" with these two high-powered scoring machines on the loose, so don't miss it!!!!

And while we're on that subject, how about a little more cheering tonight? In both the previous games, we have been out-cheered, outyelled, and outnoised by the opposition, while at the same time, we've had many, many times more fans at the games than they did. Is that how we're going to show our appreciation to Coach Barrett and the team for all the hard work they've done? By being outcheered? Let's really show 'em tonight that we're behind them all the way, number three in the first big game and let's root them home to victory of the season.

GOOD FEATURE DEPARTMENT

One very good feature about the 1951 edition of Salem High school footballers is their great spirit and hustle. They make up for whatever they might lack in size, ability or experience by their tremendous spirit. They're in there, giving everything they have on every play all the time, and above all, they keep their training rules religiously, and that's a mighty big factor. So, if for no other reason than that, the boys will lose very few games this year, and never will they lose by a very large score.

ANOTHER GOOD FEATURE DEPARTMENT

Another good feature about this year's team is, as Mr. Barrett puts it, "There are no individual stars on this team, they're all stars." This is 100 per cent correct, for you couldn't begin to mention any one outstanding player without having to mention at least 15 or 20 more, as every one of 'em gives their all and each one is a star in his own right. Such is the sign of a truly great football team.

Salem Routs Bellaire In Season's Opener

The Salem Quakers opened the 1951 grid season by trouncing the Bellaire eleven 19 to 13 at Reilly field Sept. 7.

Bob Sebo, Sophomore half back, led the way to the four yard line, during the first quarter, and Gordon Birkhimer, full back took the ball over for the T. D.

After a 31 yard pass from quarterback Ray Smith to halfback Jerry Ball, Bill Crookston, left end, scored from the five yard line and Birkhimer's kick for the extra point was good.

Bellaire recovered a fumble on Salem's 39 yard line and a long pass helped them score a touchdown. Making good the extra point, Bellaire trailed 7 to 13 at the half.

Jerry Ball climaxed the third touchdown drive of the evening by scoring during the third quarter. Bellaire also eeked out a T. D. in that quarter and neither team scored during the remainder of the game.

Gordon Birkhimer was the leading ground gainer, plowing through the line for 111 yards in 26 tries, while Bob Sebo carried the pigskin for 69 yards in nine attempts.

Quakers Overpower Ravenna In Second Tilt of Season

The Salem eleven made it two in a row last Friday as they came up with a victory over Ravenna, 33 to 20 at Reilly field.

The Quakers scored in every quarter with Gordon Birkhimer scoring three of Salem's five touchdowns. Salem's two other touchdowns came in a pass from Ray Smith to Jerry Ball and another from Smith to Bill Crookston. Ball scored two of Salem's three extra points with Bob Sebo scoring the other.

Ravenna scores of the evening came in runs by Livingston, Reedy, and Roberts. Bob Schofield added two of his three attempts for extra points. Ravenna had several injuries during the game, but none were serious.

The win makes Coach Ben Barrett's men three victories in three years over the Ravens.

The Barrettmen will be seeking their third victory tonight as they take the field against Youngstown South here.
