Quaker Weekly Earns All-American Rating

"All-American!"

With jubilant cries of joy, the Quaker staff received news from the National Scholastic Press Association that the Quaker Weekly had won an All-American rating from the press group for the second semester last year.

All-American is the highest rating a high school newspaper can get from NSPA. The Quaker was one of two publications in its class to receive the top rating. A paper required a total of 1800 points to be rated All-American. The SHS weekly received a total of 1950 points.

The Quaker ranked superior in the following departments: overall news coverage, content, sports writing, sports coverage, editorial page, inside news pages, headlines, typography and printing.

To be awarded a superior marking in a department the paper must receive a bonus score above that printed in the scorebook, showing that a publication exhibits unusual imagination and initiative, within the bounds of sound journalism.

Mr. Arthur M. Sanderson, assistant director and supervising judge of the National Scholastic Press Association, said that papers receiving the All-American rating are decidedly superior and should be regarded as among the finest school publications in America.

Sandy Hansell was news editor

Domencetti to Lead SHS Robed Chorus

Bob Domencetti has been elected president of the 108-member SHS robed chorus for the year. Jay Althouse will serve as vice-president, Sharlene Sanlo will be secretary and Sue Hill is the librarian.

The chorus is practicing Christmas music for its annual Christmas concert to be presented in December.

The SHS marching band has been in full swing since three weeks before school started. Richard Howenstine, marching band director, installed a new system of marching last year and improved on it for this season.

Carolyn Lewis is the new majorette and joins Carol Debnar, Betsy Moore, Bonnie Zimmerman and Greta Lewis as SHS twirlers. The majorettes have received new uniforms and all band members sport flashing white gloves.

A 17-piece orchestra is again practicing under Mr. Howenstine's baton. Because of lack of interest among students the course was not offered last year. Anyone interested in the orchestra and not already enrolled should talk to Mr. Howenstine.

Mr. Robert McConville of the Curtis Publishing Company will meet with the chorus next Wednesday to plan the annual magazine drive.

Ludwig to Attend Meeting

Prin. Beman G. Ludwig will attend a meeting of the state Principals' Association in Columbus next weekend. Mr. Ludwig and junior high school principal Loren Early attended a meeting of area principals at Mount Union Wednesday.

PTA Open House

The Salem High School PTA will hold an open house at the high school Tuesday night, Oct. 12, in room 209 at 7:30.

All parents of high school students are invited to attend. It will be an opportunity for the parents and teachers to get acquainted.

Four regular school periods of 12 minutes' duration each, with a three-minute break between, will be held and parents will follow a pupil's schedule and visit the teachers they choose.

Mr. William Bennett is president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mountz Appoints Hi-Tri Committees

Plans for inviting and initiating new members were made when the Hi-Tri held its first meeting of the year. President Ruth Rae Mountz appointed Vicky Paporadis, Becky Bonfert, Carrie McFeely and Jeri Jackson to the invitation committee.

Barbara J. Beery, Gayle Paxson, Barbara Wright and Marilyn Litty will plan the informal initiation.

Another meeting was held Oct. 6.

Council Members Learn Rules Of Parliamentary Procedure

Newly elected Student Council representatives are learning the fundamental rules of parliamentary procedure and other essential facts with the aid of printed sheets passed out at an organization meeting last Tuesday.

This year's members are: Darryl Adams, 310; Nancy Couchie, 309; Sue Henning, 308; Carol Keener, 307; Jim Meissner, 306; Diana Paspaspiros, 305; Bill Stark, 303; Danny Weber, 301; Mark Fenton, 112; Neva Geary, 108; Ted Jackson, 110; Beverly Mercer, 109; Carol Schaefer, 107; Chappy Smith, 102; Dale Swartz, 312; Dennis Wright, 109.

Bill Bennett, 206; Bob Early, 205; Herb Haschen, 204; Dick Hunter, 203; Mary Mercer, 202; Marilyn Schaefer, 201; Harry Baird, 212; Barbara Durand, 210; Carol McQuilkin, 209; Vicki Paporadis, 208; and Rosemarie Sulea, 207.

