Students To Vote For Ike Or Adlai On Nov. 4

The American history and government classes, in an effort to bring the national election closer to Salem students, will hold an election on Nov. 4.

This election, which will only include ballots for Eisenhower and Stevenson, will be open to the entire student body.

In order to vote, students registered their names and precincts in their homerooms yesterday. These registrations will be used to determine the number and location of precinct polls that will be required.

Two members from each party will work at each poll for half the day. One will be a judge, and one will be a clerk.

Students may vote any time during the day from approximately 8:15 to 4 P. M. after which time the ballots will be counted by the precinct workers.

All-Male Trio To Lead Class

Jerry Cosgrove, Dick Coppock, and Richard Kelly have been chosen to lead the freshman class through its first year at Salem high. Jerry captured the president's jib, and Dick Coppock will be the vice-president. After four ballots, Richard Kelly received the most votes for secretary.

Both Cosgrove and Kelly are in Student Council.

The voting had to be repeated several times before the large field of nominees could be eliminated.

Charles Taft Speaks Here

Charles Taft, well-known Ohio politician, addressed Salem High students at an assembly on Monday, Oct. 20. In his speech, Mr. Taft urged students to take part in community activities. He also stressed the importance of the citizen's ballot.

Taft is president of the board of trustees of Taft school in Connecticut, and is the brother of senator Robert A. Taft.

Council To Hold Talent Show Soon

Salem high school's semi-annual Student Council talent assembly will be held on Oct. 29 in the auditorium and will feature a variety of acts. Tryouts for the assembly were held on Oct. 20 and 21 after school.

There will not be any voting to determine the winners of this assembly, Sandy Hansell, talent assembly committee chairman announced. The assembly will be merely to present talent to the students.

On Oct. 21 the following council members served as guides when the PTA observed open house: Mary Sweeney, Curtice Loop, Jeanette Harris, Mary Mercer, Ruth Wolfe, Patt Ross, Charles Jones, Jim Barcus, Bob Winkler, Sandy Hansell, Ray Pearson, Joan Schuller, Jerry Cosgrove, and Dick Kelly.

Ludwig Advises Frosh At Class Meeting

Beman G. Ludwig, principal, addressed the freshman class at an assembly on Thursday, Oct. 23. In emphasizing the importance of forming and developing good habits, he brought out in particular the idea of doing things on time. This idea is especially important in tackling a new subject in high school.

Mr. Ludwig stated that good habits and right attitudes are extremely important in the recommendations for later jobs. An employer gives emphasis to these dependable qualities, he added. The habits a student forms now may be an important factor in determining the whole course of his life.

Senior Stationery Designs Chosen

A meeting of the senior class stationery committee was held recently in 208 with the representative of the Educational Supply Company of Painesville, Ohio. The style of stationery to be used was chosen by the committee. At a later date they will meet to approve the stationery after completed samples have been sent from the company.

The committee in charge of the ticket sales for the senior play are as follows: 212 Carole Coy; 210, Don Harsh; 209, Johanna Kieffer; 208, Bob Rea; and 207, Glenna Whinnery.

Vogeler Tells Of 17-Month Confinement In Hungary

Speaking on "The Meaning of Freedom", Robert A. Vogeler opened the first meeting of the Salem Town Hall before a capacity audience in the high school auditorium on Oct. 22. Mr. Vogeler, who was held prisoner in a Hungarian Communist prison for 17 months, said, "It isn't until freedom has been lost that the real value of it can be appreciated."

Mr. Vogeler's eyes spoke more eloquently than all his words of the hardships he endured. Deep-set and dark, they showed that he has seen and endured more than most people can bear.

Vogeler went to Vienna, Austria, as a representative of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Eastern and Central Europe in 1945. At this time there was no Iron Curtain and Moscow-trained civilians were infiltrating the countries that are now Communist satellites. These people were trained agitators and their job was to oppose all measures toward rehabilitation.

When friction between Hungary and the U. S. was at its height, Mr. Vogeler was in Budapest, Hungary. He was there when negotiations between the two countries finally fell through. He received permission to leave and obtained his visa within a few hours of the U. S. reply to Hungarian proposals. At the border he was met by the Communist secret police.

