'Ham' In Slutz Finally Shows As Ronnie Takes To Air

By Marilyn Litty

Did you know that out of the thousands of radio amateurs in the more than seven-hundred active radio clubs in this country SHS now has a student member?

He is Ronnie Slutz, a junior lad, who recently received a license which permits him to operate his radio as an amateur. Before obtaining his license he traveled to Cleveland where he took and passed the required examination.

Amateur radio is direct, private and experimental communication. From his home and by the apparatus he has built, Ronnie can communicate with other amateurs similarly equipped. So far he has talked with eight different people in seven different states. These include amateurs from Baltimore, Maryland; Arlington, Virginia; Oyster Bay, Long Island; St. Johnsbury, Vermont and Griswoldville, Massachusetts.

Among the varied activities for radio operators is the "Rag Chewers' Club" whose president is called the "Old Sock." There is a vocational basis to this hobby, too, such as belonging to the Communications Reserve of the U. S. Navy or the Military Amateur Radio System.

Another activity is the conventions where the amateurs may meet in person those with whom they have talked.

All of these and many more adventures await Ronnie as he starts his role as a radio amateur.

Choruses To Present Three Xmas Concerts

The robed, beginners', and girls' choruses are working hard for the forthcoming Christmas concerts in December.

The robed choir will sing for the Kiwanis Club Dec. 10, the three choral groups will sing in the Christmas assembly Dec. 11, and all three groups will perform in the annual Christmas vesper service on Sunday, Dec. 13.

The choruses will be under the direction of Thomas Crothers at all three performances.

SENIOR PLAY LEAD

... presenting Melody Jones—starring Miss Donna Cocca as Melody. When the curtain is drawn tonight we will find our fellow-student stepping into the life of that sweet and lovable, but confused, young girl of sixteen who finds that life isn't always as bad as it seems.

When not acting in the senior play this dual personality leads another life, that of Donna Cocca, a friendly and attractive senior lass. The personal life of Donna might also be termed "dual," the life of Miss Cocca in school and out.

In school Donna is a hard-work-

Wurster To Play Frosh-Soph Party

Chuck Wurster and his orchestra will provide the music for the Freshman-Sophomore Party to be held Dec. 5 from 8:30 until 11:30 in the gym. An added feature will be the incorporation of square dancing in the program.

Officers from both classes have selected the committees to assist them in making plans for the dance. They are: entertainment—Jim Barcus, Joan Fester, Paula Bodendorfer, Gary Painchaud, Joan Frank, Roy Yeager and Miriam Smith.

Committees Ready To Begin Work For Junior-Senior Party Dec. 4

The committees for the Junior-Senior Party to be held Friday, Dec. 4, in the high school gym from 9 until 12 p. m. have been selected. The officers of both classes will head the various committees.

Sandy Hansell and Ken Bosu, vice-presidents of the senior and junior classes, respectively, will be in charge of the committee to provide entertainment during intermission. Jim Gow, Anne Hansteen, Sue Hill, Gary Moffett, Bob Talbot and John Todd were selected to serve on the committee.

George Buta, Nora Guiler, Pat Harris, Marjorie Meier, Delores Leone and Janet Sarchet were chosen for the refreshment committee. Marjorie Jensen, senior class secretary, is chairman of the group.

Janice Jeffries, secretary of the class of '55, will head the program committee. Carol Joe Byrns, Joan Hart, Jackie Welsh, Mary Camp-

Picture Contest Offers $4,500 For 'Shutterbugs'

Here is an opportunity for high school students to win fame as well as cash awards for their achievements in photography.

The National Scholastic Press Association is sponsoring a monthly photography contest from which national winners will be chosen.

Prizes range from $5 up to five grand prizes of $250 each, a total of $4,500 in cash awards.

All students in grades nine through twelve are eligible. If one of your pictures wins a national award it may also be chosen to be displayed with other award winners in the photographic salon which is exhibited in high schools throughout the United States.

There are five classes in all, including: school-life activities, out-of-school activities, sports, art and architecture, and animals and pets.

For further information see David Bush.

bell, Carol McQuilkin and Gayle Paxson will assist her.

The officers of all four classes and other members of the junior and senior classes will decorate the gym for the gala affair. Those who will be helping the officers are Ray Hertel, Rosemarie Sulea, Kay Paxson, Jim Beard, Joe Hajcak, Jerry Roberts, Nancy Fife and Betty Moore. The prexies of both classes, Chuck Jones and Larry Stoffer, are co-chairmen of the decorating committee.