Class presidents Bob McArtor, Jerry Cosgrove, Bob Brantingham and Association proxy Jim Beard are also members of the council. The freshman class leader will automatically become a member

On Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 19 and 20, the senior class will present to the Salem public "The Fighting Littles," a three-act comedy by Caroline Francke.

The junior high will see the play Wednesday, Nov. 17, and the high school, Nov. 18.

Tryouts for parts in the production will start Monday, according to Miss Irene Weeks, dramatics coach. There are 15 speaking parts, five male and 10 female.

The comedy, adapted from the novel of the same name by Booth Tarkington, was chosen by the senior class officers, Bob Brantingham, Barbara J. Beery and Lowell Fleischer and senior class adviser Chester Brautigam, after they had read several plays and consulted with Miss Weeks.

The action of the play takes place in the Littles' living room, a modern, well-furnished room that looks as if it had been lived in.

The Littles are a family with opinions of their own and the temperament to express themselves. Each Little has his own idea of the way life should be lived and all of them say so except Mother Little, who is too busy trying to keep peace.

The fireworks really begin when Daddy Little finds all his daughter's friends "young hoodlums" and daughter Goody's boy friend the "worst young hoodlum of the lot."

Then there is Filmer, the Littles' 12-year-old son. Filmer has a deep urge to be a hero, a villain or anything, just so he isn't commonplace. He has his own trouble with love, quite as desperate with him as sister Goody's is to her.

Only when the battle royal is over do the Littles discover that they have learned to understand each other and are really a united family and Mr. Little finds that young folks aren't all going to the dogs after all.

Juniors Receive $200 From Football Stand

A net profit of about $200 was received from the refreshment stand at the first home game, according to junior class officers.

Class rings have been ordered through the local jewelers and are expected to arrive about Thanksgiving.

At a recent officers' meeting with adviser, Miss Carol Kelley, the junior play and junior-senior prom were discussed.

Thespians To Give 'Ghost For Rent'

"Ghost for Rent," a one-act mystery-comedy, to be presented by the Thespians, is now in rehearsal.

Arnold Ping plays Bud Richards, a typical, idea-filled teen-ager. Aggie Fox, born cheer-leader, is portrayed by Pat Jurczak, and Verda Miller is Jane Fox, her quiet sister.

Bob "Sylvester" Domencetti hires himself out as a ghost, and Miss Margaret, Ruth Rae Mountz, is his employer. Mary Hastings, the nervous niece of Miss Margaret, is portrayed by Nancy Cosma.

Ross and Nelia, Lowell Fleischer and Sally Kirkbride, add the sinister touch, and Gloria, girl ghost, is an eerie Rosemarie Sulea.

A bake sale will be held Oct. 30. The first informal initiation will be Dec. 6 and the formal, Dec. 9.

The next regular meeting is set for Oct. 12.

when elected.

Dean of Boys John Callahan is adviser of the group.

Freshmen To Nominate, Elect Class Officers

Miss Sarah Doxsee, freshman class adviser, announced this week that the annual frosh pencil selling drive will start Tuesday.

The new freshmen will nominate their class officers Monday, Oct. 18, and begin election of their leaders Oct. 21. The nominees will speak at a freshman class meeting Oct. 20.

The first-year students will have charge of the refreshment stand Oct. 22 at the football game between Salem and Wellsville.

810 SHS Students Join Association

Eight-hundred ten Salem High School students have joined the Association this year. The total is 40 more than last year. The junior high also reported an increase of 13 over last year for a total of 369 members.

The Association plan was inaugurated by the late R. W. Hilgendorf to give students an opportunity to attend all SHS sports events and social gatherings and receive copies of the high school annual and newspaper at a reduced cost.

Jim Beard is president of the Association, Bob Domencetti is vice-president and Sue Hill serves as secretary. Fred Burchfield, central treasurer, is Association adviser.