He was taken to national headquarters of the secret police, an elaborate building which contained elegant suites and dismal dungeons. Here he met the colonel who was to question him for the next 72 hours. Mr. Vogeler lived through these hours on coffee and cigarettes, lived through the hallucinations that began after 48 hours, lived through the beatings and submersions into icy water. He lived through this to sign a statement, one of the 20 offered him, with which the Communists were not satisfied. After this he was questioned 20 hours a day, fronted by 80 tortured witnesses who identified him as the leader of a spy ring, and was finally

Residents, Students To Have Free X-Rays

Free chest X-rays for suspected TB will be available to all local residents, including any high school students who want them, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, in the Salem high gym.

Anyone desiring to be examined may go to the gym from 10 a.m. to 12 and 2 to 4 in the afternoon without previous appointment for his examination.

Aides Receive 'Scope

Jim Schmidt presided at the Oct. 3 meeting of the Formaldehyde Aides, at which time Joe Aiello was appointed chairman of a committee to decide on a project that the club will carry out. This committee will report its decision at the next meeting.

The club received a microscope from the Board of Education, and they placed it in the biology lab room.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 27.

thrown into a 6 by 9 cell two levels below ground. Strong light shone on him all the time and guards opened and slammed shut a slot in the door every six minutes for ten days. Finally he signed a confession of his crimes, a confession so fantastic that he knew no one would believe him, except the Reds.

At his three-day trial he submitted himself to the mercy of the court but was sentenced to 15 years in solitary confinement. He was then transferred to a new prison where he was not allowed to speak, even to himself. If he was caught whispering he was made to stand in a corner for eight hours. In walking the diagonal of his cell, he could go but four and one-half paces. And then, after a year of solitary confinement, several books were smuggled in to him, one of them being the Bible.

On April 28, 1951, he was called into the general's office and was freed. Within an hour he was at the border and in the hands of American officials. It was only through the constant efforts of his wife, that the State Department made negotiations to free Vogeler.

Vogeler states that there are still 5000 Americans behind the Iron Curtain whom the State Department is not taking great pains to free, and he added, "We are the shining beacon of hope and courage to these oppressed countries. Let not the light of freedom and justice be dimmed so that all the world will be in darkness."

Peace-Seeking Nations Observe UN Day

Today is U. N. day, the seventh anniversary of the birth of the United Nations. All over the country, schools, churches, and other organizations are sending gifts and greetings to other countries in the U. N.

This marks the first day that a truly world-wide celebration was held by people of all nations, races, and creeds, signifying their all-out desire for freedom.

In SHS, students are celebrating the birth of our hopes for peace with classroom discussions on the U. N. The library has made available several books and pamphlets on reserve concerning U.N. day, and there is an attractive display in the library showcase with the U.N. as its theme.

The display contains U. N. material, posters, and a big U.N. flag made last spring jointly by the Junior Red Cross, the art department, and the sewing department.

End Of First Six Weeks Sees Seniors On Top

The senior class leads the first six weeks' honor roll with 20 per cent of its members getting three-point or better averages. Next in line come the freshmen, who have 17 per cent of their members on the honor roll. In the last two places come the juniors and sophomores, with 15 and 14 per cent averages, respectively.

Hi-Tri Meets; Has New Advisers

The Hi-Tri met for the first time this year with the newly appointed advisers, Mrs. Beryl Tarr and Miss Claribel Bickel. The meeting, held on Oct. 22, was conducted by Lois Getz, president.

The club is to have the football refreshment stand on Nov. 7 and Joyce Cosgrove was put in charge.

The girls drew names to find out who their "little sisters" would be, and an informal initiation committee was appointed. The informal initiation date was set for Nov. 6.

Formal initiation plans were discussed, and the Baptist church was one of the suggested locations for it. Committees were appointed to look into the matter.

The new advisers are taking over the job that was left vacant when Miss Betty Ulicny and Miss Ada Hanna resigned from Hi-Tri.

If The Shoe Fits

Once upon a time, in a far-off country, there lived some boys and girls who wanted very much to own their own private park. They wanted this park to contain a big lake, a recreation lodge with all the trimmings, and a big baseball diamond where they could spend their free hours.