The orchestra selected to provide music for dancing throughout the evening was formerly under the direction of Paul Kuhns. Al Caldrome is now the leader.

Miss Carol Kelley and Chester Brautigam are the class advisers.

Board Chooses New Faculty; Stamp Drive To Begin Soon

Salem High School students will have a new roster of teachers Dec. 2, when students will take over the teaching and administrative posts in the school as part of the annual Students' Day sponsored by the Student Council.

Senior Play Given To Public Tonight

The first public performance of the senior class play, "Melody Jones," will be given tonight in the auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15.

The second and final presentation will be given tomorrow evening at the same time.

Yesterday the entire high school student body saw the play while the Junior High composed the audience Wednesday.

Advance ticket sales for the play have been brisk with a majority of the crowd expected to attend this evening. Anyone who has purchased a ticket for tonight is urged to come early to insure getting a good seat.

Book Week Observed In SHS This Week

National Book Week is being observed all over the nation this week from Nov. 16 to 21 with the objective of stimulating the interest of young people in good books.

SHS students are taking part by listing books and magazines which they would like to see added to our library.

The theme this year is "Reading Is Fun." The art classes made posters illustrating short stories and nursery rhymes.

Band To Present Concert To Convention In Canton

The band is preparing a fifteen-minute concert for the Ohio Music Education Association Convention in Canton Dec. 4.

Next spring they will go to Ash-tabula Harbor to a band festival, which will be followed by a military ball.

Students' Day is planned to give students an opportunity to better understand the duties of a teacher, to help in considering teaching as a career and to learn to accept responsibility.

Council members hope the day will not only benefit the student teachers, but that it will also give all pupils a chance to participate in self-government.

November 17 was the deadline for returning applications to the Students' Day Board of Education, composed of Wendell Dunn, chairman; Curtice Loop, Jerry Martin, Dale Schwartz, Danny Ferrier, Carol Debnar, Ted Jackson, Carol Schaefer, Barbara Berry, Jo Anne Stumpo and Ray Pearson.

The annual Student Council tax stamp drive will begin Dec. 1 and will be extended over the Christmas holidays. Prizes will be given to the students bringing in most tax stamps.

Members of the tax stamp committee are Joe Hajcak, chairman; Jerry Martin, Curtice Loop and Jo Anne Stumpo.

2 Teachers Join Formaldeicides

Mrs. Ella Thea Cox and Mrs. Doris Cope, author of the text book used by the biology classes of SHS and biology instructor, respectively, have been made honorary members of the Formaldeicides.

A permanent amount has been set for dues.

Lunch meetings will be held on alternate Mondays and an evening program is to be planned once a month.

The officers elected by the group are Dale Horton, president; Mary Campbell, vice-president; Melissa Layton, secretary; and Joe Aiello, treasurer.

Donna Cocca Splits Personality, Wishes She Had Blond, Curly Hair

students have been so friendly and helpful."

After school Donna works as a clerk in a clothing store. She likes to spend her spare time at the "Corner" or at the movies. She recalls "Shane" as being one of the best movies she has yet seen.

When relaxing at home Donna favors a home-cooked steak dinner with mashed potatoes. The family TV set offers her much entertainment, with "I Love Lucy" being her favorite program. Her only "peeve" is people who don't tell the truth.

Donna, an enthusiastic sports fan, was a member of the football queen's court. Looking forward to a successful basketball season she predicts the Quakers will come out on top with the state championship.

If given a million dollars she would buy a new wardrobe and save "a little" for college. But even a million dollars couldn't buy Donna a much wanted head of naturally curly, naturally blond hair.

Now as the curtain is drawn there comes to an end a fine performance, the excellent result of many weeks of hard practice. And there comes also to a close the life of Melody Jones, and it's back to the life of Donna Cocca!

Let's Count Our Blessings

Once upon a time—that's the way it all started, way back when the Pilgrims had their day in this New World of ours and Thanksgiving was first observed. And today we still have Thanksgiving, a modern-day, Atomic-Age Thanksgiving—one on which turkey is traditional, but true thanksgiving is slightly slighted.

It has been said over and over, "Americans take everything for granted," and that in itself is a blessing. In this bountiful nation of ours three square meals, a day, clothing and shelter can be taken for granted.

But there are hundreds of everyday occurrences for which we high school students can be thankful. These are the days in which we are molded into men and women, and all about are things which help us to grow in wisdom, fellowship and appreciation of beauty.