Loren Early Resigns Junior High Post

Loren Early, principal at the Salem junior high school, has resigned to accept a two-year contract as superintendent of the Lisbon public schools.

Supt. E. S. Kerr expressed regret at the loss to Salem schools of Early whom he termed "an able man," but recommended that the Board of Education accept his resignation.

Early told the board that he definitely did not want to leave Salem, having been here for 18 years, but pointed out he was trained to be a superintendent and wished to go into such a position.

FOOTBALL QUEEN

Definition from Webster's dictionary: Peanut—a tiny, nut-like, shell-inclosed member of the bean family and native to South America; scientific name—arachis hypogea.

Contrary to Webster's statement is this definition in the SHS Who's Who: Peanuts—an attractive and popular senior girl belonging to the Leone family and native to Salem, Ohio; scientific name, Dolores Leone.

Let's crack open the imaginary shell of Dolores Leone and examine the contents. George Washington Carver would have been flabbergasted!

Environment plays an important part in any life, and rightly so with Dolores. She lives well in the atmosphere of health, U. S. history and government, English, book-keeping and band. Also, a bit of Spanish Club every so often is most beneficial. But an amazing discovery has proved that Dolores lives by far the best when she is with her friends at such places as the Youth Center.

Almost like an extra limb to Peanuts is her drum. Several years ago a near-fatal accident occurred when an over-energetic band member gave her drum such a severe beating that it had to be treated for a cracked head.

Dolores received the honor of representing Salem High as 1954-55 Football Girl when she was chosen by her classmates to succeed Doris McNamee. She will never forget the night of her crowning which she describes as "the most wonderful thing I have ever experienced."

Perhaps the most important factor in good living is good food. Dolores thrives on Italian dishes, which she claims are "by far the best."

Peanuts is known to have been at one time a flaming shade of red. This color transformation, which is very rare in peanuts, occurred in the sixth grade when a secret admirer sneaked a kiss in the cloakroom.

Next June, after SHS's testing, grading and picking season, Peanuts will be among those seniors who will leave to enter new fields of work. Peanuts has always managed to keep her feet on the ground, but after graduation she will take to the air as an airline hostess. Someday she hopes to reach Italian soil just to see the country.

Miss Carol Kelley's Summer Trip To Europe

By Gloria Colananni

Holland—a land of windmills and canals, the clomp of wooden shoes, brightly dressed housewives happily scrubbing their front steps. This type of description is found in books and also fits the description Miss Carol Kelley, SHS math teacher, gives of Holland.

Miss Kelley, whose summer trip to Europe included a stay in Holland, found the tulip land "exactly like you read about in books." She was especially impressed by the country folk, who wore the gay native costumes of the land.

When asked which country she liked best, Miss Kelley replied with an emphatic, "Norway." She found it a country of skiers, for the people of that land are introduced to skis at the tender age of two and a half years and attend ski schools to learn the art.

For those who complain of high electric bills, Miss Kelley would advise a trip to Norway, for it never gets dark there. She discovered this the hard way—for one day upon finding it quite bright outdoors, she decided to get up. "Imagine my amazement to discover it was three o'clock—in the morning!" she laughs.

The food in Europe she found "simply delicious," although the menus are quite different from American ones. In Norway the people enjoy a hearty breakfast of bread, tomatoes, cucumbers, goat cheese, smoked herring or some other fish, cold cuts, a soft boiled egg and coffee. "Toast," she says, "is simply non-existent."

The most wonderful part of her trip was actually seeing the places and doing the things she had always heard about. Buckingham Palace and Stratford-on-Avon in England; the Venus de Milo; the Moulin Rouge of Paris; the 8,000-foot cog-railway in Switzerland; Oslo, Norway, where the Olympic sounds like a book ski contests were held; Waterloo near Brussels, Belgium—these are only a few of the thrilling sights she enjoyed. She also visited Wales, Ireland, Scotland, Denmark and Germany.

Miss Kelley sailed from New York on the R. M. S. Parthia and arrived in Liverpool, England, eight days later. Several days before landing, the passengers were thrilled to see two icebergs only about a half mile from the ship.