Of course, even in far-off countries, private parks cost money, which, of course, the boys and girls didn't have. But they knew where they could get the money. If they could only talk their rich king into lending them the money, they felt sure it could be paid back when they were older.

Now this king was a fine man. He was generous, wise, and he made his kingdom a prosperous one. But he only used his money when he knew it would be used wisely.

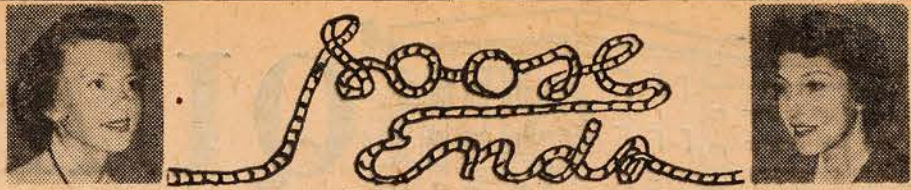

For months, he had been considering giving enough money to the children so they could build their park. Why, he felt this would be a wonderful place for the children to play in, and it would keep them out of trouble. (Even children in far-off lands get into trouble.)

Then, Halloween came along, as it does all over the world. And, as all children do, whether they know it or not, these same children who wanted a private park so badly, stayed out late at night and deliberately broke windows in the king's castle, wrote all over his walks, and even tried to harm his pets which he kept in large kennels. The next morning when the king awoke, and saw what these children had done, although he hated to do it, he tore up the check which he was going to present to them that very day.

Of course, the children thought they had been very funny and very cute and had just a marvelous time, tearing up lawns and injuring defenseless animals.

It's a shame, to, because that private park would have been so nice . . .

To those of you who have been wondering about the authors of the Hi-Notes column, the clever gals who receive credit are Mary Dunlap and Alyce Huddleston. Due to confusion in getting out the first few issues, the gals didn't receive their well deserved by-lines.

Strange Taste

It seems Ted Hart likes a heavy breakfast, so one morning this senior lad ate a spaghetti sandwich. Can you imagine that—a great big lump of spaghetti between two slices of toast!

Troubles

John Baker is racking his brains trying to figure out an easier way to perform chemistry experiments. The husky junior burned his hair the last time he experimented.

Congratulations

. . . to the two jokers, Sandy and John for their column is getting funnier every time.

. . . to two busy seniors, Sandra Kroner and Helen Dora Copacia, who are even busier since they have been honored with the leads in the senior play.

. . . to the Salem eleven for their outstanding performance last Friday night. Please boys, please, keep it up.

Do You Know

. . . where Bill Crookston is coming from when he is seen going home from the East Eighth street section of the town? He seems to be taking this pleasant walk quite often.

. . . why Johanna Keiffer, Judy Tame, Eddie Votaw, and a few other studes are so happy and radiant when certain weekends roll around?

. . . why Frankie Stoerkel put a sign on his locker which reads: "Stay out! That means you!"

Close Call

One night Toni Petrucci was awakened by the frantic screams of her mother. It seems Toni fell asleep with a sun lamp on her and the lamp, behaving naughtily, fell and burned an upholstered foot stool to shreds. A sigh of relief echoed through the house for the sleeping gal was left unharmed.

Mystery of the Week

If you have any information leading to the person who mysteriously burned a hole in the seat of Ralph Firestone's new Ford, Ralph will be most grateful. We are playing Sherlock Holmes, Ralph.

Quaker Quips

Pat—Why do you look so unhappy, Sally? What's the matter,
Sally—I played hookey all day before I found out it was Saturday.

She—Why can't a clock run forever?
He—I don't know.
She—Because its hours are numbered.

Welcome Home

We were glad to see two cute former SHS lassies again. We are referring to Dorothy and Suzie Watterson, who were home from Villa Maria high on a visit last weekend.

Thanks!

. . . say all the kids to Nancy Cosma and Pat and Jim Schmidt for having open house after the game Friday night. A good time was had by all. P. S. The food was good, too!

Definition of a Baby Sitter: Some one you pay by the hour to watch television.

New Life

Chuck Cobourn tells us that from now on his motto is: "Take life easy and let things go as they will." We are wondering what slowed this lad down.