The privilege of going to school—and education on a silver platter . . . to be able to sit in class with friends all about us—that is a blessing . . . to be able to stand side by side on a cold, starry night and sing, "We honor our high school, We sing of its praise,"—this is a blessing . . . to be able to scream with all the others when the team is in a tough spot and to make the rafters ring in top assemblies—these are our blessings.

The fellowship of man, the greatest blessing on earth, this we have in high school. And on this Thanksgiving Day the chorus of our voices should be raised in, "Father, we thank Thee"

Friendly Foods Teacher, Mrs. Crook, Likes Cooking, Sewing And Students

By Jeanette Harris

If you look into room 108, you will discover a small, ambitious-looking teacher with sparkling brown eyes. This is Mrs. Dorothy Crook, a three-year resident of Salem, who taught in SHS for the first time last year. She now teaches the foods classes and last year substituted as health instructor.

She was born in Lisbon, (but she favored Salem in the Salem-Lisbon game), and has lived in many towns, including Chicago. She attended Ohio Wesleyan University in Dela-

'Subtlety' Subdues Sales Resistance, Sleuth Finds As He Peddles Ducats

By Jim Gow

This is Joe Friday again. The story you are about to read is false and should be shorter.

I was sitting in my office when I received a call from the chief. It was the fire chief. Someone had just set my car on fire. This was illegal, but since it was parked beside a fire plug it was already illegal anyhow.

9:15 — I got a report that some help was needed by the senior class. (do-do-do-do) I received my assignment and started out immediately to fulfill it. It was a hard and very dangerous one — I was to sell two play tickets. (do-do-do-do)

9:30 — I had to plan my case very cautiously so there would be no slip-up. At last I got an idea — I would ask some people I knew. This was going to be easy.

9:50 — Wheew! I asked everyone I know, but neither of them would buy a ticket. I could sell one to my partner, Plank Stiff, but he wouldn't be out of Sing Sing for another month. I had to try something else. I just had to sell these play tickets! I didn't want to be known as "Schmoe" Friday.

I finally hit upon an idea, but this made her mad and she went home. Who wants a secretary named Bright Idea anyway? Besides, I have no typewriter and her shorthand is lousy, but it's nothing compared to her longhand. It has six fingers.

I finally played a hunch I had, and after I had beaten the pavement and rung many door bells, I decided the pavement was harder than my hand and none of the doorbells wanted to buy tickets. I would actually need to ask some strangers. After I had been bitten by three dogs, shot at by an old man, chased by an old maid, and knocked down by three monstrous five-year-olds, I could see I was going to have trouble.

2:29 — It happened! I sold the tickets! They were two rather elderly people who were very cowed. I don't suppose the fact that I took my gun out of my pocket to air it while I was talking to them had anything to do with it.

My case was finished. You see, it's really not hard to sell tickets. All you need is a good personality, a friendly voice and a gun that needs aired out.

Remember, nobody should work for crime, because he doesn't pay.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

The secret ambition of a cute, blond, blue-eyed senior lass, Pat Harris, is to go to Florida and soak up some wonderful sunshine. Pat "drools" at the thought of Stan Kenton's music, Jeff Chandler, Barbara Stanwyck, Eddie Fisher's "Many Times" and fried chicken.

Bookkeeping, English IV, economics and health are her studies for the year, with the latter being her favorite. Pat claims she will never forget the '53 season's school spirit as long as she lives. Most everything pleases Pat, but she thinks that teachers should have mercy on the studes and let up on homework. Pat hopes to become a telephone operator after graduation.

"Busy" is the word which best describes Janice Groves. She is a member of the Salemasquers, vice-president of Hi-Tri, a member of Los Conquistadores and of the Quaker Weekly editorial staff. Being a four-year member of the band, she claims that it is the one thing she'll miss most after graduation.

Health rates tops among her other subjects, chemistry, English IV, U. S. history and government and band. Janice "just adores" to eat scallops, to read and to be with Don. She is anxious to see "The Robe." Ohio State will probably be the destination of Jan after graduation.

Don't like the teacher,
The subjects too deep,
I'd cut the class,
But I need the sleep.

ware, Ohio, for four years and attained her B. A. degree there. Six years ago Mrs. Crook started her teaching career. She has taught biology, foods and health.

This new faculty member is kept busy at home cooking and caring for her three-year-old daughter. Her hobby is sewing for little Miss Crook. Relaxing at home while listening to a program of waltzes would complete her perfect day.