Miss Kelley had quite a time convincing people she was a high school teacher and not a student. One teen-age boy on the boat took her to be 14 years old.

United Local Pupils Miss Week of School

United Local pupils who attend Salem High School and who have younger brothers or sisters at home in the quarantined United Local School were told by Dr. George B. Pantera to remain home this week.

United Local youths who attend SHS and who don't have younger brothers or sisters at home were permitted to attend school this week if they were able to provide their own transportation to and from school and the buses in that district did not run.

Supt. E. S. Kerr said that a large number of pupils from United Local made the trip in this week and attended classes as usual. The United Local School was quarantined because of the large number of polio cases in the district.

Library Adds 18 Fiction Books

SHS bookworms and those who read only occasionally, too, have 18 new fiction books to choose from in the high school library.

In the science fiction department are "Sands of Mars" by Clark and "The Rolling Stones" by Heinlein. For those who like romance, there is "Class Ring" by Du Jardin. Mystery fans will enjoy "Fish Hawk's Nest" by Meader. "Daughter of Bugle Ann" by Kantor is a sequel to "The Voice of Bugle Ann," a heart warming dog story. A Chinese boy and his white friend who were captured in Peking in the early 20's during China's civil war is the story of "Big Tiger and Christian" by Muhlenweg.

The rest of the 18 new books are: "The Secret Road" by Lancaster, "Far Country" by Shute, "Summer In Their Eyes" by Anderson, "The Ark" by Benary-Isbert, "Family Troupe" by Brown, "To Heaven on Horseback" by Cranston, "The Wind Blows Free" by Erdman, "A Small Miracle" by Gallico, "Joel" by Kubie, "Tamar" by Malvern, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" by Menotti and "Wapiti the Elk" by Montgomery.

CLUB NOTES

Biology Club

Gloria Colananni will call the meetings of the Formaldeides to order in her new role as president of the SHS biology club. Other officers elected by the group for the coming year are vice-president, John Buta; secretary, Mary Campbell; and treasurer, Jeanette Harris.

To provide for the expenses of their yearly trips the biology aides are again selling candy in the lunch room at noon.

German Club

Die Lustige Gruppe welcomed 24 members to its first meeting when the following officers were elected: Bill Jermolenko, president; Gary Whitsel, vice-president; and Shirley Werner, secretary-treasurer.

Last year's activities were reviewed for the new members and plans were made for the next meeting to be held Oct. 11. Prexy Bill Jermolenko will be in charge of entertainment.

Spanish Club

Another gay, exciting Fiesta will be presented this spring, it has been decided by Spanish Club members.

Shirley Cosgarea, Marcia Henning, Lowell Fleischer and Arnold Ping were chosen by President Jim Beard to serve as program chairmen for the next four meetings.

21 Students Take Ohio U. History Test

Twenty-one SHS history students took the Ohio University history, government and citizenship test yesterday.

Last year Sue Ann Baker won the county honors in the test and a trip to Ohio University at Athens for a weekend. While at Ohio U. Ann participated in the state contest.

Callahan Has Blanks For Navy Program

Applications are now available for the Navy's ninth competitive examination for its nation-wide NROTC college training program, according to a recent announcement by the Navy Department. The mental examination is scheduled for Dec. 11, 1954, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify.

The deadline for receipt of all applications is Nov. 20, the Navy stated. Successful candidates will start their Naval careers in colleges and universities across the country with substantial assistance from the government. After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned in the regular Navy for active duty throughout the world.

Applications and additional information for this career program are available from Dean of Boys John Callahan.

Pictures for Annual To Be Taken Soon

Although the Quaker annuals aren't distributed until the spring, Editor Barbara Wright and her staff are already hard at work.

Barbara is completing her dummy which she started last summer. The annual assistants are working on the student index.

Troup and Pluto, a Canton photography studio, has been awarded the contract to take pictures for the annual. They will begin taking individual senior pictures soon and will also start on the group shots for the annual.