Tid Bits

Did you notice the many girls that came to school sporting sweaters of the most popular color of the year? From the looks of it, it must have been "purple sweater day."

If you heard the strains of the birthday song echoing through the halls last Thursday, you might like to know it was the sixth period health class serenading some lucky person who just aged one more year.

The Big Buy!

The sale is on so be sure to buy a Quaker pennant from one of the "senior dramatists," in other words, Thespians. You don't want to be left out when everyone is waving them to the victory song when we beat Canton Lincoln tonight.

See you at the game!

New Cheer

Last Friday night at our victorious game a group of senior boys invented a new cheer. When our sparkling eleven were so near the goal line and we wanted a touchdown, instead of yelling the usual "Go! Go!" or "We want a touchdown!" these senior lads came out with "Went! Went!"

Studes Reveal 'Heroes'

"Hero worship", idolism, or call it what you will, has invaded SHS. When some local teenagers were asked whom they admired most, quite a variety of answers were received.

An Open Letter To The Frosh Class Officers

Congratulations to you, Jerry, Dick, and Richard. As your new class leaders, you will be expected to do many jobs and even "chores" that no one else wants to do.

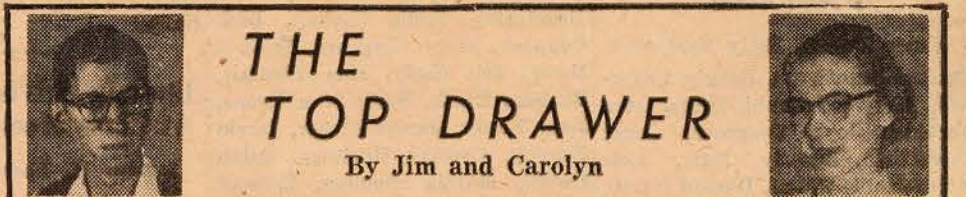

You have a big year ahead of you, and all the school will be watching you to see if you execute your offices to the best of your ability.

You probably realize that very few class-officer combinations have been made up of all boys. Perhaps this plan will work out more satisfactorily. The arrangement is yours to do what you will.

Two hundred fifty of your classmates will be depending upon you during the year, if not personally, indirectly, and you will get to know students that you didn't realize existed. You will work more with faculty members and other members of our community. The impression they receive of you will be the impression they will form of your class, since you are its representatives.

We hope this year will be one of your biggest, and that you will receive valuable experience and will win praise throughout your days in our school.

WHAT DID I DO ?

That's what the new members of the Road Angels wanted to know last week. It seems that part of the initiation is a short stay in the city jail! Pete Menegos informed us that it hadn't changed since the last time he was there! (Oops! Pardon the slip.)

What do you suppose Joanne Lewis was trying to prove last week when she fell flat on her face in the middle of Lincoln Avenue? Nothing serious happened; she just dropped all her books and skinned both her knees and elbows.

TO LOVE ONESELF IS THE BEGINNING OF A LIFELONG ROMANCE.

THEY'RE OFF AND RUNNING

Marty Cox thought she was three lengths ahead of the bell as she came tearing into 310 study hall last Friday. When she was halfway down the aisle, Miss Hollet changed her mind for her. She said she'd like to see Marty retrace her steps and this time go slower than 40 MILES PER HOUR!

YOUR IDEAS

We have been informed that too much is said about hotrods in Salem high. Maybe this is so, but we'll give you one more chance to say what you think about fast driving. Write your views on what should be done about this situation in SHS, and give it to us before next Friday. The best ideas will be printed in this column three weeks from today.

NEW STEADIES

Three new couples were added to the list of "Going Steady" last weekend! Rose Marie Crawford and Bill Crookston, Pat Schmidt and Bob Metcalf, and Gretchen Bodendorfer and Paul Hannay.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Who drives a white Chevy, likes Ivory soap and leaves Halloween corn cobs for calling cards?

Maybe you're not 21 but you can vote in the election this year, in high school that is. If you are always saying that you would like to vote, well here's your chance. On Nov. 4 the American history classes will have polls in the halls on all three floors. Whether you vote for Ike or Adlai, vote in your precinct on November 4.

Next week our summer replacements take over. We'll see you in three weeks. Till then, remember: There may be grounds for the price of coffee.