The students of Salem High have definitely impressed Mrs. Crook, "Because," she says, "they are very fine and especially very friendly." She likes Salem High very much and enjoys teaching here. And Salem High likes her, too.

It's All Over Now!

It's all over now. Another football season has brought its thrills, cheers and tears, and now it's history.

We've had a good season and the support from the students was bigger and better than ever.

The seniors have sung their last "Alma Mater" at a football game and the freshmen have lived through their official welcome to SHS. We crowned our queen with flowers and we welcomed the players' dads.

We cheered, we screamed, we tore our hair. We chanted and ranted, ate hot dogs and spilled coke.

And remember "Cane and Crutch Week" when a football player was an individualist if he could stand on his own two feet!

A great deal of thanks is owed to every cheerleader, coach and player for giving us these wonderful memories. And whether the team wins, loses or draws we'll always love 'em.

Introducing . . .

. . . two lovelies hailing from Jefferson High School in Richmond, Ohio. Joyce and Marsha Coppock, although new arrivals to Salem High, are by no means neglected newcomers. Joyce, whose homeroom is 102, has found her interests in dramatics and art; and Marsha, a petite "greenie," includes in her "pastime" schedule dancing and horseback riding. Both girls enjoy meeting people and are eager to make new acquaintances.

Sis, Boom, Bah!

We've never seen such school spirit displayed by SHS as we have this year. We should be real proud of our football record in '53. If we keep our spirit up during the basketball and track seasons it's sure to help cheer the boys on to victory.

FASHION FILL-INS

by Helen Dicu

The holidays are quickly approaching, and that means it's party time for everyone.

There's a special sparkle to holiday evenings that calls for dresses to fit the mood and the occasion. The new fall and winter fashions for evening wear are simply and smoothly styled, but are glamorous as well.

Velvet is at the top of the list in this year's fashion parade, and taffeta is more popular than ever before.

Accessories are playing an important part in evening wear just as they are in school and business wear.

Black is the favorite color, which no doubt is due to the fact that everyone can wear it, regardless of the color of her hair, or her age. No person is too young to wear black as long as she knows how to wear it. Even this problem is solved, with the beautiful angora and jewel trims which are extremely fashionable this year.

When a person dresses for an important occasion, there are more things to consider than just the dress. The shoes must shine with a brilliance meant for that special occasion. Whether breathtakingly bare or completely covered, they dress you "up" down to your toes.

If the occasion calls for a hat, you'll have no trouble finding one to suit your desire. Those cute pixie style chapeaux are something to rave about, either in velvet or felt.

The boys have a less difficult problem when it comes to dressing up. Men's suits are smartly styled and handsomely colored and patterned this year.

Pale tweeds and flannels in light gray colors seem to be favored. Martin Banar, Kenny Davis, Chuck Cobourn, Don Abe and Allen Ehrhart have sported such suits during the senior picture-taking schedule.

There has never been a wider selection of men's topcoats in fashion history. Checks, plaids, tweeds or plain topcoats in many handsome he-man styles are being shown everywhere.

Shoes are just as important to men as they are to women, and again the fellows have no trouble in finding what they want. For proof just take a look at Dan Kendzierski's light-colored leather shoes, or Bill Herman's natty alligator-suedes.

The fashion world is wide open to all; so good shopping and happy holidays to everyone.

Through The Keyhole

Brautigam, Henning Have Varied Sports Careers

Of The Teachers' Room

In keeping with the QUAKER'S policy of bringing you interesting sidelights and events in the lives of students, we shall try to do the same thing with members of the faculty.

In this issue we start a series of stories dealing with interesting occurrences in the backgrounds of our teachers. Mr. Brautigam and Mr. Henning are featured today.

Overheard conversations tell a lot. There are probably umpteen million people who don't know that Chester Brautigam struck out Babe Ruth three times in one game!

His major-league baseball career began in 1929. The St. Louis Cardinals played two exhibition games against the New York Yankees at the close of the spring training.

Pitching for the Cards, Mr. Brautigam struck out Babe Ruth three times, the last strike out ending the game, 3-1, in favor of the Cardinals. Two days later an accident on the practice field ended his baseball career.

Music, too, holds a special place in his life, for he plays the french horn. When in the eighth grade at the age of 13 he was a member of a band in which the average age of the members was 40. These musicians were under the directorship of the famous John Phillip Sousa.