Donna Blender will serve as junior assistant. Sue Hill and Pat Jurczak are layout assistants and Rosemarie Sulea and Mathilde Umbach are yearbook artists. Evelyen Copacia, Joyce Leibbart and Nancy Radler are working on the student index.

Staff members are: Rosemarie Sulea, Jeanette Harris, Mable Lou Hannay, Anne Hansteen, Jim Barcus, Curtice Loop, Gloria Colananni, Lowell Fleischer, Nancy Cope, Bob McArtor, Jane Howard and Mary Campbell.

Quakers At Canton Timken Tomorrow Nite

Trojans Have Tough Squad; Wintersville Here Next Week

Coach Ben Barrett's Quakers will attempt to break their two-game losing streak tomorrow night as they travel to Canton's Fawcett Stadium for a battle with the Canton Timken Trojans.

The Trojans have a record of one win, one loss and a tie in three contests. Timken and Akron Ellet fought to a 0-0 deadlock in the season opener, and last week Coach Dan Risaliti's charges fell before Canton McKinley 40-7. They defeated Canton Central Catholic 27-6.

The Timken squad averages about the same weight as the Quakers. They have good passing and a lot of enthusiasm, but definitely aren't seeking the state championship, says Coach Risaliti.

Despite their supposedly good passing, the Trojans had six passes intercepted by the Bulldogs last week. Most observers in Canton expected Timken to put up a better fight against Wade Watt's gridders and still contend that the Trojans are a tough ball club.

The Quakers will be after win number two of the season after losing two straight to Ravenna and Youngstown South. Coach Barrett had defensive problems at the start of the regular season but they seemed to be cleared up somewhat last week despite Salem's 13-0 loss to South.

After the Timken contest this weekend the Quakers face a tough game with the Wintersville gridders who won their 30th tilt in a row last week and their 37th game without a loss. In 1950 they tied a game with Toronto 7-7.

The Warriors meet Mingo this week and are expected to get by without much trouble. Wintersville started football in 1936 and since that time has won 95 games, lost 39 and tied 13.

Football Captain Jim Beard Has Confidence in Quakers

By Bob McArtor

"We have a good team but we haven't had the breaks and things aren't going our way," commented Captain Jim Beard when asked about the 1954 Barrettmens. "I think the team will pull together though, and we'll start rolling again."

When he's not playing football Jimmy finds time for American history and government, English IV, physics and Spanish II. U. S. H. and G. appeals to Jimmy the most, although he likes them all.

Jim has had many unforgettable moments, such as beating Liverpool last year, being selected for Boys' State and going to the state track meet at Columbus. "But my biggest thrill came when I was elected football captain by this year's team," states Jimmy.

Besides being president of the Association, he is a member of Varsity S, president of the Spanish Club and is on the Student Council.

Looking into the near future

Jim plans to play basketball and run track, but he still ranks football tops. In the somewhat distant future he plans to attend college and study a course in science.

Alliance Aviators Voted Top Squad In Football Poll

The Alliance Aviators took over the top spot in the Ohio high school football standing this week according to the daily sports editors who voted in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Alliance sent the Tigers to their fourth setback in seven seasons and snapped their 25-game win streak. The Aviators moved from the third spot last week to the top notch, while Massillon dropped to second.

Others of the top ten who tasted defeat last week are Warren, Portsmouth, last year's runner-up, Fremont Ross and Columbus Central.