Love Over, Ben Hogan!

A three-year band member, Student Council member his freshman year, vice-president of his sophomore class, president of his junior class, candidate for Quaker King when a junior, and finally vice-president of the senior class—if you're in the dark about the low whose name is synonymous with these activities, catch your breath and read on.

When you learn that he is generally known as "Merv", you know right away the versatile chap is Mervin Thomas. Merv aims that he considers being elected vice-president of the Senior class the greatest honor ever bestowed upon him.

Mervin Thomas

This senior enjoys basketball more than any other sport and especially favors the local team. However, basketball doesn't stand alone in his category of favored sports, for in his spare time this golf enthusiast can be found at the Salem Golf club trying for a "hole-in-one." "The lowest I ever shot was a 40 (par for 18 holes is 36) but after that I started going up," Merv tells us. "Lucky, I guess." Who knows? Ben Hogan can't win forever!

A loyal member of the S.C.A. (Spaghetti Consumers of America) Merv considers Vaughn Monroe, whom he met as a candidate for Quaker King last year, the most famous personality he ever met, but declares he'd like to meet Red Skelton—"just to see if he acts as simple in real life as he does on television."

A lover of the outdoors, he and his family make a fishing trip to Canada nearly every summer but the "blue waters and gentle climate of Hawaii" hold a certain amount of intrigue for him.

Asked what changes, if any, he would make in both the national government and school activities (if the opportunity presented itself) Mervin replied, "Well, first I'd appoint someone to end the Korean War. Like whom? Like Mr. Jones, for instance. I'd like to see the Democrats in again this fall, but I'm not even sure they could help matters. In school? Build a new field house, with a seating capacity of 7,000 or more. That's something we've needed for ages!"

In preparation for entering his chosen vocation of engineering work, Merv hopes to enroll in Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh upon graduation from high school.

Whether he becomes a golf pro, an engineer, or ends up building Salem's fieldhouse himself, Mervin Thomas's record of achievement in high school certainly indicates his chances of being a success in whatever he may do.

OSU Test To Be Given
Nov. 5 has been set as a tentative date for giving the Ohio State Psychological Test to all sophomores, according to Beman G. Ludwig, principal.

Further announcements will be made at a later date.

Club Notes

Latin Club

Club initiation, which will be held Oct. 29, was the subject recently discussed by the Latin club at their meeting on Oct. 17.

Part of the initiation for the new members will be to know their numbers in Latin from 1 to 20, and to write a 500-word essay on Rome.

Due to a conflict in schedules, the former president, Jere Hochadel, became vice-president, and Curtice Loop assumed the president's office.

Salemasquers

Sue Hill, secretary of the Salemasquers, read the minutes of the last meeting when the group met in 207 during the noon hour of Tuesday, Oct. 21.

They then retired to the auditorium where the members played charades during the remainder of the meeting.

Thespians

At the Thespian meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 21, a Committee comprised of Ann Sandrock and Sandra Kroner was appointed to order pins and charms for those Thespians who wish to buy them. The money for these must be in by the next meeting which will be held on Nov. 4.

Art Club

A meeting of the Art club was held Friday, Oct. 17. The members worked on their projects for the art show and picked a committee to draw up a constitution. Those on the committee are Jim Gow, Doris Rogers, Sally Rufer, and Paul Barnard. They will have a meeting in the near future to start work on this constitution.

Spanish Club

Miss Mary Bowman of the Fiesta Shop entertained 30 members of the Spanish club at their last meeting with an interesting story of her recent trip to Spain. She also showed many of the souvenirs and items of interest she brought back from Spain.

SHARPS 'N' FLATS

By Nancy and Helen

Well, kids, we're back again with various notes in the musical world.

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Margie Hannay directing a chorus? Well, it happened last Friday in the girls chorus. From all reports they didn't get much singing done, though.

VERSATILE

If you ever want to see a number of versatile musicians, stop by 302 fourth period. Gail Fair started the year off by playing clarinet, but circumstances changed his interests and he's now playing the cello. Also there are Jean Yarian, who started with the cello and is now playing viola, and Carl Siple, who originally played the piano and moved to the drum section, only to start taking viola lessons. How do they do it?