During his junior year in college he played with the United Artists Orchestra in Columbus. Being mostly vaudeville work this brought him in contact with many big-name people, among whom was the immortal Al Jolson.

Passing by "Detention Hall," commonly called room 205, you can hear a teacher taking the roll. Noticing his height and build you naturally assume that he has an action-packed sports career behind him—and you've guessed right. It's none other than our U. S. history and government teacher, A. V. Henning.

Working his way through college by means of a summer job in the steel mills, he attended the Universities of Michigan and Ohio State and Heidelberg College.

While most shine in only one sport, this versatile man participated in four—football, wrestling, boxing and track.

When queried about his famous boxing career, and how he picked up his illustrious nickname of "One Round Al," he modestly replied, "Well, I once knocked out Jack Dempsey; but I never told anyone, because I didn't think they would believe it."

What's his hobby? Bet you can't guess! The former boxer collects stamps!!

CLUB NOTES

Thespians

"A Christmas Wish" will be the Christmas presentation of the Thespians. It is the story of a 13-year-old girl and the problems that confront her at that time of year.

Salemasquers

A profit of $22 was cleared at the recent bake sale of the Salemasquers, Bonnie Zimmerman, chairman of the affair, reported.

Creative Writing Club

Barbara Cobourn was elected vice-president of the Creative Writing Club at its last meeting. She is replacing Melissa Layton, who was chosen editor of "File 13."

Proofreaders for the stories submitted for "File 13" were appointed. They are Gloria Colananni, Barbara Cobourn and Curtice Loop.

Gloria Colananni was chosen historian of the club.

French Club

The French Club held a lunch meeting Thursday Nov. 12.

Under the direction of Miss Johnston the group planned a bake sale for Dec. 5.

The club will hold its next meeting Dec. 3.

German Club

Singing of German songs was the main order of business when President Charles Dahms called a meeting of the German Club to order Nov. 7.

Secretary Shirley Werner read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Sylvester Tells All

Library Has Many New Books

Sylvester (the library bookworm) is going to introduce to you some of the new books that were in the library showcase recently.

"Hearts Courageous"—Herman—is a compilation of the life stories of 12 men and women who overcame physical handicaps to achieve greatness. "The Enchanted"—Coatsworth—tells a story of Maine, of a plantation called "The Enchanted," to which comes young David Ross to settle on a farm at the edge of the woods and to fall in love with and marry Molly, one of the pretty plump, smiling Perdry girls.

"Between Planets"—Heinlain—relates how Don Harvey, born in a space ship between planets, finds himself in some difficulties when the citizens of the planet Venus revolt against the dictatorial tactics of the Federation. "Catchpenny Street"—Headly—tells a tale of 1917, when the only respectable job for girls was teaching. For Ellen the prospect was bleak since she wanted to be a nurse and not a school teacher.

"Double Date"—Jordin—portrays popular, vivacious Pam and serious, quiet Penny—twins—who start to high school in a new town. "Inside Tackle"—Archibald—is the story of Vince Hadley, star of the gridiron at Willard University.

"The Earth for Sam"—Reed—is a child's history of the earth's three successive geologic periods.

"Ragamuffin Alley"—Butters—describes the problems of teenage Marcy and her mother, who run a boarding house in Ragamuffin Alley in Philadelphia. The boarders include a number of young people who hope to become famous in their varied lines of work.

"Johnny Reb"—Allen—is the tale of breath-taking cavalry fight in Virginia during the Civil War.

Other books of interest are: "An Arithmetic Refresher," "Presidents in American History," "Desperate Moment," "Winter Horse," "Mr. Brady's Camera Boy," "Lost Boundaries," "On the Bottom," "Venture West," "Trail of the Pinto Stallion," "Henley's twentieth century book of Ten-thousand Formulas, Processes, and Trade Secrets," "The Memoirs of Herbert Hoover" (1920-1933), "Round the Bend," "Holy Bible," (revised edition), and "Young America's Aviation Manual."

First Quaker Basketball Game Set For Dec. 11

Seven Lettermen Returning; Cabas In 4th Year At Salem

With football season just barely over, Quaker athletes have already turned their attention from the gridiron to the basketball court. Last Wednesday the prospective Cabasmen reported to the SHS gym for the first practice.

The 1953-54 Salem High basketball schedule has just been released by faculty manager Fred Cope. Included are nine home games, an alumni tilt and seven away frays.

New to the Quaker card this year will be Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and Canton South. Both of these teams are scheduled to play on the local floorboards. Youngstown Rayen also returns after a year's absence.