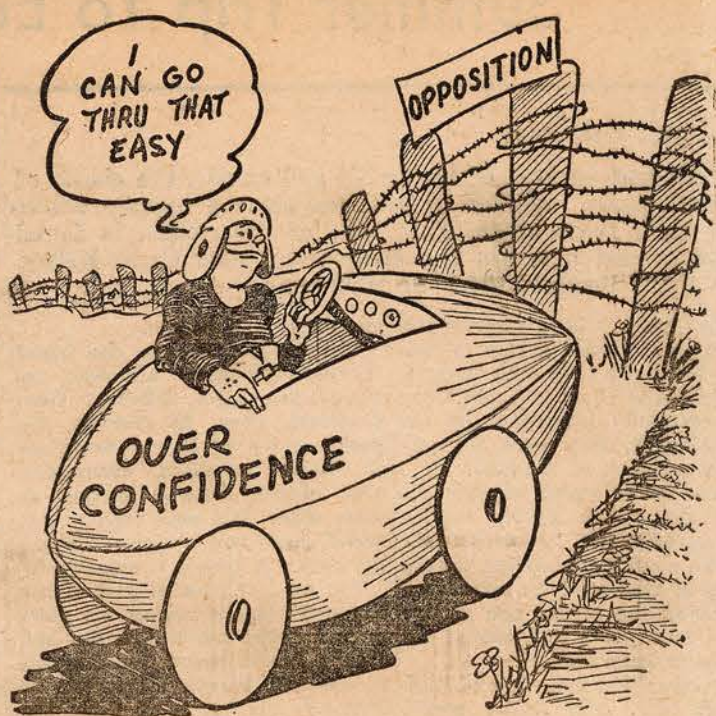

Mel Knowlton's gridders have a habit of knocking off Massillon. The Aviators handed Paul Brown, now head of the Cleveland Browns, his first loss while at Massillon, did the same to Chuck Mather, and now to the new Massillon tutor, Tom Harp.

SHS Gym To Get Glass Backboards

The Salem Board of Education at its weekly meeting last Tuesday night authorized the purchase of two glass basketball banking boards for the SHS gym.

Basketball Coach John Cabas requested the boards stating that the team would be faced with them in tournament play and in many high school gyms throughout the district.

Cabas said that the ball spins differently off a glass board having a different bounce and slide. The boards will be of three-fourths inch thick, clear unbreakable glass.

Fleischer's Flashes

by Lowell Fleischer

Here we are back again snooping around the athletic circles of Salem High. We'll be alternating this sport through the year with Jim Barcus and Bob McArtor, Quaker sports reporters.

TOO BAD

You could hear the groans and grunts coming from SHS last weekend just as in most cities in Ohio—the Indians bit the dust, but good. We wonder how the Browns will do this year.

Last weekend was certainly a one for upsets with the Massillon Tigers getting beaten in Ohio high school football and Notre Dame, ranked number one in the country until this week, being knocked off by Purdue 27-14.

Fifty-one Salem gridders took in the game between Pitt and Minnesota last Saturday as guests of the Salem Booster Club.

GREAT BUNCH OF GUYS

We can't say enough about the wonderful job the Booster Club does in promoting the high school athletics. The club again this year donated money so SHS students can decorate the town before home games. They are already laying plans for the annual football banquet. The club treats the Quakers and their opponents to a bottle of chocolate milk after every game. All of the thanks for the new all-electric scoreboard at Reilly Stadium go to the organization. Booster prexy John Pastier presented the board to the Salem Board of Education at the Quakers' first game this year.

ODDS AND ENDS

The Barrettmens face tough going all the way this season—here's hoping and wishing them luck, and with over 900 students and the town behind them we know that they'll do all right . . . seems as if nearby Alliance has taken over as the number one high school football town in Ohio . . . Faculty Manager Fred Cope gets worked up at a game more than anyone we know.

South Dumps Quakers 13-0

The Salem Quakers fell to Youngstown South 13-0 before 3,646 football fans at Reilly Stadium last Friday. It was the Barrettmens' second defeat in a row.

Coach John McAfee's charges made good use of a Salem fumble in the first period when they went ahead 6-0. The visitors other score came in the third period when South's hard-running left halfback, Bill Rouse, carried over for the score.

The South 17-yard line was the closest the Quakers came to scoring. The Youngstowners dominated the first-half play, with the locals coming back in the third and fourth periods.

The Salem defense was much improved over previous games. At one point the Quakers held the visitors on the Salem seven-yard line for several plays with South finally losing possession of the ball on downs.

The Warriors had two good running backs in Hightower and Rouse and both gained considerable yardage against the Quakers.