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Who was brave enough to put a hole in two heads? For information contact one of Salem high's drummers.

There is a young girl Mitzie Theiss, who does everything very nice. She fell at the game and was kidded by name as the girl who could slip without ice.

LOOKIE HERE

Tonight we will be celebrating Dad's night at halftime. Therefore the band won't have much time to put on a performance. As we understand it, the majorettes are going on strike during the halftime show.

RECORD SHOP

No new songs this week, kids, but we would like to express our sincere happiness for WISH YOU WERE HERE, last week's number one hit. This song has really got "it," especially when it is sung by Eddie Fisher.

Well, here's hoping our "so-long" is at the end of our column this week. See you later.

Ed. Note: Our apologies to Nancy and Helen—Refer to their last column.

Lions, Potters To Be Quaker Opponents In Next Two Tilts

The Canton Lincoln Lions and the East Liverpool Potters invade the peaceful Quaker confines of Reilly stadium tonight and a week from tonight respectively.

Canton Lincoln has managed three wins while taking the same number of setbacks so far this season. The only comparative scores available on the Lions' grid activities are their 18-13 win over Euclid High and their 14-7 defeat by the Barberton Magics last Saturday night.

The Quakers will be looking for revenge for last year's 20-7 defeat, when the East Liverpool Potter visit the Quaker city on Oct. 31.

The Potters retained their third place standing in the AP football ratings, topped only by Springfield and Massillon this week. The Potter eleven coached by Wade Watts have an almost unblemished record of five wins and a tie. Sandusky was the rock that the Potters failed to move, tying 13-13 in a really rough and tough grid battle. Last week the Alliance Aviators yielded to the powerful East Liverpool boys, 34-14, rolling up an unexpected margin of points. Earlier in the season Cleveland West, Steubenville, Youngstown Rayen, and New Philadelphia went down under the grinding Potter wheels.

While the Quakers take on the Canton Lincoln Lions, the Potters led by the top county scorer, Eddie Oliver, battle Martins Ferry on the Potters' home field.

10 YEARS STRAIGHT

Last Friday night was the tenth straight time that a Ben Barrett-coached Quaker outfit had taken the field against the Wellsville Bengals and come out the victors. The local eleven were really going to town on offense throughout the whole game, while the Quaker defense didn't seem to tighten up until closing minutes of the contest when Coach Chuck Sell's gridders staged a last-minute, all-out drive for another TD which would have clinched the victory for the visitors. As it was, the Quaker line was able to stall the Wellsville attack on their own 29-yard line, where the Bengals fumbled on a fourth down, and after one Quaker play the gun sounded ending the hard-fought battle. Coach Barrett thought that his boys were still not up to par on defense, especially the tackling, although it had improved some since the South contest two weeks ago.

QUAKER PACE-SETTERS

A trio of SHS lads were the Quaker offensive stars of last week's exciting grid contest, Bill Crookston, Nelson Mellinger, and George Mordew. These three Barrettmen did all the yard-gaining and scoring for Salem. Mellinger scored one TD, gained 122 yards throughout the game, and continued to set the pace in the individual yards column with 36 to his credit. One of the "up and comings," George Mordew, was the leading scorer last week getting three touchdowns and gaining 140 yards running. Bill Crookston scrambled for 162 yards leading the Quaker running attack and scoring one Quaker TD, giving him a total of 24 points for the season, tying with Mordew.

ODDS AND ENDS

Did you happen to know . . . that the Quakers have scored first in every game so far this year . . . that John Cabas is going to be the new Varsity S adviser replacing Ken Jacobs . . . that the Boosters club is taking the football boys to see the Pitt-West Virginia football game this Saturday . . . that there are only four grid contests left this season, Canton Lincoln, East Liverpool, Newton Falls, and our traditional foe, Lisbon . . . that tonight is Dad's night at Reilly stadium and the dads of all the football boys will be introduced to the crowd.

CROSS COUNTRY

With football seemingly taking priority in the minds of most people we sometimes forget about another fall sport, cross country, which takes many an SHS lad out to the Salem Golf club. Coached by Ken Jacobs the local harriers have three meets under their belts so far this year with a few more coming up in the future.