Last year, Cabas' third season with the Quakers, the locals rolled up an unimpressive record of four wins and 15 losses, including the alumni and the tourney games. The first year Cabas was here his squad compiled a record of 16 wins and three defeats, while during the '51-'52 season the Quakers had an even 10-10 mark.

Cabas will have seven returning lettermen this year led by Jack Gottschling. Stan Cosky, Larry Stoffer, Dale Middeker, Dick Hunter, Harry Baird and Jack Alexander will also return this season. In addition, several members of last year's reserve squad will be returning for action with the varsity.

Stoffer, Middeker and Baird are juniors, while Alexander and Hunter are sophomores.

Lisbon Defeats Salem 27-7, In Last Game

The Lisbon Blue Devils got revenge on the Quakers for last year's defeat, drubbing the locals, 27-7, at Lisbon last Saturday.

Salem scored in the opening minutes of the contest when Quaker quarterback Jerry Martin heaved a long pass to Bobby Sebo for the Barrettmens lone TD. Big Dan Kendzierski cracked the line for the extra point.

Lisbon took the kickoff after the TD and drove all the way from their own 8 yard line for a touchdown. Lisbon's quarterback, Dean Nicholson, converted for the Blue Devils, knotting the score.

After Chick Ashton recovered a bobbled Salem pitchout on the Quaker 14-yard line, the Quaker line held the Blue and White for three plays inside the 2-yard line, but on the next play Sunny Utt found an opening and went over for Lisbon's second score. Nicholson again converted to give Lisbon a seven-point lead, 14-7.

In the third quarter Lisbon's Bill Thorne intercepted a Salem pass intended for Jim Beard and raced 31 yards and another Lisbon tally. Later in the same period Thorne recovered a Salem fumble on the Quaker 19-yard line and in two plays the Blue Devils were over for the final score of the game.

Dan Likes Catchin' Turtles; Chosen Hero Of Week By AP

By Tom Mulford

Catchin' turtles may not be done by scores of people, but just how many know what good soup these reptiles make.

One such person (who likes turtle soup and catches them too) is Dan Kendzierski. Just how to catch snappers is explained thus by Dan: "First you get into your old clothes and start looking for a shallow creek. After finding it, you spot your victim, dash into the creek and grab the snapper with your bare hands."

When asked if he doesn't get bitten by an occasional fellow who likes to hang on, Dan nonchalantly answered: "Yes, I do get bitten sometimes, but they always let go after awhile."

"Big Dan" moved to Salem this past summer from Cleveland, where he attended Cathedral Latin High School. Dances after the game, clubs and the abundance of game and fish are a few things in Salem which have met with Dan's approval.

Besides hunting and fishing, football is this senior's favorite sport. Playing at right tackle for the Barrettmens Dan has become one of the Quaker's most valuable men. "I think that everyone on the team," Dan related, "has become better organized and is playing better ball." Big Dan also confessed that he likes the fellows, football and the coaches here at SHS.

Mr. Kendzierski is taking English IV, health, driver education and bookkeeping. He is interested in having his own business of some kind and plans on going to college.

"Big Dan" recently won state wide mention when he was chosen "Hero of the Week" by Associated Press sports editor Fritz Howell. Dan scored all 13 of the Quakers' points in the Liverpool game.

Fleischer's Flashes

ANOTHER DISTINGUISHED GUEST has been invited to the annual Boosters Club football banquet. Tom Manning, veteran sportscaster for NBC in Cleveland, will make the trip with Lloyd Yoder, Salem's only All-American. Yoder will speak at the dinner honoring SHS football boys and cheerleaders. He is head of NBC's organizations in Cleveland. Also scheduled to appear is Woody Hayes, coach of the Ohio State Buckeyes, who will be the main speaker.

JIM BEARD LED THE QUAKERS' scoring this past season with six TDs for 30 points. Getting Salem's lone touchdown in the Lisbon tilt, Bob Sebo, with 24 points, is next. Dan Kendzierski added an extra point in the Lisbon encounter to raise his total to 14 markers for the year. George Mordew, Jack Alexander, John Todd, Ray Hertel and Tom Swetye each had six points for the locals.

ODDS AND ENDS—THE FIRST Quaker roundball game is just three weeks from today . . . Quite a show of enthusiasm from the students at the "Pep Rally" last Friday. . . Some brave Quaker soul stuck a "BEAT LISBON" sticker on the scoreboard . . . sorry to say it didn't stay there long.