Bill, Lipp, a flashy soph runner, has starred in in most of the meets for Salem. Almost every time he has run the two-mile distance he has bettered his previous record. Lipp starred for Coach Frank Tarr's cindermen last spring and received a varsity letter in track. Tom Johnston and Eddie Votaw have also placed for the locals.

Quaker Runners Lose Two Meets

The Salem cross county squad participated in a dual meet and also a triangle affair within the past week, losing both, the dual meet by a margin of only one point.

The local harriers lost a heart-breaker to Leavittsburg in a return meet, 27-28, last Monday in Warren's Packard Park. Salem's Bill Lipp placed second in the two-mile event with Eddie Votaw and Tom Johnston taking third and fourth places respectively. Although the Quakers took three out of the first five places they were weak in the second five positions, taking only ninth and tenth, Conrad Thorne finished in the number nine spot with Dave Wiggers taking the tenth position.

The harriers came out of the meet with Niles and Warren at the bottom of the scoring list.

From Niles, the McKinley Red Dragons came out on top with 35 points, barely edging out the Panthers of Warren who finished with 36 markers. Salem placed last with 56 points.

Niles came through with the first-place runner, Bill Wick, doing the course in 12:10.2. Bill Lipp came up with the second position in 12:11. He was in the lead during most of the contest, only to lose in the last 25 yards. Conrad Thorne of Salem ended the two-mile course in 16th place and Dave Wiggers came in 20th for the Quakers.

Seven Salem runners will make a trip on Oct. 25 to Akron to participate in the district meet. Those who perform well then will be eligible for the state finals.

Alliance Hands Frosh First Loss Of Season

The Quaker freshmen were downed for their first loss of the season here Thursday, Oct. 16, by losing to the Alliance Stanton frosh, 20-6.

The locals scored their lone tally in the first quarter when Bob Mills crossed the striped line from the ten-yard line. This climaxed the 40-yard drive featuring the hard running of Bill DeFavero and Jack Alexander.

Stanton scored in the first and fourth quarters on runs through the center of the frosh line. A pass into the end zone saw Stanton add a tally in the second quarter.

Barrettmen Bounce Bengals

The Quaker eleven defeated the Wellsville Bengals, 31-26, at Reilly stadium last Friday for their second win of the season and tenth straight victory over the Bengals.

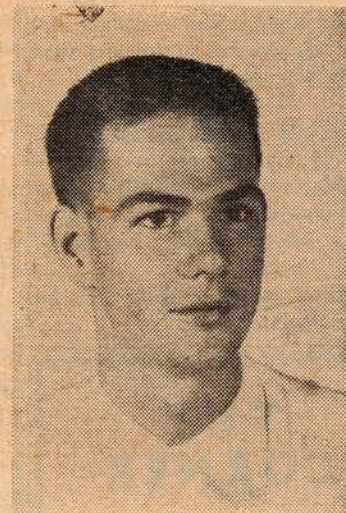

The home scoring was done by Sophomore George Mordew and seniors Nelson Mellinger and Bill Crookston. Mordew tallied three touchdowns, while Mellinger and Crookston scored once each. Jon

Zeigler, senior tackle, was credited with the conversion for the extra point.

The game was full of action, for the Quakers marched for one touchdown in the first period, two in the second, one in the third, and one in the final, while the Bengals failed to tally in the first period, and scored twice in the second, once in the third, and again in the fourth.

Versatile Jack Ference Finds Time For Football, Council

"Eatin' and sleepin'!" That's all that's needed to please the desires of the rugged left end of the Salem varsity, Jack Ference.

Jack Ference

Jack is a letterman on both the football and track squads, is president of the Association, and is thus automatically a member of the Student Council.

Jack relates that his most thrilling moment in sports happened three weeks ago in the Timken game, when he caught a pass for a touchdown.

He figures the locals have the rough spots ironed out of their attack now, and will start to roll up those much-needed victories. Ference predicts that Salem will down both their arch rivals, Lisbon and East Liverpool.

Closely cropped on the top of his head, this staunch Republican says he especially likes spaghetti, turkey, "I Love Lucy", and Eisenhower. Jack hopes to continue his education at college and someday become a mechanic.
